NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

EXPERIENCE may be a good teacher but it sometimes steals your confidence.

KIND words may die—but the other kind live on forever.

WEALTH and success may be in reach of all but there sure is a lot of us folks who never reach it.

TIP to hunters: The man behind the gun shouldn't be half shot.

HOPE is more effective when it forms a partnership with action.

MONEY talks—and today, it is always in a hurry to say goodbye.

IF we never dream of doing the impossible, we'll never do the possible.

THE DAILY GRIND-- ITS INGREDIENTS--

A positive outlook on this daily grind we loosely refer to as "living" is sometimes hard to support. For most of us it is exactly that... a daily grind.

On the other hand what does the negative outlook on life offer us? Does it offer us better things if we frown, grumble and fret at every turn of fate? Are you, personally, living proof that 'negativeness' pays?

Can you honestly say you feel better if you grumble and growl over a task rather than tackle it and try to lick it?

Can you find it in your weak makeup to resolve to try to better yourself in the coming 12 months of life? Or is it easier to blame the shortcomings you are 'blessed' with on some other party?

Will you, personally, live up to the things you know to be right in the coming year or will you meekly fall in line behind the thousands who will not?

It is not for us to be satisfied with our so-called 'lot' in life. It is our opportunity to take our 'lot' and do with it what we will. You were not given out 'so much good' and 'so much bad' when you were born. It's true, we do not know why, and sometimes cannot explain our 'luck', but nine times of ten we make our own 'luck'... good or bad.

In short, the New Year--1959 can be a blessing or a blight on your life, depending entirely on the attitude with which you start the year and how you can take the things which come your way. Evil can be made from anything... goodness has its own set of ingredients: the important thing is to know what they are and how to use them! Make it a good New Year, in every sense of the word, and you'll be better for it and have attained that positive outlook on "the daily grind" in itself, is not half as bad if you know the ingredients and the best way to use them to get the most from... living!

Well Done ? . . .

The sands of time go out and another year comes to a close and we wonder, as we look over our deeds; triumphs, failures or whatever, whether or not we have been an asset to this old world during the past 12 months.

Yes or no, today marks the beginning of a new 12 months and gives us a chance at something better. Use your 12 months as though they were your last 12 on this good, green earth and we unconditionally guarantee that at the end of the year you can look back and say to yourself of yourself... Well Done!

Well Done!

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

When Congress convenes in January it will be faced with biggest budget deficit the nation has ever known except when actively engaged in a fighting war.

In fact, there are some who claim that raising the national debt limit to the $300 billion level is inevitable.

It has already been announced that the $300 billion level will be made for higher taxes... and this at a time when the C. W. Harder national economy is rocking along in uncertain health.

At this time the drive for greater taxes seems to be centered on two focal points. One is an increase in the gasoline tax. The other is a still further increase in postage rates.

The reason for increasing the gasoline tax, it is said, is to make sure that work can continue on the program of super highways. As previously reported in this column, this project is headed for about twice the cost that was originally estimated.

Yet any increase in gasoline taxes, or in the postage rate, will be felt most keenly by independent business where the use of motor vehicles and the mails are important items of overhead.

But it is interesting to note that all official attention is centered on raising more taxes. Although government employment is now at its highest level in history, there seems to be no thought given to reducing this cost. And although over $50 billions have been thrown away in world wide give away schemes, there does not appear to be any thinking toward reducing this constant drain on the national finances.

Indeed, during the last session of the Congress, the nation's independent businessmen, voting through the National Federation of Independent Business, requested that this drain be cut down, which it was.

Obviously, with the government facing a financial crisis, this expenditure could be cut quite drastically.

On the average, on every working day, slightly more than $10 million is given away to some group of nations for all manner of thing, largely unaccounted for to anyone.

Thus, this forthcoming session of Congress is faced with grave decisions.

It can take one course of action and further impair the national credit, create more inflation.

Or it can take stern and vigorous measures and slash governmental expenditures to the bone in the non-essential areas.

This remedy to the national problem has yet to be tried.

And it is interesting to note that while many officials talk that business wants government to "prime the pump" by bigger expenditures, this does not seem to be true.

On numerous occasions the nation's independent businessmen, voting through the National Federation of Independent Business, have urged a curtailment in government's non-essential spending. People spending their own money, instead of turning it over for taxes, can and will promote healthy business.

POORLY PACKAGED BALES COSTLY TO COTTON MILLS

You wouldn't send an invitation to the most gaudy dance of the social season in a dirty, ragged envelope.

Neither should you expect good prices for cotton that has been half-wrapped in as ugly, torn cover. "The tattered and torn bale, long a trademark of American cotton is just as offensive to the pocket book as to the eye," says API Extension Agronomist Jasper Jerigan.

In fact, economists in the Agricultural Marketing Service have estimated that almost three million dollars a year is spent by domestic spinners for cleaning bale surfaces and other pre-processing practices.

"Much of the added expense at the mill can be blamed on improper application of the covers and disorder caused by conventional sampling and handling practices," said Jerigan.

Approximately 85 percent of all domestic mills clean the outer surface of some of the bales they receive. About half the bales they use have to be cleaned. The cost of the cleaning adds to the overhead of the mills. Thus, the price of finished cotton products is higher, making it harder for cotton to compete with other fibers on the retail markets.

On the average, it cost the domestic mills about 25 cents to clean a bale of cotton. Other pre-processing costs, resulting from inadequate bale covers and the condition of the bales, run about 25 cents per bale. This means that pre-processing costs the mills about 45 cents per bale on top of those they received.

All totaled, about three million dollars a year is the amount spent to clean dirty bales. Thus, farmers get less for their cotton and consumers pay more for the finished products.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wells spent Christmas day with Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wells and children in Montgomery and Mr. and Mrs. Erby Dobbs and sons in Prattville.

THINGS We see and hear

by BOB

THE way to a long and happy (contented) life: when asked, a fellow around town said "I had a very fine Christmas, all my family was well."

He went on to say that he put health before wealth and most to agree with him to a great extent. The gift of good health is one which few appreciate and seemingly enough, few seek very diligently...until of course it's taken away from them! Anyway, the fellow mentioned above had foreseen enough to learn to appreciate his health before he lost it... he's living a humble, but apparently very satisfying existence.

IT is now an established fact (even history) that the "Shop At Home" theme carried throughout the four or five weeks prior to

G. W. Norrell Contracting Company, Inc. hereby gives notice that they have completed contract with the State of Alabama for construction of Project No. ABC-18 Prop. "B" in Chilton and Coosa Counties and that the State has set the date for final settlement as January 22, 1959.

Christmas helped local merchants greatly in their efforts at keeping local trade up this year. It is as simple as saying, "folks listened to what merchants had to say and patronized their stores for their Christmas shopping." This they did, in greater numbers than have ever shopped and bought in Clanton. There's a reason for everything Mr. Merchant: Don't you think telling folks about it helped the situation this year?

HATS off to the Carter boys and Dailey up at Carter Radio and TV for their Christmas Spirit in furnishing that part of town with Christmas carols over one of their loud speakers during the pre-Christmas holidays. It was moving, and very easy to get the spirit of the occasion with that lovely music flowing out across the bustling, hurrying shoppers and we think the Carter business there deserves thanks from the city and its populous for their efforts in making the season all that it is supposed to mean to us. The true spirit.

BY George we found out how old (or maybe we should say "how young") Miss Helen Parrish is! No, she actually told us herself, we didn't do it the sneaky way. Anyway, she's not as old as she would lead you to believe and the way she gets around and does things you'd think she was half as old as she really is anyhow. And if we say anymore, we'll just get in deeper and deeper... Happy Birthday, Helen!

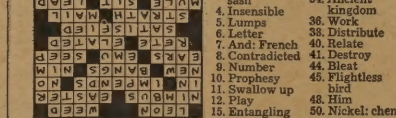

KIDS use the damndest English! (Have we got room to talk?). Overheard the other morning while two youngsters were busy in the floor cleaning in their book. Four year old says, "get onto the way, will ya please?" Two year old responds, "Whasamatter, are I'm in your light?" You figure it out!

A Christmas program was presented at the Methodist Church, Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

The program opened with an organ prelude by Miss Sybil Langston, singing O Holy Night.

Mrs. A. B. Johnson was in charge of the program. Poems, legends and scripture verses told the Christmas Story. Slide pictures were shown with appropriate Scripture readings: Luke 2:2-11, Isa. 9:2-6.

From my front porch

By CARL HELM

Television has its critics. But I like to think that the smooth and inspiration which some of its programs bring into our homes.

There's one — "This Is Your Life" — which invariably is uplifting because it deals with real, average normal people: their struggles, their heartaches, and their triumphs.

They come to us with their unrehearsed, spontaneously told life stories — not so-called "celebrities" who live in mansions but for the most part, humble, unpretentious, down-to-earth men and women who might be our own neighbors.

They have faced some of our own problems and, through faith and courage and sacrifice, solved them. They are modest and unassuming, seeking neither credit nor reward — and surprised that anyone should think that they deserved it.

I have seldom seen one of these programs that didn't bring a lump in my throat, and renew strength and courage in my heart. It seems to me that if TV gave us nothing else, "This Is Your Life" would more than justify its existence.

Man of Year in So. Agriculture

Homer S. Swingle, professor of fish culture at Alabama Polytechnic Institute (Auburn), has been named 1956 "Man of the Year in Service to Southern Agriculture" by the Progressive Farmer. Dr. Clarence Poe, senior editor and chairman, makes this announcement in the magazine's current issue.

"We are honoring 56-year-old Professor Homer S. Swingle and his 20-year campaign as a fish culturist at Auburn," says Dr. Poe. "And especially for 1) his outstanding work in developing fish production all over the South and the world and 2) his pioneer work in fertilizing ponds to increase the size and numbers of fish."

In 1951, Mr. Swingle received the first Conservation Award from the United States Department of the Interior. It read, "As an outstanding authority on the American system of warm-water fish production and farm pond management, you are recognized as the man who has done more than any other individual in the country to advance scientific farm pond management."

Mr. Swingle has helped both America and foreign lands. As a result of his work, bluegill became have been introduced to Africa and other countries, and buffalo fish exported from Alabama to Israel.

"While honoring Mr. Swingle," says Dr. Poe, "we are incidentally recognizing several important new trends in Southern farm life." With modern machinery and methods, farmers are left with more time for water sports, fishing, boating, and swimming. Farm ponds are important in conserving water supply for home and industry. And fish is increasing in value as a food.

Mr. Swingle has added to the pleasures of farm people in Dixie and America by increasing their opportunities for delightful recreation.

One Arrested; Still Destroyed In Raid

A raid by the local Sheriff's men and ABC men netted the arrest of one man the week end and the destroying of a 500 gallon still. Twenty-nine gallons of whiskey was confiscated and two men escaped but are known and according to Sheriff will be picked up later.

The Sheriff also stated the men were residents of Jefferson County and had just moved into this community.

The still was found on the Bibb County line in Dry Valley Community.

Bobby Humphries was captured and placed in jail charged with mania during whiskey.

NEWSPRINT COMPANY'S TREE PLANTING PROGRAM

More than 15 million loblolly pine seedlings have been produced by the Coosa River Newsprint Company Nursery for planting in North Central Alabama this season.

Officials of the Company have announced that almost two million trees were distributed without cost to 4-H Club members, FFA boys pulpwood producers and dealers in the area from which the newsprint mill procures wood. The remaining trees are being used to restock cut-over lands owned by the Company.

The seedling pines were grown this year in the Company's modern tree nursery near Childersburg. Lifting and shipping of stock will continue through February at the rate of 300,000 trees per day.

H B Starks Coosa River District Forester, is in charge of seedling distribution in Chilton County. Mr. Starks directs landowner services and forest conservation activities in this area for the newsprint mill. Company foresters are available to instruct landowners in the proper care of seedling pines and planting methods.

The purpose of this huge planting program is to aid in the reforestation of life and poorly-stocked timberlands and to encourage the practice of good forestry by small landowners.

Wood and wood products constitute one of Chilton County's leading cash crops. This income can be greatly increased through tree planting, proper harvesting methods and the protection of wood lands from the ravages of wild fire.

DR. DELOS CULP IS INJURED AT CAPITOL

Dr. Delos F. Culp, president of Livingston State College was hurt at Montgomery Tuesday morning as he entered the Capitol building to attend a meeting of the Education Commission of which he is a member. It is stated he fell against an automobile parked at the entrance and fractured his skull.

Dr. Culp is undergoing x-ray examinations at St. Margaret's hospital there. His condition is not considered serious but he will remain there for two or three days according to reports.

And he said unto them, Why are ye so fearful? How is it that ye have no faith? (St. Mark 4:41).

Jesus, our divine savior and redeemer, speaks thus to all of us today as he spoke to his disciples. God gives us bountifully of love and good and strength. But he cannot give us faith. Through our own free choice and belief and will, we must create and maintain our faith ourselves.

TO THORSBY

The Town of Thorsby welcomes Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wright who moved to their new home last Thursday. The Wrights purchased the Felix Eiland home and have recently remodeled and have a beautiful home.

A three car wreck, one a Greyhound Bus, injured Mrs. Arvis Gill Mims of Prattville Monday afternoon. Mrs. Mims' car was struck by a station wagon driven by Mrs. Delores Jean Sherman of Nobleville, Ind. This knocked the car driven by Mrs. Mims, which was a Packard into a Greyhound Bus completely demolishing the car and sending Mrs. Mims to the hospital.

The wreck was three miles south of Clanton at about 4:30 Monday afternoon.

LOCAL 4-H'ERS RECEIVE PINES

Eighty-five Chilton County 4-H Club members have been busy during the Christmas holidays setting out 45,000 pine seedlings. These seedlings were furnished by Gulf State Paper Corp., Coosa River Newsprint Co. and the International Paper Co. Each year the above-mentioned Companies have furnished 4-H Club members with free seedlings. Through their effort and the help of the local extension personnel, Chilton County 4-H Club members are able to start a forestry project which they can carry through a number of years. This project will return a very desirable income, as well as adding beauty to Chilton County country side.

Mr. Knox Davis County Forester, met with 4-H Clubs during the month of December. He explained to each Club member the possibility of income from Chilton County timber land in the future if good forestry practices are applied.

Radnor, Pa.—Unless you have some pretty unworldly neighbors, David and Ricky Nelson are certainly not just like the kids next door. At 18, Ricky's income is estimated to be between $200,000 and $250,000 a year. This puts the youngest Nelson in the 95 percent income-tax bracket. David, at the ripe old age of 22, already has three sizeable trust funds. Commenting on his financial status in TV GUIDE, David reveals, "I figure out that if I quit working right now and could live on $75 a week, I could get along well until I was 90."

THE March of Dimes campaign director of Chilton County today issued a call for volunteers to help in the organization's most crucial drive in the history.

Director Mrs. Grady Hefflin said extra hands were needed during the 1953 campaign to help pay the drive for funds needed for the expanded new health program being launched by the National Foundation.

In addition to polio problems, the new program sets up a broad attack against arthritis and birth defects. An over-all basic research program in virus diseases and disorders of the central nervous system also is underway, and funds are urgently needed to train professional disease fighters for both the laboratory and the hospital.

CHAIRMAN of key committees for the 1953 March of Dimes were named this week by Mrs. Mary Hefflin, Chilton County campaign director. The expanded drive is being held here January 2-31.

The campaign director said that chairman and volunteer committees face a new challenge this year. Not only must polio aid be continued, but support must be provided for a greatly expanded health program launched by the National Foundation.

EXPANDED PROGRAM

Mrs. Hefflin described how the March of Dimes' new program will be focused on polio, virus diseases, arthritis and birth defects. Patient aid will be offered to victims of arthritis and rheumatism, the nation's number one crippling affliction. The central nervous system through age 18. Polio aid will be carried on as before for all patients needing help.

11,000,000 AFFECTED

"Arthritis and birth defects are also pressing major health problems throughout the country." At least 11,000,000 are affected by arthritis and rheumatism, the nation's number one crippling affliction. 250,000 infants are born each year with some form of defect. Through the new program of the March of Dimes we believe we can find ways to help many of them if funds are supplied by the American people.

"I know that everyone will want to get behind the 1953 March this January in Chilton County as it marks on toward greater victories," the director concluded.

By C. WILSON HARDER

In the forthcoming session of Congress, it seems almost obvious that some action will have to be taken on the matter of unions.

While there is some inclination by some to describe the results of the recent election to labor support, there are many aspects of this situation which could easily be misread.

Of these, those who hold to this belief that the present fear of the so-called "right C. W. Harder to work" measures in many states, yet, it would appear to be quite fallacious to base all actions on these results.

There are many indications that the public does want, and will demand, a better system of union control. Perhaps the "right to work" measures were defeated because the opposition did a better job of selling the idea to the voting public than these measures were really to break up unions.

It is doubtful that as long as the nation has big business enterprises operated by management groups that often are not owners, that the nation can do without unions. Yet acceptance, apparently, by the public, that unionism is necessary, does not mean the public is satisfied with the present set up.

For example, recently, 93% of the nationwide membership of the National Federation of Independent Business voted for greater regulation of picketing.

Young Davis was visiting his aunt and uncle in preparation of entering Verbena High School this year. He was transferred from Jemison High School.

LOOKS like management (in big business) is finally "unionizing" their efforts to survive labor unions demands upon them. We agree with the fellow who said "I don't think unions should be annihilated, they should just be cut back down to size." This effort of "fighting fire with fire" to us is a forward step in fitting them to the pants that were made for them.

WE are anxious to see the City of Clanton do something about the "lengthiness" of the traffic light on Selma Highway at Spigener Funeral Home. The light is appreciated during school hours and is acceptable even as a speed breaker; but it holds too long (longer than those on the other side of town which are about right) and it is on sometimes at night when it is absolutely unnecessary. How about it City?

THE END DOES NOT JUSTIFY THE MEANS --

...THEY just don't have the know-how, that's all!" That statement was made concerning the Negro in the south and to a great degree it is true.

However, this statement was made as to the "general ability" of the Colored man and in that essence it is wrong. Speaking generally, the Negro has the ability though he does not have the common "know-how".

For some, the lack of "know-how" is their own choosing; they, just as a lot of other folks, simply do not have the desire to "be somebody". Others do not have the opportunities of "know-how" due to tradition and social environment.

We do not hesitate to agree that Negroes, at least the ones we know, have less opportunity than the white people around us. But we don't know that their opportunities would increase any through social mixing (integration) which would eventually lead to blood mixing (mongrelization) which would most assuredly bring about a decline in moral, spiritual and economic growth throughout the world.

One man says: "Look on the street and you'll see that every other one or two colored persons are mulattoes." Is that to imply that we should all be halfbreeds? If it means mongrelization is already here it is certainly evident that it is not here to any degree such as it could be if we were all just to "drop the gate".

Morals are a private matter, unless you contribute to the demoralization of another. Social mixing (of the races) is social demoralization if we ever heard of it because common sense tells us that mongrelization would be the end result. We in the south, Colored and white, do not desire mongrelization though we do believe in equal rights. The two are by no means and in no man's language 'synonymous'!

"FROG", "FROG", "FROG"...

THERE'S something vitally wrong with an economy when the government continues to thrive on "red tape" and higher taxation. It brings the historical fact to mind that the United States government was founded and based on the refusal of the people to accept taxation which was unjustified, unpopular and unfair. A fair government of the people, by the people, and for the people is totally free from the clutches of the endless taxation such as we are now exposed to. Why then, it is considered "American" and "proper" to sit back... accept the brutal beating... and do absolutely nothing about the situation except maybe gripe incessantly.

It is self-evident that the government has the 'bled white' public by the proverbial tail. In other words, when the government says "frog" we hop all over one another.

We are not against "governments". We are against ceaseless taxation brought about by the mismanagement of funds by government officials to the extent that "they" cannot balance "our" budget or ever hope to. It is our government... it is thus our business to support that government... by the same unmistakable token, it is our business to keep "our" government (and its officials and bureaus) informed, in line and in accord with our ability to pay, which is at present getting well out of hand!

Science Against TB

With the help of Christmas Seal contributions, scientists are working to unlock the secrets of tuberculosis. In this Northwestern University laboratory, Dr. Guy P. Youmans and his associates developed a blood test which may prove valuable for the detection of TB.

HAVE YOU REMEMBERED

When all the Christmas wrappings have been picked up and the Christmas cards checked for personal notes, there may be a letter turn up you'd forgotten all about: the Christmas Seal letter sent way last November.

If that's the case suggested Mrs. R. M. Tucker, local Christmas Seal Sale Chairman, don't feel too badly about it... there may be others who have had the same experience and have contributed for their seals after the Christmas rush.

Mrs. Tucker said "Your contribution costs just as much now as before Christmas and it's extremely important to the work of your TB Association's year-round effort to combat tuberculosis. Returns totaled $20,000 through Christmas, and that much more is needed to put Chilton County over the top of its goal."

"We cannot become blinded by recent victories in the battle against TB! It is true, TB the killer has been licked, but TB the disease is still a threat to the health and welfare of all of us. Today it is taking devastating toll of Alabama of all ages. We cannot afford to stop half way in the battle."

"Now is the time to work harder than ever before in an effort to stop TB before it happens to more of us. We must double our efforts to step up case-finding and seek out the unknown cases of TB, the most deadly of all cases, for these are the ones who go about unknowingly spreading the disease."

"We must also give stronger support to research. Research, which will one day give us the needed weapon to completely eradicate TB. That's why we urge each citizen of Chilton County to seriously consider the importance of participating in the Christmas Seal Sale. No matter how large or small a contribution you desire to make, it is important to our TB control program. So don't hesitate to send in your contribution today. Help make all safer from TB!"

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

There are many devices in a man's heart; nevertheless the counsel of the Lord shall stand. (Proverbs 19: 21.)

When in all love and true humility, and conscious of our human frailty, we devoutly ask God the Father for guidance and help to do the good, the right and the wise. He will heed our prayer--if our hearts are clean and our motives unselfish.

THINGS We see and hear
by BO3

BE satisfied with what you have; but not content with satisfaction alone. That is a sure road to poverty!

WHY isn't something done around Clanton on New Year's Eve to help the old year out and the new one in. We were personally on hand for the New Year celebration just past and Clanton has a decided weakness in the spirit of the occasion. We do not endorse wild drinking, wild shenanigans or even circling a nice fellow like Joe Smith, after a hard days work to wish him a Happy New Year, but we do feel that a little "noise" made by the fire siren or something is in order. It seems to us that the least we can do for "Auld Lang Syne" is to honor it with a little "rocket". Sure we na our party enjoyed it thoroughly. We also made a "little" noise (as we're sure any neighbor will testify since they were apparently all is slumberland at the time) but bringing the New Year in properly is done better when all of us lend a hand. It loses some of its savory tradition when some folks ignore its very existence. Next year we want to hear some noise. (Well, we asked for it!)

AND one little "Yankee" youngster was telling "dad'n" about his visit to Aunt Beuna's farm: "And I know what... then I got up on top of the pig's cabin and peeled them some corn!" Cabin rest... well, as they say in pig latin, "Oth-ingnay is too outgay for the orker-pay! An thereby hangs a tale!"

SOMETIMES we hear a man speak and the other nonsense that is dropped upon the scene is enough to make us sorry we are of the same breed. Take the fellow we heard last Saturday morning spouting off about the NAACP, its supporters, and Communist tendencies. He had and how all who were connected with it should (using his terminology) be burned at the stake! Thank God that is not the consensus of opinion here in the South. We do not consider it a betrayal to our race to concede that one of our color is, or can be wrong and we most assuredly say "this man was wrong". Certainly we are against the NAACP and all its deceptions and lies. However, this man was of the mistaken opinion that all Negroes were supporters of this organization and according to his opinion "any" of the would do "anything" to further the causes of Communism and the NAACP. And is, of course, nonsense! The Negro in the south is no more a Communist. In fact, the average colored person in the South is much more afraid of the organization than most realize. Absolutely nothing the man said was agreeable to us. He used violent terms and his reasoning was shot to pieces along with a decidedly pessimistic viewpoint in general. The thing is, even though his is not the true Southerner's opinion it is the opinion which feeds the hate created between North and South and Negro and white man. Now, who is really wrong?

A & P PRESIDENT LOOKS AT HIS INDUSTRY IN '59

The nation's food industry did the greatest job in its history in 1958 and is faced with an ever bigger job in 1959. P. L. W. Burger, president and board chairman of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company said today.

"The entire industry" including farmers, processors and distributors can be proud of its collective accomplishment during 1958. Mr. Burger provided more food and better service to more people than ever before, and by so doing rendered a real public service.

"I am impressed with the great progress in our industry during the past ten years due to research, technological advances and the continuing drive for greater efficiency. As a result there has been a steady and substantial reduction in the amount of time the average American must work to earn the money to pay for his food."

"No matter how good our performance was in 1958, we cannot rest on our past records," he said. "This is a fast-moving world and the public's needs and tastes are constantly changing. We must be flexible in the future as we have been in the past to recognize and adapt our operations to these changing needs and tastes. But always with the basic policy of more good food for the customer's money in mind."

BY golly if we go into the Firestone store here in Clanton we know we're not in Goodyear. Our very good friend R. C. Veazey of Clanton Home and Auto Supply greeted us the other day by accusing us of publishing something which we didn't even publish at all. How come folks don't read the "flag" of a newspaper before they start reading it so they know what they're looking at. Don't Mr. R. C. the next time we come in there we're gonna ask for Tom Shirley!

INCOME TAX FAX

Must I file a federal income tax return for 1957?

If you are under 65 and had gross income of $600 or more, or over 65 had a gross income of $1200 or more, you must file a federal income tax return regardless of whether you owe tax or not, and it does not matter whether you are a man, woman or child, you are required to file a return by April 15, 1959.

It may be that you had income less than $600 (or $1200) and in the cost of what you sold. For instance, if you sold merchandise for $2 that cost you $1, then you have a gross income of $2, but you have taxable income would be only $1. What you received for the merchandise less what it cost you. It would also deduct any expenses you had in connection with the sale.

The same is true of your services. For instance: John Taxpayer is a salesman and has many expenses of selling, traveling, etc. These costs are deducted from income on page one of the tax return and have no bearing on whether or not John uses short form 1040A, computing his tax from the tax table, or takes the standard deduction; or itemizes his deductions.

John Taxpayer, John's brother, is an employee. He started work this year. To get the job he paid an employment agency fee joined his union, paid an initiation fee and monthly dues. Joe had to buy tools and supplies necessary to his job. Joe is required by his employer and the duties of this job to purchase and maintain special uniform and work clothing not adapted to street wear.

These, and many other costs, Joe takes as deductions on page two of the return. They can be taken only if Joe files long form 1040 and itemizes his deductions. The deductions are lost if Joe files short form 1040A.

The Old Timer

"Fewer men have been calling their wives 'the little woman' since they started wearing slacks."

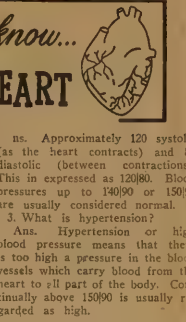

A short form 1040 form 1040A or takes the standard deduction. There are many deductions that John Taxpayer, Joe Taxpayer and the mercant can take and some kinds of income are not taxed. That's what these columns are about. Be sure to read every column. If you have a specific problem you should consult your accountant as early as possible.

Don't Cut Out—Cut Down!

We all make New Year's resolutions, but how many of us keep them? If your list includes a determination to cut out the high calorie and take a few inches off here and there, here's a helpful suggestion from Carnation Company's home economists... don't cut out, cut down. A dessert now and then is not necessarily a diet blunder. In fact, it's a good idea morale-wise, so long as the calorie count and the helping are moderate. Try this low calorie whipped topping made with crystal form instant nonfat dry milk to lend glamour and taste appeal to all manner of desserts. These magic crystals of nonfat milk contain all the vital proteins, minerals and B-vitamins of milk but none of its high-calorie butterfat. Mixed with water in an equal amount of ice water or well-chilled fruit juice, instant crystals whip into mounds of delicious topping that contain but a fraction of whipped cream's calories. Here's another suggestion if your extra calories come from habitual refrigerator raids and between-meal snacks: When temptation strikes, drink a glass of instant nonfat milk. Relinquished according to package directions, an 8-ounce glass of crystal form instant contains only 81 calories and has a way of satisfying that urge to eat.

LOW CALORIE WHIPPED TOPPING
Combine 1/2 cup instant nonfat dry milk crystals with 1/2 cup ice water or well-chilled fruit juice (pineapple, orange, apricot, grape, etc.). Whip until soft peaks form (3-4 minutes). Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Continue beating, while gradually adding 1/2 cup sugar, until stiff peaks form (1 minute longer). Serve layered with fruit in parfait glasses or as a topping for a fruit compote or fruit gelatin. (Makes about 2 1/2 cups)

REV. DONOVAN AT SARDIS

Our attendance is still off some in our worship services. Every one enjoyed the messages Bro. Lamar Williams brought us Sunday and Sunday night. Some singers came with Bro. Lamar and his family and we enjoyed the good quartet singing they did. We invite them back to worship with us anytime.

Rev. Fred Donovan will be preaching for us again Sunday and Sunday night, January 11. We invite everyone out to these worship services. We need your presence and you need the church. Won't you come? Remember to pray for the ones that are sick and can't come to church.

Are you ready for Christ's return? Take ye heed, watch and pray, for ye know not when the time is. -Mark 13:33.

PEACH- Dormancy Ahead of Average

Reports from County Agent M. C. Casscock this week and C. C. Carlton of the Experimental Station at Thorby, indicate that peach dormancy hours at this point are about 200 hours above the nearest "long time average" available.

As of Monday, January 12 at 7 a.m. Chilton County peaches had slightly over 200 hours of "sleep" in.

This says the County Agent, does not indicate any danger to the crop as yet but it does indicate, normal weather prevailing, that we will have early blooms on our peach trees.

This statement is also equal to the fact that trees are "wacky sappy" at this time.

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF CHILTON'S NEW OFFICIALS?

JANUARY 15th marks the official date which candidates winning in the runoff elections recently held will take their places in various official capacities throughout Chilton County's ranks of public positions.

We take note, the age old comment that once a man is elected to the office for which he has so diligently applied himself he seemingly forgets how he got there and who did the "putting".

It is evident that those entrusted to official capacities in the most recent elections are high calibre men; men of strength (if they'll apply it); men of integrity (if they will see fit to use it) and men of a desirous nature to see something better for their Chilton County.

Also notable is the fact that there are factions (due to the necessary "politics") and there will be dissension (due to the human element).

Be there a need however for backbiting, namecalling, slandering and misunderstandings between men of equal intelligence and learning?

Coming into the County Board of Revenue & Control will be Probate Judge J. C. White; Board Member Dalton Champion and Board Member A. D. Headley along with incumbents Reddie Hilyer and Sherman Motley. These men will make big decisions. . . or they will bicker and fight and accomplish little. It is completely up to them now that the voters have made their decisions. What'll it be, gents?

"Bing" Leecy will resume his duties for another term (full) as Supt. of Education; Horsley White goes again into the Circuit Clerk's duties; Hugh Champion returns as Sheriff; Frances Speaks and Joe Graham represent Chilton in the State Government as Representative and Senator, respectively; L. F. "Bud" Gerald takes his stand as County Solicitor and R. L. "Bob" White is the newly-elected Coroner.

These men are well aware that their public offices are not to be used as "grave trains" to better themselves. They are also aware of the rigidity which the general public maintains when it comes to expecting good things from public officials.

As one fellow said, "You're a fine fellow until you're elected to a public office, and that automatically make you . . . something less than a fine fellow. Along this line we have stated what the public expects of these men. . . will the public in return support honest, efficient government when it stares them in the face or is it empty talk?

Only time, and the actions we express, will tell!

And may we add. . . good luck, public officials!

LOCAL DWELLER SAYS
"SPARE THAT TREE"

Received in the mail this week was a letter from a good friend who, in his own words: "Just had to say it! . . ." Well, believing in Democracy we go along with the idea that he is free to say it and in this case we even go so far as to agree with what he has to say.

"In recent days I have noticed that we in our community have lost interest in being neat. Our streets are swept each day in the business district, true; but our pedestrians go merrily on their way, flitting up the landscape, with more trash than any of them would allow you or I to throw down in their own backyard. Of course, those who ride in automobiles use the best waste basket in the world, "Just Trow It Out The Window."

This sort of thing makes for a messy appearance at best. Some of our valiant lots appear to be miniature beachheads. Our community will have a cleaner, neater appearance when you and I decide to have it that way.

In the same vein of thought, have you noticed how many people are cutting down trees? A tree is a massive, yet delicate thing of beauty that no human has yet figured how to copy. Only God can make a tree and it takes Him time to turn them out. We've some folks in this community that can cut one down in minutes. Trees are a necessary part of a wholesome "Small Town Atmosphere". Many times they are the reason that people move from big towns to small towns. We need to have a little less of this tree cutting and a little more "Tree Growing" in our town.

Right now is a good time to plant a few pines at my house and yours, won't you join me today?"

How about it? Have you chopped down a tree lately? Before you chop again, I think twice! We think our subscriber, above has a point well taken.

Words, Actions And The Overall Effect of Each
Income Tax Fax

For the past several months Chilton County News has made extensive efforts in behalf of keeping local trade "local" and progress has been made.

We take this optimistic viewpoint not from our own, but from different merchants experiences and their opinion is one of optimism and encouraging cooperativeness.

For instance, the Christmas Season, usually one of the better merchandising areas of the year, was this year, according to local merchants very good. . . in fact, somewhat above the average.

We like to think that our efforts toward keeping business at home paid off and helped the local merchant out. However, don't get the false impression that Chilton County News was the cause of it all. We did try to start the ball rolling, but the merchants finally caught on this year and supported advertising to the effect that shopping at home was not only good business, but economical and enjoyable as well.

The theme connected. Mr. and Mrs. average shopper observed the local merchants shelves took a look at his prices and, actions prove, was pleased with the results.

This we think is self-evident that the buyer is not going to buy at home unless the merchant "tells" them of his wares! It was also proven during this shopping season that newspaper advertising helped keep business at home because no other medium (to our knowledge), with the exception of the merchant himself, went out for the "Shop at Home" theme!

We appreciate the opportunity to serve! We only hope that Mr. Average Merchant realized some benefit from the campaign and will continue to support his community's "Home Trade" efforts. They've proven themselves well worth the effort and expense for a growing community!

Report from Washington

BY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN
Congressman, Sixth District

Behind-the-scenes of certain liberal Democrats from the North to gain greater control of the new Congress failed to materialize when Congress convened last Wednesday.

Although there were no changes in the Democratic leadership, it was a different story on the Republican side of the aisle. By an extremely close vote, Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana was chosen as minority floor leader to replace former Senator of the House Joseph W. Marvin of Massachusetts. Halleck, a longtime member of the House of Representatives, is considered one of the ablest Republicans in the entire Congress.

RULES CHANGE SQUASHED
A movement, spearheaded by the above-mentioned liberals to reduce the power of the House Rules Committee, failed. This Committee, under the Chairmanship of Rep. Howard Smith of Virginia, is extremely important as it has almost life or death control over major legislation. A reduction in the powers of the House Rules Committee would have been extremely detrimental to the Southern side of the House. The move was done by Southern congressmen prior to the convening of Congress to make certain no changes would take place. As a result, the House Rules Committee will continue to operate as it has for many years.

ALFORD SEATED
It also appeared that there might be a strong effort to prevent the new Arkansas Congressman -- Dr. Dale Alford -- from taking his seat, pending an investigation of alleged irregularities in his winning a victory. A preliminary work by Southern members of Congress was helpful in averting such action. Dr. Alford, who opposed the integration of Little Rock Schools, was sworn in on the first day of his session.

BILLS INTRODUCED
I have again introduced legislation which will permit the Secretary of State to deny passports to Communists and Communist sympathizers. I first introduced this measure last year after the U. S. Supreme Court had ruled that the Secretary of State did not have the necessary authority to prohibit travel abroad by members of the Communist Party. Although my bill was approved by the House of Representatives last August, the Senate failed to consider it before adjournment.

I also re-introduced legislation which provides that state law, where not in conflict with a federal act on the same subject, can be enforced for the protection of the state and its citizens. Contrary to earlier rulings, the U. S. Supreme Court was held in a number of recent cases that when Congress passes a law on any subject it intends that all state laws on the same subject be superseded. As you know, Congress in recent years has legislated on a multitude of subjects. Therefore, if the Supreme Court continues to follow its present doctrine, it will deprive states will be deprived of practically all powers and sovereignty in the enactment of their own laws. I had previously introduced this legislation in the 84th and 85th Congresses. Last year an identical bill, introduced by Rep. Howard Smith (D-Va.), was passed by the House. Representatives but failed to pass the Senate by only one vote. This legislation is extremely important and every effort will be made to pass it during the recent session of Congress.

Spigner Funeral Home in charge.

How many exemptions can I claim?
Each exemption is a $600 deduction. That is, for each exemption you are allowed to make $600 tax free.
Exemptions determine the amount of tax-free income you are allowed each year, and are devoted to make the tax fair between single persons, married couples, and large and small families.
You are entitled to one exemption for yourself. You are entitled to one additional exemption for each dependent. If, on December 31, 1958, you had attained 65 years of age, or if you were blind.
If you were both 65 and blind, you are entitled to two additional exemptions. You are also entitled to exemptions on the same basis for your wife. If you file a joint return.
If you file a separate return, you claim your wife's exemptions only if she has no income and was not claimed on any other taxpayer's return for 1958.
If your wife or husband died in 1958, the additional exemptions for age and blindness are determined as at the date of death, rather than December 31st.
You are entitled to one exemption for each dependent. Additional exemptions for old age and blindness apply only to you and your wife or husband, not to dependents.
Each dependent must qualify under all five of the following conditions:
1. Dependent must have received over one-half of his support from you in 1958.
2. Dependent did not have over $600 income in 1958, besides what you provided, unless the dependent was your child or stepchild under 19 years of age, or if 19 years of age, a full time student, in which case the dependent child can earn any amount as long as you actually provide over one-half of the cost of support.
3. Dependent is not claimed by any other taxpayer and does not file a joint return with another taxpayer. For instance, do not list a dependent married daughter who files a joint return with her husband.
4. Dependent must be a citizen of the United States or a resident of the United States, Canada, Mexico, Republic of Panama or the Canal Zone.
5. Dependent must be closely related to you or be anyone else who meets requirements 1, 2, 3, and 4 above and had your home as his principal place of abode and was a member of your household even if not related to you.
If the dependent has worked part time and earned less than $600 in 1958, or was your child under 19, or over 19 and a student, and income tax was withheld, from such earnings, the dependent should file a tax return to secure refund of the tax withheld.
This will in no way prevent you from also claiming the exemption for the dependent, provided of course, that dependent meets all five of the above conditions.
If your dependent can qualify in all other ways except that you do not furnish over one-half of his support, then perhaps you can arrange with the others who contribute to his support for you to claim the credit anyway under a Multiple Support Agreement-Form 2130.

We see and hear

JAMES Duke Heflin called the other day and (he's one of the local bankers you know) wanted us to come see him. Durn friendliest fellow I ever saw. We'd kinda like you to come see us, Jim ole pal ole pal! Telling aside Jim, we paid up, believe it or not. (When you wasn't looking).

FUNNY thing happened to us the other morning. Started out as a rather normal day and then this fellow from Route 4 Clanton came in and presents a receipt to Chilton County News and says "I am in here, and subscribed to the Union Banner and you're sending me this Chilton County News." Well, this sounded legitimate enough so we innocently inquired how he liked the News. His reply indicated that he not only "didn't want" the News but he'd never taken anything but the Banner and would apparently have been miscombarated for life had he otherwise. We made some effort to explain that it was customary to subscribe to the Banner at the Banner office and he agreed that this was not the Banner office. Anyway, we didn't lose a friend, we gained an enemy. . . or something like that and we'd like to tell this fellow that we appreciate his dropping by and at least showing us that he knew which County paper he was taking and which one he wanted. Would you believe it we actually have subscribers who do not know, cannot tell you, which paper they get in their homes? As far as we're concerned we prefer the fellow who wanted our come-fellow's paper, at least he knew what he was getting and what he wanted even if he didn't know where to find it!

A good friend of our family, Mrs. Jo Ann Johnson is leaving Chilton for her family to go to Georgia, her beloved home state. We've learned and which one he wanted. Would you believe it we actually have subscribers who do not know, cannot tell you, which paper they get in their homes? As far as we're concerned we prefer the fellow who wanted our come-fellow's paper, at least he knew what he was getting and what he wanted even if he didn't know where to find it!

Some folks are of the opinion that if you're going to have inhibitions, scruples, call them what you will you should have them equally every day as well as on Sunday. Well, such things goes for other things we suppose but when it comes to clear cut things of "do they show respect" or do they otherwise we think that God's house of worship deserves little more "respect". We have observed folks here in Clanton and to our humble way of thinking, that is not smoking inside a church building proper respect for the church, as such. These folks who smoke and above, the ones who believe in being the same percentage of bad, good and otherwise every day including Sunday will disagree with us. This, dealing with "respect" is to be a difficult thing to do. The Bible says the body is "as a temple" of God and it cannot be said that smoking in any way, form or fashion adds one whit to the betterment of the body. By the same token then, it does not add very much to the atmosphere of the church, which is the house of God. We think this speaks for itself. What do you think?

About Your HEART
1. Is heart disease a tendency to inherit? Ans. No conclusive studies have been done that show the exact relationship between heredity and heart disease. Many factors of environment and way of life are as important as heredity.
2. Do people under 45 get heart disease? Ans. People can get heart disease at any age. Some children are born with congenital heart defects.
3. Is heart disease more common in a certain group or type of person? Ans. People who are excessively overweight seem to have a higher mortality from heart disease than those who are of normal weight or slightly below. Heart diseases occur more frequently and at an earlier age in men than in women. Rheumatic heart disease is most apt to occur during the school ages, 5-19 years.

Arthritis is New Target of '59 March of Dimes

RHEUMATOID ARTHRITIS affects children as well as adults. John Sutton, 16, of Fairview, W. Va., a patient at the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, New York University-Bellevue Medical Center, became ill at the age of 2 years, has worn a leg brace since the age of 4 years, suffers recurrent periods of high fever. Research and patient aid in juvenile arthritis is an integral part of the program of the National Foundation. Polio and birth defects are other faces of crippling looking to the March of Dimes for Greater Victories in 1959.

Arthritis, the No. 1 crippler of manpower in the U.S. today, is high among the targets of the National Foundation as it launches its "Greater Victories" March of Dimes this January.

Having tamed polio with the Salk vaccine, the March of Dimes organization now is tackling new problems.

Its expanded program will move forward into broad new areas of unmet health problems, many of which have been opened up by research done while finding a preventive for polio and rehabilitating its victims. That is why the 1959 March of Dimes theme is "Toward Greater Victories."

Medical scientific research, patient aid and the training of professional disease fighters are the core of this program, which will cover initially polio, arthritis, birth defects and research in virus diseases and disorders of the central nervous system.

Arthritis and other rheumatic diseases bring pain and crippling to more people in the United States than any other chronic disease. Over 11,000,000 persons are afflicted. Some 320,000 are so disabled they can no longer work. The lost to the nation in wages, working hours and taxes is a billion and a half dollars a year.

The National Foundation will offer patient aid to juvenile and adolescent arthritis patients through age 18. Of the 10,000 children likely to seek treatment each year, some 5,000 to 6,000 may need medical care as extensive as that required by paralytic polio patients. This age group is the most hopeful with which to work, with the possibility of bringing many to maturity able to lead normal, productive lives.

What is learned here will be of benefit to arthritis patients of all ages. Nearly every person over 60 has some form of arthritis. But children as well as adults may be victims of this unpredictable disease. Some 30,000 youngsters each year have juvenile arthritis. In addition to swelling of the joints, causing pain, stiffness, restricted motion and crippling, the rheumatic diseases may attack the heart, eyes, kidneys or skin.

Experts say the cause and cure of arthritis are largely unknown, and doctors warn that there are no "miracle" drugs. Aspirin, hot baths and exercises bring relief. Some new drugs like cortisone may reduce inflammation but cannot be counted on to stop the progress of the disease, doctors say.

In most cases, however, crippling can be prevented or delayed if treatment is started early. Techniques of rehabilitation pioneered by the National Foundation in the treatment of polio are valuable for arthritis patients. Children especially can benefit by these techniques.

Researchers for the National Foundation are now trying to unlock the mysteries of the rheumatoid diseases and find causes, cures and preventives. Some scientists believe viruses may offer clues. Others are studying what is known as the "rheumatoid factor" discovered in the blood of afflicted persons to determine its origin and function.

Many Folks Add Much to Needys' Christmas

Thanks From Chairman Yeargan

The officers and members of the board of directors of the Chilton County Christmas Chest wish to express our sincere thanks to the many good people who so generously assisted in assembling, packaging and delivering the contents of the Christmas boxes sent to the one hundred forty odd of the less fortunate families of our County this Christmas.

We also want to gratefully thank each individual and each firm who contributed money, and those who gave clothes, food and toys. And too, the Civic Clubs that contributed so liberally and especially we say thanks to Mr. Tom Rogers, who worked so faithfully during the entire time. A great big Thank You is due Capt. Blackmon and Sergeant Martin for the use of the National Guard Armory as a place to assemble and pack the boxes; and also to Mr. L. D. Easterling and his class of wonderful Veterans for repairing the toys and assisting in packing the boxes.

We cannot list the names of all the people who were so wonderful in helping, but we do want to express very sincere thanks to the ladies of the Clanton Churches, of Mt. Pisgah Church, members of American Legion Auxiliary Unit of Thorsby and members of the Home Demonstration Clubs throughout the County.

May the Lord be especially good to you in 1959.

HD Clubmembers Join In Fight To Whip Polio For Good

Home Demonstration Clubs throughout the county are taking an active part in the "March of Dimes" drive. When contacted by Mrs. Grady Heflin, County Chair-lady, most of the Clubs responded very quickly to her call to assist with the drive. The following ladies representing Home Demonstration Clubs met -- Mrs. Heflin's home on January 6th to discuss plans for the drive and to receive material. Mrs. Fozie Coe, Mrs. B. L. Cobb and Mrs. Earl Pierce, Center Hill; Mrs. R. Hogue, Friendship; Mrs. E. S. Hogue, Bethelham; Mrs. Raymond Cox, Maple Springs; Mrs. Jack Stewart, Poplar Springs; Mrs. Charles V. Mims, Progressive Women's; and Mrs. Ernest Peters, Mineral Springs.

Material has also been distributed in the following Clubs: Cedar Grove, Adams, Stanton, Macedonia, Cooper, Fairview, Cane Creek, Mapleville, Mt. Carmel, Thorshy and Enterprise, and they are making definite plans for raising March of Dimes funds within the communities.

Presidents of the other Clubs: Sunny Valley, Verberna, Isabella

Mt. Eighan, Shoults and Mt. Carmel, have been contacted and they will receive material for the drive in each community.

Each Club is making plans for raising funds in the community. In addition to the house to house campaign and placing coin collectors in community stores the following suggestions have been made by some Club members - community coffee at home of a club member, selling coffee at a community building, coffee day at community cafe, road block, measuring party, supper, hen drive and bake sale.

Blue 'Crutches' to be Sold Saturday Throughout County

Next Saturday, January 17, will be Blue Crutch Day in Chilton County. The little blue crutch symbol in the past has been a source of hope for the needs of polio patients, who have been handicapped by other ailments during the March of Dimes. Mrs. Mary Heflin, campaign director for Chilton County, declared today. The little tag, which will be distributed all day Saturday, will identify donors to the expanded National Foundation program of combatting polio with a new medical research aimed at improvement of man's health. They will be sold by volunteers at busy intersections, other street corners, shopping areas and elsewhere. "While the March of Dimes contributions made the Salk Polio vaccine a shining reality, our chapters still have 50,000 of the polio-crutch symbol in their files," the campaign director stated. "And now we are faced with at least 10 million people who suffer from arthritis and rheumatism and 250,000 infants born each year malformed. All our citizens of Chilton County are urged to give generously Saturday and wear their blue crutch tags proudly with full knowledge that they are helping to fight these dread ailments which might at any time affect any of our loved ones."

BETA SIGMA PHI MET JANUARY 12th

The Beta Sigma Phi Club of Chilton held its regular meeting on Monday night, January 12 at the home of Mrs. Jo Ann Wyatt. A most interesting program was presented on "Collecting, As a Hobby".

Following the business and the program Mrs. Wyatt served delicious refreshments to the following ladies: Mrs. Helen Blackmon, Mrs. Julia Crowe, Mrs. Dot Headley, Mrs. J. Headley, Mrs. Edna Higgins, Mrs. Barbara Wade, Miss Mary Lou Green, and Miss Marquerite Rainey.

From my front porch

By CARL HELM

There are some good people in my town who are greatly interested in that wonderful bird, the lark - which, as the poet, "at Heaven's gate sings." They are eager to know its habitat and numbers, and are making everyone, everywhere, who has seen or heard one recently, to help them. If you have, drop me a line at P.O. Box 61, South Bend, Ind., and I will turn the information over to the lark people.

Smaller, but a beauty and delight, the lark refutes the wacky idea that there is merit in sheer business and length. Take, for example, the long-nosed, long-tailed, high-dipped cars that clutter up our streets and highways. (You take 'em, if you want; I hear there's a new car coming this fall which is smaller, smarter, stylish and economical - and I'm waiting!)

Speaking of giants, who will play that just because a bakery is huge, it can turn out a better pie than mother used to make - or that Fritz Kreisler would play more wonderfully if he used a big low violin?

'A Scout Is Friendly' Is Theme Of Boy Scouts' 49th Anniversary

The nation's 4,780,000 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Explorers, and adult leaders observe Boy Scout Week, February 7 to 13, by launching the fourth and final year of the "Onward for God and My Country" program. The 49th anniversary emphasis is "A Scout Is Friendly."

Through their World Friendship Fund of voluntary contributions the Boy Scouts of America have helped Scouts in 48 other nations.

America will be represented by several hundred Scouts at the Tenth World Scout Jamboree next July 26 in the National Park near Manila in the Philippine Islands.

During Boy Scout Week, honors will go to units that successfully carried out projects in traffic, outdoor, and home safety in last year's Safety Good Turn.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

It is quite possible new Congress will be asked to vote into being a national sales tax.

For some time, some high officials in public speeches, have been raising this matter apparently as a trial balloon, to test out sentiment.

Whether or not this would be proposed as a substitute for personal income tax, or as an additional tax, is not yet made clear.

One thing C. W. Harder seems certain. Any such proposal will have determined opposition.

For example, on several occasions, voting through the National Federation of Independent Business, the nation's small businessmen have voiced opposition to such a measure.

For one thing, this would put business firms still deeper into the situation whereby they are financially handicapped by the United States government when it comes to tax collections.

It is perhaps well nigh impossible for anyone not operating a business to realize how much is shouldered by the average business in acting as an involuntary tax collection agency.

For example, in most states, a retailer not only has to collect income tax from his employees, he must also collect from them social security and unemployment taxes, excise taxes on goods carrying them, local sales taxes, just to mention a few.

He must also keep a penny

Telephone Talk

By RUFIE EVANS
Your Telephone Manager

"THANKS FOR CALLING!" To let you know how much we appreciate having you as a customer, we're celebrating "Thanks for Calling" month. That's our way of saying thanks not only for the calls you make, but also for the opportunity of serving you. And that goes for all of us--operators, installers, service representatives, linemen. When you see our "Thanks for Calling" badges, or hear that phrase, please take it, too, as a small expression of the satisfaction we get out of bringing people together and helping communications services so important to you. Again, "Thanks for Calling!"

AFTER-HOLIDAYS LET-DOWN? Friends and relatives who gathered for the holidays are scattered again... children are back at college... all the happy hustle and bustle is over. But don't let it get you down! Out-of-town folks are always as near as your phone. And Long Distance costs so little, especially when you call station-to-station after 6 P.M. or any time Sundays. By the way, why not arrange a regular time for your college son or daughter to call home? It's a happy event you'll both look forward to, whether once a week or once a month.

IT'S ODD, in a way, how many farms around the country have all kinds of work-saving machinery--but just one telephone. For example you'll see electric milking machines, power tools, conveyors, grain mixers. Yet when the phone rings, someone has to run from one of the farm buildings into the house... or through several rooms... to answer it (and that's usually the farmer's wife). With extension phones costing only pennies a day each, the modern farm should have them wherever needed. Just call us for more information.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

CHRISTIANS NEED A SURPLUS

It is vital that every Christian have more than he or she needs for more than the bare necessities of life. The Christian's very constitution requires it. His nature demands it, for God made him that way.

The Christian is joint-heir with Christ to all of God's riches and graces, which include love, peace, joy and material goods. The Christian needs all of the benefits God has provided; otherwise, he will be so restricted in life as to be of little value to anyone except himself.

Only a surplus of material supply can reflect the "abundant life" which Jesus promised.

Who is going to pay attention to a sad Christian?

Who is going to be inspired by a Christian who has only one coat for his back, only one pair of shoes for his feet, or who usually has only enough food to keep body and soul together?

True, there are many Christians in such dire circumstances, but they are Christians who have not understood God's marvelous providence. No one can be completely happy or effective under such circumstances, and every Christian should realize that God has made him to receive, enjoy and share the overflowing of the abundance of all things needful.

If you are a Christian, Satan quite naturally wants to make you an unhappy Christian. He wants you to be kept in ignorance of God's plan for you. He does not want you to know that Jesus has provided a surplus for you.

The devil is determined to make you the worst possible advertisement for Christ, and he seeks to accomplish this by keeping you in need, weak and sick.

Do not agree to it.

You must have your surplus.

Christians need a surplus of every good thing God has provided in order to make the most favorable impression possible upon others, and to be the best possible living advertisement for Christ, who came that you may have life and have it more abundantly.

Some people say, "This is wonderful, but if it is the will of God that we have a surplus, why don't we have it?"

Because the will of God must be fought for, worked for, sought for and, above all, believed for. It is God's will that all men should come into his kingdom, but all men do not come. It is God's will that all mankind should prosper and be in health, but all do not prosper and there is much sickness.

Not all are willing to take up the cross daily and follow Jesus. All are willing enough to receive, but not all are willing to believe for believing includes doing the will of God.

Faith without works is dead, being alone. There are things which we must do to make our faith effective.

God is a God of surplus, and it is impossible to believe and obey God without receiving. The beginning of receiving is giving, for God has said that we are blessed to give than to receive.

Believe God and act upon his Word for your surplus now.

Three Errors Made By You, The Public

"We have found," says Dr. D. G. Gill, State Health Officer, "that before we can eliminate tuberculosis in this country, we must correct three errors made by the public."

These errors must be corrected their minds about tuberculosis. Too many people have three errors. They are colossal errors."

"The first error is this: Tuberculosis is hereditary. This is not true. It is a contagious disease. Frequently members of the same family have tuberculosis. It is not due to hereditary traits, but to too close association with the victim of the disease.

"The second error is that tuberculosis is incurable. This is not true. In its early stages tuberculosis can almost always be cured. If neglected too long it is more difficult, and some cases cannot be cured, but many are cured.

"The third error is that tuberculosis is not preventable. This is not true. Any contagious disease, and tuberculosis is contagious, is preventable. The sooner our people learn and accept these facts, and act accordingly, the sooner tuberculosis can be eliminated."

Believe God and act upon his Word for your surplus now.

It's Always TOMORROW FOR US

ALABAMA POWER COMPANY has completed a record year in the number of new power projects started, finished and authorized for future construction. The amount spent in construction of additional generating facilities and lines to meet the ever-growing need for electric power in our service area is the largest in our history.

These projects began in studies years ago; preliminary plans were developed many months in advance of construction.

Engineers today are studying probable future requirements so that they can recommend when and where future power plants are to be built.

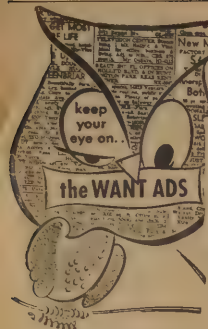

We always are building in advance of actual need. With a power generating unit even of moderate size, costing 25 million dollars or more, it takes faith to start building one before anyone has told you that he is going to want more power. We have that kind of faith.

Such faith also calls for other kinds of activity—

- planning that will stimulate growth
- industrial development representatives combing the country to learn of industries planning expansions in the South so that some will locate in Alabama
- advertising in national magazines to tell the rest of the country some of the South's advantages
- power engineers regularly contacting existing industries and businesses to learn of their expansion plans
- rural service engineers telling the farmer how he may use electricity to save labor or increase farming profits
- home service advisors and others telling and showing how electricity can be used to greater advantage in the home for cooking, heating, cooling, lighting
- constant study of improvements so that the price of electric service may be kept at levels to encourage greater use.

It's always tomorrow with us, because today is the tomorrow we were planning for yesterday.

FALLOUT SHELTER for a family of four to six shows how a layer of 2 feet 3 inches of earth over a 6-inch concrete roof slab offers good protection even in highly radioactive fallout zones. Cost of this backyard shelter would range from $1,000 to $1,500, including ventilation equipment. It is recommended by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization as the best family fallout shelter for a moderate price, but other less expensive basement designs are available. Further details appear in Technical Bulletin TB-53 issued by OGDMM headquarters at Battle Creek, Michigan. (OGDMM Photo)

THE ULTIMATE in family shelters is represented by this large and luxurious unit built by steel contractor Earl W. Reicher of Battle Creek, Michigan. The $10,000 structure has a 96-foot well, private electric generating plant, electric and hand-operated blowers for the filtered air system. Its steel reinforcement prepares it for use as a blast as well as fallout shelter. However, a small family fallout shelter may be built for a fraction of what this shelter cost. (Battle Creek Enquirer and News Photo)

Tomorrow is Alabama's -- STATEWIDE CAMPAIGN KICKOFF MARKS NATIONAL JAYCEE WEEK IN ALABAMA

At the Tuesday meeting of the local Junior Chamber of Commerce a Kickoff Campaign was held to awake the citizens of the State of Alabama to their responsibilities and their potential as a State and to take their rightful place in the leadership of the things which Alabama is noted for and can do the best.

The intriguing theme of the Campaign is "Tomorrow is Alabama" and according to State Jaycee president David Barkdale of Anniston, "never in recent history have the people of this state enjoyed the wealth of opportunity available to them today. . . . Alabama can realize a growth far greater than her sister states. We have only to awake to what is ours and work together to achieve it."

Let's get rid of that old inferiority complex" said Barkdale, "about our place among the states and assume the role of leadership that is ours for the taking."

Local Jaycees, headed by President Morris Moats are behind the movement 100 percent and ask the cooperation of the people in putting this drive—which only takes fortitude, not money—across!

FEEDING OUR SCHOOL CHILDREN HAS A BIG BUSINESS

Feeding children has become a big business for people in the food industry.

One of the best known child-feeding businesses concerns the school lunch program. Just nearly 50,000 schools in the United States participating in the lunch program, two billion lunches were served about 12 million children under the National School Lunch Program last year, according to a year-end tally. "Thirty percent of the total school enrollment in America enjoyed these meals last year," said API Extension Marketing Specialist A. W. Jones.

The money involved in the program is estimated at $200 million paid by the children, plus an estimated $80 million contributed by state and local governments and about $90 million from other local contributors. In addition, reported Jones, the United States Department of Agriculture has appropriated $93 million from appropriations to help run the program, and about $50 million are available to buy foods specifically for school lunches.

What does an early accumulation of dormant hours mean to the peach grower? Only future weather conditions can answer the question for sure. Yet, a few definite statements can be drawn from the fact that trees have received minimum "chill requirements."

First, peach producers will not have delayed fruit and leaf buds developments as they have had in 1949, 1950 and 1957. Both type buds will be barring other weather hazards - develop normally when dormancy is broken.

Peach producers also can reasonably expect an early bloom in 1959. This fact creates problems with some that are behind with management chores. For instance, pruning should be completed before full bloom. Fertilizer needs to be applied four weeks ahead of bloom. Dormant sprays cannot be applied after growth starts. So, weather has its effects, and doubly so, with dormancy is broken.

Arthritis Pains Plague Millions of Americans In All Age Groups

(Editor's Note: This is the first of three articles on the nature, causes and prevention of arthritis by Dr. William S. Clark, director of medical care of the National Foundation.)

By WILLIAM S. CLARK, M.D.
Director of Medical Care
The National Foundation

Despite the prevalence of arthritis, most people are uninformed or misinformed about it. Here are three facts they usually don't know:

- Children sometimes have it. In fact, the disease pagans all ages from the infant to the very old.
- Causes and cures are mainly unknown. There are no "miracle" drugs. Diet neither starts nor stops it. Expensive remedies and devices are often no more helpful than the simplest and most economical ones.
- Nevertheless, there is hope for the arthritis sufferer and he need not despair. Aspirin and hot baths relieve pain. Sulfonamide, vitamin, mineral, and other supplements reduce stiffness and restore joint movement. By early treatment, crippling can be prevented. In the same way, arthritis can be prevented.

patients, the disease can, in most cases, be returned to its normal state.

In this first of three articles, I shall tell what arthritis is. The second will discuss what can be done about it; the third will outline hopes and prospects for the future.

Arthritis, a name popularly given to a group of related rheumatic diseases is one of the oldest ailments known to man. It afflicted prehistoric animals. It cruelly plagued the Egyptians, Greeks and Romans.

The Greatest Crippler

Today in the United States arthritis or rheumatism tortures, cripples and deforms more people than any other illness. Nobody knows the number of its victims but estimates range from 11 to 30 million. Though few cases are fatal, homes are disrupted, businesses wrecked, careers ruined.

Because of arthritis and the rheumatic diseases an estimated 320,000 Americans are so disabled that they can no longer work. The resultant loss to the nation in working hours and production, cost of maintaining victims and decrease in income taxes tops a billion and a half dollars a year.

Yet, despite the magnitude of this disease and its costly ravages, the United States has only about 400 arthritis clinics, mainly in large cities. Only 700 beds are specifically set aside for it in hospitals. Research funds are meagerly inadequate and the number of some doctors and researchers recruited as specialists is far below the need.

A New Impetus

The entry of the National Foundation (originally the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis) into this field gives hope for a tremendous new impetus in research, treatment methods and the training of additional skilled manpower. Since it was the National Foundation that conceived, organized and financed with March of Dimes funds the research that led to the Salk vaccine and a whole galaxy of vital breakthroughs in medical science, we may expect its guarantees to make important new discoveries concerning the cause, cure and prevention of arthritis.

Arthritis is primarily a disease of the joints. Usually chronic (i.e., long lasting), it is apt to flare up and subside unpredictably. There are many kinds of arthritis. They commonly attack the Connective tissues of the joints, often causing inflammation, swelling, pain, tenderness and crippling of the joints. It affects the shoulders, hips, feet and spine. Some forms can result in fever, general weakness, loss of appetite and weight. In addition to the joints, the heart, lungs, blood vessels, nerves, muscles, skin and eyes may also be affected.

Two of the most prevalent types of arthritis are rheumatoid arthritis and osteoarthritis. Together they account for 70 percent of all arthritis victims.

Persons Over 60

One out of every 100 people over the age of 60 is afflicted by arthritis or lesser degree of rheumatism. Osteoarthritis is a degenerative disease which results from wear and tear of joint surfaces. The commonest sufferers are the weight-bearing joints—back, hips and knees—are most commonly involved. Men engaged in heavy physical labor like farming and industrial work are especially prone to it. This disorder usually begins slowly, but it is not usually relieved by inflammation or infection. It is not usually relieved by medication. It is not usually relieved by surgery. It is not usually relieved by any other means.

really "sick". Overweight may be a contributing factor.

Osteoarthritis victims in the U. S. probably number many millions, variously estimated from 10 to 25 million. Of these, a million and a quarter may require medical treatment in any given year.

Rheumatoid Arthritis

More serious by far is rheumatoid arthritis. Called the No. 1 crippling disease of the nation, it is an insidious, progressive disease that affects the whole body and may last a lifetime. During acute attacks, rheumatoid arthritis patients are genuinely sick. People of all ages are vulnerable, many in their most productive years of 35 to 50. Three times as many women get it as men. Young mothers often get it badly, especially after the birth of the first child. Symptoms include fever and general weakness, loss of appetite and weight, muscle aches, inflammation pain and swelling in the joints. These symptoms may start from time to time but they usually return, often in aggravated form.

At least one million persons in the United States have disabling rheumatoid arthritis and require medical care. Probably another four million persons have a mild form of the disease. Severe cases end in deformity and crippling. Even the eyes, heart, muscles, lymph glands and spleen may be damaged. Sometimes the joints become permanently rigid.

Afflicts Children

Contrary to popular belief, children suffer from rheumatoid arthritis. The number is estimated at 30,000, with 16,000 a year sick enough to need medical care. About 5,000 or 6,000 of these may require treatment as intensive as the rehabilitation needed by paralyzed polio patients. As soon as feasible, the National Foundation give patient and to arthritis children and adolescents through age 18.

The very young are subject to a particularly severe kind of rheumatoid arthritis called Still's disease, which can impede normal bone growth and may, as the child matures, cause severe crippling.

Besides arthritis other areas of March of Dimes activity are polio, birth defects and virus disease.

(The second article in this series on arthritis by Dr. Clark will tell what to do about it.)

SEALS SALE — AN UNANSWERED LETTER?

Is there an unanswered letter on your desk?

Have you made a mental note to be sure to attend to it... tomorrow? This is a reminder that the Christmas Seals in that letter... might be the means of assuring many 'tomorrows' for several people in Chilton County who inevitably will be stricken with TB this year.

During 1959 Alabama will have a great deal about TB, periodic chest X-rays, new methods of prevention and new techniques in cure will be investigated and used.

Yet, this is the only time you are asked to help yourself and your fellow man in the fight against tuberculosis. That's why the campaign against this killer must be supported now so that the fight may continue throughout the year.

Receipts from the Seal Sale are still coming in, according to Mrs. R. M. Tucker, Chilton County Christmas Seal Chairman. "We are within 37% of our goal. Every letter returned is certainly appreciated. As of January 6th, 1959, we have received $846.45 toward our county goal of $1328.00."

Foods of the Future

FOOD "LIPSTICKS?"

"Lipsticks" of concentrated food may soon be developed for the Armed Forces. Such frozen, dehydrated little sticks of food would include chicken, turkey and beef.

Four thousand packets of food sticks of a different kind are already used daily by the Air Force, Army and Navy.

In the rapid advancement of scientific nutrition, BEER and ALE continue to play important roles. These wholesome beverages will be welcomed with "Foods of the Future" just as they have been with foods of the past.

The mere change of administrations isn't going to better things—now let's see some action.

Don't advertise your shortcomings—the other fellow will buy the space.

If a man has big money it's because he was careful with his small change.

Some self-made men we know selected the wrong material.

You won't get weak eyes by looking at the bright side.

We know of two things that will grow without help—weeds and bad habits.

To live by principles you must first learn to discipline yourself.

Safety laws are no substitute for the driver who is safety-minded.

The things most folks call conscience is the fear of getting caught.

The more explaining a man has to do for his actions, the less people believe him.

THERE is plenty of room for everybody in this world—but we can't all have front rooms.

SITTING PRETTY--

The luxury of plowing sitting-down made possible years ago by the development of the farm tractor, has not been quite as luxurious as city slickers might think. Let the man who confuses a tractor with his well up-holstered car place his back sides in a cast-iron seat and buck the furrows and hummocks from dawn to dusk! He will want to have supper standing up.

Cushions for tractor seats were developed to fill an obvious need and they do to a point. But, like most farm machinery, it left exposed to sun, air, rain, snow, dirt and dust, and becomes pretty sad-sink in a matter of months. Farmers, by and large, were still depending on the development of callouses where they would do the most good.

But now, we see where a Farmer who has spent much time in his overstuffed chair, or baked in the Florida sunshine, can look forward to the first day of spring plowing. That is, he can if he has the latest in posterior protection—the five-and-a-half-inch-deep cushion molded a new DuPont chemical foam, and developed for this critical service to men who ride the bucking tractors most of the year here in the South.

We rejoice, as will all right minded Americans, at the realization that now, at long last, the man who provides us with our daily bread can do it sitting pretty!

NEW OFFICERS--

To better serve the public new officers have been elected at Peoples Savings Bank in addition to the present staff.

Dr. Charles R. Moore, vice-president; James D. Heflin, assistant cashier; John C. McKinney assistant cashier; and Wallace R. Wood, assistant cashier, come in for congratulations on their new duties.

Since the year 1901 Peoples Savings Bank has steadily grown and now stands out as one of the more efficient and sound banking institutions in central Alabama.

"Wallace is Right on Civil Rights Stand"

"We are behind George Wallace 100% on his stand refusing to turn over state's property into the hands of the federal government or court on the grounds that it was not that body's right to seize the property".

This comment was made by an individual in behalf of a group of Chilton County citizens who believe that George Wallace is right in his stand on Civil Rights.

Other counties over the State have gone even further and established monetary measures of their faith in his stand.

One interested party expressed his views: "I just believe that he (Wallace) is for the good of the people and I'm for the man, personally, due to the fact that he seems to be supporting a cause

GOV'T. WELFARE

YOU AND ME

THE SECURITY LOTTERY --

When you buy insurance, the policy tells you what you'll get for your money—and what you won't if it's a contract, and that's that.

Some people think of Social Security as "insurance", which it started out to be but isn't at all. The government tell you what to pay now (or have your property seized) and maybe you'll get something later, maybe not.

Congress decides both what you'll pay, and what you'll get—if anything. The money goes into the Treasury to be spent, and the government puts IOUs into the Social Security for you to pay in taxes later, or for your children to pay.

You can pay all your life—and collect a mere $200 death benefit.

Or you can pay for a few years and hit the jackpot of maximum benefits. Congress makes the rules, and a later Congress can change them. It often does.

This is just something to think about now that your contribution to this insecure "security" has gone up by another one-fourth of one percent on the first $4,800 of your salary.

he believes in". It seems to be a cause many people believe in.

There is much to be said at least for the fortitude Wallace shows when it comes to something he strongly believes in. He's like a mule who doesn't want to work, only he, unlike the mule has the sharp mind which puts him in a position to know what he is saying and just what he is talking about.

If a man ever needed Divine Guidance in a bad situation it's George Wallace at present, but if it's any consolation to him, there is very great evidence to the fact that he has literally tens of thousands of Alabamians supporting his cause, which in essence is "their own" cause!

Kiplinger--

PREDICTS BUSINESS BOOM IN 1959's

Inflation Too, And Higher Wages

The business boom will flow from population growth, plus rising productivity which will increase the output per man-hour, plus higher incomes, plus the pull of people who want more and better things for themselves, plus the nimble shifting of business patterns, Kiplinger says.

Companies will expand, despite painful and expensive growth. They must add capacity, products, diversify and new outlets as a hedge against the rapid changes that would drive them down and possibly out.

More chains larger stores and many stores taking on additional lines is the revolutionary picture for merchandising in the 60's. The food store will become a general store, with other things than groceries. The end of the trend is not yet for the super-super market. Pre-packaged and frozen foods, requiring more complex equipment, fancy fixtures, and all kinds of new kinds of warehousing methods.

Also there's automation...this tide is rising fast. It means more mechanical equipment and system to replace muscle power. It's a must for domestic business, and it's a must for our foreign trade. Automation downgrades muscle, but it upgrades brains. Increasingly, college students will be lapped up and trained for top executive jobs, and the government putting jobs. And, surprisingly, the lower-echelon jobs such as foreman and supervisor will be filled by college grads.

As business gets to be in bigger units, it will need more trained brains. As it gets more far flung, more responsibility will rest on the individual. Business processes themselves are being upgraded and the men who run them. Automation adds to the need for the trained and the educated in key spots.

Wages and salaries are bound to rise, following the patterns now. Despite higher prices of everything, the 20 per cent wage hike by the late 60's more people will be able to afford more things.

This means a continuation of inflation at about the same rate as in past decades. Savings, pension funds, and work in terms of what they will buy.

Unions will be affected by the growth of white-collar workers, specialists or experts in various fields. Unions will find it harder to unionize effectively. Union leaders are already forecasting the trend.

More women will join the ranks of workers in the 60's. They've got to work for the growing economy and raise their children. 45 per cent of the women of middle age will be working by the late 60's.

the County Service Fair.

Income Tax Fax

What form shall I use for my 1958 federal tax return.

You have a choice. Form 1040-A, short form 1040 or long form 1040.

The card return from 1040-A for 1958 filing has been revised to cover employees with incomes up to $10,000.

The new card form may be used by any individual with total income of less than $10,000, consisting of wages reported on form W-2 and not more than $200 in dividends, interest, and wages not subject to withholding.

Husband and wife may also file a joint return on form 1040-A if their combined income does not exceed this limit.

By using form 1040-A, you automatically claim the standard 10 per cent deduction allowed by law for personal expenses such as contributions, interest payments medical expenses, and the like. If your allowable deductions for these items is in excess of 10 per cent of your income you must use the regular form 1040 if you wish to claim them.

Those taxpayers with incomes under $5,000 may figure their own tax or have Uncle Sam do it for them. If you owe some tax, this is a good way to get some extra time in which to pay it. Since the law does not permit this choice it'd be extended to incomes up to $10,000, taxpayers having $5,000 or more income must figure their own tax and remit with the return 1040-A.

1958 SHORT FORM

If your adjusted gross income is more than $10,000 and your itemized deductions are less than 10 per cent of your adjusted gross income, you should use short form 1040.

1040 LONG FORM

If your adjusted gross income is over $10,000 you must use this form. If your itemized deductions are over 10 per cent of your adjusted gross income it will be to your advantage to use this form.

To assure any benefits of the split-income provisions, you and your wife should file a joint return. Both you and your wife must sign a joint return. One spouse cannot file a long form 1040 and take all the deductions and the other spouse file a form 1040-A or take the standard deduction or use the split income.

You are expected to pay your income tax on the basis of the year you should choose the form that lowest figure possible; therefore, results in the lowest tax for you.

Report from Washington

BY ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

Committee assignments were being worked out in the House and Senate last week after both chambers had formally organized and the Senate had completed debate on proposed changes on its rules.

The Senate rules debate was touched off by a group of liberal senators seeking to curb filibusters through a rule change that would permit a simple majority of the total membership (50) to end debate. Their efforts were unsuccessful, however, and the Senate adopted a compromise rule offered by Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) whereby debate can be terminated by a two-thirds vote of those present and voting. Formerly, a two-thirds vote of the total membership was required.

Committee assignments were being worked out in the House and Senate last week after both chambers had formally organized and the Senate had completed debate on proposed changes on its rules.

The Senate rules debate was touched off by a group of liberal senators seeking to curb filibusters through a rule change that would permit a simple majority of the total membership (50) to end debate. Their efforts were unsuccessful, however, and the Senate adopted a compromise rule offered by Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) whereby debate can be terminated by a two-thirds vote of those present and voting. Formerly, a two-thirds vote of the total membership was required.

Democrats will hold a majority on most House committees of nearly two to one. This is a much higher ratio than in the 85th Congress and is due to Democratic gains in the November elections. For example, the House Foreign Affairs Committee on which I serve will have 21 Democratic members this year and 11 Republicans, as compared with 17 Democrats and 15 Republicans in the last Congress.

METHOD OF ASSIGNING

With many new House Democrats scrambling for places on the committees of their choice, the task of assigning the new members to committees is an extremely difficult one. This job is handled by Democratic members of the House Ways and Means Committee who act as a "Committee on Committees" for that purpose. The Republican counterpart is a committee composed of one Representative from each state which has at least one Republican in its House delegation. The total membership that each committee may have and the party ratios within it are agreed on in advance by the leadership of the two major parties.

Since the majority party outnumber the Republicans in this Congress by 347 to 187, the dominance of Democrat on the committees was expected. In the 85th Congress there were 235 Democrats in the House of Representatives and 200 Republicans. The 86th Congress has 283 Democratic House members but only 154 Republicans.

In the Senate at the present time there are 64 Democrats and 34 Republicans. Last year the Democrats held only a two-seat majority in that body.

LARGEST CONGRESS EVER

The 86th Congress is unique in that it is the largest Congress to date. This is due, of course, to the recent admission of Alaska as a state. The Senate now has 98 members, and the House has 359. Representatives exceeds by one its established membership of 435. Beginning with the 88th Congress, however, House membership must be by law reduced to 435. This will be accomplished through redistricting based on the results of the 1960 census.

EXTENDS SYMPATHY

Our community extends sympathy to the Mrs. H. R. Schurter family Mrs. Schurter passed away Monday afternoon at 3:10. She was laid to rest by her husband in the Stanton cemetery Wednesday morning.

Our community extends sympathy to the Earnest Ratliff family in the death of their son-in-law, who was killed in an automobile wreck.

We all need to pray for the sick and shut-ins, and the ones where death has entered the home.

THINGS We see and hear

by BOE

"We believe that the power behind us is never as great as the power behind us."

Well the Boy Scouts are almost 49 years old and according to records there have been twenty-nine and one-half million boys involved in Boy Scout work since 1910. Just think how many have been made from Boy Scouts.

Chilton County was represented in the Inaugural Parade Monday in Montgomery. And the way, we have a confession to make: last week on the front page of our morning paper was that bidding was underway in Clanton in the head concerning floats in the parade where we should have been C-H-I-L-T-O-N. We caught it, but too late! We worry and we know that those folks in Mapleview throughout the County will appreciate us setting ourselves straight.

Had a long chat with Mr. Clanton one of the City Fathers (Clanton Monday and he enlightened us several new developments. One was that bidding was underway in Clanton for constructing an 18,000 gallon water tank in Stanton. This, he says, will get those folks south of town between pressure and we hope, start businesses in that area. Also, at City Hall and the ladies' aid, new Clerk's office is finished, tickled p-i-n-k with the real thing. They're working on a few other projects too. Mr. Dief says, "I like when we get through with a job there's another takes it's place. We agree Mr. Dief, but we wouldn't couldn't hope for a few more of fellows to get our work done for us than the ones we have now. And, we're mighty obliging even if we don't show it!"

Shorly Walker has not long ago accepted a position as Liberty National Life Insurance Co. here in Clanton and we figure he will be an asset to the business here. That remains to be seen of course, but we know that sort of a fellow, Shorly, so we can afford to elaborate on his abilities. He was formerly with the Farmers Mkt. and Exchange here and made many friends; he will be behind him in his new job. Good luck to you, Shorly!

Jerry Boden says he's a tired rooster. In Jaycee talk means he's over the fence. Or plain English it means he will be again. He's 35 years old. That's enough to make anyone tired. Jerry old boy! (Even rooster).

Mr. Herman Lecroy is in with the local Goodyear Store and with new manager Bell. Glad to see Mr. Herman back in town, but a conspicuous absence from the local scene.

Lady down in one of the department Stores here was conversing with us the other day about inaugurations in general and in particular about the 86th. She remembered last time "Big Jim" was sworn in one fellow won the shindig and upon whose resignation his teacher requested a written excuse from home for his absence from school. The reply was "Big Jim said 'Y'all Come. I went'."

Dadrat It!

Editor Clave Switzer, The Press-Scimitar--One good life matter of choosing, but few seem to be able to narrow our choices. We want to live in the country, but we expect to have a delicatessen store or cocktail parlor at the end of our property. Too many of us try to choose from important choices--not because we too daddled to choose.

Mr. and Mrs. Talk It Over

"I've always told you were lucky to be married to me," Molly needed her husband, "and if you don't believe me just ask the U.S. public health service."

"I've never doubted it, Molly—at least not very often," the Mr. responded, "but what does the public health service have to do with it?"

His wife smiled and handed him a newspaper clipping. "The national office of vital statistics says married men live healthier and longer than single men," she explained. "They don't have a scientific explanation, but their statistics show that bachelors die off two-thirds faster than husbands. So you can thank me for a longer life."

The Mr. chuckled. "A lot of husbands would argue with you about whether they actually live longer or whether they're being married just makes it seem that way."

SHORT SHOTS THE NEWS LOOKS AT LOCAL BUSINESS

The Negative & the Positive

EVERYBODY in general this week greets us with the same dull remark (excuse is another word for it): "Business is just slow in January." For Pete's sake that's what we're trying to do. . . help your business. Advertising builds business. It's as simple as that.

Too many folks try to make a "booger" out of advertising their product. It's really very simple. . . you're just supposed to spend the amount on advertising which you feel you can afford, BUT do it systematically, however small or large. Also, too many feel that "what they can afford" and "nothing" is synonymous. Believe me, it is not a donation, in any sense of the word. It's good business management!

ONE fellow said to us, after we inquired about his advertising for the week, "I'm not going to do any more for a while, it cost too much." During the course of the conversation we mentioned the fact that most people were of the opinion that January was generally a sour month anyhow. He calmly replied "I've had a pretty good January. Better than last year's month". Well, it just so happens that in December (just past) this fellow advertised heavily (systematically) and during the same period last year he did not newspaper advertising. Now, by George, you can't tell me that 2 and 2 don't make 4!

THE reason business is slow for some merchants in January is because some merchants are slow in January. They always say, "you can't move the wagon sittin' down." Well, by the same token. . . you can't wag your tail. . .

KENNETH WELDON was working like a Trojan Monday morning trying to wait on customers, tally the books and what have you. Here's one fellow who has the right idea about advertising if he just had the time to put it to. He takes time to do some and we think it will help put his business across. In case you don't know by now, he has taken over Lawrence Paint & Hardware across from the Court-house and he's doing a fine job. Ken's a good worker, he should do alright.

AND John Ponder. . . he's just lofin' around! Naw, don't tell anybody, but he's in the sign paintin' business. . . full time!

HOW many hot dogs was that you said you sold Thursday and Friday Floyd Gray? At a nickle a piece . . . it figures! They said they couldn't wait on all the customers up there over the week-end. See, advertising. . .

WHEN that face is lifted down at Goodyear you're really gonna see some struttin'. That's quite a renovation they are undertaking and we think it will prove very good for the community and the store. Congratulations to Goodyear and staff!

SAY, those new fellows, the Norman boys down Big Four way. . . they really have the right idea about how to promote a sale! More power to you fellows. New blood never hurt any community; at least not to our knowledge.

RALPH Johnston down at Upchurch's says he doesn't like for folks to ask him to scratch their backs and then they won't scratch his. You're right Ralph, it itches doesn't it. . . we speak from experience too!

Smile When You Say That

Columnist Bob Peary, The Daily Gazette—There was once a man like the legendary Faust who sold his soul to Mephistopheles. But when the day came to sign himself up, this man, glancing at the post-ponement, Mephistopheles instructed him to wait to the surrender point and promised: "If the way you meet one stranger with a friendly, cheerful, happy face, you may turn back forever. Now the point of the legend. If this man met you on your way to work this morning, would he have done?"

NOTE: Please get your news to me before late Monday night. If you can, I am very much interested in getting the news from our community for this column. —your Reporter

Chilton's Lecroy Attends Education Conference

W. A. Lecroy, Chilton County Superintendent of Education took part in a three day educators conference at Auburn last week. The purpose of the meeting was to have officials of the A.P.I. School of Education to determine what steps need to be taken in program of aid to new school superintendents.

Auburn's program has been in operation since 1957. Not only do teachers in the county have a place to go, but the program, which is to help the superintendents solve some problems in their schools, is the Fund for the Advancement of Education which has a grant of $50,000 for the year.

Lecroy and 16 other superintendents cooperating in the program stated the following as their needs: (1) Help in finding top students to consider for college who might not do so otherwise; (2) a vehicle to help the students determine what fields they are best qualified for; (3) the need for more libraries and better library facilities to meet the demands of education; and (4) a more extensive use of educational television. Their needs were also stressed.

YOUR Health

The commonest communicable disease is one for which physicians recommend self-treatment. Self-treatment is indicated for the common cold and consists in nothing complicated than going to bed and staying there. One day in bed may suffice if a person goes to bed with the first symptoms of a cold.

Symptoms are well defined and include chilliness and a dry irritating feeling in the nose and throat. If a person with a cold has a running nose and also a temperature, then three days in bed may be called for. If he still feels ill after one day or three days he should not get up, for the danger of pneumonia is greatest on the third and fourth days. There are two reasons why staying in bed helps cure a cold. In the first place, staying in bed keeps energy expenditure at a minimum. Also, it makes regulation of the body temperature easier so as to avoid chilling and the dangers accompanying an exposure to chill.

And, because colds are spread to others by droplets given off from the nose and mouth in coughing and sneezing, staying in bed keeps the person with a cold away from others, and thus protects them. If we feel a cold coming on, the best treatment is a warm bath and a hot drink, and then quickly to bed. While physicians urge this self-treatment, they do not approve self-medication, and for a reason. There is no drug, antibiotic or sulfonamide, that has been found effective against the common cold virus.

If the temperature remains 100 degrees Fahrenheit for more than a few hours, or if other symptoms appear, such as chest soreness, swollen neck glands, or pain in the ears, then the doctor should be called.

All things were made by Him; and without Him was made nothing that was made.—(St. John 1:3)

Almighty God made the limitless universe—our sun, and the millions of stars beyond it, and this tiny planet upon which we live. And He made each of us, in His image. Each of us is one with God, as each sunbeam is one with the sun.

Private landowners -- industries and individuals--planted almost a billion trees in the U. S. last year. About 100,000 acres were planted in Alabama.

And under the impetus of the Soil Bank's Conservation Reserve Program which is designed to encourage retirement of farmland from surplus crops, even more trees will be planted this year. "The terms of the Conservation Reserve provide special financial incentives to farmers who contract to plant trees on some or all of their cropland," said API Extension Forester Ike Martin.

"Trees are a profitable farm crop, too," Martin added. Properly managed, trees will yield a substantial annual income, after initial establishment and Conservation Reserve payments have run out. And U. S. Department of Agriculture experts predict a rising increase in demand for timber and other wood products.

"A row-crop farmer wisely shifts away from his sub-marginal land and concentrates his efforts and fertilizer on his best acres," said Martin. "Then when land is left uncultivated, aggressive pines come back. As these trees grow, they are attractive to our wood-using industries."

"The owner is enviable position of having two profitable paths from which to choose," said Martin. "He can manage his woodland and enjoy returns from timber sales, or he can sell out for a price equal to many times his original investment in the formerly unproductive acres."

CLEAN UP FIELDS GET READY FOR CROPS

It's almost time to prepare your land for spring planting.

"And the first step," says API Extension Agricultural Engineer Tom Gaillard, "is to cut the stalks and litter from last year's crops. This is necessary to prevent the crop residue from interfering with the machines that are used to plant, cultivate, and harvest this year's crop," warned the specialist.

The best way to cut the stalks and litter, according to Gaillard, is to shred them with a tractor-powered rotary stalk cutter. Not only does the cutter shred the stalks and other residue, but it spreads the cut-up material over the land.

Gaillard pointed out several advantages in cutting and shredding the residue. "For example," he said, "a better job of turning the land can be obtained, and the shredded material can be completely covered. It's a good aid to insect control, too, since the insects' hiding places are destroyed. The cut material will all come in contact with the ground and will rot faster than when it is left standing. Short pieces of material left near the surface of the seedbed will not interfere with planting and cultivating equipment as much as long stalks would.

"Since the mechanical rotary cutters will cut green as well as dry material, the stalks and other crop residue should be cut and shredded as soon as possible after a crop is harvested. This allows more time for the shredded stalks to rot."

Premeasurement Of Chilton Farms

Chilton County cotton, wheat, and peanut growers and farmers participating in the Conservation Reserve can arrange for official measurement of their 1959 farm cotton, wheat, and peanut acreage allotments, as well as Soil Bank base crops under the Conservation Reserve program prior to planting time, the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee announced this week.

To get the premeasurement service, which is being provided on a cost basis, a farmer must file a written request with the county ASC office prior to February 15, 1959, for allotment crops and permitted soil bank base crops under the conservation reserve program, says Mr. Eddie Owen, Committee Chairman. The rate to be charged for the service in Chilton County has been established for each farm, 65 cents per acre for each acre or a fraction thereof in excess of 50 acres, and payment based on this rate must be made at the time the request for premeasurement is filed.

"The premeasurement is purely optional," says Mr. Owen and offered as a service to farmers who prefer to have an official measurement to use as a guide.

The chairman explains that all cotton, wheat and peanut acreage as well as the soil bank base crops under the conservation reserve the county will be measured as soon as possible after the measurement is established to determine the acreage and the amount of bank programs. When compliance is checked, the farm will be considered to be within the farm allotment, base or permitted acreage if the crop is planted within the premeasured area.

A GREAT NEED --

Chilton County has the distinction of having one of the finest little hospitals in the state. Equipment is up-to-date we have nine Registered Nurses, two good surgeons and plenty of Doctors on the Medical Staff. Why don't the residents of Chilton County give their hospital their cooperation?

From the best authority we learn that many go to the hospital and beg for medical aid and care, only to forget their obligation as soon as their patient is well and about again. Under this condition it makes it difficult for the hospital to operate. Our tax dollar goes to pay for the hospital but the patients themselves must pay their bills before the hospital can pay for maintenance and supplies and a hundred other things that comes up in the operation of a large institution of this kind.

Good medical care is a commodity which people buy; just like other commodities that constitute the necessities of life. Unfortunately, there are some people here in Chilton County who evidently do not feel that medical care needs to be paid for; some of them seem to feel that it is the moral responsibility of the Government to see to it that they are made well when they become sick or injured. This would be a Socialistic State if this were so.

It is fully understood that sometimes extenuating circumstances make it possible for us to pay all of our obligations as they come due--but we do not walk off and forget the obligation--we make arrangements to pay as we can until the debt is satisfied. That is what must be done at our hospital. It was constructed and equipped for the use of the citizens of this county but we should not abuse this much needed institution by securing it's services and then forgetting that to continue operation it must collect it's fees.

Many here are paying their hospital bill on the installment plan. Even a dollar a week can show a man's good intentions.

IS THE ARM OF THE LAW SOMETIMES... TOO LONG?

We were detained by the City Police recently while taking a colored employee home. The reason for stopping us (apparently there was nothing wrong with our car or the way we were driving) "We didn't know who you were".

We appreciate the fact that there is too much liquor, violence, etc. in the colored quarters of our city, but when it comes to infringing on the rights of the individual, no matter what color he is, we disagree. We believe in the old saying about an ounce of prevention, but as submitted above, sometimes the long arm of law over extends itself.

We do not feel this way merely because it was us they detained. Actually we've been detained before, and more than once. We disagree because there was no apparent reason for stopping us other than the fact that we were in the Negro quarters and that seemed to them reason enough.

To a great degree the average layman is completely ignorant of what does go on around him and the law sometimes looks a bit out of line. We have knowledge enough of the situations in our City to know "degrees" of necessity and we feel that the prevention indicated above was uncalled for simply because they "did not know who we were".

For the sake of good law enforcement in our City we appreciate the alertness of our police officers, but we do not require, and we don't think anyone else does, that they know every car that travels the streets by sight. It may be a good idea. ...but stopping every automobile simply because it is a strange one, is indeed splitting hairs and we think, is pushing too far the borderline of personal rights and privacy.

STARTING THE NEW YEAR RIGHT!

Report from Washington

BY ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

President Eisenhower submitted to Congress last week a precariously balanced budget calling for expenditures in fiscal year 1960 that total approximately $77 billion.

Balanced against the President's estimated 1960 revenue receipts, a surplus of $70 million would remain in the federal treasury at the end of fiscal 1960. However, this surplus is partly contingent upon increased postal rates and gasoline taxes that the President has requested Congress to enact. Unexpected economic developments beyond the control of Congress or the Administration could also off set the budget balance.

In addition, a balanced budget will depend to a degree on the financial status of such flexible government programs as veterans benefits and farm price supports where the total expenditures are not controlled by the government and cannot be accurately predicted.

TAX RAISES ASKED

Nevertheless, the President expressed confidence that, with the cooperation of Congress, his proposed budget could remain balanced.

On the other hand, Democratic leaders have already indicated that there is little chance of passing legislation to increase postal rates and to raise the present three-cent gasoline tax by 1 1/2 cents a gallon. In his budget message, the President also called for increased rates on aviation gasoline, higher taxes for life insurance companies, taxes on jet fuel, and extension of the present rates of corporate and excise taxes.

The proposed new taxes and postal rates would be expected to raise about $1.3 billion in additional revenue to the government. But few, if any, of these revenue proposals have yet received a favorable reception by Congress.

DEFENSE FUNDS

As expected, the President's budget places heavy emphasis on defense. He was asked for almost $46 billion to finance various national security programs, an amount which is slightly lower than last year's total for defense. His defense program calls for an increase in military spending of approximately $145 million, but recommends a reduction in foreign military aid.

INCOME TAX FAX

Here are some suggestions that will help the Internal Revenue Service in processing your return, Uncle Sam takes in over 60 million income tax returns each year. That is several trainloads of pieces of paper and it is hard to understand how the Revenue Service does as good a job as it does, considering the vast volume of pieces of paper it must handle and the short space of time it must handle them. Let's do all we can to make their job easier for them and maybe we'll cut their expenses and our taxes.

Just brush up on your arithmetic before you file your 1958 income tax. The most common mistake made on last year's returns was in arithmetic--adding, subtracting, multiplying, dividing. Please be sure you double check the arithmetic of your next return and thereby save Uncle Sam a pretty penny.

Send a separate check with each tax return. If Forms 1040 and 1040-ES are filed or mailed together, please forward a separate return for husband and wife, please do not staple together just attach by clip. Attach securely all schedules inside the return. Only Forms W-2 and check should be attached to

Next to military expenditures, the largest budget items include interest on the national debt, farm spending, and veterans' benefits.

ECONOMIC MESSAGE

Another Presidential message--the annual economic report--was also delivered to Congress last week. In it the President stated that the nation had recovered from the recent recession and predicted a record income this year. At the same time, however, he urged the cooperation of labor, business and consumers in an effort to prevent further inflation.

Arthritis Patients Gain Relief Through Medicines And Therapy

(Editor's Note: This is the second of three articles on the nature, causes and prevention of arthritis by Dr. William S. Clark, director of medical care of the National Foundation.)

By WILLIAM S. CLARK, M.D.
Director of Medical Care,
The National Foundation

There is specific cure for arthritis. This is true both for osteoarthritis, a localized "wear and tear" disease, and for rheumatoid arthritis, which is accompanied by fever, weakness and inflammation of the joints.

Having said this, I must add at once that arthritis patients can be helped by a judicious combination of medical treatment and physical therapy. Even the severely disabled can be salvaged. In hundreds of cases they have been self-sufficient in daily life, often returned to their jobs.

In the first article of this series I explained what arthritis is and described its symptoms. In this second article I will tell what can and cannot be done about it. In my third column I will discuss hopes and prospects for the future.

The first thing to remember is that disability and crippling can be prevented by prompt rehabilitative treatment. Pending the fact of the return. Do not place remittance under return.

Your name and home address must be complete.

Space I provided on the income tax return for the Social Security Number of each spouse. This should not be overlooked.

If the taxpayer of the wife was 65 years or over at the end of the taxable year, make certain the blocks provided therefor on line 1, page 1, are checked.

The names of children entered on line 2 should equal the number entered on the right hand margin of line 2.

The number of exemptions claimed on line 3, page 1, should agree with the number of individuals listed on Schedule 1, page 2.

If you are claiming "Head of Household" status or if you are a surviving widow or widower who qualifies for special tax computation, make certain the block provided therefor is checked on page 1.

Attach all forms W-2 to the face of the return. If it is absolutely certain you cannot obtain form W-2, please attach full explanation. In such instances, if the discovery of a cure, it is important to encourage arthritis patients to pursue, as much as possible, the normal routine of their lives. Beyond that, pain and the patient can be maintained in a physical condition favorable to the natural abeyance of his symptoms.

Though rheumatoid arthritis may last a lifetime, there are, in many cases, periods of "remission" when acute symptoms subside. In fact one of the characteristics of this disease is that it comes and goes, gets better and worse, and nobody can predict its course. About 15 percent of its sufferers get well after one or more initial attacks. Another 20 percent get worse and become disabled. The rest suffer varying degrees of discomfort, with periodic attacks followed by quiescent intervals (called "remissions"). Children under five with juvenile arthritis may be very sick indeed. Even their internal organs may be affected. Some severe cases are fatal. But at puberty, for reasons unknown, many arthritis children get well again.

The basic treatment preferred by modern physicians is a sustained one consisting of rest, exercise and medication. All three are equally important.

Rest is particularly necessary for patients with active rheumatoid arthritis. Since the whole body is ill, the whole body needs to be rested. Absolute bed rest, however, is rarely necessary; when used, precautions should be taken for correct posture in bed. Temporary splints may be used to rest the aching joint, instead of putting it from the pull of movement.

Withholdings are out of proportion to the wages, the processing of the return will be delayed.

If any portion of wages is excluded on line 6, page 1, as received under a wage continuation plan for sickness or injury, attach statement showing computation and give full particulars. Better still, attach form 2440.

The entry on line 17-B should be limited to payments on 1958 Declaration of Estimated Tax. Inclusion of other amounts will cause delay in processing the return. Show District Director's Office where payments were made.

If deductions are itemized, use the space provided therefor on page 2 of the return, if at all possible. If your schedules are used, follow the pattern and order sequence on page 2 of the return. The line "total deductions" should be filled in with the total dollar amount of the deductions.

Since 1940, per acre yield of corn in the U.S. has risen 56%, wheat 40% and cotton 67%.

The U.S. Navy expects to have a total fleet strength of 864 ships by June 30, 1959.

When Patient Improves

Once the acute stage of the disease has passed, rest ceases to be urgent. As soon as the patient shows improvement--when fever and inflammation subside and appetite returns--he may be encouraged to go back to school or to full or part-time work.

Physical therapy and exercise are to the arthritis patient what insulin is to the diabetic. Exercises are not a cure, but they assure normal function in the affected parts. Even in the severe cases mild "muscle-setting" exercises are prescribed while the patient is still in bed. In general, the object of daily exercise is to maintain or increase the strength of the muscles, to keep the affected joints as flexible as possible for the widest range of motion and to prevent deformity.

Simple Exercises

Exercises should be taught and supervised by a doctor or a physical therapist. The best exercises are simple ones that the patient can do himself. As in polio, exercises and rehabilitation methods must be worked out individually to suit the particular needs of each patient. The mental attitude of both the patient and his family are key factors in recovery at this stage. Particularly important for the patient is a strong motive to make himself useful again.

Among drugs, aspirin is the least harmful, the most economical. Given in fairly large doses regularly each day, it relieves pain without damaging the heart. As for other medications, it cannot be said too often that there are no wonder drugs, no miracle cures. Sometimes acute symptoms simply cease for a time, even in the severest cases. Again, the mildest case may suddenly erupt with increased intensity. There is scientific evidence that many drugs eradicate arthritis, or at least its natural course.

This holds true for ACTH, cortisone and other related drugs known as the "steroids." They suppress inflammation and swelling on occasion even to a dramatic degree. On the other hand, they are often accompanied by harmful side-effects, such as high blood pressure, diabetes, gastric ulcer, bone fracture, "moon-shaped" face and psychological disturbance.

Gold Therapy

Injections of gold compounds like the steroids, may produce remissions of acute symptoms as reliable the patient to move with greater freedom. But gold therapy, too, has its disadvantages. When not properly used, its side-effects are dangerous. Moreover, it is a term benefits are debatable. Heat treatments are useful in relieving pain. Recommended hot tub baths, hot moist towels, packs, or the use of an electric blanket. These simple and economical measures may accomplish much as more elaborate and costly therapy such as whirlpool and short wave treatment and other forms of diathermy.

Corrective Surgery

Severe cases of deformity may need corrective surgery. But other remedies, often widely advertised, are mostly ineffective. Move to a hot, dry climate, may make you "feel better" for a time, but it has no permanent merit. Vitamins, patented medicines, bee snake venom, vaccinations, salt injections, liniments and diet fads are nearly always useless. Besides arthritis, other areas of March of Dimes activity are poliomyelitis defects and virus diseases. (In his final article Dr. Clark discusses the direction modern medical science is taking in its search for an arthritis cure.)

What do you know... About Your HEART

1. What is a normal pulse rate for children? For adults?

Ans. The normal pulse rate is identical with the normal heart rate. The average for adults is about 70 beats per minute, but there is considerable variation among individuals. A rate considerably below or above 70 is neither uncommon nor always abnormal. The pulse rate diminishes progressively from birth, when it is around 130 per minute, to adolescence, and increase in old age.

2. If the heart sometimes skips a beat, is this a sign of heart disease?

Ans. No. The majority of occasional skips occur in the absence of heart disease. They do not interfere with the circulation and as a rule, have little significance.

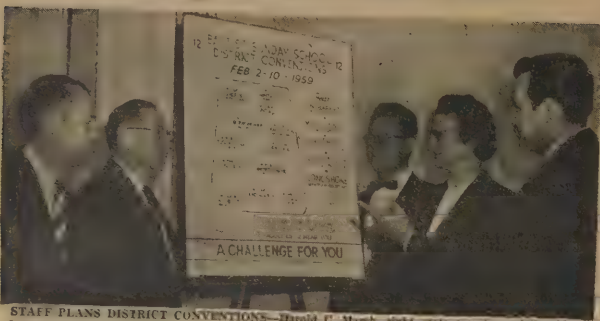

3. What causes shooting pains in the heart area, especially during adolescence?

Ans. These are rarely, if ever, due to heart disease. They may occur when the heart skips a beat or beats once prematurely, like an engine firing too early in the cycle.

ALA. POWER CO. APPROVES BIG, NEW CONSTRUCTION IDEA

Thomas W. Martin, chairman of the board of Alabama Power Company, announced today that the company's board of directors had approved a $55,000,000 construction budget for 1959. This is a part of a ten-year expansion program of $335,000,000 previously announced.

The construction budget for 1959 covers expenditures of $33,700,000 for additional generating capacity and connections, and includes continuing work on Barry Steam Plant near Mobile, the Coosa River hydro plants, Smith Dam on the Warrior River, Bankhead Dam near Talladega.

There will be expenditures of $3,900,000 for transmission lines and substations, not including connections to new plants. Supply facilities for new customers and expenditures for existing customers will cost $14,800,000. Purchases of automotive and miscellaneous equipment and tools will cost over $1,300,000. Additions and improvements at Gorgas Coal Mines will cost in excess of a million dollars.

Alabama Power Company will in 1959 invest $9,000,000 in the Southern Electric Generating Company plant under construction near Willistonville. This is a plant jointly owned by Alabama Power Company and Georgia Power Company, and will have an ultimate capacity of one million kilowatts.

Of funds required for operations $18,000,000 will be for payroll. Fuel for steam plants will cost $19,050,000. Taxes in the amount of $23,500,000 will represent the largest single element in the Company's costs for 1959.

Mr. Martin stated that "Although our construction budget of $55,000,000 for 1959 is some less than for 1958, it in no way represents a lessening of our 10-year expansion program which totals $335,000,000, not including additional generating plants under consideration but not yet authorized, and additional millions to be required for the needs of new customers and expanded needs of existing customers.

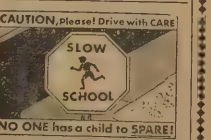

"The construction schedule for a program of this magnitude varies from month to month and year to year, so that greater amounts are spent in some years than others.

"The growth of power needs in Alabama Power Company's service area has accelerated and again is at the rate which has prevailed for the past several years—a rate which resulted in approximately doubling the Company's generating capacity in the 10-year period just passed.

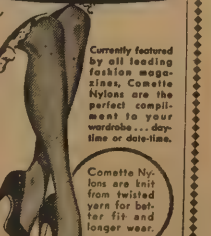

"Electric generating requirements in the Company's service area in 1958 established a new record of 8 3/4 billion kilowatt hours—an increase of 500,000,000 kilowatt-hours over 1957.

"In 1958 there was a greater investment of capital in new and expanded industries in Alabama than in 1957. The number and kind of industries being received by our Industrial Development Department indicates that many types of industry are reactivating their interest in establishing new plants in the South."

CARO HAS NEW RATE REDUCTIONS

The Central Alabama Electric Cooperative has announced a New Year's present for its members in the form of a rate reduction. The second reduction in as many years, the new rate is possible due to the members' increased use of electricity, according to Manager Chester Wingard.

He explained that from a beginning of an average use of 49 KWHs when the co-op was organized nearly 20 years ago, members have increased their use of electricity until the average is 249 KWHs per year. In addition to this reduction in 1956 a patronage refund was authorized for those who received service for cooperative during 1943 to 1945. This amounted to $780.00 to members.

The present rate is expected to be around 9.00 per year. "Two years ago our rate 500 KWH bracket was expected to be more than rural residential rates, explained. "Now, this brought in line."

HEARING DEFECTS

Approximately one child in a hundred is born with a defect in hearing. The thought that a child is born deaf does not usually occur to a prospective mother. These mothers intimately assisted with the problems of deafness, or who fear an inherited tendency, are likely to watch for the child's reaction to sound.

Deafness is a serious predicament and it has accompanying defects in speech and development in general; therefore it should be treated at an early stage. Early diagnosis is of importance to the future life of the child. The detection of deafness is not easy early in a child's life. For the first few weeks, the behavior of normal and deaf babies is much the same. At about the age of four weeks, a normal child first becomes responsive to sound associated with his surroundings as made by the mother's attentions and the family's activities.

Observing these responses, the parent is in a position to learn much about the child's hearing. If it responds that seem abnormal put in an appearance, the parent should be impelled to seek the advice of a physician. The causes of deafness in early childhood include hereditary influence, prenatal infection, adverse effect of drugs and difficulties at birth. Factors at birth may be certain causes are amenable to medical treatment, although in most instances this deafness is of a permanent nature, and parents have to accept this fact.

The child born deaf is in need of the utmost in loving care and treatment. Deafness acquired in the initial period of normal hearing, the child will have developed some facility of speech and understanding. For the child with acquired deafness, the problem is to conserve the child's speech ability, and improve through educational treatment.

The electrical manufacturing industry expects to produce $2 billion worth of goods in 1939.

Telephone Talk

By RUFÉ EVANS
Your Telephone Manager

"THANKS FOR CALLING!" That's our way of thanking you, not only for the calls you make day in and day out, but also for the opportunity of serving you. This seems an appropriate time to express the appreciation we feel all during the year. For us, there's a lot of satisfaction in providing a service that's so vital to our community and state, and in putting you in touch with those you want to talk to for need, pleasure or profit. Every day we're doing our level best to make your telephone service as useful and convenient as you, yourself, want it to be. Mighty nice to have you as a customer!

CAN YOU TOP THIS? Watching a telephone installer carefully picking up every snippet of wire after putting in an extension phone reminded one of our customers of his grandfather's thrift and efficiency. His grandfather, he said, never threw away a piece of string. The long pieces he put into a large box labeled "String." The rest went into a smaller box. Its label read: "String Too Small to Use."

THE HAPPIEST FAMILIES, the friendliest friends are those who remember "It's fun to phone Long Distance." There's no need to wait for a special occasion. Just call whenever the mood strikes you. It'll do you good and bring a lot of satisfaction at both ends of the line. You get Bargain Rates, you know, when you call station-to-station. And you save even more after 6 P.M. and any time on Sundays.

TAXES (OH, YES!) During a recent month, my customers in Clanton paid about $2,531.06 in Federal Excise Tax on their telephone service—this amounts to just about $30-$72.72 per year!

We merely collect the money from you and turn pay it to Uncle Sam. Your telephone service is the only utility service which has an excise tax!

KIPLINGER: "BIG CHANGES"...

Population; Birth Rate To Soar In '60's According to Report

A 20 percent increase in population and a soaring birth rate is projected for the next decade by the Kiplinger organization in its annual report on population and business growth in the United States, released today.

The "Soaring Sixties" will bring a major wave of economic expansion and further shift in the habits and needs of the population of this country, Kiplinger says. In the late 60's population will reach 200 million, compared to the 1958 total of 175 million. And the birth rate will jump from an annual rate of four million babies to five million a year.

Also more babies per family. Parents used to want two... now want three. The trends have been well established and there is nothing in sight to change them, the report says. "This means, among other things, a much greater market for children's goods—a demand for bigger cradles, strollers, baby cribs."

The coming human tide of marriage is also into three years, Kiplinger says. In the 40's, when the marriage rate was at its peak, the marriage rate was 10.5 per 1,000. Now it is 12.5. This means that the marriage rate is 20 percent above the 1940 level. As a result, the marriage rate is expected to continue about as high as it is now, at least through the 60's.

As a result of the high marriage rate, there will be a sharp increase in the number of children born. This will mean a sharp increase in the number of children born. This will mean a sharp increase in the number of children born.

From my front porch
There's a man I know in New York City who lives the streets of evenings to talk to stray cats. He's convinced that they understand his throaty purrs and meows — and that he understands them when the cats talk back.

He's otherwise quite normal: middle-aged, kindly and gentle with many friends, myself among them. He carries a pocketful of fresh catnip, gets a new supply by mail each week from a farmer in the country.

On his rounds he frequently meets an elderly woman who walks a regular beat distributing a bagful of liver tid-bits to a waiting assortment of vagrant toms and tabbies. She deposits her delicacies by the sidewalk garbage cans the cats visit, and silently goes her way. My friend smiles, and insists that what homeless city cats most want is catnip and conversation.

Queer people, one might say? I think they're just lonely folks, city-bound, who can't keep felines in the cheerless rooms they call home. Lonely, in the midst of 8 million people . . .

The only person you should want to get even with are those who have helped you.

Mr. Craig In His Younger Days

The plaque, engraved with his name, was presented to Mr. Craig by the Chilton County Merchandise Show, Montgomery, Ala., where more than 2,000 spring and summer merchandise items were previewed. Mr. Craig was one of 2,363 dealers throughout the U. S. who received awards as tributes to their service records with Western Auto for periods of 20, 15, 10 and 5 years. The company was started as a mail order business in Kansas City, Mo., in 1909 by George Pepper, who supplied model T Ford owners with such parts as windshields, spare tires, and tail lights. Mr. Craig pointed out. Henry Ford left the parts off his cars. The price more attractive. Mr. Pepper's original intent was only a $5 bill which went for postage stamps to his sales circulars," Mr. Craig said. He managed to get his first car, a 1910 Ford, in 1912. He sold it for half a cent later. Western Auto is celebrating a spectacular growth into a nationwide merchandising organization with more than 3,600 dealers and 375 company-owned stores and annual sales approaching a quarter of a billion dollars, Mr. Craig said. Besides stores in the U. S. dealers are located in Hawaii, Mexico, Puerto Rico, and Guam, and the company operates a large store in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Western Auto's lines have been expanded until the company offers more than 14,000 items that include auto parts and accessories, toys, goods, bicycles, paint, radios and televisions, electrical supplies, lawn and garden equipment, tools and electrical ranges, refrigerators, freezers, refrigerators, and housewares.

P. T. A. MEETING AT THOMAS JR. FEBRUARY 9TH.

TO DISCUSS APATHY OF PARENTS

The Thomas Jr. P. T. A. will meet at the school Monday night, February 9, 6:30.

Do you send your children to a school not knowing anything about their teachers? If so, you can correct that mistake by going to the P. T. A. meetings. There you will learn your school problems and your teachers. The more you are with your teachers, the more you'll love them. It takes that fellowship with each other to make any organization run smoothly. We invite every parent to just try it. If you love your children you'll do this much for them.

Hoping to see you Monday night at P. T. A.

SHORT SHOTS THE NEWS LOOKS AT LOCAL BUSINESS

The Negative & the Positive

NOTICE comes our way this week that Bill Hays and Paul Hendley are now sole owners and operators of the Exchange Barber Shop here in Clanton. Two fine fellows who really give you a hair-raising, and do a jam-up job of massaging the old bean. Along with them to round out their "specialties" is Oliver Headley. These fellows have built up a fine trade here and we're proud of this forward step they've taken. Bill says "only difference now is, we pay all the bills".

THE search is on in Chilton County for the Outstanding Young Farmer of 1958. The local Jaycees have joined with others in the nation to pay tribute to our young farmers by observing their fifth annual search for America's top young farmer. He must be from 21 to 35 years of age and there are certain other specific requirements necessary for him to be chosen. Look for further details in this newspaper.

THIS week the very popular feature "Churches of Chilton County" will be found in the News sponsored by merchants of Thorsby, Alabama. We respectfully suggest that you observe what these merchants have to offer and patronize them accordingly. We think the "Church Page", as we prefer to call it, has been accented by more of our readers than any other one thing we have ever undertaken and we, along with the merchants listed, urge you to attend this coming Sunday. You have quite an array of churches in Chilton County to choose from.

IF you will, notice how many Chilton County (that's local) merchants chose the pages of the News this week to get what they wanted to say over to the people. We know all of these folks personally and we can vouch for the fact that they aren't in the habit of throwing good money after bad. Consistency pays. Mr. Merchant, if you want to keep that "home trade" home! Use the News to sell yourself!

The Stockholders voted to take steps to secure legislation to enable the Bank to establish a branch at Jemison, and to secure the approval of the State banking authorities for this move.

CHILTON REPORTS NO POLIO IN '58

Alabama reported 60 cases of polio during 1958, one more than the number occurring in 1957.

The State Health Department said today that 52 of the 1958 cases were paralytic polio. Thirty-five of the victims of paralytic disease had not been immunized, while eight had received some Salk vaccine. The immunization status of nine persons is not known.

The Department stated that 48 of the 1958 victims were six years of age or younger. Seven ranged in age from 7 to 12, and two from 13 to 19. Three were over 18.

Twenty-six counties accounted for all of the 1958 cases. Jefferson County had nine, Mobile and Montgomery each reported three cases. Counties recording two cases were Calhoun, Geneva and Henry. Other counties reporting the disease had only one case during the year.

Congress granted a federal charter to the Boy Scouts of America in 1916.

NOTHING worthwhile can be had only for the asking.

SOMETIMES it is better to have loved and lost than to have been the other fellow.

THE good judgment of folks will never wear out; they never use it enough.

SOMETHING needs doing about the "stray dog" situation in these parts. Take Clanton for instance: An ordinance was passed effecting the status of dogs in general in the City limits. There are approximately two dogs for every tree in in our neighborhood, and they're running loose. Not only that, but there are occasions of "disturbing the peace". We don't know what the laws says about a canine "disturbing the peace" but we think it bears investigating. Who knows, maybe 10 days at hard labor will make respectable citizens of them!

WET, DRY OR AS WE ARE?

There are heated discussions practically every day in practically every walk of life in Chilton County as to whether or not it is advantageous, morally or economically, for a county to be wet or dry... speaking of alcohol... the drinking kind.

Our County has for as many years as most can remember been a legally dry County and a morally, very wet one; and economically we lose both ways.

This situation creates in the minds of those who are lenient about the use of alcoholic beverages, an opinion that we would be better off to make the County wet and thus derive some benefit from taxes on the "stuff".

Those who refuse to tolerate the use of the beverage are staunch in their belief that were the County to go wet, morals would be shattered and we would find ourselves in the midst of another Phenix City situation.

Though we do not feel that the latter opinion is right, we do feel that a refusal to recognize the use of alcohol as a beverage is a morally strengthening belief and one that creates better atmospheres of environment to raise our young people and children in. The use of alcohol and its effects on the mind and body are detrimental to the young minds of our children, regardless of who says different. It has been very vividly proven a million times over.

We do not hesitate to say, that Chilton County would be better off financially were it to realize some of the profit from the sale of liquors and alcoholic beverages. Neither do we hesitate to maintain that the overall effect would be one of "tainted money" and we (at least our children's children) would not only wish we hadn't created such a problem... it would also be their lot in life to have to lick it. We don't think the money derived, nor the freedom to go 'take a drink' is worth the great sacrifice which would come to those who follow us!

"NO" IS BECOMING A HABIT WITH INCREASING CHARITY DRIVES

Charity is fine, charity is necessary and as the Bible puts it, charity is love; but charity in the sense of giving monetarily to others is coming to be a force in America which could very easily lead to an "I don't care" attitude because of its demoralizing effect on the individual and his pocketbook.

Some are not pestered by incessant "giving" because they are systematic and efficient about it. They figure out the percentage and give that... and no more. This keeps them in the black and satisfies their need to help others.

Unfortunately the majority of people do not organize their giving as they do their other endeavors and it usually rubs them wrong because they are forever being asked for "donations".

Many persons around Clanton and Chilton County are of the opinion that a United Fund Drive (in other words combine the essential drives all into one donation) would be very effective in Chilton County.

We sympathize with the heads of the most recent drives and respectfully submit that they have accomplished exhaustive tasks in their efforts to "put their drive across". The drives are increasingly overlapping one another, however, and we fear that people are developing an ability to say "no" that will prove fatal to many worthy charities. We don't want to cut down on your "charity"; we would like to see you put it where it will do the most good for the most people.

Here, as well as elsewhere in America, Boy Scout Week will be observed February 7 to 13. It will mark the 49th anniversary of the organization that has touched the lives of more than 29,500,000 Americans since 1910. There is hardly an American family that has not felt its influence.

Today there are more than 4,780,000 boys and leaders playing the "game of Scouting". Although one of every four boys eight to sixteen years old is enrolled, leaders of the movement want to serve at least a majority of the boys in America.

The next five years will see a large increase in boys of those ages.

"Looking ahead for the next five years," says Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, Chief Scout Executive, "we must recognize that never has it been so important or imperative that the youth of our nation be trained to high idealism, acquired through unselfish service, by self-reliance, and cooperative effort."

He says that although Scouting's ideals and objectives have remained constant since 1910, "the program, organization methods, and operating techniques have changed as the result of study and understanding of changing conditions and as necessary to meet the needs of a rapidly growing organization."

To bring Scouting to more of the boys who want it will require more trained leadership and more facilities including camps.

We are confident that the Boy Scouts of America will meet the challenge. Happy birthday, Boy Scouts!

What do you know...
About Your HEART

- 1. Is financial help available when a family is unable to pay for a child's heart examination or operation?
Ans. Many states have funds for this purpose available through State Crippled Children's agencies. For more information about this, consult your Heart Association, 2912 7th Avenue South, Birmingham.
- 2. Are all congenital malformations of the heart detectable at birth?
Ans. While they are all present at birth, quite a number give no symptoms until later. In general, these malformations are not dangerous to life and many of them can be corrected.
- 3. What causes congenital heart defects?
Ans. Some malformations are apparently the result of hereditary defects; others are believed to be caused by virus diseases in the first three months of pregnancy, especially German measles. Most often we do not know the cause.

(Presented each week as a public service of this newspaper in cooperation with the Alabama Heart Association.)

INCOME TAX FA

Reimbursed expense has been a hot potato. Since 1951 the law, the regulations and the instructions have said that we must include the reimbursement in income and then deduct the actual expenses, but not more than the reimbursement, to arrive at our reportable income.

Now we have new regulations. An employee who is required to account, and who does account, to his employer for his business will not be required to report such expenses on his tax return, either detailed or in total amount. Any allowance to the employee in excess of his expenses must be included in his return.

An employee who is not required to account to his employer (or even though required, does not account) must report on his return the total amounts of expenses for travel, transportation, entertainment and other purposes which he incurs under a reimbursement or other arrangement with his employer.

One important change in the final regulations is a clarification of the rules in cases where the employee's reimbursement is less than the amount of his business expenses and he wishes to claim a deduction for the excess. In such case, the employee must furnish a statement showing the total advances, reimbursements, or charges and the total of his business expenses - broken down into travel, transportation, entertainment and other.

Under the new regulations an employee who is required to account to his employer for his expenses and does so account, will not ordinarily be called upon to substantiate expense account information unless:

- (1) His expenses exceed the total of the amounts charged to his employer and he claims a deduction on his return for such excess; or
 - (2) He is related to his employer.
- Enrolled in the Boy Scouts of America are more than 4,780,000 boys and leaders.

HOW does a man of so few virtues get to such a place of prominence as some we know? Seems impossible that folks can be so glib as to let such a breed take them in, use them and make "mules" of them in general. You know some of them... so do we!

IT makes us wonder sometimes. The guy who gripes the hardest about high taxes and increasing taxes is the self same fellow who holds down a job paying anywhere from one hundred to one hundred fifty dollars a week, who knows himself he's not worth that much, and the government is paying his salary. We not only think this guy is going around in circles, we think the government is crowding business out by monopolizing business itself. Though we didn't want Socialism anyway! Sure like to know what you call all these big salary, big retirement, big benefit jobs if it isn't just that. It most certainly is not free enterprise to our way of thinking!

GROUNDHOG, groundhog, your house is on fire! By golly ole Mr. Groundhog is still sleeping, well be. Monday, official Groundhog day was about the worst opportunity anything could have to see his shadow, and Mr. Groundhog is no exception. You know of course that if the Groundhog sees his shadow we'll have 6 more weeks of winter and if he doesn't see his shadow, we will have an early spring. All this is well and good, but we personally think it's too great a burden for a little ole Groundhog to have to 'tote' around with him. The weather should be left up to the weatherman... he makes enough mistakes without depending on a Groundhog!

Taft - Hartley Changes
Besides the other provisions, the Goldwater bill imposes tighter restrictions on secondary boycotts by unions, extends picketing bans, and places in the hands of state authorities cases that the National Labor Relations Board declines to consider. All three of the latter proposals constitute changes in the Taft-Hartley Act and are not included in the Kennedy measure. Most observers agree that these proposed Taft - Hartley changes will be the most controversial issues when this or similar legislation is debated on the floor of the House and Senate.

Firm Proposals
Calling on Congress to abandon the price support and production control programs in their present form, the President last week proposed two alternatives in his farm message. First, he suggested that the Secretary of Agriculture be permitted to fix price supports between 75 and 90 per cent of the average market prices during a period immediately preceding the action. CHILTON TEACHER OF LATE
'20'S NOMINATED FOR HONOR

Jan 30, 1959
Birmingham, Alabama
Chilton County News
Clanton, Ala.
Editor,

Mrs. Katie Williams, a former teacher of your County is a nominee for the Birmingham Post Herald's "Favorite Teacher" Contest. All former students and parents may write the Herald before February 16 supporting her by telling why they think she deserves this honor.

Thank you,
MRS. A. D. RENFROE

The above letter concerning a former teacher of Chilton County is requesting opinions from you citizens. After a bit of extensive research and the capable help of the Supt. of Education's office, Pat Traywick and Mrs. Laura Little; the News came up with the facts on Mrs. Katie Williams, who was raised around Mt. Creek and began teaching in Chilton County schools in 1926. She taught during the term of 26-27 and 27-28 under the name of Katie Myrtle Colburn. She became Katie M. Williams and taught during the terms of 33-34 and 34-35. She would be known by many Chilton's older folks and many of the middle-aged and younger ones that she taught. If you have any information concerning her either written or verbal, please send it to Mrs. Renfro or the Herald in Birmingham. We were unable to find her name in the records at the Supt. of Education's office are not quite that extensive.

WOULD YOU DENY
THOSE NOW IN NEED

The Magic Words
by
Mrs. Grady Heflin, Chairman, Chilton County March of Dimes.

"We shall remember," these are the magic words. Yes, it is a magic phrase. Why? The small gifts of many are used to search out the cause of crippling diseases. You and I have seen in our lifetime the magic of the "Salk Vaccine," today we seldom hear and read about polio as an epidemic. The worried minds of parents of young children have been comforted and protected by the magic of the "March of Dimes".

Shall They
Much money has been spent in research to find this vaccine. What of the many afflicted with the curse of arthritis? Shall they suffer on through ones of time? (Research is the answer to that question.)

Would You Deny
Would you deny those now in need? What of the many who were struck down by polio before the magic vaccine was finally found? Would you deny them the funds with which to continue their treatment today when others are able to escape the peril of polio? You and I will join the March of Dimes and do so gladly as we remember our Lord's love and kindness to the sick and afflicted. We shall remember his words, "In as much as ye have done it unto the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me." If you have not already done so, take a moment today and register for the March of Dimes. Put your checks and dollars in the envelope today and mail it.

Solution to Breakfast Problem

Having a problem getting the family up for breakfast? In this age of electronic miracles, the gadget shown above is suggested as a logical solution.

It will arouse the sleeper, in more ways than one, but once up, he can help establish good eating habits for the family.

Strong measures (maybe not to the extent shown above) are necessary, according to leading doctors and nutritionists who have studied the subject, to insure that breakfast will not be the day's most neglected meal.

Breakfast, according to those diet authorities, should supply about one-fourth to one-third of the daily food requirements. They point out that the "let's skip breakfast" people, prone to be less alert, less efficient and more susceptible to fatigue than those who eat a good morning meal.

The human body is so constantly that for maximum health it requires fairly even intakes of food at regular intervals. You can't make up for the lack of a good breakfast.

People who are troubled in holding the right weight should eat a good breakfast. If they neglect breakfast they may eat too hearty a lunch or dinner. And they just might have a snack or two between meals.

What constitutes a good breakfast? The foods essential to the day's first meal include fruit or fruit juice, cereal, milk or other beverage, and several slices of toast. Eggs and breakfast meat frequently should be included.

These foods are necessary both for children and adults. They supply the nutrients essential for the physical and mental stimulus for work—and play.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

For quite some time, the nation's independent businessmen, acting through the National Federation of Independent Business, have urged unions to make substantial concessions to the nation's anti-trust laws.

So far, Congress has not seen fit to do this.

These stand for the nation's small business. It is not based on an anti-labor or anti-baiting attitude. Rather, the question goes much deeper.

It is possible that unless some law is placed on labor leadership that the welfare of the Republic will be impaired.

There is something corrosive about unlimited power to an individual. In olden times there was seldom a king who did not share his power. But the modern leader is not only unfettered in his use of power, he also has the problem of pushing for more and more to put on a good show for the membership.

This abuse of so far uncontrolled power, plus the drive to seek justification by getting more and more for the membership, seemingly has no end.

Perhaps one of the best concrete examples of this fact is found out in California. In the oil industry, this state is recognized as the birthplace of the super market, and thus, is also perhaps the place of origin of the grocery clerk's union.

Over the years the union has pushed wages up to a point where any grocery clerk not making $125 per week is unusual.

GOES AND GOES AND GOES ON A GALLON!

Bicoyne 4-Door Sedan shows the Fisher Body beauty of Chevrolet's lowest priced series for '59.

CHEVY'S NEW HI-THRIFT 6

More miles are back in a gallon of regular-grade gas—up to 10% more—and Chevy's new Hi-Thrift 6 engine puts them there. It also gives you more "git" in the speeds you drive the most.

Here's an engine that always seems able to coax extra miles out of a tank of regular-grade gas. In fact, if you're one of those drivers who keep tab on things like gas mileage, you'll soon see for yourself that this new Hi-Thrift 6 gets up to 10% more miles a gallon.

Another thing you'll like about this 135-h.p. 6 is the extra pep it gives you for passing and climbing hills. This is due to higher torque at normal speeds.

It may be hard to believe anything that looks and moves like this '59 Chevy can be such a stickler for economy. But—whether you pick the Hi-Thrift 6 or a vint-packed V8—this is just one more reason Chevy's the car that's wanted for all its worth. Stop by your dealer's and see.

The smart switch is to the '59 Chevy!

If he'll work, there's faith in his future.

Nothing... and everything

It will demand your free time—often when you want that free time for other things. It will demand sincere enthusiasm and concentration. It will demand money, perhaps... certainly hard work and the sacrifice of some personal pleasures and whims. In return you'll have nothing you can hold in your hand... or put in the bank... or stick up over the mantelpiece. Nothing but priceless faith. Hardly a specific. But faith is not a specific thing. It comes when you need it most... and where. That's part of its strength—a strength that's as strong as you want to make it.

Find the strength for your life...

A SALUTE TO THE BOY SCOUTS OF CHILTON COUNTY AND AMERICA

ELLIOTT MONROE LIVING EXAMPLE OF WHAT IT TAKES TO MAKE A SCOUT

Eagle Scout, award after award, every world Le Boy Scout and every merit badge unlimited! This boy Scout that ever "arized to tie a shoelace" seems to be the "dream" of a "sheepskin".

In this case, "it's not a dream at all... it's real; and in the person of one Elliott Monroe, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Monroe of Clanton.

When he was 12-years-old Elliott was credited with saving the life of a little girl in the Tennessee River near Scottsboro. Here's the account according to the local press:

Saves Girls Life

"... Scout Monroe has been approved for the award because of his actions last year in saving the life of a 5-year-old girl who fell into the Tennessee River at Scottsboro. Young Monroe dived into the stream, which was 12 feet deep at that place, swam to the bottom and brought the girl to the surface, where his father helped him lift her to the safety of the bank."

He's A Hero

This "good deed for the day" won Elliott the Boy Scout Certificate for heroism and he was honored at a banquet.

For his faithful church activities, in this case the Methodist Church, he was awarded, at the age of 13 the honorary "God and Country Award".

His other special awards include his Eagle award and Scout Life Guard.

Merits Badges

Merit badges won by him (pictured here) include: Reading, forestry, public speaking, bird study, wood carving, painting, life saving, home repairs, book binding, camping, citizenship in the community, citizenship in the nation, citizenship in the home, swimming, safety, pioneering, canoeing, music, rowing, sculpturing, nature, first aid, marksmanship, cooking, farm home and its plants, scholarship, personal fitness, firemanship and to top this extraordinary record off Scout Monroe makes admirable grades in school. Top honors for a top American on this the 49th anniversary of Scouting in America.

What is scouting

The fourth point of the Boy Scout Law reads, "A Scout is friendly. He is a friend to all and a brother to every other Scout." Now as the Boy Scouts of America celebrate their 49th anniversary during Boy Scout Week, February 6-12, let us see how this friendship is fostered.

Friendships form readily in the Boy Scout pack, Boy Scout troop, and Explorer unit as their program promotes democratic ways of living together.

The weekly neighborhood den meetings of the Cub Scouts who are eight, nine, and ten years old are full of fun as they take on themes of American history, geography, natural science, and safety. At monthly pack meetings where they listen to interesting demonstrations of program features, the Cub Scouts meet and know the parents of members of the other neighborhood dens.

THESE are members of the new Explorer group being organized here in Chilton County (Post 44). These boys have been through quite a bit of scouting already, as is evidenced by the uniforms and decorations. SEATED: L to R Billy Chism, Alec Jones, and Norton Lecroy. STANDING: L to R Joe Hyde, Randy Rockett, John Russell Sutley and Milton Adams; Adams is an Eagle Scout and as you can see is a member of the Order of the Arrow (for two years) a very high honor in scouting. Four of the boys pictured here attended the Jamboree at Valley Forge when it was held there. Next meeting of this group will be tonight (Thursday) at the Scout Hut in Clanton.

For God And My Country

Boy Scout Week marking the 49th anniversary of the organization in America will be observed beginning Saturday, February 7, through Friday, February 13.

Boys and leaders arranged programs involving parents of Scouts institutions sponsoring the units, and officials of numerous communities, large and small.

Boy Scout Week activities will show each community the value of Scouting as a program for boys and young men.

The final year of the Four-Year Program, "Onward for God and My Country," is launched during this anniversary.

Units who have successfully carried out activities in each of the three phases of our National Safety Good Turn of last year will be honored. These covered traffic, outdoor and home safety.

Boy Scout Sunday will be observed this Sunday, February 8, in many churches with Scouts and leaders attending services in uniform. Those of Jewish faith will hold their observances in synagogues and temples tomorrow (Friday) evening and Saturday.

This anniversary stresses the "Scout is friendly" part of the Scout Law each member takes. There will be parents night meetings, unit reunions, dinners recognizing new Eagle Scouts, exhibits of Scout handicraft, observances in school assemblies, courts of honor at which Scouts will be honored for their accomplishments, and visits by Scouts to industrial plants and military installations.

The new Exploring program for high-school age young men provides a series of social experiences that help Explorers increase their skill in working and living with others.

World Scouting today in 67 nations finds 7,589,183 enrolled. America's Scouts make friends with those of other lands at the world Scout jamborees usually held every four years. Several hundred American lads will camp together with about 12,000 others from all parts of the world at the Tenth World Jamboree in the Philippines next July 17 to 26.

Through the World Friendship Fund of voluntary contributions since 1944, Boy Scouts of America have helped less fortunate brother Scouts of other lands.

"A SCOUT is helpful, kind, industrious, obedient and many, many other things. Most of all, however, he's a boy and he loves to do things with his hands. Cub Scouts of Clanton Den 3 and Den 4 are pictured above working on a project which requires skill and dexterity. The picture was taken at the local Scout Hut. (Photo by SCOTT)

"Be Prepared" is the motto that inspires thousands of young American boys in their Boy Scout work. And they are preparing—for a worthwhile future as outstanding men. Peach Growers Move To Form Co-op Association

One hundred seventy-five producers attending annual grower meeting, Clanton Armory, Wednesday, February 4th, renewed production practice information and considered ways and means of providing additional marketing facilities.

After carefully considering the pros and cons of several alternative methods of concentrating and processing peaches for market, a representative group of growers unanimously moved to formally organize a cooperative organization.

Growers elected the following officers to lead the Chilton County Peach Producers' Ass'n. during the 1959 fiscal year:

Dent Ballard, President
C. N. Graham, Vice-President
M. R. Glascock, Secretary
E. A. Shirley
Dan Owens
Esco Cobb
Maurice Padgett
Delbert Collins Directors.

The above officers are to meet this week to map a definite course of action and to propose an operating set of by-laws for operation of the County Peach Cooperative.

Objectives of cooperative organization are the promotion of quality peach production and the acquisition and operation of marketing facilities, including sales contacts.

All peach growers in need of marketing assistance are encouraged to keep in constant contact with association officials and through them to know developments of grower-owned production and marketing improvement facilities.

MT. NEBO W.S.C.S TO MEET

The W.S.C.S of the Mt. Nebo Church will meet next Monday night, February 16th at 7:30 p.m. at the church. All ladies are urged to attend. Bring the children for the Childrens Program.

Remember to bring sandwiches or cookies.

SERIES ON FISHPONDS

Many Chilton farmers are interested in building themselves a fishpond or improving one already situated on their lands. Starting next week in the News is a series of three articles by an expert giving the essentials of establishing a pond and keeping it stocked and in productivity. Look in that issue for "Ferm Fishponds". --ED.

JAMES LANGSTON

JAMES Langston of the Clanton Home and Auto Supply is in Akron, Ohio, attending a two weeks training and tour of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Company plant there. R. C. Veazey attended the same school last year. Both of the boys feel grateful to their many customers for the fine trip, because it was through their patronage that the local boys won the trip and made the visit and tour possible. They extend their thanks for this support.

People Who Solicit Are Not Pension Officers

People receiving checks from the Department of Pensions and Security—either old age pensioners or people aided under, one of the other categories are never asked by pensions and security workers to buy anything, to pay out any money to them or to join any organization in order to receive, or continue to receive a check. This statement was issued today by Commissioner Alvin T. Prestwood who warned that any salesman or organizer purporting to be a "welfare worker" or "from the welfare department" could not be a bona fide pensions and security employee.

"Every State and county worker has an official identification card; every worker who calls on a 'welfare' does so for purposes of determining eligibility for a check or giving some needed service," Prestwood pointed out. He emphasized that the counselors and other agency staff never collect from or sell to the people they serve.

The Commissioner added that no one but the county department could determine the amount of an assistance or pension check. There-

Letter Explains Division Of Money By Peace Officers

February 9, 1959
Sheriff Hugh Champion
Chilton County Sheriff
Clanton, Alabama.
Dear Sheriff:

This letter is to confirm the information sent to you earlier by telegram. Of the $10 honorary membership dues, the major portion, which is $6.70, will go to our association, $1 of which is returned to your county for youth activities on the local level, in addition to our statewide program.

Only about $3.30 will be expended as a cost of the program which includes a most attractive and valuable yearbook, wallet identification card, office wall plaque bumper emblem, and a year's subscription to the Alabama Star, a monthly newspaper to be devoted to news about youth and law enforcement activities in Alabama.

The annual yearbook is the first of its kind ever compiled in Alabama and contains a wealth of important and interesting county statistics, history, and information, in addition to information about sheriff's and Alabama's government.

This honorary membership program is the same program which was so successful in Florida which resulted in the establishment of a 22 acre Boys Ranch and college scholarships for worthy and needy students. The Florida Boys Ranch is a reality after only two years and is admitting its first boys this week.

200 Units Asked---

Applications Asked By Local Housing Authority

The Local Board members of the Housing Authority of the City of Clanton have made application for a two-hundred unit housing project to be constructed here within the next two years. Much work is to be done according to Leo Thompson, Chairman and the Board is getting the full backing of the Mayor and City Council in their work.

The Housing Authority of the City of Clanton is now taking applications for the position of Executive Director. Anyone interested in this position should make their application in writing only and mail to "The Housing Authority of the City of Clanton, Alabama."

This position will pay from $300.00 to $400.00 per month, depending on the number of housing units finally allocated to our City. The person selected will have to have a rather wide range of abilities. Applicants should have a minimum of two years college or its equivalent. They should have a working knowledge of basic accounting.

fore, he added, no salesman can assure a person of a "raise" if he buys something such as insurance. "Specific agency policies," Prestwood declared, "govern budgeting and only specified items up to set standards or maximums can be included."

In urging people not to be misled, Prestwood emphasized that anyone who applies for a pension or assistance, and who meets the requirements set according to State and Federal law, will be approved. "His getting a check depends on his eligibility and the amounts he gets is governed by his unmet needs, funds available, and the number of other needed persons," Prestwood added that determination of eligibility is made by the county workers under overall direction of the State Department.

"We hope anyone with knowledge of probable fraudulent activity in relation to pensioners and assistance recipients will notify either the State Department or a county office," Prestwood concluded.

BOX SUPER AT CONCORD

The Concord P.T. A. is sponsoring a box supper at the school on Thursday night, February 19th at 7:00 p.m. We invite everyone to attend.

The first yearbooks are off the press and are being mailed to you today, along with other materials. Complete kits which go to the honorary members are being processed and many will be in the mail the first of the week. The first issue of the Star is being made up and will be mailed separately about the 15th of the month.

Statewide response is excellent and with your continued cooperation the success of our program is assured.

--Taylor Wilkins, President.
--Preston Hornsby, Vice Pres.
--T. Wilmer Shields, Sec.

The eyes of the Lord are in every man, holding the evil and the good.

—(Proverbs 15:3.)
Ever present and enveloping us as the air we breathe is the Holy Spirit of God. He knows the good and helpful things we do for others, and we are blessed. He also knows every evil thought and desire we hold, but in His mercy will help us overcome them.

Chilton County Grand Jury Report

STATE OF ALABAMA, CHILTON COUNTY.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF CHILTON COUNTY, ALABAMA
FEBRUARY TERM, 1959

TO THE HONORABLE OAKLEY W. MELTON, JUDGE OF SAID COURT:

After having been instructed by the Court, we proceeded to investigate those matters which came before us and herewith submit the following report:

During our investigation we considered 40 cases, examined 52 witnesses, and are herewith returning 17 true bills.

After having made a personal inspection of the County Jail we found it to be in an excellent state of repair, and most neat and orderly.

The building adjacent to the County Jail and used as the jailor's home is in a run down condition. There are extensive repairs throughout the building that are needed at once. It is our recommendation that those officials charged with the responsibility of the upkeep of this building proceed at once to have the building renovated in order that it may be continued to be used as a jailor's home.

This Grand Jury is ashamed of the deplorable conditions which exist in our County Court House building. The sanitary conditions are a disgrace to the citizens of Chilton County. We have taken to the following action:

to elevate the conditions of the Court House building. It is noted that the space provided for the Circuit Clerk is totally inadequate and additional rooms and fixtures should be provided to house these necessary records. It is further noted that every Grand Jury for the past several years has recommended that action be initiated to build a new Courthouse. This Grand Jury adopts the recommendations of prior Grand Jurors in requesting our County officials to activate plans for the construction of a new building. We feel that the vast majority of the people of Chilton County would approve of a new Courthouse if they would inspect our present building, or be informed of its true condition.

The Grand Jury has investigated the matter of law enforcement in Chilton County. We feel that the Sheriff of this County has done an excellent job with only three Deputy Sheriffs. It is our recommendation that at least two additional Deputy Sheriffs be employed by the County and we request that those officials charged with the responsibility to protect immediately in carrying out this recommendation.

And now, having complied with your Honor's instructions to the best of our ability, we hereby request that we be discharged until such time as your Honor "say deem it necessary to have us again convene."

Dated this 5th day of February, 1959.

Direct Loan Funds

House members approved additional funds for direct loans in spite of the President's opposition to this provision of the legislation. These loans are made directly by the government to veterans who live primarily in rural areas where sufficient lending agencies are not available to offer guaranteed loans. With the exception of the cities of Tusculum and Newport, the entire Sixth Congressional District falls within the direct loan area.

FHA Speaking Contest

Howard Graham of Maplesville High School, speaking on "The Nation's Wood Supply" was acclaimed winner February 2nd, in a county-wide FFA Speaking Contest at Jemison High School, Rap. Littlejohn of Jemison High was named runner-up. His subject was "Agricultural Services."

Graham will represent the county in a district FFA speaking contest to be held in the spring. He was a winner of a $2500 savings bond, and Littlejohn received $1000 in cash, both awards presented by the Central Alabama Electric Cooperative, represented by their identification adviser, Marlin Harris.

Two of the other three high schools in the county entered speakers in the contest. James Henderson of Clanton represented Clanton County High School. His subject was "Farmers' Cooperatives." Speaking on "Dairying" was Randy Wells of Isabella High School. Both boys received $500 checks, donated by the Clanton County FFA. Judges were: Virgil Willett, forester, Gulf States Paper Corporation, Tusculum; Clifford Manning, vocational agriculture instructor at Marbury High School; and L. A. A bill designed to breathe new life into the GI housing program was passed overwhelmingly last week by the House of Representatives.

In addition to raising the interest rate ceiling from 4 3/4 to 5 1/4 percent on indirect or government-guaranteed loans, the bill authorizes $300 million for the direct loan program.

In recent years, the guaranteed loan program has almost reached a standstill since lending institutions have been reluctant to participate due to the current interest rate of 4 3/4 percent. Lenders have argued that because of the "tight money" situation, the interest rates should be more in line with the amount charged on FHA (5 1/4 percent) and other loans. As a result of these arguments, the House of Representatives voted an increase in the interest ceiling...

Direct Loan Funds

House members approved additional funds for direct loans in spite of the President's opposition to this provision of the legislation. These loans are made directly by the government to veterans who live primarily in rural areas where sufficient lending agencies are not available to offer guaranteed loans. With the exception of the cities of Tusculum and Newport, the entire Sixth Congressional District falls within the direct loan area.

During consideration of the bill it was pointed out that a survey by the Veterans Affairs Committee showed that less than 10 percent of the veterans living in rural counties had obtained loans to purchase homes, as compared with 40 percent of those living in metropolitan counties that were surveyed. As of November 1, 1958, there were over 40,000 veterans on the waiting list for direct loans.

 A full-size meal rolled up in a ball has been predicted for epicures of the future.
 Since all of the essential nu-

 these "meal balls," such sci-

 Many new and interesting foods

HOW FAR UNIONISM HAS COME. . .
(Or Should We Say Gone)

We have contended for quite some time now that unions are out-stepping themselves as far as bounds are concerned and are growing more and more hard to stomach. Some no doubt, still serve the purpose which they were intended to serve: the preservation of the rights of the working man and woman. Here's how far this noble cause as a whole deteriorated: . .

"It Really Happened. Pickets picketing a machinery supply company in Fortland, Oregon, were picketed by pickets protesting that the original pickets were carrying picket signs made in a non-union shop."

Now we do not know the extenuating circumstances surrounding this particular incident; no doubt they had some sort of reasonable excuse for their action. The overall appearance of such a situation, however, is one of stupid uncalled for childishness the likes of which would make George and "Old Abe" turn flipovers in their proverbial six feet. If unions are to continue to make intelligent adults act like bungling idiots, we suggest a change from unions to something more practical, more economical (for all of us) and more becoming of our heritage as Americans and basically. . . human beings!

BROTHERHOOD MUST BEGIN WITH YOU

This is published in the interest of Brotherhood Week, February 15-22, sponsored by the National Conference of Christian and Jews.

Here's a good question to ask if you find yourself hating somebody: What are you afraid of? George Bernard Shaw supplies one answer to this question when he wrote "Hatred is the coward's revenge for being intimidated." These words have always had a great impact on me as many times as I have heard them, it strikes me afresh each time with its piercing truth.

This is a hate-ridden world and we all spend far too much time stating our various hatreds. How often do we hear someone say, "I hate" and then mention the name of a person or a minority race, a religious sect or a political body, or a nation. If such people were honest with themselves they would realize that the ground for their hatred is too often a disguised cowardice, a weakness in themselves.

Even in cases of strong personal dislikes for individuals, if they were analyzed we would find that the person we think we hate has some quality of which we are jealous or which we are afraid might harm us.

Again in Shaw's words: "We are all children of one Father and the sooner we stop calling each other names the better."

Dwight D. Eisenhower, Honorary Chairman of Brotherhood Week: "Our abundant plains and mountains would yield little if it were not for the applied skill and energy of Americans working together, as fellow citizens bound up in common destiny. The achievement of brotherhood is the crowning objective of our society."

Harry S. Truman: "The true fountain of the brotherhood of man is belief in the knowledge that God is the Father of mankind. For us, therefore, brotherhood is not only a generous impulse but also a divine command. Others may be moved to brotherhood only by sentiment. We acknowledge brotherhood as a religious duty."

Franklin Delano Roosevelt: "All men are children of one Father and brothers in the human family. Brotherhood dedicates us to the practice of understanding and justice through which freedom and equality flourish in human society. While we are engaged in a mighty struggle to preserve our institutions and to extend the boundaries of liberty on the earth, it is good for us to pledge renewed devotion to the fundamentals upon which this nation has been built. Brotherhood must prevail. Our inescapable choice is brotherhood or chaos."

Theodore Roosevelt: "It seems to me, that the great lesson to be taught our people is the lesson both of brotherhood and of self-help. In our several ways each of us must work hard to do his duty, each must preserve his sturdy independence; and yet each must realize his duty to others. And to each who performs his duty in whatever way, must be given the full measure of respect."

Abraham Lincoln: "We cannot escape history. The fiery trial through which we pass will write us down in honor or dishonor to the latest generation. We assure freedom. The way is plain, peaceful, generous, just. . . A way which if followed, the world will forever applaud and God must forever bless. We shall nobly save, or meanly lost, the last best hope of earth."

"Today is the birthdate of General George Washington. Today is also National Guard Muster Day—an occasion for more than 470,000 of our citizen-soldiers to honor this same George Washington, an early comrade-in-arms of the Virginia Militia.

This newspaper believes that Muster Day should be more than a day set aside by National Guardsmen. We believe that it should be an occasion for citizens everywhere to honor the National Guardsmen themselves: to acknowledge the great debt they owe to the men of their oldest fighting organization.

We tend to forget our National Guard during years of peace. Even now many of us have forgotten what World War II should have proved once and for all: that National Guardsmen are capable of meeting any challenge that faces them.

It seems strange that this should be; that after 300 years of fighting Indians, invaders and dictators, floods, fires and tornadoes, the National Guard should have to prove itself. But prove itself it did, and in 1945, after the smoke of four years of battle had cleared away, National Guardsmen had won 14 Medals of Honor and 88 Presidential unit citations. Eighteen National Guard Infantry divisions had fought throughout Europe and the Pacific, compiling one of the proudest combat records in our history.

The Guard's participation in World War II is a perfect example of the unyielding spirit of free citizens who take up arms in the defense of their nation. And there were dark hours during the war when it was that spirit alone which turned the tide of battle.

Today—on Muster Day, 1959—the spirit remains. Week in and week out, while most of us are enjoying the leisure of hours after work and weekends, 470,000 Army and Air National Guardsmen are giving unselfishly of their time in the most vigorous training program of their organization's history. They know that in modern warfare a citizen must be not only willing, but prepared to fight as well.

They go about their tasks quietly and unobtrusively and we seldom know they are there. Every once in a while disaster will strike locally and they will go into action again, saving lives, guarding property and restoring order, and we read about their deeds and we praise them. And then we forget; we take them for granted.

Today, let us remember. Let us honor the past contributions of our National Guardsmen and acknowledge their present-day efforts.

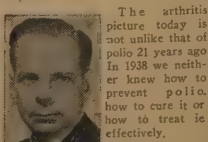

We are much safer for having them."

Prospect Bright For Discovering Answers To Riddle of Arthritis

Editor's Note: This is the third of three articles on the nature, cause and prevention of arthritis by Dr. William S. Clark, director of medical care of the National Foundation.

By WILLIAM S. CLARK, M.D.
Director of Medical Care,
The National Foundation
Our position in relation to arthritis and the rheumatic diseases, (formerly called rheumatism) is growing; new recruits are joining them; from standing on a small island of knowledge surrounded by a sea of ignorance.

Yet in the past few years our attitude toward this cruel, unpredictable disease has undergone an enormous change. We no longer believe that nothing can be done about it. Today the small vanguard of research scientists combating arthritis is growing; new recruits are joining them; from many scientific fields; the prospect for the future was never more hopeful.

Yet in the past few years our attitude toward this cruel, unpredictable disease has undergone an enormous change. We no longer believe that nothing can be done about it. Today the small vanguard of research scientists combating arthritis is growing; new recruits are joining them; from many scientific fields; the prospect for the future was never more hopeful.

workers broke through barrier after barrier of darkness concerning virus disease until they found the Salk vaccine. There is still much to be done in polio. No cure has yet been found. But at least we have at hand a sturdy weapon against its ravages.

With this victory behind it, the National Foundation now turns to arthritis and the rheumatic diseases. The next few years may yet be "the answer" to these maladies that have plagued the joints of man since the dawn of time.

Avenues of Research
In the first article of this series I described what arthritis is and how it affects the human body. In the second I told what can be done about it: treatment and relief. In this column I shall discuss the avenues of investigation we must explore in the future. To begin with, the common denominator of several rheumatic diseases, including osteoarthritis, rheumatoid arthritis, and rheumatic fever, is damage to the connective tissue. This tissue consists of a fibrous protein imbedded in a mucoid carbohydrate called "ground substance." But our ignorance of its nature and function is still profound. We need to learn much more about its origin, physical and chemical structure, metabolism (rate at which it absorbs and uses food), behavior under normal and abnormal conditions. We may confidently expect our research to shed more light on this vital area.

Causes Unknown
We still know almost nothing about the causes of arthritis. Virus infection is not ruled out, though we have as yet isolated no responsible virus. Heredity may be another source; but we have no proof beyond the observation that certain types of arthritis run in families. Psychological tensions have been known to "trigger" attacks, but we still don't know how this works. Allergy and hypersensitive reaction is yet another avenue for causative research. These tentative clues lead us into such varied sciences as virology, genetics, biochemistry, enzyme chemistry, psychobiology, immunology and epidemiology. Promising leads to the causes of arthritis already exist in all these fields. Now they must be followed up.

We have, again, no simple, accurate test for diagnosing rheumatoid arthritis. It stands to reason that the earlier the disease is detected, the better our chances of great it and to stop its crippling. Work already has progressed to the point where we may soon hope for a simple and reliable diagnostic test.

"The Rheumatoid Factor"
The most promising clue in this direction is the recent discovery of "the rheumatoid factor." This is a difference between the blood of a normal person and a person with rheumatoid arthritis. In the blood of an arthritis patient there exists a heavy protein which, under certain laboratory conditions, forms clumps on foreign substances like the red blood cells of sheep. In about 75 percent of rheumatoid patients the test works. Further research may refine it and make it almost 100 percent accurate.

But the rheumatoid factor raises still more fascinating questions for medical science to answer. Just what is its nature and significance?

LETTER TO EDITOR— Another Opinion On Hospital Care And Treatment

February 12, 1959

Dear Editor:

The other side of the hospital. To begin let me say I pay an Ad-valorem tax in this county, but I will never be able to pay what I owe the Chilton County Hospital. Taxes just don't pay for life.

I carried my wife there about one year ago and I feel sure had she not been where she could receive expert care and good medical attention, I would not have had a wife today. She received nothing but the utmost kind and considerate treatment.

I feel like Dr. Charles and Joe Moore and the entire staff of the hospital did everything they could and were very considerate in every way for her welfare and to them and all concerned goes my heartfelt thanks.

And the fee was very reasonable. I had no insurance, but feel like if I had I would have received all possible help from them in the adjustment of it.

s-O. H. Lawrence Billingsley, Alabama.

We advocate a movement to completely cut out "cussin'." We can't honestly wish to do away with the "cussers" themselves because, unfortunately, they are a hereditary trait. We can't honestly wish a member in good standing and we hesitate to "cut out" ourselves. There is a decided need shoun't for folks to realize the amount of "swearing" if you'll call it that, they do and set out to do something about it. It's wrong! We all are aware of that. If we could start a campaign against, oh say, "The Cussin' Habit" it would be a fine undertaking. Good naturedly, I think a cussin' ain't as good as a kissin' cousin, so next time you almost use a "bad" word go kiss your cousin instead. Now there's a pleasant way to break a bad habit. If we ever heard one, e-specially if you got a good look in' cousin. (And if you have let us know, will ya? We need to cut 'em out kinkin'! Uh, kiss our cousin. . . oh never mind!

Looks as though David Lee's is getting a new "hair do" but they sure as heck are raising a "stink" doing it. Wow!

Is it a cause or a symptom? Could it be an antibody — a resistance that the blood sets up against disease? If so, does this not suggest that rheumatoid arthritis may spring from a virus or similar infection, perhaps one that has been latent for years? Or might it denote a hypersensitive reaction to some other element in the body — a so-called "auto-antibody"? Or again, might the rheumatoid factor be a secondary manifestation of some other yet undetected cause of joint disease? Only from a concerted scientific attack can we hope for enlightenment.

Drugs are another fruitful area for research. Though cortisone and other "steroid" compounds have not fulfilled their original promise, our chemists may devise newer hormone preparations relatively free of injurious side-effects.

It has been noticed, for instance that during pregnancy women with arthritis show marked improvement. Indicated here is an unknown factor in body chemistry that still needs to be explained.

What We Already Know
In the treatment of the after-effects of arthritis we may get from research no sudden, dramatic discoveries. Yet it is generally recognized that severe crippling and disability might be eliminated by the application of what we already know. During its long experience with polio patients, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has made notable pioneering contribution to the science of rehabilitation. Many a patient who, 10 or 20 years ago, would have spent a hopeless, chained existence, now can be salvaged. We need still more research in rehabilitative techniques, and this is what the National Foundation's expanded program now proposes to do.

To achieve the goal I have touched on in this column, we need, above all, more trained minds and

For a number of years efforts have been made to abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities or, failing that, to limit its effectiveness. In recent months those efforts have been stepped-up by the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee, a group which has been allied as a communist front organization.

This latest campaign was initially conceived at a rally held by the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee in New York City on September 20, 1947. It was decided then that a concerted effort would be made to destroy the Commi-

TO THE EDITOR — Appreciation For Local Boy Scout Coverage

Dear Sir:
Please accept my thanks for a job well done in your recent issue of the Boy Scout Activities. Since this was National Boy Scout Week, I saw several newspaper accounts of this but I thought you did the best job of all. We need more publicity of the good things in life and certainly scouting is a good thing.
Again let me say thank you.

RAIN, RAIN, RAIN — WOE TO THE RURAL DRIVER... BUT IT COULD BE WORSE; ROADS HOLD UP

ABOVE is a scene on a County road west of Lomax in Central Chilton. This is an example of the condition all over the County since the rains set upon us several weeks ago. Folks are complaining all over about having to slash around in the mire. County workers are working areas (the most needy first) trying to fill in, scrape off and otherwise keep the road network passable. We have seen the time when a constant drizzle as we've been having lately would have required a closure of about half the roads and bridges in the County. Chilton's roads are standing up well, figuring the beating they're taking.

IS THIS CHILTON COUNTY?

LOOKS more like Scotland or England in the Dark Ages. It's really a view of Refuge Road just off the Higgins Ferry Road in East Chilton. Some folks have to drive through this day in and day out to work. We just wanted them to know that we sympathize with 'em. The constant rain that has been soaking Chilton County for the past few weeks is making loblollies out of even our best County roads. There's going to be a lot of scraping done when the "wet" lets up.

MAPLE SPRINGS HD'ERS KEEP
"PROJECT" BUSY

The Maple Springs Home Demonstration met February 13 at the home of Mrs. Charles Sandlin. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Raymond Cox. Devotional was given by Mrs. Charles Sandlin, prayer by Mrs. Jim Miller. Pledge to the flag was given.
Roll call was answered by every member giving a birthday celebration they would always remember. Minutes read and approved and treasurer's report given.
The demonstration on storage for the home was amply given by the Leaders, Mrs. Velma Glenn and Mrs. Raymond Cox. This demonstration created a lot of interest as we learned of the wasted space we have in our homes.
A coffee was given to raise money for the March of Dimes, and a large box of food was collected for a needy family.
New business was discussed and we selected for our new project to clothe and shoe three little girls, to visit the women's prison and carry quilt scraps and books and every member getting her birth certificate. Also continue with several community projects we have been doing.

We are going to have a spend-the-day at our next meeting, which meets March 12 at the home of Mrs. Velma Glenn, to make the dresses for these little girls. Every member is urged to come and bring a covered dish.
We had six members and two new members which we are very grateful. Also one visitor. Everyone has gone into the New Years work with a greater determination to be more useful as we see the many needs ahead of us.
The door prize was won by Mrs. Kern Sandlin. She also won the game prize.
Mrs. Sandlin presented everyone with a lovely red carnella. Also at our next meeting we will exchange a potted plant. This has been a very interesting meeting which we enjoyed very much.
Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

YWA Program

At the Sunday morning service at the Baptist Church the YWA presented a program, in observance of President's week Miss Judy Reeves, of the YWA, presented the program, Dated 12-23, "And they that be shall shine as the brightness of the firmament, and they that turn many to righteousness, as the stars forever and ever. Is a rose just as sweet by any other name? To one who has never seen a rose the answer may be yes, but to one who loves roses, the answer is no. No other name means the same to him as to some people. A Young Woman's Auxiliary member may be just as sweet by any other name, but such is not the case. We expect the beauty of Christian Character, the enthusiasm of Christian Concern, and the devotion of Christian co-operation. To members, YWA means "Your Worries Alleviated" and "Your Wants Anticipated," because Young women who belong to YWA are prepared to give to the Mission cause the three things that are most needed. Intelligent prayer, dedicated possessions and consecrated lives. The theme of Focus Week is: To Focus the Eyes, Mind and heart of every YWA member on the true meaning of YWA. To Focus the attention of the church and community on the purpose, work and value of YWA to put special emphasis on Mission Study and Community Missions, to recruit in active members, to win girls to Christ, to extend the influence of Missions. There are now more than 1,250 Missionaries serving in 43 States, Cuba, Panama and the Canal Zone. Through our prayers and gifts we help to support all of these. That's why YWA means so much. You see, there is much in a name when that name is Young Woman's Auxiliary. Miss Lois Ann Woodley read a poem "How Big Is a Heart?" A Quartet, Miss Wanda Shaw, Betty Bolton, Miss Guy, and Mrs. Leo Shaw sang "Near to the Heart of God."

Birthday Outing

It was not a party for Mrs. William Vines, but a jaunt. She and Mrs. Bernard Garrett took a day off from household care and drove to Birmingham, February 3rd. It was Mrs. Vines birthday. They appeared on TV "Petitcoat Party Line", enjoyed lunch at Britlings. In the afternoon, they visited Mrs. Vines sister, Mrs. Donald Wyatt (Joan Lee) and saw the new baby, Janis Yvonne. The day was rainy, but not dreary to these two, but very pleasant.

Miss Ola Rogers spent the week end in Calera with her nephew, Mr. Frank Rogers and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Leive Robinson and children, Mr. Johnny Robinson, of Montgomery were Sunday dinner guests of their mother, Mrs. J. C. Fulmer and Mr. Fulmer.

New Facilities Of Clanton's City Clerk

AHAH, THE SAFE'S AJAR

NEVER fear! You're looking at the interior of the new office space of the City Clerk and staff. They are in the other room (background) busily sending out this month's water and gas bills (oh happy day). As you can see the new space has given room for a decided improvement in arrangement over the old setup and Mrs. Harris and her capable staff seem well pleased with the results.

WHEN we surprised these ladies for pictures at Clanton's City Hall they were extremely camera shy. In fact Mrs. Joe Groom, who works in the Clerk's office got completely out of the picture. Shown here are Miss Marine E. Harris (foreground) and Luke Blanton working hard trying to keep the volumes of names and figures in order. Mayor Jackson said space was a decided necessity to the pictures shown here are what happened. The new space was taken out of the fire hall next door to the Clerk's old office and the fire hall extended into the rear of the City Hall. All in all, it's quite an improvement and there's plenty of room for four ladies to move around without stepping on each other's toes or (pardon the pun) getting in each other's hair. Not shown besides Mrs. Groom is Mrs. Curtis Daniels.

Patrol Cadets

Public Safety Director Floyd Mann has set up a new employment position in his department—"highway patrol cadet"—to provide practical on-the-job training for young future highway patrolmen.

The uniformed cadets, to be hired as young as age 18, would primarily handle telephone and radio communications in Alabama Highway Patrol stations over the state. On reaching age 23, they would be eligible to take the examination for highway patrolman and Mr. Mann said cadets would be given preference.

"We feel this is a big step forward in our continuing program to provide the Public Safety Department with better trained, better qualified personnel," Mr. Mann said. The cadets would wear distinctive, specially designed uniforms and receive $250 to $326 monthly in salary.

The State Personnel Department will announce examinations shortly for patrol cadets. Applicants must be in ideal health and have a high school education.

Cadets' duties will include receiving and transmitting messages and police alarms by telephone and radio, keeping radio logs, handling other general Highway Patrol work. They would also perform certain clerical tasks.

Myrtle Rowell Smithman, Defendant

In this cause it is made to appear to the Ex-Officio Register by the affidavit of William F. Smithman that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that her place of residence and post office address is almost no monetary gift at all. Upon completion of the building he was able to enjoy one service on Christmas Eve in "his" church. He died shortly after at the age of 65.

It is therefore, ordered by the Ex-Officio Register that publication be made in the Chilton County News, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her, the said Myrtle Rowell Smithman to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 17th day of March, 1959, or within thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against her.

Done at office in Clanton, Alabama, this 17th day of February, 1959.

Purchase Building
In 1954 the small congregation purchased the old Seventh Day Adventist building and until 1958 it was used by the local Veterans School for their regular meetings. Funds from the rental along with donations from the "store" and other sources gave them their long-awaited dream.

Under the direction of the Rt. Rev. George Murray, Suffragan Bishop of Alabama, remodeling of the building got underway and architectural services were donated by H. Nelson Smith, prominent architect and designer of Birmingham. Many local business persons gave materials and their services. Mr. Hardy Jones did all the carpentering.

Dream Comes True
And the dream was completed (see photos). Services are now being held, during Lent, by a supply minister. At present he is Col. W. F. Buchanan of the Air War College at Maxwell Field in Montgomery. Services are being held each Wednesday at 7:00 p.m. and the church is open daily for private meditation and prayer.

Sadness Interrupts
No success story being complete without some bitter mixed in, the small congregation received theirs in the form of the death of their beloved Rev. Edgar M. Parkman, Rev. Parkman, a retired vicar, served several congregations between Clanton and Montgomery. According to a spokesman for the group he served the Clanton congregation faithfully twice a month for six years for almost no monetary gifts at all. Upon completion of the building he was able to enjoy one service on Christmas Eve in "his" church. He died shortly after at the age of 65.

Meet Regularly
Until they acquire a regular vicar a supply minister will be celebrating Holy Communion with them on the 2nd and 4th Sundays in the month and the 1st and 3rd Sundays will see a Lay Reader with the local congregation. W. R. Hulen is presently Lay Reader.

MEETING: Chilton Library Facility Depends Wholly on Your Interest

Thursday night, February 26th a meeting of all interested parties concerning the Regional Library Program in Chilton County will be held at the City Hall in Clanton at 7:30 o'clock.

Funds Available

Sponsors of the local drive to establish this needed public facility are the members of the local Jaycees and each of them urges active participation on the part of every Chilton County citizen. Some funds will be necessary for the undertaking that will enable us to take advantage of the Federal and State grants for the project.

You Decide

The success of the program also depends greatly on the County Board of Revenue and Control and it is up to the citizenry to show the Board that they are not only interested in having the library facilities, but are willing to work a little... to attain that goal.

Don't Forget

Remember that meeting noon 7:30 o'clock TONIGHT at the Clanton City Hall. The public is invited.

NOT SCOTT TODD

We no spitkee English too good! That seemed to have been the case last week on the news.

Under the picture of Mrs. Muriel Ray Todd we had "Muriel Ray Scott". Now we don't know who made the mistake, but Mr. Hollis E. Todd, the husband telephoned us that we had made a slight error.

"I wasn't even going to call you about it," he said, "but folks have been laughing so about it, I thought I'd better".

Mr. Todd, we understand perfectly and regret the error, and even if your name were Scott you'd still have a beautiful bride there! Anyway, the picture turned out good didn't it?

YOUTH RALLY AT THORSBY

The Chilton-Unity Youth Rally will be held at the Thorsby Baptist Church this Saturday night, February 28th at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. Charlie Sims will probably be the one to bring the message. However, we will be looking forward to seeing a large group from your church.

The attendance at the Youth Rally has been increasing here of late and the fellowship has been fine. It is good to see a goodly number of our pastors supporting the Rally.

4 POINTS TO SUCCESS —

FARM FISH PONDS

(This is the first of three short articles on good farm — fishponds by Verne E. Davison, Biologist, Soil Conservation Service.)

A good fishpond brings pleasure, profit, and pride to its owner. A poor one is a disappointment. A fishpond is good if fishing is good. It should yield between 100 and 200 pounds of fish per acre each year.

Unimproved ponds usually yield less than 25 pounds per acre. If your pond is manageable, it will respond to proper treatment. A good pond requires four essential qualities:

1. A favorable site—soil that holds water, a watershed of favorable size (not too large), and a bank of suitable depth. Your soil conservation technician can help determine the quality of your site. His knowledge and water conservation.

2. Proper construction and protection. Clear the pond of brush and stones. Lay the pond bottom smooth so you can see it. If necessary, place the spillway extra wide. Protect any place that would be shadowed. Direct exposure to water is necessary. Establish the pond's size and water conservation measures on the watershed. You want the pond to remain clear of weeds and brush. Use the side of the pond for a waterway. Your soil conservationist can help you.

3. Fertilize the watershed water. Pond waters require much maintenance to remain clear. Use fish and fertilizer. Only a few people fertilize water properly. It is a new farm practice which is not understood well enough. It not only grows a better population of fish, it also prevents and controls the most troublesome waterweeds, and usually runs ponds of moderate to low fertility. How to use fishpond fertilizer successfully will be the subject of the second article next week.

4. Heavy population of catchable fish—use has enough to enjoy and ready on most occasions to bite rapidly. This is a requirement to maintain fishing patience and to fill a meal-size stringer in 2 or 3 hours. It requires the right kinds of fish, a check against wild fish before stocking, favorable time and correct numbers of fish to stock, survival of 70 percent or more the first year, and delay of fishing until the population is right. Proper fish management involves fishing too. Thus "Managing the fish in farm ponds" will be the subject of our third and last article (two weeks from now).

Successful fishpond management takes money and timely effort. A pond owner needs to understand all the essential things to do to make a fishpond good. Every pondowner can get help. Soil conservation districts assist thousands of their cooperators who want really good fishponds. SDA Farmer Bulletin No. 2094 has 18 pages of readable instructions, available at your county agent's Soil Conservation Service office. Its information is based on the wonderful research conducted by the Alabama Agricultural Research Station at Auburn and the west extension of the U. S. Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service throughout the Southeastern States.

RAISE MEALWORMS — PRODUCE YOUR OWN FISH BAIT

"There's gold in them thar hills." At first there are "golden grubs" around—and better known as mealworms—and they make good bait.

You can grow these bait worms, which are actually larvae of a certain species of beetle, with very little trouble, according to API Extension Fish and Wildlife Specialist Earl J. Kenner. "You can raise mealworms in a five-gallon, or larger, metal container or in larger wooden boxes," says the specialist. "Lids or screen wire mesh for the containers are necessary to keep mice and rats from eating the insects and their food. If you use metal covers, puncture them with holes to provide air for the insects."

To produce your mealworms, get a one- or six-inch deep, flat, white unpeeled, cut potatoes. Lay them on top of the bran. Then stock at the rate of $1 to 100 mealworm beetles or larvae per five-gallon container. Beetles are the best brood stock, because they produce a crop of mealworms quickly. The brood stock will lay 250 to 1,000 eggs in bran. You should have hundreds of yellowish-brown grubs within a few weeks.

To maintain the grubs for easy harvest, cover half the bran surface with cardboard squares. When the potatoes, which supply moisture, have been eaten, put in new ones. But don't put too many in at a time, or the container may get so smelly the worms to die. Keep the container in a dry, ventilated room and free of ants and other insects.

It takes 25000 pounds of water to grow one pound of cotton.

FERTILIZE ORCHARD TREES, PLANTS NOW

Fruit trees, nut trees, and vines need plenty of plant food if they are to develop the current season's crop.

At the same time, if you feed them right, they'll produce the new wood growth which is necessary for them to bear future crops. "Fruit and nut trees of all kinds should be fertilized this month," advises API Extension Horticulturist John Bagby. Bagby recommends using an 8-8-8 fertilizer on all fruits.

A good general rule, pointed out the specialist, is to use 1½ pounds

Telephone Talk

Your Telephone Manager

The Voice of Your Business

Mr. Clanton Businessman, the telephone line into your place of business is just like the door of your business establishment, since your customers come to you by calling you. How well is that door—your telephone door—held open by good telephone usage? I have a booklet, The Voice of Your Business, which points out the good ways to keep the "Telephone Door" pleasantly and effectively open. Call the Telephone Business Office if you would like a copy.

SHE KNEW WHAT SHE WANTED. Not long ago a woman came into our business office with a swatch of material in her hand. She held it against the new color photos, then selected the one she liked best. Some ladies like phones that blend with their color schemes and others prefer a contrast. It's fun to pick out just the right color, because there are nine lovely shades to choose from. Why not drop into our office and see for yourself, and treat yourself to extension phones to suit your taste?

FEBRUARY was once described as "the greyest month of the year." Sometimes the lingering cold winter days seem depressing, and we feel that spring will never come.

Well, here's a suggestion for spreading a little good cheer. Just pick up your phone and make a Long Distance call to that very special person. Just the brighten their day, and the cost is small for the happiness you give. Remember—it's always cheaper to call Station-to-Station—that's when you'll talk to anyone who answers at the number you're calling. You save, too, by calling after six P.M. or anytime on Sundays. Why not make someone's grey day "rosy" by Long Distance today!

Along with Liberty goes the responsibility of providing security for one's own family. Most people seek this security through life insurance. Naturally they try to choose a company in which they can have absolute confidence. Perhaps this is one of the reasons why more and more people each year buy their life insurance from Liberty National.

What a happy surprise was ours Friday afternoon, February 20! During the morning we had entertained a group of our parents, so the classroom had a more than usual festive air. In fact, we were highly pleased with our decorative shields and many lovely arrangements of red and white flowers.

The surprise all came about that afternoon when we returned from free play. There before us on a lovely decorative cloth stood the huge punch bowl flanked on either side with luscious, embossed individual cakes. A garland of red and white blossoms interspersed with red hatches and cherries surrounded the sparkling punch bowl.

Soon our class party, carrying out the patriotic idea, was underway. Charlotte Clackler, Sherry Cox, Eufan Smith, and Gayla Wyatt took turns presiding at the punch bowl. Jim Wade, Joe Hayes, Sharon Jones, Mike Johnston, Sandra Poole, and Faye Williams passed dainty sandwiches and candy logs, in which were standing red oars. To add to our surprise our class treasurer, Faye Williams, presented to each classmate a coin bearing a richly sculptured head of one of our nation's presidents with the date of his office and other interesting historical information.

During this happy social occasion appropriate music was furnished by Beverly Hicks, Faye Williams, Annette Gay, Mary Arkie Giesler, Berneice Mims, Judith Little, Sharon Jones and Gayla Wyatt.

To each mother who made this remarkable and appropriate party possible the Better Speech Club is expressing sincerest thanks. We are exceedingly glad that you are ours.

SOUTHWEST CHILTON RESIDENT SUCCEMBUS

Mr. Emmett Terry was born in Dallas County, May 23, 1884 to Mr. Sample Terry and (nee Miss Mattie Sherer Terry).

Mr. Terry (Kid Terry) was reared and spent most of his life near Plantersville, Ala.

At a young age he married Miss Cora Runney and to this union was born one son, who lived only a few months. Mrs. Cora Terry died March, 1946, at this time Mr. Terry was living in Greensboro, Ala. After retiring he moved back to Plantersville, Ala., to his home. He married Mrs. Bessie Morrison in August of 1954.

Early last year, "Kids", health began to fail him. His wife carried him to Selma, Ala., for treatment. He only became worse. He was then carried to Birmingham to a specialist, but he did not improve.

Mrs. Terry wanted to do all she could for her husband, so she took him to New Orleans, to a specialist, but no hopes were given. He was brought back to the Baptist Hospital in Selma, Ala., where he remained until his death on February 7, 1959.

My last night, I want to spend at home, I want Miss C. H. Martin to play and I want the song "Going Down the Valley", sung Mrs. I. V. Carroll sang the song so softly and beautifully. He also told them that he wanted Brother Golan to preach his funeral. Mr. George Weaver assisted. His wishes were carried out.

He leaves to survive him his widow, Mrs. Bessie Terry, one sister and one brother, many nephews and nieces. Also a host of relatives and friends.

The funeral was held from the Plantersville Methodist Church. The body was laid to rest by the side of his former wife and baby in the Plantersville Christian cemetery on February 8th, 1959.

The pallbearers were his nephews and one great nephew. They were Boots Terry and Henry Terry of Tuscaloosa, Mack Terry of Birmingham, Russell Sample, Birmingham, Julius Sample, Stanton, Dayton, Lowley, Plantersville, Honorary Pallbearers were friends from the Plantersville Baptist and Christian churches, also friends from Selma.

Mr. Terry was jolly and lively and met everyone with a smile. He was a good husband, a good neighbor, and a good friend.

We will always miss "Kid" Terry.

HOUSEWIVES FOR HOUSEWIVES

An ordinary paint brush, two inches wide, is handy for dusting hard-to-get-at places, such as tops of books, carvings in furniture, and window sills.

To remove light scratches on furniture, rub them with a mixture of equal parts of boiled linseed oil, turpentine, and white vinegar.

The tangerine is a thin-skinned fruit that peels easily and is in the market for only about two months in midwinter. Tangelos are a cross between tangerines and grapefruits.

A old card table, with the top replaced by a plastic screen, makes an excellent drying rack for sweaters, socks and dollies.

If you need an extra hot-dish mat, cover a small magazine or booklet with aluminum foil, place a dolly over the top, and your problem is solved.

Clean bugs off the car or truck windshield and headlights with a discarded nylon hose. The abrasive nylon does the job in a hurry, takes up little space in the glove compartment.

Use a piece of net to reinforce large holes when darning. It provides a good bass and prevents puckering.

To bring out its luster, iron glazed chintz on the right side.

PEOPLE who do as they please will never win a popularity contest.

SOME people get a lot of comfort out of a comfortable lot of cold cash.

WHEN common sense has to compete with a woman's tears it's easy to guess which will win.

SOME people fear work because they are afraid it will become a habit.

PROGRESS is the parent of taxation.

REMEMBER when a holiday was noisy? Now it only requires speed.

THE PARKING METER:
A BLESSING OR A BEAST?

THERE have been numerous complaints about the parking meters in Clanton and their respective influence on business in general, and in particular.

The parking meter has a place in crowded or congested areas where traffic needs to be kept moving, with reference to parking spaces. We think that the parking meters in Clanton are not only a wise step toward a modern trend; but that in the next few years to come Clanton businessmen and women will learn to respect the place they occupy in their everyday run of business.

As it stands today, however the average merchant (not to mention the average farmer) has a firm dislike for the parking meter in Clanton, Alabama. This is based mainly on the fact that most of the time during the week there are plenty of parking spaces anyhow and too, "why should I have to pay to park in front of my business?"

And the answer comes back: Would there be as many (or any for that matter) parking spaces were the meters not in effect? There used to be, that's true; but since Clanton's days of no parking meters many automobiles have been added to our total.

And answer number two: "why shouldn't you have to pay to park in front of your business?" If another were allowed to park in front of your business all day—blocking traffic to your store—would you feel the same? And then, too; they can't park in front of your store to trade there if you are occupying the parking space.

There's much pro and con on the meter subject. We think, before the slack summer months start the merchants would do well to GET TOGETHER for a change and decide whether or not they approve, disapprove or don't care—and then set out to adopt some sort of remedy for a situation in definite need of some understanding by the general public.

"FAIR PLAY IS A JEWEL, GIVE HIM A CHANCE IF YOU CAN"

Since this is the month of the birth of Abraham Lincoln it is fitting that he be honored with quotations which could very well apply to more modern problems and situations:

This should apply to taxes:
"The people will save their government, if the government itself will allow them."

And this should apply to the 'question' on Civil Rights:
"The people themselves, and not their servants, can safely reverse their own deliberate decisions."

And this with States Rights:
"I never did ask more, nor ever was willing to accept less, than for all the States, and the people thereof, to take and hold their places, and their rights, in the Union, under the Constitution of the United States. For this alone have I felt authorized to struggle; and I seek neither more nor less now."

And this is a message to each of us:
"With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds; to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow, and his orphan—to do all which may achieve and cherish a just, and a lasting peace, among ourselves, and with all nations."

SOME DRIVES DRIVEN INTO GROUND
BY OWN GOOD INTENTIONS!

IT is the express opinion of the average layman that drives, in general, are too demanding on the pocketbook. In fact, a pocketbook viewpoint may very well indicate that drives are more or less cutting their own throats.

There seems to be an accepted theory that "all the money doesn't go to the proper channels". . . "the big wigs get the profit from most of these undertakings". . . and so on!

The thing is, is this fancy or is this fact? The average "donor" appreciates the meaning behind the "drives", but he, either through his own laziness or through a mishandled presentation to the public of the program, doesn't really understand why there are so many and why they always have to call on him.

It is this newspaper's opinion that drives which are giving definite starting and stopping dates are the ones which the John Q. Public appreciates the most.

If the need arises for a continuance of the drive he understands much better a week or two of extra effort rather than just an indefinite keep on keeping on affair.

In the first place there are too many drives. In the second, assuming that all of them are essential and necessary, they would be more effective and more appreciative if given a definite area of time to canvass and THEN stick to the time allotted, providing no mishaps occur during that time.

Another thought occurs, one drive overlapping causes another to overlap and thus they all contribute to the public feeling of "too much donating".

THE NEWS LOOKS

LOCAL BUSINESS

The Negative & the Positive

A testimonial! In making the rounds Monday morning we came across a testimonial from a friend, Jeff Miller of the J.O. Miller Co., who is, as a rule, a non-advertiser. Somehow, before Christmas we persuaded old Jefferro to advertise (consistently mind you) his lay-a-way toy department. He tells us that his lay-a-way business was better. . . and not only that but that he definitely gave the credit to the advertising he did. Now you gentlemen who are non-advertisers take note of this little situation and maybe you won't be so skeptical the next time we call on you. Say Jeff, don't you forget it, pay, too!

UNDERSTAND the local Jaycees along with the National Organization are going to distribute some sort of information and "offered help" for tax reforms in our United States. There is no one program which we are more thoroughly and wholeheartedly for than some form of relief to the American taxpayer. We feel it is high time the government was briefed on the old adage about "charity beginninz at home". More on this later!

NEA SEES COST OF EDUCATION DOUBLING IN TEN YEARS WARNS TAXES CAN'T MEET COMING NEEDS

The National Education Association (NEA) today issued some eye-opening figures aimed at one of America's national birth-places—paying for good schools.

It's a matter of values rather than wealth, says the NEA. We have the money to pay for education, but we have to decide whether it's worth as much as new cars or late-model hi-fi.

That is the stand supported in a special report which NEA is distributing this week. To 700,000 educators as a feature is the February issue of the NEA Journal. The report is titled Can America Afford Better Schools?

30 Years Ago
We put more of our tax money into education 25 and 50 years ago than we do today, according to report. In 1902, education's share of all taxes was about 17 percent, and in 1932 it was 25 percent. Yet today, with the cost of education expected to double in the next 10 years, only 12 percent of our taxes go for the schools.

Take And Give
Right now, the federal government with its efficient, streamlined collection system brings in almost three out of every four dollars. Yet, despite the national implications of our brainpower race with other nations it pays only four percent of the cost of public schools. Local and state governments pay 96 percent.

Looking over local and state tax structures, the NEA doubts their ability to handle the 100 percent increase in the cost of education over the next decade. Local and state debt has risen 182 percent since 1948. In addition, states are hampered by competing tax exemptions and other devices used to attract industry.

What To Do?
Unless the federal government assumes a reasonable share of school costs, here's what the report says taxpayers have to look forward to:

• A 50 to 90 percent increase in real-estate taxes in thousands of

Report from Washington

BY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN
Congressman, Sixth District

Last week I was named Chairman of the Inter-American Subcommittee of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs. The appointment was announced by Rep. Thomas Morgan (D-Pa.), chairman of the full Committee.

This is my first subcommittee chairmanship, and I am very pleased to have the opportunity to head a group concerned with matters affecting the countries of Latin America, an area of vital economic and military importance to the United States.

Area Important
Latin America is part of the vital inter-American defense system. Many of its members guard the approaches to the strategic Panama Canal and the Caribbean Sea. Also, the United States depends on the American Republics for many of its raw materials and metals. They in turn depend upon us to supply them with products necessary to their economies.

Trade relations between the United States and the countries of Latin America have long been mutually satisfactory. Virtually every dollar the United States spends in that area for strategic raw materials and consumer goods is returned to the United States in the form of exports to Latin America.

INCOME TAX FAX

Non-taxable income.
If you had any of the following kinds of income in 1958 you were not required to mention them on your return or to pay income tax on them.

Uncle Sam has made special provisions so that they are not taxed. Advances that must be repaid. Advances paid on insurance policies. Allowances and allowances received from the government. Annuity payments—the part that represents a return of your costs. Awards for achievements such as Nobel Prize.

Bad Debts recovered in 1958, but only if the deduction for the bad debt is a prior year did not reduce your tax in that year. Board and lodging furnished to you for the convenience of your employer.

Compensation for loss or damage to your property. Compensation for personal injuries or sickness. Damages received. Death benefits. Dividends from domestic corporations—first fifty dollars. Dividends received on unannuated life insurance policies. Dividends from mutual insurance companies which reduce your non-deductible insurance expenses.

Estates, Federal Savings & Loan Assn.—dividends on stock issued before March 28, 1942. Gift. Homestead grant. Honorarium you received as a retiring employee. Hospital benefits.

Income tax refund—any interest is taxed. Inheritance. Insurance premiums paid by your employer on group life insurance successfully accomplished.

At the beginning of the present century, major surgery within the abdomen became feasible. Later, the cranium was explored and operations on the brain were performed. Next came the chest cavity and intrathoracic surgery came into practice. As late as 1950, there was but one inner space of the human body that had defied exploration and that was the heart. The ability to work within the open chest was first made possible through the technique of hypothermia, lowering the temperature of the part. This procedure permitted surgery only for a brief period.

In order for the surgeon to work within the heart for an extended period, however, new techniques and new equipment were necessary. The pump-oxygenator apparatus carries out this remarkable feat. Types of equipment have been developed to make it possible for blood to bypass the heart and to

I have read many articles in many of our papers, on the fallacy of the British system of National Insurance. How much it has cost the state, the cost of medical service, how the doctors are handicapped and overworked etc. However, just recently I read an article about a British doctor, Dr. John Scott, Chief Medical Officer of Health of the County of London, and Honorary Physician to the Queen. Dr. Scott stated in a recent address at the University of Michigan School of Public Health; that about 80% of the British doctors favor National Insurance, and feel that it permits them to do a better job than before. He also stated that it allows the citizen who needs medical service to get it when he needs it, without having to worry about the bill. He also stated that maternity and child welfare treat-

SOMETIMES it almost seems we are the gullible fools the TV writers give us credit for being! For instance, our boy Ben, age four, defines TV heroes as he sees them appear on the screen as "he's the one who can't get killed". It may be true that the public expects a change ever after ending of stories, but it doesn't always make for the best story (even though now that we've defeated our own purpose there, let's go on to something that's the way we like 'em). Well, thing more uplifting. . .

WE know fellows who make statements and then try to hand them out as facts whether anyone agrees with them or not.

WE have never seen anyone rally to a cause as do a group of women to another who is to be the bearer of a blessed event. When it comes to clothes, which are, to say the least, a different matter how vague the acquaintance everybody chips in with a few pieces of apparel. About practically everything else women are jealous of one another, but when this situation arises we know of no other which will outdo it for pure plainness by the fairer sex. Now, if they could just work out a system for fathers (would he) we'd have it made, along with a million others.

FELLOW called us on the phone the other day and asked for Argus or somebody. Since we seldom answer to the name in question we told him our phone number. He said, "ah oh, sorry, I must have the wrong sow by the ear". We'd just like to know how he come to mistake us for a sow. . . anyhow we bet his wife or whoever it was he was calling don't like being referred to as a sow any more than we do!

For this is the love of God, that we keep His commandments; and His commandments are not grievous.
—(1 John 5:3,4)
We may profess with words and gestures that we love God, and yet by our actions which violate even one of His commandments, be a living denial of our protestations. Loving God and obeying Him is no part-time, half-hearted thing.

The Sting of Sin Is Death

The sting of sin is death. As the law is the stronghold of charity is love—the proper consideration of your fellowman. Says the Good Book:

The guilty are the white colored of NAACP, a charity organization, or claims to be. AFL-CIO labor unions for contributing $300,000.00 of welfare funds a year, of the union members against their will. . . of the union's membership.

IM Sudduth read the article in Look magazine "A Report on Look's" and as he put it, he was "fighting mad." So he sat down and wrote the Magazine just as he thought of the article. He received a letter this week stating a portion of his letter would appear in the Magazine dated March 17th. It will be on sales at stands on March 3rd.

RED Thompson got a chance week to tell the people all over the country just what he thought of Chilton County's peach crop. He appeared on the Bert Show "County Fair" and told the world that Chilton County is the best in the world. He won a handy and comfortable lounge chair for his trouble.

ANNE Burdett and wife Nell got to Switzerland. He has passed up and won't see one. He has found a small town in Switzerland by that name and he will be going for a vacation.

A HOME owner, wearing his slippers, was out cutting the grass when a woman driving a brand new car stopped and shouted: "Do you get for doing yard work?" The owner looked back at her and then at the woman's house and then at the woman. "The lady of the house let's her hair down," he said.

CLINT Carlisle of the Carlisle Truck & Tractor Company is now soliciting for the "Rambler" cars. The Rambler is America's new Economy car and they are in his showrooms ready for inspection. The Carlisle Truck & Tractor Company also is dealer for International Harvester Trucks and Tractors. Clint invites you down to inspect his line.

HE Rescue Squad will have a meeting next Monday night at the National Guard Armory. Wilson says that it is urgent that all members attend as important business is to be discussed. Remember that's Monday night, 9th St. there.

HE electrician was puzzled. He called to his assistant. "I'm around here. We see him around much any." Newt says he is traveling every day now and it keeps him out of town a lot. He looks like he's riding in a big automobile. Seems prosperous. Guess he's going good for Newt.

I have a new County Engineer on Monday, March 2nd. It is R. M. Alexander, Jr., of Vernal, Alabama. He is former engineer for Lamar County. Mr. Alexander has three children. He will move here when school is for the summer vacation. We welcome them to our community.

"I look tired, dear," the wife of her husband. "Did you have a hard day at the office?" "Yes I did," he answered. "We took one of those aptitude tests. I didn't own the place I was looking for a job."

ONE thing we learn as we grow older is new ways of making the same old mistakes.

THE honest self-made man knows himself too well to think that he was wholly self-made.

IF you find that truth and honesty stand in your way it is time for you to change your way of life.

THE pursuit of happiness can lead you into some strange places.

IT is just as difficult to keep a bad man up as it is to keep a good man down.

BEFORE you start worrying about today try to remember what you worried about yesterday.

AM I MY BROTHER'S KEEPER?

ONE of the biggest contributors to the moral and spiritual downgrading of the American public has been the effect Unionism has had on the average citizen in giving him the feeling that he has a right to demand rights which he does not deserve and consequently does not appreciate.

Rioting, bigotry, and hate are the by-products of a raw material called "join the union or else" that is eating away at American character.

Is it American to beat up another because you disagree with him? Is it American to throw rocks at another's property because he is trying to earn a living for his family? Is it American to pay racketeers to run our business for us by contributing to their "private incomes"?

Is it Christian or charitable or is it anything good to quit working for a business because you are not getting to your little heart desires? Are you an American?

We have let greed, stupidity, hate, arrogance, and our increasing sloven ways deprive us of the most important asset a Christian nation can have or hope to acquire, "Brotherly Love".

LIKE MONEY IN THE BANK --

FOLKS who have a bit of cash stored away in a savings account seldom ignore the fact or forget it's there. Money is that important to us in this day and time.

By the same token, is your son's or your daughter's education as important to you as money in a savings account. If you haven't thought much about it you are clearly a poor parent.

And even a poor parent, in that respect, should want to do something about his apathetic ways toward his children and reorganize his thinking concerning their welfare and education.

Chilton County has an opportunity to receive a Federal grant for a Public Library facility that will enable a Bookmobile unit to go into the rural areas of our County and supply literally everyone of us with the benefits of a big city library. . . it's practically like bringing the library to your doorstep.

It Is No Miracle!

It requires something of you, as does any worthwhile undertaking; you are, of course, aware of that.

Our Board of Revenue and Control must enter into a contract with the State of Alabama agreeing to put up $6,730.00 to entitle us to the opportunities of the Federal funds. It is indeed a sum of money. But which, comes first, in the order of their importance, every chance we can give our children for their education or the paving of our roads, or the building of new bridges?

You, as a citizen of Chilton County, must speak to the members of the Board, through the mails, over the telephone, in person, or through your newspaper, expressing your desire for better things for the youth of our County.

Should you choose not to do this thing you are greatly handicapping the progress of our County and future generations. If we have the money and choose still not to do it, we are doing even greater injustice. Think very strongly on the matter before discussing it further.

TAX REFORM--THE ANSWER TO A LOT OF THINGS--

SPEAKING in such general terms it is easy for us to say "the government" or the government officials to say "the taxpayer" but when are we Americans, officials and taxpayers, going to realize that we have just about come to the hollerin' uncle stage in this game of taxes and more taxes.

The government has to run its business. It's business is completely out of line with our ability to pay.

When a government official (take the President) gets up and makes a speech he usually brings in the fact that "America was founded on free enterprise" or "the very backbone of the nation is small and free enterprise". But where is "free enterprise"?

Everybody takes the tax situation seriously, but rather than take the bull by the horns as though it were a problem that could be licked, most of us look upon it as one of those "necessary evils" which cannot be improved upon or done away with.

The time has come when the small businessman has sweated about all the blood he is able to sweat. Supporting your country and contributing to the negligent handling of government affairs is entirely two different things.

Our chances of economic survival are slim at the rate we are going. We cannot swim with all those taxes loaded around our necks and there doesn't seem to be anyone around willing to throw us a lifeline. The only solution to our problem (there's a solution to every problem) is to get rid of some of the weight and swim.

The tax reform ideas that are being circulated over the country are not without their merit. . . in fact, we are strongly in favor of good solid ideas which would put the "justice balance" back on an even keel and allow the average John Doe the opportunity to make something of himself, his business, and his country. The states need to do something. . . singularly and then collectively. . . and we will lick this problem of taxing us out of our shirts.

THE exodus from the long, drab, unhealthy winter months of the work-a-day world to the care-free, wonderful days of spring and summer activities is bursting upon us. The past week end witnessed the beginning of this phenomenon seeing local and Birmingham fishermen heading for the . . . as one fellow put it. . . "fishing hole of Central Alabama", the Coosa Lakes. We haven't "wet a minnow" yet, but we certainly are in agreement with the idea.

THE old saying about "a miss is as good as a mile" is not without merit. . . and it's even better a mile if she's good looking!

LIKE to give, here and now, Board Member Dalton Champion and Board Member A. D. Head, a public vote of appreciation from yours truly for showing enough interest in the Bookmobile Project to attend the meeting at City Hall last Thursday evening. It was the first public meeting and did not draw much of a crowd. This only adds to enthusiasm of such fellows as Jaycees, however, and they appreciate the interest of the Board Members we're sure.

THANKS ever so much to Miss Bonnie Clyde Griffin for her very kind words about our favorite newspaper. She had some comments to make on our improved typography and also mentioned the fact that our coverage (news) was getting better all the time. It's those kind words which keep us going and we appreciate them from any quarter. Thankie ma'am!

IT was you who done the dastardly deed! Last week Mrs. Hugh Jones presented to the "Boss" an article concerning certain Television Shows which he in turn, forwarded to yours truly. We, in the process of getting out the week's News forgot to remember. . . we're truly sorry Mrs. Jones. . . you know we didn't do it 'purpose! We're certainly anxious to help your organization. (The Car Drive) any way we can and not only that we're willing to assist a lady of your caliber. Even if she's not "driving". We made another mistake, ma'am!

GERALD Weed didn't have the shirt we wanted! Now that's no way to talk about a friend; but facts is facts. He did say he'd get us in some more of them, but do you know what the racialist tried to tell us to tell us a short sleeve dress shirt. Why us in a short sleeve dress shirt would look like Ott Miller or George Fulmer in a pair of Bermuda Shorts. Wow!

OUR much admired friend, Ray Eninger of the Chicago Sales Company has recently had the second operation on his right "peeper". The first didn't hurt much, said Ray, but this one kinda had him worried Monday morning. Ray's one of the few fellows you find on the daily scene who tries to mind his own business. And his business seems to keep him pretty much occupied. Just want you to know Ray, that our prayers are with you and we feel certain that things will improve.

EACH of us has a pet peeve. We'll bet the plain old country doctor's pet peeve is patients who won't take his advice after they come seeking it. Why does ignorance create such a skeptical nature in some of us. We won't believe what the doc tells us, won't follow his instructions or advice and when some doc tells us wrong, usually blame him for our misfortune. It's a great life ain't it?

MAKING the rounds Monday afternoon we were informed by his doc that Fred Thompson was to appear on the County Fair Television Program live from New York City. Fred might like to know that we did our share of publicizing the fact and that several folks along with those at the Clanton Laundry got to see him sit in a pie. (We even had the "Boss" take off and leave us). Fred and wife (nee Shelby Studdard) were up North for the annual Convention with the American Institute of Laundering Monday through Wednesday of this week and the National Institute of Dry Cleaning Thursday through Sunday. Fred and wife flew from Birmingham Friday night and he notified his dad that he just "bucked up" on the TV program. They also said that the weather was pretty, like it's been being down here! Bert Parks is emcee of the program, by the way.

We heard a rumble about Dent Williams leaving Clanton and going to Andalusia or somewhere. If Clanton ever lost a good citizen they'd be losing one in Dent. We ought to start a petition or something. We don't know much about Andalusia. . . only what we read in the paper (the Andalusia Star - News) and we are certain they don't need the Dent Williams clan half as much as we do. We'll never see Dr. Dent, we wish you God-speed!

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

Many farmers throughout our area have found in recent years that it is not profitable to plant the small amounts of cotton acreage allotted to them. Since current acreage allotments are determined in part by the amount of cotton actually planted in prior years, their failure to do so has resulted in an excessive loss of cotton acreage throughout the entire Southeastern area of the United States. For example, Alabama cotton allotment for 1959 is 985,191 acres, or only 60 per cent of its 1950 allotment. The nation as a whole, however, has been allotted about 76 per cent of its 1950 allotment for planting this year.

Loss of Cotton Acres

In an effort to remedy this situation legislation has been introduced by me and others from Alabama that would enable a farmer to lease for a period of one year the acreage allotment established for his farm. Under the terms of this legislation, a cotton farmer who does not wish to plant the amount allotted to him may lease it, subject to certain limitations, to a neighboring farmer who desires to plant more than his own allotment. As a result, the acreage that is leased is considered to have been planted by the lessor and is not lost for allotment purposes. Such leasing transactions would be under the control of the county

ASC Committee

It is estimated that Alabama lost an additional 100,000 acres of cotton as the result of underplanting should we continue to operate under the present setup. If leasing legislation were proposed and enacted by Congress, a state-wide survey indicates that we could expect to reduce this underplanting in Alabama by at least 66 per cent.

Boost by Alabama Group

The Cotton leasing legislation have proposed was given a boost last week when members of the Alabama Cotton Study Committee strongly endorsed the legislation before the Cotton Subcommittee of both the House and Senate. Members of the Alabama Cotton Study Committee who were in Washington included Agriculture Commissioner R. C. Bamberg, Lt. Governor Charles Boutwell, House Speaker Charles Adams, Senator Walter G. Oliver, Senator Robert Kendall, Representative Bob Gilchrist (committee chairman), and Mr. Ed Mauldin (chairman).

While it was obvious to those who attended the hearing that the House Subcommittee does plan to recommend cotton leasing legislation affecting the 1959 crop, I came away from the hearing somewhat encouraged over the prospects for the passage of such legislation for the 1960 crop year. Certainly there will be no legislation on the part of our Alabama Congressional Delegation in our effort to retain as much cotton acreage as possible for the farmers of Alabama.

February 26, 1959

Mr. Ben Tucker, Editor The Chilton County News Clanton, Alabama

Dear Mr. Tucker:

A quarter of a century is a long time, unless life has been too interesting to think in terms of time.

It is mandatory that an employee of the Department of Pensions and Security retire at the end of the month which he becomes 70 years of age. Therefore, after working with welfare agencies in Chilton County for the past 25 years, I am retiring at the end of February.

I wish, however, to take this opportunity to thank you for the consistent courtesies shown me while working in Clanton; and to wish you and yours everything good.

Sincerely yours, A. N. Laurel

WHY NOT AN AMERICAN FLAG??

OUR good friend Bill Clack (of Pig's Big-Saver renown) informed us Monday of efforts on the part of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Disabled American Veterans, or members thereof, to create a fund for supplying the Chilton County Hospital and Nursing Home with a flag pole and an American flag to fly proudly from its heights. We also have a letter from Administrator Sudduth to Mr. Clack expressing his desire for a flag at the Hospital and his personal assurance that it would be properly treated.

We have long been of the opinion that we, as American citizens, need to put the "glory" back in "Old Glory". It's a "grand old Flag" and it would certainly be a credit to our community and an example to people everywhere that Chilton County still, not only believes in our nation's flag, but expresses that belief through daily observance of it furling in the breeze.

It's a wonderful project. . . very inexpensive. . . and apparently wanted by many individuals and groups. If you have any desire for same, notify this newspaper or contact Bill Clack, P.O. Box 466, Clanton, Ala. Write today and find out what you can do to help in this patriotic gesture. . . a much needed one.

Director Arrives To Stage Show For Jaycees

Miss Mary White arrived Monday to start work on the big musical review, "Around The World In A Day", which will be presented on March 16 and 17 at the Wadeson Theatre for the benefit of Civic work and sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Miss White comes to Clanton well recommended.

She has been interested in Little Theatre work, radio, TV and publicity and promotion of entertainments. She has had special training on this particular production and her ability to work with all types of talent, both musical and dramatic, will be of great benefit to the local actors who will take part in the amateur contest which is to be one feature of the show.

Miss White in an interview today said, "I am most enthusiastic over this production and the possibilities for an outstanding show here in Clanton. Everyone seems so friendly and cooperative. I know I shall enjoy my stay here."

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold a meeting tonight to make arrangements for the show and to choose talent.

What's It About
"Around The World In A Day" uses the wide, wide world as its setting. The action starts when Mable Mullins and Casper Perkins portrayed by local people, tie for first place on a famous television quiz show and win a trip around the world. Two airline hostesses keep things moving at a rapid pace as they conduct this exciting tour of the world for the contest winners. Twenty-four teenagers will be selected to appear as chorus.

Mr. and Mrs. C L Owen and children of Maplesville were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Owen Saturday night.

You Save Money Aside from the fact that the Red Cross supplies blood needed in emergencies to save human life, this program actually saves many persons a lot of money. Without this blood program, even would have to pay approximately $30.00 per pint of blood.

Our Monetary Goal Our goal to finance the Chapter activities for the coming year is $28,000.

Your local Red Cross officials are very grateful for the fine support given to this work by the citizens of Chilton County. Everyone is requested to help according to his ability in order that the Red Cross may continue to serve the needs of this community.

RED CROSS BLOOD BANK A LETTER FROM ONE WHO KNOWS...

To Our Friends In Chilton County:

Many of you have not found it necessary to call upon the Chilton County Blood Bank for blood.

You realize as we do that it is the most important benefit to all county citizens. Your enthusiastic cooperation to the emergency drive in November proved your interest.

Our personal experience brought us face to face with all its benefits. We are continually glad that we contributed financially and gave blood in past years.

This year we have received over twenty pints of Red Cross blood. This was free blood, because we have a donors card. Every person in Chilton County is eligible for free blood.

We appreciate deeply the financial benefits that we have received and especially the consolation that this blood has been available to us.

We are grateful that it is available in Chilton County to a who need it. Won't you join your Red Cross this month and also go to the blood bank April 2nd. Thank You.

Mary Carr and Dick Arnold

CRITICALLY ILL; BLOOD BANK ANSWERED

Clanton, Alabama
February 26, 1959

Chilton County Chapter
American Red Cross
Clanton, Alabama

Gentlemen:

I would like to express my appreciation to the American Red Cross for the wonderful work which it is carrying on. It is an organization which surely deserves the support of every citizen of our country.

I am particularly grateful for the Blood Program which it maintains, because it is instrumental in helping to save so many lives. Three and one-half years ago I was critically ill and lost so much blood that I had to have seven pints from the Blood Bank. Without this Blood Program I would probably not have lived because I had to have the blood immediately and there was no time to find donors. It is a great comfort to me to know that if I or any member of my family needs blood it can be obtained without delay. I hope that every citizen of our county will give what he can so that this vital program can be maintained.

Sincerely yours,
(Mrs. M. D.) Mable C. Tingle

JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES ANNOUNCE SEMI-ANNUAL CONVENTION AT SELMA ALA.

Jehovah's Witnesses announced today that their semi-annual circuit convention will be held March 27 to 29 at the National Guard Armory in Selma.

This convention will follow the pattern set at the Divine Will International Convention of Jehovah's Witnesses in New York City last year. Permanently recording the orderliness of this event, the Congressional Record of 1958 said: "On August 1, 1958, America's leading daily newspaper, the New York Times, reported that the religious group known as Jehovah's Witnesses had just held in America's largest city, New York's best behaved convention. And the Times had added: 'Whatever New Yorkers may think of the Witnesses' theology, they are unanimous in agreeing that the Witnesses' conduct has been exemplary.'"

Jehovah's Witnesses from eighteen congregations in east central Alabama and Columbus, Georgia, will attend the coming convention in Selma. Friday's program will be similar to that held every week at the local Kingdom Halls in this vicinity. On Saturday afternoon an immersion service will be held for those who wish to be baptized, and on Saturday evening the ministerial activity of the Witnesses for the past six months will be analyzed and suggestions for improving their ministry will be offered.

The highlight of the convention will be the public address Sunday afternoon on the subject "A Paradise Earth through God's Kingdom." The address will be delivered by J. W. Filson of New York, southeastern district minister for Jehovah's Witnesses.

William E. Robinson, presiding minister of the local congregation said, "We are looking forward to attending the assembly in Selma. Members of the Selma congregation are engaged in an intensive search for rooms to accommodate the nearly 800 delegates expected. We want to show our appreciation by attending the full three days of the meeting and participating in the program they are preparing for us."

Nearly 25 delegates from Clanton plan to attend. Dr. J. L. Bennett is assisting the convention supervisor in preparing for the event.

Farmers of Alabama ...

PLAN YOUR PLANTING!

and include the FARMERS' MARKET on BIRMINGHAM FOOD TERMINAL in your planning.

Agricultural leaders throughout Alabama are working to encourage the development of vegetable and fruit production as a way of increasing farm incomes in the state.

Much research on crop types and market demands has been done and is still going on. County agents and community farm leaders are informed. Learn from them how you can profit by growing for the fresh fruit and vegetable consumers in Alabama and the nation.

The FARMERS' MARKET and BIRMINGHAM FOOD TERMINAL have helped make such planning possible. It is a fine place for the farmer to sell what he grows when he grows what the public wants. And you can learn what the public wants from the people who have done this research for you.

Plan now for profits from your planting this year. Learn how you can add to your farm income.

Southern Railway is proud of its part in building the BIRMINGHAM FOOD TERMINAL and the FARMERS' MARKET where the farmers of Alabama have a point of sale for their fresh fruits and vegetables. This is a major asset on which the agricultural future of the state can rely.

Jet Plane Crash

Lt. Dean a 21-year-old pilot was forced to parachute to safety on Tuesday about 11 o'clock in Shoults county, after the engine failed on his T-33 Jet Trainer Air Craft. The uninjured pilot is 2nd Lt. Richmond Dean, a student of Basic Single Engine Class 59-G. He was on a solo training flight at the time of the accident.

Craig officials said that Lt. Dean made his successful parachute ejection from his powerless plane at an altitude of several thousand feet and landed safely near Lawley, Ala.

The plane landed on the property of N. W. Latham, Jr., hitting first in a gully and bouncing several hundred feet in the air, coming to rest 200 yards away from the point of impact near a cultivated field.

The pilot landed several miles from the crash on the property of Earnest Clevelley. Clevelley and his brother discovered the chute and ejection seat on their property.

Lt. Dean is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Daly Dean of P. O. Box 207, Tavernier, Fla. He is a graduate of Georgetown University and a former student pilot at Bainbridge Air Base, Georgia.

An Air Force Rescue Helicopter from Craig picked up the injured pilot on US 82 near Kelleys Store.

A board of qualified officers were appointed to investigate the cause of the accident.

Sports News

Maplesville won victory over Camden Monday night. The Maplesville Red Devils went back Wednesday night for another victory over Linden. By this time everybody was excited and wanted to go to the tournament. Their presence was certainly appreciated and their support for the team.

They went back Wednesday won over Greene County with a score of 40-41 in favor of Maplesville.

There were 28 schools represented in the tournament.

We are certainly proud of the Coach, Mr. Kelly, who has worked so hard with the boys this year.

On Saturday afternoon, Maplesville lost to Pineapple. They played Carlowville for the consolation game, losing to them. We won 4th place in the tournament, bringing home a trophy donated by the Thomaston fans.

The captain of our team, Bobby McAfee made all Senior and all tournament team.

It seems that the boys never tire of playing ball.

Coach Kelly led his boys out on the football field this morning for starting of Spring Practice. They had a good turn-out.

75% INCREASE IN COLLEGE GRADS KIPLINGER REPORTS

A college education in the 1960's will be a necessity, not a luxury, according to the annual Kiplinger report on future business growth and population changes. Furthermore, the next decade will see a 75 per cent increase in the number of college graduates.

Thorough screening at entrance and in freshman and sophomore years will produce students of even higher caliber than today's for colleges cannot afford to expand enough to carry the full load of all who want to go to college.

Colleges and universities will face more of the same problems they face today—expansion pains in physical facilities, teacher shortages and overall problems. Elementary and high schools which are overcrowded now, won't find the going any easier in the 60's.

In the next 10 years... more jobs more pay for college grads. The average college grad in past earned $100,000 more in salary than the high school grad. This gap is likely to widen, the report predicts.

What does this increase in the college-educated mean? According to Kiplinger, "a higher culture." "Twice as high a proportion of college grads means some changes in a popular tastes. And the business world is already looking ahead to such changes. More books more music, more art; more foreign travel; different advertising appeals aimed at the sophisticated. News, TV, radio programs directed to the better educated."

The report states that food habits will change—less fat, starch and sugar—a direct effect of the expansion of brain power and decline of muscle power in the automated world ahead.

Also, there will be a faster shift to higher quality clothing, all lines. Less rough utility, more adornment. Formality down, informality up... so more sportswear, casual wear.

Even politicians face a new audience that will want more facts, less emotion, exaggeration and demagoguery. Voters will even go so far as to pay bigger salaries to attract high caliber men into politics, the report concludes.

FRIENDSHIP HD CLUB MET, 13TH.

Friendship HD Club met Friday February 13, with Mrs. Erskine Conell. Meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Alta Hogue. Devotional was brought by Mrs. Hattie Alred, Story of Hymn by Mrs. James Gillespie, Song by the group. Old and new business was discussed. The Club voted to give a layette to a needy mother.

The Club gave $21.70 to March of Dimes. Demonstration on "Storage Space" was given by Mrs. Annie Connell. Mrs. Sarah Collins won the door prize.

The hostess served heart-shaped sandwiches and cherry pie with coffee to 15 members.

COB AND SHUCK WATERS INCREASE FEED COSTS

Stop! Don't feed those cobs and shucks to your growing-fattening pigs and shots.

According to G. B. Phillips, API Extension specialist in animal industry, you'll want to skip them when mixing hog feed if you want to get the most for your money.

Increased use of portable feed grinding and mixing mills have led many farmers to have home-grown grain ground and mixed with commercial supplements to be fed to growing swine.

"However," said Phillips, "research has shown you can better afford to use your cobs for bedding, and shucks for cow feed, than to run them through your mill." In recent experiment station tests comparing ground shelled corn and grain ear corn, with supplement added to both, pigs gained one-fourth pound per day faster on the shelled corn than on ground ear corn.

The feed cost per 100 pounds gained was $2.95, or almost three cents per pound more, when cobs and shucks were included than when straight ground shelled corn was fed. That makes cobs pretty expensive.

The feed cost for 175 pounds of pig gain from weaning to market was $3.17 more per pig where they were forced to become cob and shuck burners. And a $3.17 difference in feed costs between two pigs might well determine whether you make a good profit or lose.

So it's best to skip the cobs and shucks for your fattening hogs. "The stomach of the pig is small," said Phillips, "and it needs to be kept full of concentrated feed. It cannot handle lots of fiber in the form of cobs and shucks, to best advantage."

MONDAY morning at 9 o'clock at the County Courthouse the regular meeting of the Board of Revenue and Control was held and a delegation met with them concerning the Regional Library facilities including Bookmobile services for Chilton County.

The Board, lacking available funds, were unable to give definite approval or disapproval of the proposal, but assured the delegation of interested citizens that they would seek a solution to the funds

Latest Report --

Tuesday morning at 11:30 o'clock latest reports were verified to the effect that the Board of Revenue and Control "just could not find the funds" necessary to join in the agreement with the Public Library Service Division of the State and thus establish facilities for Chilton County.

At the Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday at noon plans were laid to bring together all interested parties in the project to develop progress thus far and to decide on a plan of action to be taken. Meeting date will be announced.

problem and do all in their power to assist the cause.

Stated Last Summer: The whole thing started, most recently, back in July of 1958 when a call meeting of all interested parties concerning a Regional Library facility accomplished the appointing of a committee to further negotiations for establishing necessary funds.

This committee, composed of James Duke Hefflin, chairman; Morris Morris, who had been part of a successful drive for a Regional Library in Limestone County in North Alabama; and Mrs. Leo Langston as secretary set out to meet with, write to, discuss together and enlighten the citizens of Chilton County on the privileges that could be theirs through this facility and program.

How The Program Functions Under the program in question Bookmobile service will be available to the rural population through trips over on regular scheduled trips over the county.

The Regional Library Board will consist of four members from each county (taking part) appointed by the Board of Revenue and Control and will serve for either two or three years with one member at large, alternating between the counties serving for two years. Thus, any funds appropriated would be well governed and paid out properly.

The Regional Library Board, when established will employ a responsible librarian with the approval of the Public Library Service Division of the State.

CHARLES H. Brooks, employee of the Public Service Commission at Montgomery was slightly injured in a two-car accident just north of Thorsby Tuesday night. Marcus was rushed to the Chilton County Hospital and later transferred to the West End Baptist Hospital at Birmingham. He is suffering with a severe head wound Wednesday morning it is said his chance for survival are much better.

Taylor is being held in Chilton County Jail but no charges have as yet been placed against him. His story is that the men were asking for whiskey and kicked the door in. The companion of Marcus stated that they were trying to get Taylors wife to do some laundry for them.

GREAT HORNED TOADS

Believe it or not, that "thing" you see there in the football helmet, complete with shrunken jailbird suit is none other than our own Fred Thompson of Clanton. While on a business trip up north Fred "got on" the Bert Parks Television Show and what do you know... he won a prize. Fred, you know, works with his dad at Clanton Laundry here and he was taken back a little when Parks asked him if they had a special machine for busting buttons. Who's that on the right? Well, all we can say is no wonder Bert's got his back to the camera and Fred isn't paying attention!

ONLY ONE WAY TO GO... UP

PICTURED here are John M. Higgins, Red Cross Chairman, Mrs. Raymond Cox, Mrs. Ralph Johnston and Mrs. Dick Hayes and from the eager faces it looks like the Red Cross Drive being set upon at this time will be successful. The "Thermometer" shown here is constructed on the south corner across from the Court-house in Clanton.

MANY CLANTON FOLKS WILL PARTICIPATE IN 'DAZE' PARADE

THURSDAY, (that's today folks) at 2:30 p.m. Clanton will enjoy one of its too few Spectacular Parades which will show all Boy Scout Organizations, Orchestras, Majorettes, a Chorus Line, Clowns, a Fire Truck, Pony Carts and just lots of other things which make a parade a lot of fun.

A color guard, members of the Boy Scout Troop 57, will lead the parade in honor of our nation's flag.

Why A Parade? The purpose of the parade is to publicize the Jaycee backed play "Around The World In A Daze" which is being presented at the Vadeson Theatre in Clanton on March 16th and 17th.

The play will feature an entire cast of local personalities which you will find featured elsewhere in this issue (Woman's Page).

A parade is always a wonderful experience. Be sure to bring the kiddies out to view the BIG PARADE Thursday, March 12 at 2:30 p.m.

Parade Route could not be ascertained at presstime Wednesday but Parade Marshal William Thomas assures you that if you will be on the streets of Clanton, somewhere, he'll see that you see the parade. (Preferably around the center of town).

WE STILL SAY, IT MAKES SENSE --

We can afford to do all that is necessary, and much that is desirable, and pay for it. But we should not reach for everything at the same time. Even a rich country can get into trouble if it keeps spending beyond what it pays for currently. —Treasury Secretary Robert Anderson.

A FAIR SIZED ROAR --

AS far as we, here in Chilton County are concerned, March came in like the proverbial lion. This, so the accepted theory goes, means that it will depart like a lamb.

The blustery winds of beautifuly March serve to usher in the spring that lies just ahead of us.

True, it has its drawbacks March does, but it makes up for its 'aggravating presence' with the waking up of flowers, the smack of the southern breezes in your face and the knowledge that old man winter is on his way out for a spell.

Welcome to good old March and all its bright blue, blustery days.

CHILTON'S CONSUMER VS. CHILTON'S MERCHANT --

THOUGH it may sound crude to pit the average consumer against Chilton County's 'provider' merchants, it nevertheless is the position we are in and it calls for some 'understanding educating'.

Long have we heard the lament from the average John Q. that "you just can't find what you're looking for in Chilton County". Naturally, the merchants' plight is one of "how do we keep business at home".

We are both wrong!

The consumer does not fully realize the benefits he derives from trading with his local merchants. If you live in Chilton County you DO derive benefits from your local merchants. The point is... do you realize the benefits and support them accordingly? If you do not consider the advantages and go out of town to shop you are, in essence, hurting yourself.

The merchant, as a rule, is striving to realize the wishes of the community and to stock his place of business accordingly. If you are an intelligent person, you know what a task this can be.

The merchant who does not consider the public wishes, is hurting himself and his business.

If the consumer in Chilton County will check his suppliers before he goes elsewhere, he will be astounded at just what he can accomplish, for himself and his community, by trading with his home merchants.

We ask this: Merchants plan to please the public. Public consider the advantages of both before you shop anywhere.

HERE'S OPPORTUNITY --

Note, if you will, elsewhere on this page this week the article concerning Chilton County High School. Each week we will present a different article about a different Chilton County school which is compiled by officials or teachers of that school.

It makes not only interesting reading, but it will give you a non-political, unbiased report of what your school (in your own community) is doing and what it needs to do to better train your children and kinfolk. We think you'll like the series.

LETTERS... ACROSS THE EDITOR'S DESK

GLETTY ON STATUS OF HIS MAIL

Clanton, Alabama
March 1, 1959
The Honorable
Post Master General
Washington 25, D. C.
Dear Sir --

I have received several communications in the past month or so from the Post Master in New York City, stating that certain mails containing foreign political propaganda is being held under the foreign agents act. Stating further that if I sign the inclosed card, asserting that I have ordered, subscribed to, or so desire, that this mail will be forwarded to me. I understand that citizens all over the U. S. are receiving the same form letters. I wrote the Post Master in New York City a letter, stating that I desired to receive any mail that came addressed to me, and proper postage paid, and is legally admissible. I received still another letter, stating that certain mail was being held, and would be destroyed if the enclosed card with my signature was not received in 15 days.

I signed the card and returned it, but to date I have not received the above mentioned mail.

I wish to strongly protest such procedures, both for myself and the public in general. I am an American born citizen, of American born parents.

I am told one of our ancestors was executed as a witch, and one was a Revolutionary war hero. I am 72 years old and presumably of sound mind, and as such, I believe I am capable of choosing any reading matter I desire to read. I do not believe the Post Office Department, or for that matter, the Government Department, in a free Democracy, has any right to set it's self up as a dictatorship, to dictate to the public, what they shall or shall not read.

Our Post Office Department was originally set up, at public expense, as a public service, to expedite the dispensing of the mails. It has been a great institution, and still is, but since you took over the duties as Post Master General, service has been greatly curtailed, and Postal Rates have been substantially increased. These may possibly have been necessary, but I do not believe it is necessary to put our postal employees the burden of censoring our mails, thus interfering with the free dispensing of the mails, and carrying out their duties.

We will be down the last of April to make final plans about building our home. Will drop in and say hello.

We really enjoy Folks and Things About Town by Ben Cherry. Good luck and best wishes. Mr. & Mrs. Milton V. Cherry

SO. DAKOTA FOLKS WRITE TO THE NEWS

We received a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Milton V. Cherry a way up in Rosebud, South Dakota. They included a clipping from the Sioux Falls paper. It is included with the letter. We appreciate very much hearing from these folks and will anticipate their visit here soon.

Dear Editor --

Just a few lines to let you know that your paper is enjoyed and read from time to time. Very nice, even to prices of food. Each Tuesday when it arrives Mr. Cherry and I almost have a fight over who will get to read the "Chilton County News" first. Am sending a cute clipping from the Sioux Falls paper.

BOY SUSPECTS DIRTY POLITICS

"Hillsboro, Ohio. -- A third-grade school pupil here doesn't want the Democrats to be over-looked.

Mrs. Emma Louise Mehring, the teacher, was having the pupils write the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag.

They started writing but one boy suddenly raised his hand. When asked what he wanted, he said:

"What about the Democrats, Mrs. Mehring?"

"What do you mean?" the teacher asked.

"Well, they left them out--it says 'I pledge allegiance to the flag and to the Republicans for which it stands.'"

We will be down the last of April to make final plans about building our home. Will drop in and say hello.

YOUR COUNTY SCHOOLS--

Chilton County High Gives Needs, Efforts, Possibilities

THINGS We see and hear by BOB

Our friend Maurice Lind, we understand, is, or was the first of the week under the weather (Way under). Maurice and family moved here about a year ago and, set up housekeeping in East Chilton where they have a fine farm and poultry business. They're good folks and we surely hate to see old Maurice down. Hope he's up real soon and back squeezing eggs from those old hens of his (He just can't let nature take its course). Mr. Lind is well educated in modern methods on farming and veterinary and Chilton is fortunate to have farmers of his calibre and intelligence coming into their midst to help in keeping our farm economy high.

The News has a new Sports Reporter. He is Wayne Atchison, Bro. Hymon's boy and he pictures himself as a future sports reporter extraordinary. We say more power to him and from the looks of his first "professional" article he's certainly got the makings. See "CHS Football" in this issue. We're most happy and fortunate to have Wayne reporting for us. We hope he also profits from the relationship.

Our Grandma, by marriage (she's still our grandma) Mrs. Ira Yeargan celebrated her... most recent birthday this past Saturday and we didn't get to spank her. We had her beforehand that ourselves and Granddaddy were going to really dish it out, but we forgot that we had the measles at our house (daughter Terri). . . wait a minute, that was the mumps, pardon us; anyhow, would you believe it, as young as Granddaddy is she's never had the mumps and she was plumb afraid of 'em. Can't say as we blame her, but she's still in for a spankin' whenever we get over the mumps and Granddaddy and myself muster up the fortitude. Congratulations Grandma Yeargan; you take it from one who knows, a 69th birthday never happened to a finer lady and we sincerely wish we could spend our 69th birthday with you. Ooops, there we go, tellin' how old we are!

Mark the dates Monday, March 16 and Tuesday, 17 (naturally) on your calendar as MUST days! Must what? Why must go to the Jaycee talent show "Around the World In A Day" which is showing on those dates at the Wadesonian Theatre here in Clanton. It's supposed to be full of local talent and thus local entertainment will be in abundance. You really can't afford to miss it!

One of the first things we notice about the changing seasons is the birds in the early morning hours when the dew is still on the ground. Around our home you can see practically any type of airborne fowl you choose and from what we hear it's typical of other homes too. Wonder what makes so many birds all at one time and why they appear so much more appealing and attractive at this time of the year? Another of the Good Lord's "strange and mysterious" ways, but a pleasant one.

Say, if you haven't already done it, next Saturday afternoon, or maybe Wednesday (in your case) just drop everything and take off to the river or go into the country and woods and just for a spell, marvel at nature. At this time of year Mother Nature seems to come closer to us and bare more of her secrets than at any other sometimes needed to aid the diagnosis. Laboratory tests tell the physician many things. Blood chemistry, bacteriologic examination of the stools, tests to determine conditions of the eye, x-ray studies, etc. . . examination and basal metabolism tests are among the numerous diagnostic aids available to your physician. All are not employed to tell the story, but one or several may be needed to solve your specific problem.

Some tests can be performed in the physician's office. More complicated ones can be done in a hospital or private laboratory. Remember that your physician's chief interest is you. Your good health is important to him. So don't be afraid of tests. When your doctor asks for them, join him in his eagerness to know the cause of your distress. Remember that there is a group in the laboratory--physicians and technicians--whose teamwork is helping you not only overcome but fight disease.

With your cooperation, their knowledge will help to restore your good health and to keep it; for preventive medicine is their goal.

YOUR Health
DON'T BE AFRAID OF TESTS
Are you one of those many persons who yield to fear when instructed to take a test for some physical condition? If you are, you don't feel better; yet when requested to undergo certain laboratory tests to help your physician in his diagnosis, you dread the results. This is not wise for it inspires fear and delay forestalls relief.
If your car is not functioning properly, you want to know why; if your television set lacks clarity, you want to know why. But when there is something wrong in the smooth running of the vast complex machinery of your body, you delay in seeking the answer. You put off seeing your physician; and when you do, you resent the tests.

MORGAN & ROLLINS
AT FORT JACKSON

Private William C. Morgan, son of Mrs. Willie Chandler, Morgan, Maplesville, Ala., and Private E. Rollins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rollins, of 1233 27th Street, Birmingham, Alabama, have been assigned to Company C, 4th Battalion, 1st Training Regiment, Fort Jackson, S. C., for eight weeks of basic combat training. Upon their arrival at Fort Jackson, they will be assigned to a complete physical examination and a comprehensive battery of aptitude tests to determine the duty assignment for which they are best fitted.

As part of their basic training they will be taught rifle marksmanship under the Army's new TRAINFIRE program. In TRAINFIRE, he will learn to use an M-1 rifle by firing at pop-up targets at varying ranges and on terrain which duplicates combat areas.

They will also be taught drill, tactics, camouflage, military courtesy, first aid and other subjects. They will learn how to throw a grenade, fire in pitch darkness, crawl under barb wire with machine guns, fire over head, and defend themselves in simulated chemical, biological and radiological warfare situations.

During their seventh week of training, they will march 13 miles with full field pack to a bivouac area to spend a week living in the field and learning to integrate the skills they have been taught. After completing basic training, they normally will receive a two-week leave before reporting for advanced training with the infantry or other branch of the Army, or they may be selected to attend one of the Army's many specialist and service schools.

The Spring revival begins March 8th with Rev. Eddie Riddick doing the preaching. We are looking forward to a great time with the Lord. So we want to invite each and everyone to come.

Questions Answered About Soil Testing

What is a Soil Test?

It is a scientific method to determine the fertility needs of a particular area in your field. A representative soil sample is analyzed by chemical means to determine the soil reaction (pH) and the phosphate and potash content. On the basis of results from this soil analysis, lime, phosphate, and potash are recommended. By using fertilizer according to recommendations, you will produce the highest economical crop yields.

Why should you check the soil in your car or truck?

You must know whether oil is needed. A soil test is simply a fertility gauge for your farm. It tells you (1) how much phosphorus and potash you have in your soil; (2) what grade and ratio of fertilizer is needed; and (3) how much phosphorus and potash to use. It will also give you the pH of your soil and tell you how much lime is needed.

How to take samples.

A soil test is as accurate as the sample sent to the soil testing laboratory. Therefore, it is very important that a representative soil sample be made. Take at least 20 samples from scattered areas over the field being tested.

1. What you need for taking soil samples.

- Shipping boxes, instruction sheets, and information sheets. These you get at the County extension office.
- Shovel hand tablespoon or soil tube. If you use a tube you will need a bucket for mixing the soil.

2. Taking the Sample.

- How to take the sample by shovel and spoon method: Make a hole 5 to 7 inches deep with the shovel. Start at bottom of hole with tablespoon and scrape 1/8 side of hole. Put this in the pint box you have with you. Do this at 20 points located in zigzag pattern in area being tested. At points 2, 8, 12, 19 you dig down into the subsoil and take a subsoil sample by scraping with the spoon along the side of the hole up to the top soil. Keep topsoil in one box and subsoil in another, but keep them correctly labeled.
- How to take sample with soil tube.

Follow same steps as with shovel method except that you drop each core of soil into a bucket. When you have taken cores of soil at the 20 points in zigzag pattern you mix them well in the bucket. Fill one gallon jar, label it, and throw away the rest of the soil in the bucket.

3. Information Sheet.

Fill out the information sheet describing past cropping history, previous liming and fertilizing, type of crops to be grown on fields tested, and all other information requested. The soil testing laboratory must have this information to determine accurate lime and fertilizer recommendations.

Where Do I Send It?

Bring the soil sample and the filled out information sheet to the county agent's office. The county agent will furnish mailing instructions, or you may mail them to the Soil Testing Laboratory at Auburn.

How Much Does It Cost?

A charge of $1.00 per sample is made to cover cost of testing.

When Should Samples Be Taken?

A soil sample can be taken at any time. However, it should be sent to the soil testing laboratory at least one month before planting date of the crop to be grown. This will allow sufficient time to obtain the results of the soil test and to purchase any necessary lime and fertilizer. For spring plantings, take samples in October, November, December and January. For fall plantings, take samples in June, July and August.

How Accurate is Soil Testing?

Soil testing is as accurate as the sample sent to the soil testing laboratory. If the soil sample sent in is truly representative of the farm field, the recommendations will correct any deficiencies and the result should be an economical crop yield.

However, soil testing does not take into consideration the field's physical condition, such as poor excessive drainage and hardpan. If these physical factors are limiting plant growth, fertilizing will not correct them. Nor can testing change other factors which may limit crop yields, such as weather conditions, insects, nematodes, and diseases.

Soil testing is a valuable tool is used properly and the result interpreted correctly. It is the best method to determine the lime and fertilizer needs of a particular farm.

VEGETABLE STEAKS?

Much to the surprise of "Fido" and real meat eaters, "vegetable steaks" may vie with T-bone in the future.

By special processes, the protein found in vegetables may be made into "steaks." Thus "vegetable steaks" would be as rich in protein as animal-source meat... just as tasty, too!

Many changes will occur in "Foods of the Future," but BEER and ALE will continue to be "old stand-bys" in countless homes. These whole some beverages have a way of going well when the going's well with any type of menu!

year, has been shifted to halfback. Monroe started one game at halfback last year. Buddy Baker saw action last year mostly on defense. Baker is also a good runner.

Bobby Easterling, a letterman last year, will be at right guard. Easterling has plenty of help with Tommy Tiffin and Virgil Easterling.

Tommy Edwards is back for his second year at right tackle. Edwards is a big two-hundred five pound boy. The biggest boy on the team is Donald Partridge. Partridge weighing two-hundred forty pounds will be backing up Edwards.

At right end will be Don Jones who started at guard last year. Jones is a god backer and defenseman. David Cobb, a demon on defense, will play a lot of football. Coach Scruggs has most of his linemen back this year and is expecting to have a good line.

The backfields, which seemed to be a weak spot, is turning into a bright spot. Competition is real strong in the backfield. Jocks Will Wyatt, who played a lot last year, will be calling signals. Wyatt has proved to be a versatile back, and he runs the option play well. Warren Edwards, a freshman this year, will be used as a reserve. Edwards is showing up real good in practice. Buddy Vines also will lend a hand at quarterback.

BOARD...

Regional Library shall be deposited in a public depository selected by the Regional Library Board. Checks drawn shall be signed by the employed librarian along with the Regional Library Board Treasurer. The Treasurer will be insured annually.
The Board will be set up for regular meetings for the transactions of business and to hear reports.

$12,000 Worth Already
A point well taken in this situation is that if Chilton County were to join in contract with Shelby and St. Clair Counties, which is the most feasible route at this time, they would have readily available to them $12,000 worth of books already in service which would be a considerable time start for such a project.
In interviews Monday afternoon, it was brought out that though the members of the Board of Revenue and Control were more open to the available program singularly than collectively, they nevertheless were impressed and did give the matter serious consideration.

Where Are Funds?
The big problem seemed to be "where do we get the money?" An appropriation was made to the Forestry Service Monday and other appropriations are pending to other agencies of County government.
It was also made clear by the spokesmen for the Library Commission that "they did not want an appropriation in this year's budget so much as they wanted the Board to enter into the agreement, in order to take advantage of State funds, and for the local Board to contribute $6,000 plus dollars in next year's budget.

Three "Definite"
At least three members of the Board of Revenue and Control expressed the opinion that they were definitely, "for" the program. The funds question seemed the factor which stood mostly in the way of the programs immediate success.

Possible Petition
It has been declared that a possibility of a petition campaign will be the outcome of the situation. There is a "better way to reach the people..." and thus no better way to prove a questionable point than to get them to sign their convictions in black and white.
If this is the necessary step; no doubt it will be taken.

WORLD peace will come only when pacifists quit talking—they make too many people fighting mad.

THERE are many ways to show your grit other than throwing sand in the other man's eyes.

IF you expect to live comfortably on a limited income don't spend money on books telling you how to do it.

IF your gun isn't loaded there's not much good in having a high aim in life.

IT'S easy to be an optimist when everything is going your way.

BETTER laugh today—your sense of humor may not be working tomorrow.

IT takes a mighty smart man to know that he has had enough before he gets it.

MANY fail because of success while others succeed because of failure.

INDIVIDUAL thinking is the life-blood of our way of life.

ONE of the quirks of human nature is the fact that it is much easier to find fault than it is to find favor.

SHEEP NO LONGER SHEEPISH

That smug look you may notice on sheep these days isn't just because its lambing season. The sheep suddenly in the wonder-fiber business. The scientists have made it possible to put permanent creases in wool trousers, and permanent pleats in wool skirts.

By next fall a customer will be able to buy wool clothes treated with this new process in stores all over the country. Many stores already are selling wool trousers with creases that last as long as the pants.

This is reassuring, in an age of man - made this and that, to find Nature-made things holding their own with only a little help from the test tube. Actually, what the scientists have done for wool is what the ladies have been doing for their hair with the home permanent wave. A solution, developed in Australia and something akin to the brew in the home permanent bottle, is what puts the creases in for keeps.

You can't sit these creases out. You can't sweat them out. If you soak them in the rain they come back tighter than ever. And what really must be making the sheep perky is the knowledge that his new home permanent won't work on any fabric except wool.

BURGLARS AT THE BACK --

Even if that Russian fellow, Khrushchev, is sticking his tongue out at us from across the street, maybe we ought to look to see what's going on at the back door. Pennsylvania's Rep. Daniel Flood, for many years a "one-man watchdog committee" over the Panama Canal Treaty, blames the Reds for the Panamanian effort to extend the internationally recognized three-mile limit to twelve, thus "Berlinizing the Panama Canal."

Those in charge of the Communist movement in Latin-America," Rep. Flood told the House, "and especially in the Caribbean area, have undoubtedly focussed their conspiratorial activities on the Panama Canal with the purpose of . . . complete liquidation of US control over the Canal itself."

Even in this age of atoms and intercontinental missiles and man-on-the-moon speculation, our ships and those of the free world must play the seven seas if the nation is to survive. As Mr. Flood has said: "Panama could well be the Achilles' Heel of our defense system."

Congress and our State Department should act decisively - before we have a Suez mess of our very own on the back stoop.

County Training School Has 4 - Point Program

Introduction

We, the members of the faculty and student body, are grateful to the County Board of Education and to the local editors for an opportunity to bring to "Mr. and Mrs. Q. Public" startling facts concerning our school. It is not our intention to describe or portray anything phenomenal concerning our school.

The Chilton County Training School is located about five (5) miles west of Clanton, Alabama, on rural Route 4. Significantly, the Chilton County Training School is the only high school in the county for colored pupils. There, one will find both elementary and high school. The elementary department has an enrollment of eighty (80) pupils, and the high school has an enrollment of three hundred and twenty-one (321) pupils.

There are sixteen (16) teachers. They are as follows:

John S. Parker, Principal; B. T. Whittington, William H. Bell, Mrs. Romie M. Pelham, Nathaniel K. Calloway, Bernice L. Payne, Miss Gladys O. Bolding, Mrs. A. Winston Parker, John T. Sims, Mrs. Myrtle C. Harrison, Miss M. Elizabeth Lawrence, Mrs. C. H. Smitherman, Mrs. C. Bolding Pickens, Mrs. E. W. Burt, Mrs. S. L. Sellen, H. Persons, Mrs. Catherine Green.

The school is accredited by the Alabama Accreditation Association. There are five (5) school buses coming to the school serving six communities, namely: Maplesville, Stanton, Jenison, Billingsley, New Convert, and Verbena.

The lunchroom operates daily with two (2) full-time lunchroom workers. It serves approximately two hundred (200) pupils daily. The lunchroom feeds at least thirty-five (35) pupils free of charge each day. All lunches are rated as type "A" and they are twenty cents (20c) per student and twenty-five (25c) per adult.

The problem most pronouncing is buildings. We need at least five (5) equipped classrooms, approximately two hundred (200) arm chairs, chalk boards, science equipment and approximately one hundred (100) folding chairs. These will greatly enhance our school's program. At present, three classes are being held in the auditorium with only a curtain for separation.

Our Philosophy in Essence
The purpose of this school is to develop the child mentally, morally, socially, physically, and spiritually to the fullest of his capacity.

Objectives
1. To teach students to think logically express ideas clearly, to listen with an understanding.
2. To develop habits of ethics, sincerity, thrift, and clean living.
3. To teach hygienic modes of living.
4. To teach knowledge of and the appreciation of the Golden Rule.

Elementary Department
Mrs. Catherine Green, Mrs. Sellen H. Persons, and Rev. E. W. Burt are the instructors for the elementary department. The aims and objectives of this department are the same as that of the entire school curriculum.

Our play ground equipment is limited; only eight (8) swings are provided for eighty (80) students. Our classroom supplies are at a minimum. We are greatly in need of art material, audio-visual material, and records. With these needed supplies, we could do a better job in developing abilities and interests to their fullest capacity.

To do a more effective job, we would like to have a supply of art material, black board, map and globe.

Vocational Agriculture

The vocational agriculture program provides an opportunity for Mrs. T. Sims, provide an opportunity for 179 presently enrolled boys to gain experience of farming while attending school. Provisions are also made for boys, girls, and young farmers to improve their homes and farms through the training facilities provided by the department.

Vocational Home Economics

The vocational home economics program provides an opportunity for 148 youths and adults to develop the ability to live and learn more useful and satisfying personal, family, and community life.

Commerce Department

The primary aim of the commerce department, with Miss G. O. Bolding as instructor, is to give the students that are interested in business an opportunity to build a usable skill in typewriting.

The students are showing mastery of the ability to type materials at an appropriate rate and with acceptable accuracy. Great progress is stagnated by the inadequacy of classroom space, limited number of typewriters (sixteen), typewriter repair. The enrollment of classes would be greatly increased with these needs being filled.

Science Department

The science department offers courses in chemistry, physics, and biology as electives. There should be a set of experimental apparatus for each student, but only six sets are available. We have equipment for general science demonstration only.

English Department

The aim of the English department is to help students at various grade levels to develop clear thinking ability, exact understanding of what others say and write, and a clear and effective expression of thoughts in both speech and writing.

The instructors of the English department are Mr. N. K. Calloway, Mrs. R. McDaniel Pelham, Mrs. C. H. Smitherman, and Miss G. O. Bolding.

Social Studies

Social studies are a vital phase of our school curriculum, but our classes do not have classroom provision nor facilities provided for the teaching of an effective class. With our improvised set up, we have the following objectives as our aim to help each child.
1. To develop democratic ideas guided by democratic values in human relationship.
2. To develop social attitudes.
3. To gain insight into all values that go to develop a well rounded individual.

Mathematics Department

The mathematics curriculum in mathematics begins with courses in general mathematics on the junior high level and includes three years of high school mathematics on the elective basis. The electives include algebra I, algebra II, and plane geometry.
The instructors in the mathematics department are Mr. B. T. Whittington, Mr. N. K. Calloway, Mrs. A. Winston Parker.

Physical Education

Each teacher in the elementary school provides for his class in physical activities. In the high school, there are separate programs stances, which are called immune bodies, are injected into the body, the result is passive immunity, which is a temporary relief, calling for reinjections at various intervals.

However, active immunity is gotten when a person is injected with the germ of the disease in a modified and harmless form. After a series of carefully controlled injections, the person manufactures his own immune bodies which, in turn, create a resistance to fight the invading germ. The modified germ used for this purpose is called an antigen, and the resultant resistance is called an active immunity.

Parents would be wise to insist that their children be given protective injections. They should not wait until the child is ready to start to school. Remember that protection against these diseases consists in a series of immunizations and reinjections starting at three months of age and continuing at least through high school.
If your baby is three months old, take him to your physician so that he can start these vital protective measures. If your child is older and did not receive this protection in infancy, have him immunized now.

Watch crops closely for insect and disease damage.

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

Despite strong arguments advanced against statehood, the admission of the Territory of Hawaii as our 50th state received overwhelming approval last week in both the House and Senate.

As adopted by Congress, the statehood bill determines the boundaries of the new state; provides for necessary elections, including the one to determine if statehood is acceptable to the people of Hawaii; and provides for Hawaii's representation in the U. S. Congress.

Since President Eisenhower has strongly endorsed the legislation, he is expected to sign the statehood measure this week.

Objections to Statehood

A number of important objections to the admission of Hawaii were brought out in the house debate. Hawaii is composed of a series of islands separated from the mainland of the United States by more than 200 miles of water. Over 70 per cent of the population is of Polynesian or Oriental background with the largest segment of the population about 38 percent—being Japanese. Also, the admission of Hawaii as a state reduces by two the number of seats to be apportioned among the remaining 48 states after the 1960 Census.

Communist Influence

Perhaps the most important objection, however, concerned communist influence in the Hawaiian Islands. It is generally conceded that the largest labor union in the Territory of Hawaii is communist-controlled, and there are many political and social organizations carrying communist members on their rolls.

Under the present territorial government, it has been difficult for communists to gain complete control of the islands since the governor and federal judges are appointed by the President of the United States. With statehood, all officials will be elected.

Those who supported the admission of Hawaii did not deny the presence of the communist element but contended that it could be better controlled if the territory became a state.

Alaska Paves Way

While the arguments against Hawaiian statehood were perhaps even stronger than those advanced against the admission of Alaska as a state, statehood for Hawaii was virtually assured when Alaska's admission was approved during the last session of Congress.

The overwhelming vote last week on Hawaiian statehood indicated that many, who in the past had opposed statehood for both Alaska and Hawaii, felt that since Alaska has been admitted Hawaii should be also.

YOU CAN RECEIVE BLOOD OUTSIDE COUNTY

In a letter this week to Mr. Joe Earl Gowan, Blood Program Chairman, the Administrative Director of the Regional Blood Center in Birmingham assures that wherever Chilton citizens can receive blood, no matter what the pits they are in. The letter follows:

March 6, 1959
Mrs. Joe Earl Gowan
Blood Program Chairman
Chilton County Chapter
American Red Cross
Clanton, Alabama.

Dear Mrs. Gowan:

The American Red Cross can bank here in Birmingham with a better service which are giving to the people of Chilton County. I know that others in your local Red Cross are that Red Cross blood has been applied to residents of Chilton County even when they are hospitalized in Birmingham or elsewhere. In order to guarantee that people living in Chilton County will receive Red Cross blood when needed, I am certain that this plan, tried out will assure the fact that people from Chilton County hospitalized outside of the county receive Red Cross blood.

Sincerely yours,
William H. Mackay

HELPFUL HINTS

FOR HOUSEWIVES

Potatoes are one of the housewife's best food buys from an economy standpoint, and they are a good source of needed nutrients. Poultry is more tender if it is age at least 12 hours before it is frozen, according to U.S.D.A. research. Birds aged before being cut were more tender than those aged after cutting.

To keep mildew from damaging clothing and fabric, always dry soiled clothing, towels, and washcloths before putting them in the hamper.

While spring cleaning, "slipcover" your broom an give your ceilings, walls, and moldings a good dusting. Make the cover from a well-worn cotton chenille bedspread or robe.

Chill candles in the refrigerator for 24 hours before using them on the table. They will burn evenly and won't drip.

If you're just beginning to sew, a basic pattern of cotton muslin will help you with your fitting problems.

Cotton hosiery, a burlap-like fabric which resists wrinkling, is a strong newcomer in fashion this spring.

Resin-treated cottons can stand higher heat, both in washing and pressing, than other wash-and-wear fabrics.

Two beef bulls representative of the performance and progeny tested bulls now being offered by American Breeders Service for artificial breeding through the miracle of frozen semen.

An important "break-through" in beef herd improvement has been announced by American Breeders Service, Inc., of Lincoln, Nebraska. By making artificial breeding practical for use in beef cattle herds, ABS has opened the gate for the average farmer to be bred to the best beef bulls in the country. Breeds available are Angus, Brahman, Charolais, Hereford, Polled Hereford, Santa Gertrudis and Shorthorn.

In dairy herds, artificial insemination to top bulls, successfully and increasingly used for over 18 years, has proved it can add millions of dollars to dairy farmers' income by increasing production and upgrading herds. Now, this method of improving both quality and income is open to beef producers for the first time.

Fast Rate-of-Gain Tests prove that the best third of beef cattle gain 1 1/2 times faster than the bottom third and use 25 per cent less feed per pound of meat. Fast gains are generally more economical gains. ABS in bull selection has required that the bull himself and also a group of his offspring, or progeny (3 or more), have a superior average compared to other animals in the same test.

Rate-of-gain is the most important factor of economic value in performance and progeny testing.

Testing Progeny In the broad sense, a performance and progeny tested beef bull is also compared with other animals in the same test in respect to other factors of economic importance such as birth weight, weaning weight, conformation, feed efficiency and carcass evaluation. Progeny testing in the selection of beef bulls is new and ever increasing in importance. The ABS goal is to use all comparisons available.

According to calculations made by American Breeders Service, headquartered in Chicago, cattlemen can expect to realize as much additional income from artificial breeding as have dairymen, provided they use Performance and Progeny Tested Sires, and, when they do, the consumers can expect better beef and more steaks.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

The currently proposed budget before Congress calling for some $77 billion has been somewhat of a shocker.

With a great advance build up that this budget would show what approach an "austerity" budget to combat inflation, the amount of it has, according to all reports received, created more than usual alarm.

Probably most significant along this line is the result of a recent C. W. Harder poll taken of the nation's independent businessmen by the National Federation of Independent Business.

Out of this coast to coast poll an astonishing 73% expressed themselves in favor of an amendment to the United States Constitution which would put a ceiling on Federal spending.

This is sure to meet with the approval of the economy minded legislators classified as the Sen. Harry Byrd school of thought.

It has now been almost 24 years since the idea of a balanced budget was "temporarily" shelved to meet the stress of the times. Yet every year since then, Federal expenditures have continued to leap ahead as if the famed Japanese cherry blossoms around the tidal basin grow money in abundant crops.

Of course, in war years, when the nation is in armed combat, budget considerations have no importance. But peace time budgets are another matter.

J. Edgar Hoover of the F. B. I.

On New Year's day in 1895, the child who was to become America's foremost fighter against crime, was born in the very shadow of the nation's Capitol.

Christened John Edgar, he was to become the feared enemy of all criminals, famous throughout the world as J. Edgar Hoover of the F. B. I.

Although Mr. Hoover's exploits have long been well known, only now, for the first time, has there appeared in book form a biography of America's Number One G-Man. Written by Mildred Houghton Comfort, and published by T. S. Denison & Company of Minneapolis, it is aptly titled: "J. Edgar Hoover: Modern Knight Errant."

The book describes not merely the hitherto little known factors that shaped Mr. Hoover's life, but his fight to modernize the F. B. I. and make it an incorruptible and vigorous organization.

Miss Comfort's book is not history in any dry sense, however. It is alive with anecdotes. There is, for example, the story of Alvin Karpis, once the country's No. 1 Public Enemy, who had sworn to kill J. Edgar Hoover. Meeting the challenge, the F. B. I. chief personally directed the gangster's capture. When Karpis was traced to a New Orleans hideout, the stage was set for a memorable moment in criminal annals. It was the scene of Karpis' walking out of the trap set for him, and coming face to face with J. Edgar Hoover himself. As Mr. Hoover reached for him, Karpis grew suddenly pale, his bold threats faded. Without a word, he gave up meekly to the man he had sworn to kill.

While rooting out kidnapers, counterfeiters, spies and saboteurs, Mr. Hoover has not neglected a program to prevent future crime by emphasizing proper upbringing of the nation's youth. Advocating healthy family life, he says: "Youngsters who have love, understanding, and adequate discipline in a poverty-ridden home are far less 'undisciplined' than those who may be surrounded by material wealth but who lack affection, understanding and discipline."

In "J. Edgar Hoover, Modern Knight Errant" Miss Comfort describes in the most graphic terms how this over-unsung family life produced in the head of the F. B. I. a model for American youth, and a standing citizen and fighter against crime.

Two-thirds of his ministry on earth was devoted to healing. When we say he will not heal us today, we call him a liar, for Christ is the same yesterday, today and forever, and God is not a man that he should lie or have respect of persons.

We call Christ a liar when we say that Christianity is too hard ... too narrow ... too gloomy. We call Jesus a liar when we say that God may be concerned about our spiritual welfare but that he is not concerned about our material welfare. We call him a liar when we say, "God will not hear my prayers."

When Christ comes in, he changes things ... puts a shine on your face. He makes God your Father, the Holy Spirit your Comforter, Christ your Saviour, the angels your guardians, the saints your brothers and sisters, and Heaven your home.

If you have, by your words and actions, called our precious Saviour a liar, turn to him now and make a new dedication of your life to him, for Christ is the way, the truth, and the life.

Do not call Jesus a liar.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

DO NOT CALL JESUS A LIAR

Judas Iscariot betrayed the Lord for thirty pieces of silver, after he had walked with him for three years and had received the words of life. By his act of betrayal, Judas demonstrated that he thought Jesus was a liar.

Likewise did Thomas, by his doubt, call Jesus a liar.

It may appear presumptuous to suggest that any human being today would dare call Jesus of Nazareth a liar, yet such is often times the case—unintentionally so, but done nevertheless. Actions too often belie intentions.

The very moment any of us allow doubt to enter our minds, if only for an instant, we are, in effect and for all practical purposes, calling our Saviour a liar.

God forbid!

I will never forget an occasion when I read a prayer card indicating a child had been born without a hip socket. Immediately my faith stopped. I could not see that even Christ would form a new hip socket upon the child's body. Yet it was done, and it was God saying to me, "Oral Roberts, do not call Jesus, my Son, a liar."

When something happens out of the ordinary, beyond our human comprehension, there is only room for one of two conclusions—the conclusion of doubt or the conclusion of faith. Too often we are apt to say, "No, it cannot or will not be done."

How many of us have been barren and in need, or in some terrible circumstance, because we were not able to comprehend the truth that God is with us ... that God will meet our needs ... that God will answer our prayers!

CHECK YOUR TRACTOR BEFORE SPRING PLANTING

It's just about time to start using your tractor for spring plant ing.

All winter long the farm trac tor has labored under unfavorable operating conditions—cold starting and lack of regular maintenance. "Nobody likes to do a grease job or flush out the air cleaner with the temperature near freezing," agrees J. T. Gaillard, API Extension farm mechanization specialist, "but when spring work begins you won't have time to do the clean-up and tune-up work that is necessary."

So you need to take or make time now to safety-check your tractor. Be sure it starts easily. You may need a new battery, a new set of points, or spark plugs. Check the tires for cuts and bad bruises too, and have them replaced or repaired if necessary.

Steam-cleaning the entire tractor may prevent a serious fire, warns Gaillard. Clean out the tool box, get rid of the collection of grease rags, and pick up objects that your might trip over.

Is the sediment bulb in your tractor of the metal or pyrex type? A small investment in a fire-prevention sediment bulb is a wise investment. Check to see if there is an approved fire extinguisher on your tractor. Add be sure you can reach it when either sitting on the tractor or standing on the ground.

"Getting all of your farm machinery in good repair not only makes it more effective but also insures safe operating machinery," says Gaillard.

"When you work for safety" he concludes, "safety works for you."

INCOME TAX FAX

Taxes, generally, to be deductible, must be imposed on you, and you must have paid them. Common types of deductible taxes are State and City Sales Taxes, In come Taxes, Personal Property Tax, Automobile License Fees, Unemployment Insurance Contributions in some states, State Capitation or Poll Taxes and State Gasoline Tax.

You can deduct your state gaso line tax on every gallon of gaso line you purchase, but not federal gasoline tax.

How do we figure the tax paid? If you had a credit card and saved your paid bills, you simply count the number of gallons purchased and multiply that by the tax rate. However, most of us didn't do that so we'll have to estimate. The best way to guess, and have a reasonable basis for your estimate, would be to determine the actual number of miles drove in 1958. You can come pretty close to that and then divide that figure by the number of miles per gallon you are getting from your car. That'll give you the number of gallons used. Multiply the number of gal lons by the tax rate per gallon and you'll have the amount of gasoline tax you paid.

The code specifically states you cannot deduct the following types of taxes: Federal Income Taxes, Federal Excise Taxes, (such as telephone, telegraph, cosmetics, furs jewelry, luggage, theatre and museum taxes, transportation taxes, etc), Federal Stamp Taxes, State and Gift Taxes and taxes assessed for local improvements which tend to increase the value of your property. Automobile regis tration fees, Federal Social Securi ty taxes, hunting and fishing li censes, taxes and fees are not de ductible, nor are dog licenses.

Your deductible taxes are de ducted on page 2 of the tax re turn. If you itemize your deductions on long form 1040, The deduc tions are lost if you use form 1040-A. Short form 1040 or use the stand ard deduction.

If there is not enough room on the tax return form to list all your deductible taxes, then make a separate schedule to attach to your return. Total the amounts paid and enter the total under Taxes on page 2 of the tax return.

ON FARMS — USE BRIGHT PAINT TO WARN OF DANGER

Paint can make your farm a safer place for living and working.

Bright colors such as yellow and red can serve as a caution or warn ing sign in hazardous areas around the farm. Factories use the same techniques to protect their work ers.

"The first step in a farm safety program," says API Extension En gineer Bill Cox, "is to locate places and objects which can cause se rious accidents. Some common haz ards include stairs and ladders, moving parts of machinery, equip ment kept in odd places or dimly lighted rooms, and stray tools that are left scattered around."

After clearing off the specific danger area, apply a coat or two of bright paint. A good idea is to use yellow paint, with black diag onal stripes over it. Black and yellow stripes are the most often used sign of danger. Paint these warn ing signs wherever you feel cau tion is needed. For example, a bright warning painted on a brace beam that juts out from a wall will keep someone from bumping into it.

Paint stripes on power equip ment, too. The safety paint will help you remember the importance of being careful when using the equipment and to put it away when the job is finished. In addition to the caution signs, black silhouet tes painted on the board where hand tools are hung will remind the user to return the tools to their proper places. They will also show at a glance if a tool is missing.

A square of red paint on the area where the fire extinguisher is kept will help in sighting the ex tinguisher in an emergency.

HIGHER PROFITS WITH MORE PIGS PER LITTER

Almost one out of every three baby pigs dies before it's weaned.

Some of the main reasons for this discouraging statistic include chilling during the first few hours after birth, crushing and mashing by the mother, and other abnor mal conditions. "If anybody in any kind of business, including farming started out with a one-third loss of his inventory, it would be hard for him to make a god of the busi ness."

"So saving the lives of baby pigs is exceedingly important. It is conservative for pork producers to make their goal raising and selling at least eight pigs from each gilt or sow."

"The average in Alabama is a little under seven pigs per litter," continued Phillips. "However, many growers are saving an average of well over eight per litter."

Just how much money does a pork producer lose when a pig is lost? Of course, a number of things help decide that question. For instance, the litter size en ters the question in a big way.

But there are certain fixed charges, regardless of the number of pigs born. Research has shown that on the average, sow feed, housing, labor, and boar charges add up to about $35 per litter.

By the time pigs are weaned, their owners have invested an average of $75 per litter. Since it costs so much to raise a litter of pigs, it would really pay off to give them personal attention, good farrowing facilities, and good man agement, in order to save as many pigs as possible.

Two great advantages for tractor operators are to be found in Ford's new Select-O-Speed transmission. First is operator convenience. Using only the small selector lever (shown in in sert), the tractor operator can shift to or through any of the forward and two reverse gears without stopping and without using a clutch pedal. Second advantage is the greater efficiency and economy resulting from easy selection of exactly the right gear for every job. The local Ford tractor and implement dealer invites your inspection of the Ford Select-O-Speed transmission in gold demonstration tractor now on display.

THE fellow who tries to swear off usually finds that the spirit is willing but the flesh is mighty weak.

PROSPERITY has the reputation of changing people until they can't recognize their best friends.

IT'S easy to get a man to admit his memory is bad—but never his judgment.

THE man who trusts to luck for happiness is trusting too much to luck.

THE modern theory is that a dollar saved could have been spent on fun.

CHILDREN will follow your example much quicker than they will the way you point.

LITTLE MAN FORGOTTEN --

With the Federal Government pouring billions of dollars down hundreds of ratholes the little man has to borrow money with which to pay his income tax.

All concern, it seems, is for "big business", when it is the small businessman and laborer who holds the bag.

Rightly, a small earner and family man, should be exempted enough tax on his earnings to care for his family and pay his obligations without suffering to do so. Too often, after tax, there isn't enough to procure the necessities of life and for the "little man" to live comfortably—a comfort he has earned by the sweat of his brow. For some reason our lawmakers never get anything done along this line.

WE ALL HAVE SOULS AND FEELING

ACCORDING to "a" recent report of the capture of a fugitive in Chilton County a "posse" hunted him down with dogs.

Now that's a deplorable situation.
The Lord made man in His own image. This gives mankind a certain inner dignity which defies his being treated like an animal.

We believe certain drastic situations call for drastic measures, such as the use of hounds to track down a man; but only in the instance when the man is a proven psychopath or killer and deserves something less than human dignity.

Using animals to track down human beings who, though he has committed a wrong, has not been proven so; should be resorted to only as a last one and should even then, be handled with delicacy.

When a man endangers the life of others, he is no longer the true image of his Creator, and should be treated with whatever measures necessary to protect society from him; but when a man is guilty of defending himself or his family or if he is "assumed" guilty, other measures should be taken without a "posse" and a pack of hounds to "tree" him as though he were a 'possum.

Hounds are very successful in finding lost persons and tracking, but they should not be used for degradation.

WELL, HIT ME WITH A BRICK!

You know, the expression "I don't have to have a wall fall on me" doesn't hold up so good in the case of the average American and Labor Unions. Charles Sligh, Jr. executive vice-pres. of the National Association of Manufacturers says: "The political power of organized labor has made a mess in Michigan and now threatens the nation."

The wall hasn't completely fallen yet, Mr. Citizen, but the bricks are sure flyin' fast and furious!

EASTER SUNDAY--MARCH 29--1959

WE are now in the midst of Holy Week, the week before the anniversary date of the Resurrection of Jesus Christ.

Sunday, March 29, is Easter Sunday. Many will attend church services and many will begin anew their efforts to be more like the Master.

Again in the year 1964 Easter will come on March 29. Next year it appears on the calendar April 17.

In the past 10 years the earliest Easter has come on March 25; that was in 1951. It is also interesting to note that Easter Sunday cannot be earlier than March 22 or later than April 25.

Reasons for going to church on Easter Sunday are varied and sundry; but we urge that you attend your church Easter Sunday to re-dedicate your life to Christ and his teachings. There is not a living one of us who does not need the guidance of Christ's teachings and the comfort and reassurance of regular church attendance.

Easter Sunday is a good time to begin, a good beginning.

Report from Washington

BY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN
Congressman, Sixth District

Bills were passed by the House of Representatives last week to extend unemployment compensation, to provide tax benefits for the self-employed, and to assist states with airport projects.

The unemployment compensation bill, which was passed by a voice vote, provides a three-month extension of the federal program which pays special benefits to persons unable to obtain employment. The program was initiated last year during the recession and is scheduled to expire on April 1.

If enacted the bill extending the program is expected to benefit approximately 405,000 jobless persons.
To be eligible, an individual must already be receiving the special payments or must file a valid claim by March 31.

The Senate is expected to approve the bill this week.

Retirement Plan

Although the President has indicated that he will veto any tax relief legislation, House members approved overwhelmingly the measure that will give income tax deductions to persons setting up their own pension plans. The bill will permit doctors, lawyers, and other self-employed individuals to deduct from taxable income up to $2500 a year that is set aside in a voluntary retirement trust fund.
Those who start pension plans after age 50 will be allowed to set aside a larger amount annually.
In both cases, however, the total lifetime tax-free savings under the plan cannot total over $50,000. Pension benefits can commence at age 55, and the bill requires that they begin before the retiree reaches age 70.

Acceptable retirement plans under the bill are annuities (or endowment policies) issued by a domestic life insurance company or trust funds administered by banks.
The chairman of the Senate Finance Committee has stated that it may be some time before the house bill is considered by his committee. A similar measure was passed by the House of Representatives near the end of the session last year, but the Senate failed to take action on it before Congress adjourned.

Airport Funds
The third important measure approved by the House last week authorize federal aid for airports totaling $297 million over a four-year period beginning July 1, 1960.

The total authorization is $997 million more than the Administration recommended, but is less than the $465 million voted by the Senate last month for the purpose.
A Senate-House conference committee must now devise a compromise version of the legislation which will be acceptable to both houses.

Seven of the 45 public airports in Alabama have reported plans to improve or expand their facilities in the next few years.
These proposed projects are estimated to cost nearly $17 million and it is anticipated that only half that amount can be supplied from local and state sources.

Under the Senate bill, Alabama would be eligible to receive about $1,323,551 annually in federal aid for airport projects. Of course, this amount will be reduced if Congress enacts the House measure or if a compromise bill providing an amount less than the Senate total is enacted.

My voice shalt Thou hear in the morning, O Lord; in the morning I will direct my prayer unto Thee. — (Psalm 53:3)

Each morning that God grants us is a new opportunity, a new beginning and a new life, if we choose to make it so. It should begin with prayer, thanking Him, seeking His presence, His love,
His will—and then we will enter into the new day strong, confident and blessed.

THINGS We see and hear

by BO3

We found out the other day that some other folks could do a job for one-tenth of what we thought was a fair price for the same job.
It's those little things, the things which try a man's soul.

Bill Hayes and Buddy Taylor were down in front of Buddy's house the other evening knocking golf balls at each other. Nice pastime! They had some sort of rig that no matter how hard you hit the ball, it "sprung" back to (or at) you! Now that's what we call a real lazy man's cup of "tee".

Always said someday they'd do it! Sleepy Miller, Ed Langston and Sam Lambert over at Clanton Motors put Red Mims' steering wheel on the wrong (right) side of his automobile. Red says it's all right as long as he's driving by himself, but when he has a passenger he keeps poking them up side the head when he gives a signal. Not only that, but it's rough on the poor pedestrian; when he sees those steering wheels coming at him he just throws up his hands in defeat. Alway's thought we were getting to clumsy with those Britshers; now they're crossbreeding our automobiles.

Some folks know, and tell us so.
In this life of blood and sweat;
It's the things we plan, and the things we give
That make the things we get.

We're not reposed in a shell you know,
There's heartaches, grief and pain;
But when we're subdued,
Our faith's renewed.

By a friend with a helping hand.

Our life's worth living, if we keep on giving.

There's no end to what we can do.
But the secret is, to find the need
And know we're wanted, too!

The Master plan is the one we need.

In our everyday walk of life;
I can't begin to cure the world.
But I can relieve some strife.

It is very definitely the height of something or other when they reach way down and name a movie
"I Married A Monster From Outer Space". According to publicity these "horror movies" are riding the crest of popularity over and above many other types of movies but we hesitate to agree with the pres-agents. This type of moving picture not only deteriorates the quality and good name built up by "legitimate" entertainment, but it is a direct insult to the integrity and intelligence of the American individual—even the teenagers whether they realize it or not.

SCHOOLS - Collins Chapel-

One of Chilton's Oldest, Most Distinguished Education Histories

Collins Chapel Jr. High School, one of the oldest and with the most colorful backgrounds, has been a landmark in the county for over 75 years. It is a four-teacher school ideally situated in a thriving rural community of home owners and is eight miles northeast of the county seat of Clanton, Alabama. The school has had an outstanding record of leadership, among whom were: Prof. R. A. Rascoe, a popular educator and personality, Dr.
R. E. Tidwell, a former State Superintendent of Education and leading educator, and four County Superintendents of Education, namely:
W. T. Bean, Howard L. Roscoe,
B. L. Lawrence and Luther E. Little.

Staff

M. S. Smith of Thorby, the present principal, has served in this capacity for the past thirteen years.
Assisting him are Mrs. Eunice Hagin, Mrs. Annie C. Glass, and Mrs. Gertrude Nivens. The teachers are interested in professional improvement and their years of teaching experience range from six to twenty-six years. The faculty has the interest of the school at heart and is united 100% in determining that the school shall go forward in its rightful place of service in making its mark felt in our area.

Communities Served

The school serves the communities of Robinson Springs, New Salem, and Collins Chapel. It is consolidated with the natural community of Jenison and has two buses serving the school. The number of children in classrooms does not exceed thirty. A permanent record file is kept on each child in the school and careful observations are made of each pupil to assist in determining his level of physical, social, emotional development. Provision is made for individual differences within each group.

Lunch Facilities

We have an excellent lunchroom program with Mrs. Lois Gore serving as lunchroom worker. Mrs.
Gore works unflinchingly in planning and serving wholesome and colorful type A 20c lunches to an average of eighty-five hungry, happy faces. The aroma of hot, homemade rolls, served at least twice a week, one of the keys to successful youth, who are eating well, today, to become healthy and happy citizens of tomorrow.

Our plant includes two of the best frame and well-kept buildings in the county. There are five large classrooms, (one of which is fully equipped and isn't being used), and office, a washroom, and auditorium, and a former 2-room shop building houses the lunchroom. We believe that healthful, attractive school environment and adequate instructional supplies are essential if children are to do their best learning. Recently a gas heating system was installed to replace the old coal burning railroad heaters, which were a fire hazard. Some of our present needs are better sanitary facilities, a record player, visual aid equipment, an enlarged library and a stage curtain. Plans are now being made by the County Board of Education to repair and repaint the entire school plant and to install indoor restrooms. All these improvements will be appreciated greatly and jobs already done by them add much to the comfort, appearance and efficiency of our school.

Philosophy

Part of the philosophy of education is a mutual friendly relationship between the adults and the children of the community for cooperative learning. A full understanding of the philosophy of the Collins Chapel School does not happen over night. Living and working within the community for a period of time is the only way to comprehend what its goals really are. The school plans, equipment, materials, curriculum and teaching procedures are characteristic of our beliefs concerning education, and the kind of school program we develop reflect, our basic beliefs.

It has been the purpose of much of the educational program to involve more than the intellectual training of our youth. Every child is entitled to christian guidance, good character, sound attitudes, habits, and beliefs. We wish to move each child, as far as possible, up to the limits of his capabilities.
To the extent this is done, society is improved in general.

The school wishes to operate in

Our Intentions

cooperation with the homes, churches, and all other agencies which influence the development of the child, and to use the curriculum to help the pupils make satisfactory adjustments in group ways of thinking and acting; and to acquire the fundamental skills as we know them. Creativity is encouraged, and if your child, after having been broadened through enriching experiences, Recently forty-five junior high students and chaperones attended College Night at Alabama College in another group visited the State Capitol. Each year in the past trips have been made to places of education interest.

What We Teach

The children are taught habits of critical thinking by studying the techniques of solving problems and through activities which give opportunities to solve problems. In November, Captain James Smith, one of our fathers who was a pert Ordnance Officer from the stone Arsenal of Huntsville, presented a film and talked to the pupils on the missile program. A special program was given to the pupils by the Alabama State Company helped the high school science classes with their projects to be entered in the Alabama County Science Fair. A special exhibit in the science fair last year our school won second place in the individual group exhibitions.

Objectives

We have an active 4-H Club two years ago one of our high school girls won second place in the county-wide dress. Last year one of our 4-H boys won second place in the county. A club member purchased a car for another club boy won first place in producing the highest yield of corn per acre in Chilton County.
Another objective is to develop leaders with a solid foundation who will be a credit to our school and community as they take important posts in higher institutions. In the past this goal has been completely achieved. During the past five years, our school has sent reports from our new high school remind of the standing record of many of our graduates in scholastic ability. Several have won FTA, FHA, and Beta Club awards; have won speaking competition, and have made excellent athletes.

The athletic philosophy of the school is to encourage good sportsmanship, honesty, and physical development. In the past this philosophy has been very interested in basketball, and has sent its favorite sport to the past five years, our school teams have won first place in second and place twice in county tournament.

An active P-T-A functions as school program under the leadership of Mr. Tom J. Dimes, President. Good school-community relations, based on mutual standing of problems, are expected to result in better school community resources and responses at various times. The P-T-A has been active in need after the welfare of need in the community. The school was made to the 2000 Dimes and other work sponsored by the school year they made it possible to have library books at $150.00.

$400 Raised By P-T-A

Each year in the past the age of $400 or more has been collected through the P-T-A. The school pictures, etc., and toward school improvement. The handcapping the school program, additional land for a larger and safer playground has been donated to the county. The school has purchased for each class a set of electric water heaters, remodeling the lunchroom, addition of new equipment and the purchase of a graph machine.

CLANTON CHAPTER TO SHOW 13 FAT CALVES IN COMING STOCK EVENT

FFA members will show calves in the Fat Stock Show at Clanton April 21, and Montgomery 22, 23. The Clanton Future Farmers sold their calves last October.

calves averaged gaining approximately 2½ pounds per day which is exceptionally good.

Almost all of the calves were fed a ration obtained by Mr. Thompson from the Animal Husbandry Department at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn. The ration consisted of 66% corn, 10% cottonseed meal, 10% molasses, 12% hay, and 2% mineral mixture.

Since October the boys have been working hard with their individual calves seeing that they are properly fed and managed. They have also been training them to show properly in the ring when the show time comes.

Recently all the calves were brought to the high school campus for two days where they were trimmed and fitted for showing. According to Mr. Thompson all the animals will need now before show time is just a good cleaning with soap and water. Another purpose for bringing the animals to school was for each member to see what competition he would have at the show. Mr. Thompson says that after seeing all the calves together each boy will work harder to have his calf in top shape on show day.

While they were on the school campus the livestock judging team studied each animal very carefully. They were getting ready for the competition at the district contest eliminations at Auburn in April. After competing with about 50 animals at the Chilton County show and many more at Montgomery the Clanton Future Farmers plan to sell their calves to the highest bidder.

The FFA members who plan to show calves are: Croyn Blalock, Edward Jones, Gene Popwell, Tommy Thompson, Robert Bryant, Donald Bulger, Joe Johnson, Billy Estes, Floyd Mims, Earl Wilson, Wayne Penton, Toby Mayfield, and Jeff Jones. All the calves will be hereford, except Colyn Baylock's and Jeff Jones

Sometimes some of us will look upon other people in the street as if they were not there at all—they who were created by Our Heavenly Father in His own image and are loved by Him, both the highest and the lowliest. They are worthy in His sight, if not in ours.

MULBERRY CHURCH NEWS

The revival just held at our church has proven to be very fruitful. Mr. J. William Kelley and Miss Janice Calfee are welcomed into our church as new members awaiting baptism.

Rev. Barnes brought an inspiring message at each service. The special music was especially good. We must let the fine blessings received in these service live in our hearts day by day.

The services Sunday were well attended. Rev. Daniel brought an inspiring message Sunday morning. Rev. Robert Carden of Union Grove, brought a fine message on Sunday night.

The Homemakers Sunday School Class meets tonight, March 26th, with Mrs. E. L. Lecroy. Sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Jeff Deason. She was the mother of Mrs. E. C. Grooms of Mulberry.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

There is rather a wry saying that the inmates of tomorrow's poor houses will be the businessmen of today.

Over the past few years the drive for employee pensions has attained substantial objectives, to supplement the small income that can be anticipated at the proper age from Social Security.

But in all this drive to get bigger and better retirement comfort for employees, government, C.W. Harter, workers, and all manner of people, somehow it has seemingly been overlooked that professional and business people to build their own retirement plans by exempting from income tax the first 10% of yearly income paid into retirement plans.

That is why legislators such as Simpson, Keogh, Jenkins and others have in Congress a bill that would modify that income tax law to permit professional and business people to build their own retirement plans by exempting from income tax the first 10% of yearly income paid into retirement plans.

From the standpoint of Federal financing, this is but a small matter compared to the billions upon billions that have been thrown away in foreign give aways. Yet there will be opposition to this proposal.

Perhaps the most common plan of the day is that between high living costs brought about by inflation, plus high taxes, made necessary by high government spending, which in turn has created inflation, it is most difficult to save any money.

Thus, in this contemporary preoccupation with the building of a welfare state, it is peculiar that largely overlooked is welfare of people who have employment. It seems hard to visualize a more ridiculous state of affairs.

Rev. L. E. Daniels is in a revival week at Union Grove Baptist Church.

Mrs. Gordon Conway, Church Reporter.

TOBY MAYFIELD - FARMER WITH HANDICAPP FOR OPERATIONS NOT ENOUGH ROOM HE SAYS

Toby Mayfield, president of the Clanton FFA Chapter, is establishing a small farming operation although he lives in a suburban area and is very limited on space.

Toby who is becoming established in the hog business has made an arrangement with a neighbor which enables him to buy a small tract of land for his home and pay for it with pigs. The neighbor is going to give Toby all the time he needs to make payments. At the present time Toby has two sows, a Landrace and an O.I.C. The Landrace has recently farrowed eight young pigs. The O.I.C. farrowed 16 pigs her first time and raised 14 of them. Toby sold all of his first litter of O. I. C. pigs except two which he is growing to market size. He is going to save two of his purchased Landraces to show in the various hog shows this fall. He is using the money received from his pigs to expand the land for his home.

Toby hopes to expand his home enterprise by using all the profits to purchase more pigs and equipment. In addition to his hogs, Mayfield has a few peach trees which adds some to his income. He is also rooting arbutus trees which he hopes to sell for ornamentals.

Besides being an outstanding FFA member and Vo-Ag student Toby is a star on the Clanton football team. He also takes an active part in other church, community, and school activities.

His FFA advisor and Vo-Ag teacher is J. R. Thompson.

BOBBY LITTLETON - JEMISON BOY AND HIS TWO BROTHERS MAKE FINE FARMING TEAM

FRUIT TREES CATTLE HOGS; YOU NAME IT: THEY'VE DONE IT

Bobby Littleton Sentinel of the Jemison FFA chapter is putting knowledge obtained by studying Vocational Agriculture under instructor L. C. Shields to work for him in helping operated a 100 acre orchard. Bobby and his two brothers Billy and Royce have 8,000 peach and 2,000 apple trees on the farm.

The Littletons operate the farm on halves for Maurice Durbin of Montgomery who is owner. After the passing of their father over a year ago the three boys have been operating the farm by themselves.

Bobby, a member of the Ag 2 Class, had 300 peach trees for one last year. From these trees he received an income of over $500. In addition to his trees he also had three market hogs and a few head of cattle for his projects.

This year he is going to have his of his peach trees, and 300 chestnut trees for productive projects. Mr. Shields says that of the 15,000 FFA members in Alabama Bobby is probably the only one that has chestnut as a project. Bobby hopes to receive a bigger profit from his 300 chestnut trees than he did from his 300 peach trees.

Bobby recently finished landscaping and beautifying his home. He has painted the house, both inside and outside and constructed new cabinets in the kitchen. He has also rewired the entire house. The yard has been leveled, winter grass planted, and shrubbery set out. He used 28 different ornaments in landscaping his home. Mr. Shields says that Bobby is going to enter the Home Improvement contest sponsored by the FFA this summer.

MANY NEWSY NOTES FROM JEMISON

Mrs. George Nash

Each year, all FFA and FFA members look forward to planning and working on the Annual Banquet. The banquet is prepared particularly for the parents of each member to express appreciation for helping all to be better members. The banquet for 1958-59 was held Thursday night, March 19th at 7:30 in the gymnasium. The stage decorations presented a lovely Easter scene. Pines, cedar, a peach tree in bloom, formed a background. A boy and girl in Easter Togs carried a basket of eggs, stood near a picket fence, guarded by Peter Rabbit. A large plastic bunny at ease in a clump of jonquils, woolly lambs were on a green mound near the small trees. Ivy and buttercups were intertwined the full length of the tables, with fluted cups holding jelly beans at intervals, colorful "chicks". The speakers table was centered with an arrangement of calla lilies, with jelly bean trees on either side. The tables for parents and members were decorated similar to the speakers table, but were centered with a basket of colorful spring flowers and on either side, a egg tree. Ivy with daisies formed baskets on the front walls, filled with marbles bearing the names of the members of both clubs. Program folders in pastel colors have an Easter Symbol. The vocation was given by Rev. Louis Brasher, pastor of the Jemison Baptist Church. Betty Horne, President, gave the welcome, after which her mother, Mrs. O. L. Horne, gave the response. Menu for the banquet, baked chicken and dressing, buttered English peas, cranberry sauce, tossed green salad, buttered rolls, apple pie, iced tea or coffee. ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

CHRIST IS YOUR SURPLUS

Probably the greatest period of prosperity ever experienced in America lies ahead, and it is of the utmost importance that Christian businessmen everywhere seize the opportunities which exist for them.

This is important because when Christian businessmen prosper, they use their money for the Lord, for the glory of God.

Money is what its possessor is. When in the hands of Christians, money is Christian. There is never a shortage of money, but, too often, there is a shortage of Christians who fully understand that the Lord wishes to prosper them and why.

It is a mistake to get one's eyes on dollars, for one's surplus is not in dollars but in Christ. One of the greatest thoughts of this modern generation is that Christ is your surplus. You will find your surplus of all good things, including dollars, in Christ.

Throughout America businessmen are being drawn irresistibly toward Christ, for Christ is all in all. It has long been believed that businessmen cannot be interested in Christ, but this is a great untrue. Businessmen are just as concerned as anyone about Christ, and when a businessman does accept Christ as his personal Saviour and as his Lord and Master, a partnership results which accomplishes great things.

PAST WEEK AT SHILOH

Next Sunday, March 29, the Rev. O. L. Deavers will preach at Shiloh at 11 am immediately following the sermon the church will hold a business meeting for the purpose of calling a pastor. Everyone concerned is urged to be present for this important meeting.

Mr. C. J. Williams returned home from the Chilton County Hospital last Friday. Mr. Williams is long fine and he and his family wish to express their thanks and sincere appreciation to everyone for their many kind deeds shown them during his long illness. Especially do they thank the nurses of Chilton County Hospital and Dr. Moore.

Mrs. R. E. Wilkins is in the Baptist Hospital in Selma. Mrs. L. C. Keen had surgery in the Baptist Hospital in Selma last Thursday. We are glad to report that she is improving nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Owen had dinner with Rev. and Mrs. C. P. Haggard of Maplesville, Ala. They visited Mr. O. C. Billingsley and Mrs. R. E. Wilkins in the Baptist Hospital in Selma Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. George Owen is ill at the home of her son, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Owen. She is improving.

N-O-T-I-C-E ! BLOOD PROGRAM FAILS!

The church at Providence has just closed one of the greatest revivals in its history. The revival was held in connection with the Great Simultaneous Revival Crusade in which 34 other churches are participating in the Association. Thirty-two members were added to the church by Baptism, and nine by letter. The revival services were extended into the second week which was not scheduled in the beginning. There were additions in the last services and others are expected.

The pastor, Rev. J. L. Adams, together with his people took a thorough census of the church field which was followed up with a well rounded visitation program, combined with special prayer meetings.

The Rev. Hymon Atcheson, pastor of the Northside Baptist Church in the same Association was the evangelist. The three important things mentioned above is good preparation for a revival, especially when mixed with good gospel preaching.

All the Educational space has been taken and the people at Providence are contemplating adding more space in the near future. Interest has also been shown relative to erecting a pastors home on the field. Property has been offered by people in the community.

GUESS WHO? ON BUSINESS OF THE WEEK

AS most of you noticed in last week's News the feature "Chilton County's Business of The Week" made it's first appearance. It was a notable appearance in more ways than one. Hayes Chevrolet Company was featured at that time and through some hook or crook

Mr. Ruben Popwell got his name left out of the list of salesmen. Larry McGuire, shop foreman, just as important, also was omitted. Mr. Ruben says he's the oldest salesman at the place and we don't mind admitting we made the error if he doesn't mind admitting he's the oldest one down there.

The new feature, which is designed to create business harmony and local trade will appear in next week's News with another Chilton County business as its theme. Bet you can't guess who will be the lucky business next week! Take a look and see in next week's News!

ONLY 8 MEMBERS ABSENT — ATTENDANCE RECORD IS SHATTERED AT TEMPLE ASSEMBLY EASTER SUNDAY

The Temple Assembly of God Sunday School set a new record attendance last Sunday with 304 present. This is the highest attendance at the Temple in its 52 year history.

Rev. Nelson E. White, the pastor, attributes this amazing accomplishment to several things. One is the notable fact that only eight enrolled members of the Sunday School were absent.

Also, the work of several members was outstanding. Miss Brenda Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Jackson and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Driver, brought 132 new people to Sunday School, during the recent twelve-week contest.

Jackie Mims, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Mims, was runner up with 114 visitors brought into the school.

The totals reveal that during the last twelve weeks 40 new people have visited the Temple Sunday School.

OUR CITY PARKS --

Much work is being done and big plans are ahead for our city parks, for both Colored and White people. Park Board No. 1 is in charge of the White City Parks and Park Board No. 2 is in charge of Colored City Parks. Both Boards are working on plans for improvements for the coming season.

At the City Park on Third Avenue a Little League baseball park has been constructed and work is beginning on the bleachers and the dugouts. This baseball diamond is two-thirds the size of the regulation ball field used by the grown-ups. The Babe Ruth League will use the same diamond as the Clanton baseball teams. They play on the old regulation field.

At the Colored City Park the Board is waiting favorable weather to grade the field and plans are already going to install a lighted field for night games.

The present City Council has devoted much time to the improvements of the parks and as time has proven we can invest our money in on better project than our children.

INCOME TAX FAX

Casualty losses are deductible.

The loss of your property by reason of flood, fire, storm, shipwreck and other casualty, or by theft, is deductible. If the property was used in your business, the deduction is taken on separate Schedule C. If the property was personal the deduction is taken on page two of the tax return form. This deduction is lost if you file short form 1040 or 1040-A, or take the standard deduction.

In the case of residence, the damage to business property, such as tools, fences, equipment, or any property you owned is deductible. Of course, it is important to be able to prove you owned the property, and the amount of the loss.

Where the loss consists only of damage then ordinarily the cost of repairs would be the amount of your loss. In other cases the loss is the difference between the fair market value of the property before the loss and the fair market value of the property after the loss.

Any insurance recovery must be deducted from the amount of the loss before you make the deduction on your tax return.

Also, the loss can never exceed the cost or other basis of the property, regardless of the fair market value at the time of loss.

If the loss is any amount greater than your income for 1958, then you would carry the excess back to 1956 and apply it against 1956 income and file a claim for refund.

THE TAX REFORM --

Incompetence never gains anybody very much. It is common knowledge by this time that nearly every government official that takes office (including Congressmen) "gains his wings" on a trial and error basis which the public must, in some way, pay for.

This situation in itself, harmful though it is to our economy, is not nearly so distressing as the attitude our government officials seem to take on the mere mention of tax reform or some form of fair rehabilitation for the overtaxed taxpayer.

We, the citizens of the United States need very badly to have our Congress working for us, as individuals, more than any time in our history. True, we have more as Americans than we have ever had in the past -- today's living requires more it seems. "More", however, in the sense that we can afford to be taxed out of our britches and our businesses is unfounded.

Why should we, Americans, create our own economical hangman's noose? Are we not capable of coping with the problem of who to send to Washington and what to tell them to do?

A news item reads: "... a spot check... showed that House members are receiving only light to moderate mail in favor of Government economy."

It's true, buddy; you must indeed have to draw them a picture. If you need pencil and paper, we will gladly furnish you with those commodities!

of the income tax paid for 1956. If the amount of the loss was such that your 1956 income did not absorb the excess, then any unused loss could be carried forward to 1957 in the same way, and if the 1957 income did not absorb all the loss, then any excess could be carried forward for the next five years and applied against the income of those years.

In other words, if you sustain a very large casualty loss you would apply it first against 1958 income, then against 1956 and 1957 income, and then carry forward any unused excess for the next five years, or until the loss was fully covered by income, but no longer than five years.

It is important to get all your bills, pictures, and other information together at the time of filing your tax return and keep them with your copy of your tax return so that you can prove your loss if necessary.

TESTS TO BE GIVEN TO EIGHTH GRADERS

All eleventh grade pupils in Chilton County will be given a standardized test during the months of March and April of this year. This is being done for the purpose of helping the schools in their Guidance Program for next year. The teachers will be able to guide the pupils into subjects that they will be able to study and learn without too much difficulty. There is a possibility that Chilton County will at sometime have a full time Guidance Director. If time permits, the eighth and ninth grades will also be given the standardized test this school year.

THE women; they're fine, I sorta like mine And we go along with the clothes;

BUT the hats we can say, We hope will not stay Especially... particularly... those!

WE hope that some day When hats go away We can all settle down and relax.

IF they don't disappear We hopefully fear That someone will give 'em the ax.

THERE'S no doubt about it We yell it, we shout it There's nothing we'd rather not do;

You know, it made us warm as toast to receive that gesture and we've since decided that when you take it for granted that others know how you feel about them, chances are they take you for granted too. Such was not the case with Aunt Mollie; but then, there's only one Aunt Mollie! Thank you Ma'm.

2 Buildings Razed By Fire, Concord Rebuilds

The first school at Concord was erected in 1904 on land purchased from Mr. W. Mims. It was located on what is now Higgins Ferry Road, about 3 miles east of Clanton. Mr. W. J. Robinson and volunteer workers constructed the building, which consisted of one large room about 40X60 ft. The school opened in October 1905, with Mr. Bart Jones as teacher. The length of the school term was 5 to 6 months. The pupils furnished their own desks and studied the same books for several years. This was a one teacher school with an enrollment of 50 to 75 pupils. The total equipment was one blackboard. Other teachers who taught at this school were: Mrs. L. C. Ellis, Turner Vinson, Billy Moore, L. C. Popwell, John Parrish, C. Scarborough, Danc Cherry and Jack Mims.

Report from Washington

BY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN
Congressman, Sixth District

The House of Representatives last week passed and sent to the Senate the Second Supplemental Appropriation Bill for fiscal year 1959. This measure contains supplemental or emergency funds for financing various government activities during the remainder of the current fiscal year.

Before passing the measure, the House approved amendments to restore funds cut by the House Committee on Appropriations for the Mutual Security Program, Development Loan Fund, for defense educational programs, and for the care of patients at Veterans Administration hospitals.

Funds for Education
The Department of Health, Education, and Welfare had requested Congress to appropriate an additional $75 million for operating programs under the National Defense Education Act. It was pointed out that more funds were needed to finance student loans, grants, fellowships, and aid to states for the remainder of fiscal year 1959.

Although the House Appropriations Committee had recommended only $25 million to implement the National Defense Education Act, an amendment from the floor providing for the restoration of one thing wrong with the whole deal Mrs. Headley... you didn't send us a sample along with the recipe and we can't even boil water like an expert. Thanks anyway.

ONE of the salvations of modern parents' efforts to raise their children "up in the way he should go," is, believe it or not, a Television Show. It's Captain Kangaroo Show for young children on every weekday and Saturday and we can honestly say that "Cap'n Roo" has taught our young son about as much good as we have ourselves. We are not sold on many TV shows for children, but ever since he was old enough to turn the knob our son Ben has watched eagerly and learned rapidly from Bob Sheehan who is Capt. Kangaroo. Understand he is coming to Huntsville, Ala. April 4th (that's Saturday) for appearances there. Sometimes we think even Santa Claus takes a back seat to him. Must be very rewarding for him.

the full $75 million was approved. The supplemental bill also included a 20-million dollar appropriation for the maintenance and operation of schools located in federally impacted areas and $24 million for construction of new school facilities in such areas.

Other Amendments
For the Development Loan Fund, which makes loans to friendly foreign countries for improving their own resources, the House voted $100 million. The Appropriations Committee had earlier eliminated all funds for the Development Loan Fund in spite of an Administration request of $225 million for this purpose.

Another amendment resulted in the appropriation of $45 million for additional $554,000 for out-patient inpatient care of veterans and an services.

As approved by the House, the supplemental bill carries funds totaling $26 billion to finance various agencies and programs through the remainder of fiscal year 1959 which ends on July 1. This amount constitutes $207.5 million less than President Eisenhower had requested.

It is expected that the Senate will make some changes in the amounts approved by the House, and it will probably be necessary for a joint conference committee to draft a version acceptable to both.

Unemployment Funds
A compromise version of the Senate and House bills designed to extend the government's special unemployment compensation program for three months was approved by both houses last week. As sent to the President, this legislation extends monthly payments through June for those persons already on the jobless benefit rolls and to others who had qualified before the end of March. Persons who become unemployed after April 1 are not eligible for the special benefits.

Congress Recesses
At the conclusion of the legislative day last Thursday, the House and Senate adjourned for the annual Easter recess of Congress. Both will reconvene on Tuesday, April 7.

Some of the principles who taught in this three teacher school were: Mrs. John Parrish, Murphy Branton, Leon Mullins, and Leo Langston.

The second building for Concord burned February 12, 1944, temporary arrangement for building were then made by moving some old buildings to Concord that had been used as a Camp near Clanton. These temporary quarters were used until 1948 when the building that is used now was erected. Mr. W. Bean and Mr. Ernest Connor taught in the temporary building.

Mr. Albert Broadhead, head principle of Concord in 1948 when the new Refuge School was the consolidated with Concord.

There are now six teachers at Concord at the present time. They are: Mr. Albert Broadhead, Mabel Broadhead, Mrs. Corine Ellison, Mrs. Everette Tippet, Eddie C. Robinson, Mrs. Jones.

In recent years indoor restrooms have been added. Tiled floors have been put down and some playground equipment has been purchased. 200 square yards of playing has been done in front of the building. 16 pecan trees have been planted and shrubbery has been planted around the building. The latest plans are for the erecting a flagpole near the school building. Four buses carry children to school at Concord at the present time.

There are two workers in the lunchroom and 165 lunches are served at 20c per lunch. There are six classrooms and a school. There are three more rooms at the school.

The philosophy of Concord is "It is not so much where we are as in what direction we are going." "Where there's room in the room, there's room in the room." "A good teacher is a good parent." "Go often to your job." "The objective of Concord is to teach the children. The greatest thing in the world is to be a character."

All elementary subjects are taught at Concord and the State subjects are taught in the 4-H Clubs, Basketball, and 8-Ball.

WAYNE ATCHESON
The 1959 baseball season of the Chilton County High School Tigers opened March 19. Twenty-five boys were out making bids for the team. Coach Don Finlayson has the boys returning from last year's season. Some of the boys out for the first time are: Larry Culppepper, Tommy Shelton, a young pitcher, will also add a punch to the pitching staff. Shelton's effective pitch is the fastball.

Pitchers, Weak Spot
The back of pitchers seems to be the weak spot. Clay Carroll, a strong right-hander seems to be the best pitcher. Carroll has a good curve ball and a lively fast ball. Little has a good fast ball and he will help the team a lot. Tommy Shelton, a young pitcher, will also add a punch to the pitching staff. Shelton's effective pitch is the fastball.

Wyatt Catching
John Will Wyatt, a first year catcher, has rallied down the catcher position. Wyatt hits well and has the makings of being a good catcher. Clay Carroll will add Wyatt to the back of the team.

"Proof" In Infield
The infield should be very good this year. All the boys who started in the infield last year, except at base, are returning. Clarke Atkinson and Alton Henley will fill the first base position. Both are good fielders and all capable of hitting.

Warren Edwards, a freshman, will be at second base for another year. Edwards is an exceptional fielder and has capabilities of being a good hitter. Kenneth Williams, a good hitter, will be back in the outfield.

AG. Classes

Presents Year's Projects Clanton

Agriculture—The science of growing crops and animals for food and fiber. Some fifteen projects were entered from this phase of science in the recent Science Fair at the Chilton County High School. John Miller, Billy Wyatt, and Kenneth Wilson entered projects of growing capons for food. These students took ten White Leghorn roosters and at different ages castrated half of them. They found that five or six weeks of age seems to be the best age to castrate roosters.

Jerry Murr was doing an excellent job with his capons but had the misfortune of a fire destroying them. Jerry is to be commended for the fine work he had done until he lost his chickens.

Harold Wright, Joe Baker, and James Connell did some work with nutrition. They took twenty chickens and fed five of them white corn meal, five yellow corn meal, five protein and five were fed a complete ration. No one needs to tell these boys that chickens need a complete ration. They have found out for themselves.

James Edwards, Jimmy Goodman and Harold Robinson did some work on fertilizing plants. They took five cabbage plants and put them in garden soil. They fed one plant nitrogen, another phosphate, another potash and another a complete fertilizer and one was left in garden soil with no plant food. They demonstrated the need for a correct fertilizing on our crops.

Wayne Hay did a good job of building an electrical panel. He won the REA second prize. There were many other fine projects exhibited by the agriculture classes. Many are already making plans for their projects for next year according to Mr. Thompson, the agriculture teacher.

Convention At Selma Sparks New Drive In Local "Witnesses"

"Individually, good men have tried to make their homes happy, pleasant for themselves and their families. Collectively we try to make the earth an enjoyable place for right-minded people. But sad to relate, the trend has not been toward such paradise conditions, but rather toward a ruined earth." With these words, J. W. Filson, district minister of Jehovah's Witnesses, began his widely-advertised Bible talk "A Paradise Earth through God's Kingdom" to an assembled crowd of 780 Jehovah's Witnesses of east central Alabama at the climax of their three-day Circuit Convention in Selma, on Sunday.

Turning to the Bible the speaker said, "What our Creator had in mind for our planet is revealed by the way he gave the first humans created perfect surroundings. Loss of this Edenic paradise did not frustrate God's purpose. But Christ's words to the dying evildoer beside him assures us that paradise will be regained!" After tracing present-day world disturbances, Filson emphasized, "Prophecies in the Bible point us to an earth ruled over by God's government, the Kingdom of Heaven, and the climax of trouble which began in 1914 is evidence we are in the 'last days' of the corrupt world and are nearing the glorious new world."

Calling attention to the fact that Jesus foretold witnesses to be raised up at this crucial time who would announce Jehovah's Kingdom just prior to the old world's end, Filson stressed, "Feeling keenly the responsibility thus falling upon Christians, Jehovah's Witnesses have gone all-out to carry this important good news of God's Kingdom to all the earth, reaching, in 1958, 175 countries, islands of the seas, provinces, colonies, etc. They have done exhaustive research in Scripture and contemporary news, eluding them to the conclusion that life in paradise is soon to be realized by those of this generation who serve God."

During the three-day convention representatives personally engaged in home to home ministry work, inviting Selma residents to the program and presenting short Bibles

LOCAL FHA GIRLS INITIATED AT CCHS, 18TH.

On March 18, 1959, a formal initiation of the FHA girls was held as an assembly program for the Chilton County High School. The President, Emily Kliner, Vice-President, Carolyn DeVaughn, Secretary and Treasurer, Blenda Scott, and Parliamentarian, Anne Deason were seated at the table. The eight guides entered, escorting the new members of FHA. VERBENA C.Y.C. HAS SPEAKER

The Verbena Christian Youth Club met March 24 for a regular meeting. Our song leaders, Gwen Frucchi and Ruth Davis, led us in singing "Holy, Holy, Holy." We repeated our motto and Glenda Martin led us in prayer. Then we sang "Footprints of Jesus."

Our guest speaker was Rev. F. F. Glidwell from the Chestnut Creek Baptist Church. He stressed the need for a education by personal experiences. Then after reading Ex. 14:15, he encouraged us to go forward. Some ways to go forward are: against evil; in personal living; in churchmanship; and to the Promised Land.

After this wonderful message, Rev. Glidwell dismissed the meeting with prayer. Ruth Smith, Reporter.

More than 40 parents and patrons of Little League, including Mayor Hollis Jackson and the City Council, met at the City Hall on last Tuesday night to lay out plans for the new season. This meeting was planned and led by the officers of Little League last year: Dent Williams, President; Bob Powers, Vice-President; and Mrs. F. E. Wray, Sec-Treas. Mrs. Wray read the Treasurer's report which indicated that there is a balance in the Treasury brought over from last year of $20.86.

Mayor Jackson reported that the City has almost completed the work of grading, paving and planning seed on the new Little League Field in the City Park just to the North of the Tennis Courts. The work of lighting the field will be completed in time for the first game. This will leave the main Baseball Park, free for use by the Babe Ruth League and the Clanton Baseball Club and will provide the Little League with a field of their own.

The Committee elected to bring to the meeting on next Tuesday night to discuss the plans for the season. The officers for 1959 are: Dent Williams, President; Bob Powers, Vice-President; and Mrs. F. E. Wray, Sec-Treas.

WHY do so many with crosses to bear place it on exhibition?

YOU don't have to be a hard character to be a solid businessman.

THE World owes no one a living--after all, it was here before you were.

IF you're living on velvet this day and time, sooner or later you will be called on the carpet.

FOLKS who talk all the time usually attract the least attention.

MEN who borrow trouble put up their peace of mind as collateral.

LOT of time you will bump into trouble dodging your duty.

SMART AS A TACK -

Too much praise cannot be said for the boys who represented the county in the recent Science Fair at Birmingham. Steve Renning won First Place in his Division and Ervin Dailey won Second Place in his category.

To add to Chilton County's laurels we must boast of little Karla Christansem. Karla was entered in the Junior High competition from Montevallo and won First Place in her category which was Botany and Bacteriology.

Congratulations to this threesome for the honors brought their schools, their teachers and their commu-

SPARKMAN WOULD CHANGE
ELECTORIAL VOTE --

Senator John Sparkman has introduced a Resolution in the United States Senate whereby the present electoral college system of counting the votes for President and vice-president would be changed.

Says Sparkman "While the electoral college would be abolished, the electoral vote would be retained and would be cast . . . under the existing method". "The vote would be divided percentage-wise in accordance with the popular vote."

"For example, Alabama now has eleven electoral votes, based on one for each Senator and each Congressman," Sparkman stated. "Alabama would continue to have all 11 votes for President and vice-President under my proposal, but if the Democratic nominee received only 65% of the popular vote he would receive only 65% of the electoral vote." This he explained would eliminate the practice of candidates "promising the moon" to minorities.

The Senator claims that "The retention of the electoral vote is a compromise which largely avoids the objections to the direct election of Presidents. . . and wisely holds on to the spirit of compromise so important in the Constitution which gave the small States equal representation in the Senate."

SPRING AND WORK

Now that Spring has sprung we can watch for a concerted effort on the part of both city and county forces to correct the bad roads in their jurisdiction.

With the bad weather of the past several weeks the roads and streets have gotten in terrible repair and much improvement is to be made there.

POLICY FOR SUCCESS --

ONE HUNDRED years ago a young man from Maine, George Huntington Hartford, opened a small that practiced by its founder--high quality at low prices inating steps of distribution he was able to sell good tea at about one-third the current retail price. Naturally, the store flourished.

Out of that venture was born the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, the oldest and largest of the food chains. The A & P is now a 4,100-unit operation. Its policy through the years and as administered now by President Ralph Whited Burger is the same as that practiced by its founder--high quality at low prices.
The A. & P. changed recently to partial public ownership, but it has always been operated in the public interest. Our congratulations on its 100th anniversary year.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN in Chilton County number 317. That's three hundred and seventeen!
Think for a minute just how many little folks that is. Perhaps one of them is your child. Possibly you are one of the very fortunate who has healthy, normal children.

The potential of these 317 children is unlimited if we, as responsible neighbors and fellow Chilton Countians see fit to rehabilitate them and their families to a usefulness to their community and most of all a responsible part in our everyday living.

Last year expenditures in Chilton County exceeded $25,000. That's a lot of money. The quota was something less than the amount we spent.

How did we do it? We borrowed it from other counties! We're in debt, in a sense we haven't reached this year's quota by a long, long shot.

It is anaphoretic reaction to disregard some of the most important charitable organizations of our country.

Is there, or could there be, anything more important to us than our children?

There is a positive answer to this question which leaves us without words to explain why we fall short in trying to raise enough money to bring about the transformation of a crippled child into a useful citizen.

The Alabama Society for Crippled
Children not only aids these 317
County youngsters; it also helps 40 blind persons and 150 crippled or disabled adults.

There's no doubt about it; this takes money.

We can spend our money on other charities, but we cannot spend it on anything as close to home as this Crippled Children's organization. We're helping our very close neighbors.

or turned in to Grady Hefflin at vine at Levine's Dry Goods or Chil-

REV. BALLARD SPEAKS TO VERBENA CYC

The Verbena Christian Youth Club met March 31. The president, Carolyn Howard, opened the meeting by leading the group in their motto (Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity--1st Tim. 4:12).

Glenda Martin led in prayer after which we sang, "Give Me Oil
In My Lamp".

We were fortunate to have Rev.
Royce Ballard, pastor of the Pleasant Valley Baptist Church, and a senior at Howard College, to speak to us.

He gave the importance of life as follows: Life is important because it is so short, physically, because it lasts for eternity, because the kind of life we should live was paid by Christ's dying on the cross, and because God needs us in this world. We are His only hope.

We should carry Christ into all parts of our lives, including dating, marriage, home life, church life, and our vocation; letting God's Word guide us in everything we do.

After this inspiring message, Rev.
Ballard dismissed the meeting with prayer.

Report from Washington

BY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN
Congressman, Sixth District

In the past few weeks, I have received numerous letters expressing concern over recent disclosures of expenditures made by members of Congress.

While none of these letters has been critical of my Sixth District Congressman, they nevertheless reflect genuine alarm over the expenditure of public funds. Therefore, I feel it is appropriate to devote my column this week to a discussion of this matter as it relates to the 6th District of Alabama.

Nepotism

Perhaps the most widely discussion issue is that of relatives on congressional office payrolls, a practice often referred to as nepotism.

During my six years as a member of Congress, no member of my family immediate or otherwise--has been a member of my staff. I can assure the people of the Sixth District that I have no intention of beginning such a practice in the future.

Office Rental

There have also been a number of newspaper accounts relating to the rental of district or home offices by members of Congress. Although I could probably qualify for the $1200 yearly rental allowance for a congressional district office, there has been no necessity for using these funds since space has been available in the federal building in Tuscaloosa. Therefore, the $1200 annual rental allowance has never been used in the Sixth District and has reverted each year to the federal treasury.

PREVENTIVE MEDICINE

"Preventive medicine is the medicine of the future." This prediction was made many years ago by Sir William Osler, one of the world's greatest physicians. What is preventive medicine? The term is far-reaching in that it encompasses public health, sanitation, individual and community health.
But before preventive medicine can be applied, the cause of a disease must be known.

Preventive medicine includes effective immunization against disease. Smallpox, diphtheria, typhoid fever, whooping cough, tetanus, yellow fever, rabies, typhus, cholera, and plague are among the diseases that have been effectively controlled through immunization;
and measles can be lessened in severity, or prevented completely if proper inoculation is given after exposure.

The 1955 contribution to preventive medicine was the development of the Salk vaccine which has rendered to polio victims.

The control of environment is important in preventive medicine.
Scientific sewage disposal, safe water supplies, sanitary production and processing of foods, and inspection of cleanliness in eating and food handling establishments have contributed greatly to the

'A Terrible Situation'

No one can really say that the Chilton County Chapter of your Red Cross and mine will fail. That Chilton County, has no Chapter, no Blood program it is up to us here to say that 400 tanks of blood have supplied the needs of our county this year that this county has no home service program;
(The medium of service to the Armed Forces and their families).

No disaster program, because the Red Cross Drive failed. This cannot be said because the county is made up of a citizenship who cares; people who join helping hands in time of need, exemplifying belief in a free people's strength, strength that is never unaware of those unforgettable words of Christ: "I was hungry and you gave me to eat." The Red Cross programs all of the corporal works of mercy. Let us not look for defects, but to this organization's wide range of human services.
Think of its disaster record, were a tornado to hit Clanton tomorrow the American Red Cross is the only organization relief agency who would come at once to our aid. Any part of the county would be struck without warning, not only by tornadoes, but by a natural catastrophe, one could have easily developed from the head-on collision of trains in Clanton's 1957 accident. Who could fail to remember the recent awful tornado in Bessemer, or the terrible one that hit our county in 1932, when people were brought in to the hospital soaked in mud, in which side and other artists had worked in their possession gone, and who could fail to recall the wonderful emergency aid rendered by the Red Cross immediately following that disaster, as truck load after truck load of supplies arrived in Clanton to spend rehabilitation and recovery, from the tragic Defects of disaster to people clamorous and needy.

It is imperative that the Red Cross bring its drive to a close March 31. We have not yet even come to the half way mark. The record of the Red Cross in Chilton will be written by its people, a class of worthy citizens. People who answer the stern call of helping their fellowmen in distress
And the world today is plagued control of water or water-borne diseases such as typhoid fever, septic sore throat and infectious diarrheas.

A regular physical examination is a strong diagnostic instrument in preventive medicine. The proper correction of early symptoms will do much to curb progression of a disease if not control its entirely. This is true of such conditions as high blood pressure, heart disease, cancer, dietary deficiencies, tuberculosis.

While preventive medicine has advanced greatly in recent years to the point where widespread epidemics are avoidable, much more needs to be accomplished. Continued and concentrated research will yield the answers to the causes of numerous conditions now affecting the older age group. With the source established, further research will provide the proper preventive.

The library is composed of a good number of books and magazines in a varied field of interests. Each year the Chilton County Teachers Association appropriates ninety dollars for new library material. Several sets of reference books are available to teachers.

begin thinking seriously of his future by the time he enters the education in the future. The school desires to provide the opportunity and assistance for each student as he works to his highest goal.

Mrs. George Naish
Mineral Springs Changes Ownership

Jemison's well known Mineral Springs has changed ownership. Mrs. Geneva D. Wheeler is now owner and operator. This property was owned, probably first, by Dr. R. B. McNeill and Mr. J. M. Robinson, both now deceased. They built the first motel on this land, 32 rooms in all and 4 cabins across the road from the spring. The hotel was on top of the hill back of the present building, with steps leading down to the Springs. This hotel was built about 1912-13. The first nail driven in that building was by Mr. Jim Patton, still living in Jemison. Mr. Henry Durbin drove a horse and wagon to take the laborers to their work. Seven miles distant. The property was later owned by the Dr. Gowers of Clanton, then Mr. Tom Hand, of Jemison, at his death, the property went to Mr. Wallace Hand, Dr. Marshall Price purchased the property from Mr. Wallace Hand, in 1943, renovated the buildings, built houses and dug a nice lake. A few years following Dr. Price's death, Mr. C. C. Conway purchased the property from the Price estate or from Mrs. Price. Mr. Conway renovated and improved the property, just shortly sold the Springs to Mrs. Geneva Wheeler and have been helped by it. Good luck to Mrs. Wheeler.

The guests were entertained at a table preceding the program. The refreshment table was a picture of loveliness with cups, saucers, plates, March roses and keweenaw. The program was a centerpiece. BETTER SPEECH CLUB MAKES ANNUAL VISIT TO MOUND STATE PARK AND MUSEUM OF HISTORY

There have always wondered how the Indians came to America. This year when we learned of the theory of migration to our hemisphere we began eagerly anticipating the club's annual pilgrimage to the Mound State Park and Museum of History. It was a most interesting and profitable trip in America. Our instructor reached new heights when he reached petrolyphs in Alabama. He explained the petrolyphs of early civilizations. He explained the petrolyphs of the Marjias of North America, and the farthest civilization in Peru. We were careful plans for the trip. It might be a very profitable trip.

Friday, a beautiful sunny day, our interest was kindled in a wonderful reality. Seven mothers came to offer their services. The mothers were assembled in order, and began our observations in the museum building. The thing that attracted our eyes, particularly, was a veritable shrub, which was a very old one. It was the North Pit where the colored slaves and the Indians met. The Indians carried us to the remote era when the Indian metropolis existed here on the banks of the Warrior River. We were fascinated with the intriguing and interesting objects on their pottery, especially the part of the Moundville site, and their many skills that made evident through the displays. We learned that the Indians were peace-loving, and their nature. They loved to be human body. Their life was short.

We really appreciate Mrs. Deane's word of encouragement. We were happy to express our thanks for her consideration through our president, Beverly, and our squad leaders, Williams, Gayle Wyatt, George, and Jerry Palmer. Mr. Johnson expressed our pleasure and privilege of the day before we spread our picnic lunches on the grass. We were in the picnic grounds on the banks of the Warrior River. It was a site for the occasion and we are almost reluctant to leave. We had a race up huge hills. It was a very rough race. We found ourselves running fifty-eight and a half minutes in record time. What a wonderful view we had from the heights. Why, that huge view covers approximately two miles.

While this captivating spot, we went to Alabama's Museum of History on the University campus. There we were amazed by the beautiful displays of almost all mineral formation, rich resources, and life-like animals.

We were leisurely down Highway 10 on the events of the day. We were happy to have been at the privileges of a school picnic. Sincere thanks go to who made it a possibility. The Better Speech Club.

Origin of the Bible

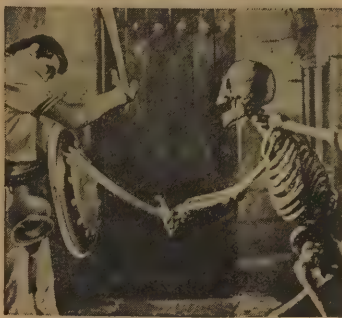

EZRA

By the miraculous safeguarding of Almighty God the land of Judah had lain uninhabited for the seventy years of sabbath-keeping. A lineal descendant of King David, namely Zerubbabel, was made governor of the restored remnant and charged with the supervision of the rebuilding of the temple. With him returned nearly 50,000 devoted men and women, reconstructors, including Nehemiah and other servants of good-will. Prominently associated with Governor Zerubbabel in the temple work was the high priest Joshua (Jeshua). To some of the princes of Judah, Shephazay by name, Cyrus had restored all the vessels of gold and silver that might be returned to their proper service. Upon arrival in Jerusalem, free-will offerings from the people to forward the reconstruction work came in abundance. And did Jehovah accurately time the restoration of his worship in Jerusalem? Listen: Complete desolation of the Jews' homeland by Nebuchadnezzar fell in the seventh month; seventy years later to the very month restoration of Jehovah's worship in Jerusalem was under way with the celebration of the happy feast of tabernacles! In the second month of the second year of their return the foundation of the house of the Lord was laid; then was the air rent by shouts of gladness commingled with weepings of joy--1:5-3:13.

But reconstruction did not proceed with utopian ease. The Gentile nations in Palestine came with in-drecre offers of assistance; their aim was to infiltrate a "fifth column" to operate on the religious persecution of the temple builders. For about sixteen years (41-26) Jehovah combated by raising up his prophets Haggai and Zechariah, who stir up Zerubbabel and high priest Joshua to renew the work despite the decree of the political state. The work goes on 1:5-5:12.

The religious adversaries appealed by letter once more to the king, who by this time was Darius II.

SINBAD THE SAILOR

COMING to Clanton Drive-In Theatre on Sunday and Monday, April 12 and 13 will be the age old popular story of the "Seventh Voyage of Sinbad" and from the looks of the scene above he had a rough time on his seventh voyage. Probably very entraining for the whole family.

Courageously and in faith the temple builders stood fast for their freedom of worship; they argued the legality of their work by reference to the original decree of King Cyrus. Was it not the rule that the law of the Medes and Persians changed not? Thereupon King Darius had search made in the state archives. The decree of King Cyrus was uncovered. "Let the work of this house of God alone," came back the decision of King Darius to the chagrined enemies of free worship! Worse still for them, they were ordered to furnish substantial aid to the builders. Four years later, in the sixth year of Darius' reign, in the twelfth month, Adar, the temple was completed. A feast of dedication was held amidst great jubilation, and in the following month of Nisan the Passover was kept at the rebuilt temple--5:3-6:22.

Next the account of Ezra skips about fifty years, to bring us down to the seventh year of the reign of Artaxerxes III. Ezra, a priest and a "ready scribe in the law of Moses", receives a commission against the enemy in the way; because we had spoken unto the king, saying, The hand of our God

HEY, FELLOWS! Want a tip on how to improve the mus at your house? Well, it's easy as hot apple pie!
Just get the Missus an extension phone for the kitchen.
She'll save so many steps and so much time, first thing you know she'll be using those extra minutes to fix your favorite dishes day after day. And will she love that phone? Just ask her sometime when she's stirring the pudding... watching the roast... and talking on her beautiful new color extension all at the same time! Then ask yourself--when did you ever get so much pleasure and convenience for so little money? Why not give us a call? Get your handy kitchen phone right away!

HERE AT THE TELEPHONE COMPANY we have a mighty special feeling about families. From our big family of telephone workers right down to the folks at home
--yours and mine--we feel that families are mighty important. That's why I want to bring you a reminder about a serious threat to your family's health and happiness. That threat is cancer! It's not a very pretty word. It's not even something we like to think about, but it's real, and estimates indicate that it will strike two out of every three families.

THE OLD "OUNCE OF PREVEN-TION..." AXIOM can certainly apply here. You see, cancer is not a hopeless problem. Over 800,000 Americans have been saved from cancer because it was detected in time. For you that means regular physical checkups for your entire family--even if they feel fine. This will greatly increase the chances of detecting cancer while it is still curable.

THE AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY
urges us to fight this dread disease with a check-up and a check. Sounds like a smart idea to me. How about you?

CLANTON TAKES CALERA 4-3; LOSES TO LEE IN CLOSE MONTGOMERY BATTLE

By WAYNE ATCHESON

The Chilton County Tigers opened the 1959 baseball season last March 31, beating Calera 4 to 3. The Tigers played an under par game, but nevertheless came out on top. The Tigers were paced by the five hit pitching of Wayne "Ab" Little. Little had good control all through the game, striking out both four and walking only two, these coming in the last inning. Parks, a sidearm southpaw, went the distance for Calera allowing only three hits. He struck out four and walked five.

The game didn't have any scoring until the second inning as the Tigers got two big runs. Little started it off by grounding out Don Jones drew a walk and Johnny Cathy struck out. Little then threw a fly ball over second base, which the second baseman could not find. Don Jones came in as did Elliot Monroe on a wild throw to the plate by the second baseman. Warren Edwards flew out to end the inning.

The Tigers retired Calera in the first three innings in one, two, three orders.

Both teams scored in the fourth inning as Calera got their only three runs. Calera got their runs as three straight hits by Cast A, Scroggins, and Gray. They also took advantage of two Tiger errors.

Johnny Cathy opened the fourth inning grounding out to the pitcher. Elliot Monroe reached second base on an error by the centerfielder. Charlie Turner hit a grounder by the first baseman to score Monroe. Warren Edwards hit into a double play to end the inning. The score was tied 3 and 3 at the end of five innings.

The deciding run came in the fifth inning as Charlie Hutchinson walked. Clay Carroll bounced off the centerfielder to score Hutchinson.

Calera threaten in the last inning, Finley tried to hit second, but a bullet throw by Carroll ended the inning.

walked, and Bell homered. McKnight singled and Kennedy struck out. Crysl homered for the fourth and fifth runs. The score after two innings 8 to 7, Lee.

In the third inning John Will Wyatt unassisted belted the first pitch over the leftfielder's head to tie the score 8 to 8.

The game cruised along to the bottom of the fifth inning before we wrapped it up. Moore singled and Gibbons hit a long drive to Centerfield. Monroe going back for the ball tumbled and fell as the ball hit his glove. Gibbons got in home before the ball got back to the infield. Then Bell singled and McKnight lined out to Kenneth Mims. Kennedy walked and Crysl singled driving in the eleventh run. Clanton committed six errors which helped Lee win the victory. Carroll's control was off in the first two innings, but he pitched a good game the last five innings.

Clanton played Selma last Tuesday at Selma and will play Montevallo here tomorrow. Next Tuesday Clanton will again play Lee at the City Park. Support these Tigers and I'll see you next week.

BOARDING HOME PROGRAM FOR CHILDREN ESSENTIAL SAYS STATE COMMISSIONER

major responsibility of the Department of Pensions and Security is to provide for children who need away from their homes, Commissioner Alvin T. Prestwood said today in describing the agency's plan of boarding foster care.

Last month, he said, 1,386 children received care in about 700 boarding homes under supervision of State and county departments. This total, 200 children were in care of the State Department and 1,186 under county supervision.

Explaining this important service of the agency, Prestwood pointed out that the Department is required by law to make immediate provision for children in need of care and protection. When a child must be removed from his family setting, is abandoned, neglected or perhaps appears danger of becoming delinquent, foster care must be readily available, the Commissioner added.

In the main, he continued, the Department uses private family homes for this substitute care. When homes have been licensed by the agency according to standards set by the State Board of Pensions and Security," he declared. "We pay board, but we cannot buy the warmth and understanding of these foster parents who share their homes temporarily with children not their own and who play such a necessary role in helping the children through what is always a difficult period of their lives."

Boarding care may be for only a brief time—while a mother is hospitalized, and because the father is also ill, or travels or is in jail—or it may be for longer, Prestwood said. He pointed out that some homes are broken temporarily and can be reestablished with the children. In other cases the children must be committed to the Department of Pensions and Security for permanent placement.

Sometimes what appears to be a temporary situation requires long-term care of children in the country, he said, especially when they are older and would not readily accept adoption.

"Regardless of the particular circumstances, the boarding home program is essential," Prestwood stated. "During this time the worker learns to know the child and his problems, determines whether he owns home or relatives will be resources for the child, or looks toward preparing the child for new parents through adoption."

In the main, Prestwood said children released for permanent placement are in custody of the State Department. Again, he added, long term care may prove slowly, presents behavior problems, necessary when a child develops in a family group where another member shows physical or mental problems, etc.

"Every effort is made to make boarding home care temporary in nature," the Commissioner concluded. "It may be for longer when it meets the needs of a particular child."

Prestwood said further that the Department is always interested in persons willing to serve as boarding foster parents. He said applicants to board children could apply at the State Department or any county pensions and security office.

HOME REMEDIES FOR JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

On Arthur Godfrey's TV program one night recently "Sam Television" quoted his original Ten Commandments for parents. Home remedies for juvenile delinquency. A large demand for these Commandments were sent to Arthur Godfrey and he in turn sent them free for the asking. Many listeners have expressed a desire for these and I am glad to give them to you as printed:

1. Thou shalt guard thy children in the home and on the street.
2. Thou shalt make thy home a sanctuary of love and devotion.
3. Thou shalt honor the teachers of thy children and teach thy children to honor them.
4. Thou shalt not condone the faults of thy children through a misguided sense of loyalty.
5. Thou shalt teach thy children respect for the Law and keep them from the companionship of children who indicate disrespect

Foods of the Future

STEAK OFF THE SHELF?

Soon you may be eating steaks which have been on a shelf for months. By a special irradiation process, meat and foods may "stay fresh" for many years.

The Army has precooked chickens irradiated three years ago which—without refrigeration—are still edible.

Many research groups and firms are experimenting with irradiated foods, some of which may be stocked by supermarkets in 1965.

In the rapid advancement of scientific nutrition, BEER and ALE continue to play important roles. These wholesome beverages will be welcomed with "Foods of the Future" just as they are with foods of today.

CONFEDERATE--

Memorial Day Sat., April 25

Services for Confederate Memorial Day will be held at the former site of the Old Soldiers' Home at Mountain Creek, Alabama in Chilton County on Saturday, April 25th, beginning at eleven o'clock. Everyone is urged to attend.

These services have been revived since the Alabama Division of The United Daughters of the Confederacy began work to restore the Confederate Cemetery located at that place. This is the first time the services have been announced to the general public since the home was abandoned in 1939.

The Fighting Joe Wheeler Camp of the Sons of Confederate Veterans of Birmingham is sponsoring the memorial celebration this year under the direction of Mr. Ira L. West, Commander of the Camp. He is being assisted by Birmingham and Montgomery chapters of UDC as well as by the Thomas Goods Jones Camp of SCV of Montgomery under the leadership of Commander R. E. Coburn, III.

A short memorial service will be held between eleven o'clock and noon. The service will include salutes to the flags a memorial speaker, and the placing of memorial wreaths at the cemetery plots. Representative groups from UDC and SCV organizations from all sections of the state will be present.

So, please come, bring a basket of dinner and join them in this celebration. The services will be meaningful and will give everyone a chance to see the need for an appropriation from the state of Alabama for the purpose of restoring this neglected Confederate Cemetery and providing for its perpetual care.

Confederate Memorial Day has been celebrated in the South since shortly after the close of the War Between the States. The first service was a simple one when the ladies of Vicksburg, Mississippi, decorated with flowers from their gardens the graves of the soldiers both North and South, who were buried there. This was on April 26, 1865. Since then this date has become a legal holiday in Alabama, and the United Daughters of the Confederacy was formed, this day became a commemorative day for the organization.

TO WED

APRIL 3RD.

The engagement of Miss Cherry Deason, Billingsley, Ala., to James Edward Pierce, is announced by her mother, Mrs. Myrtle Deason. Pierce, of Enterprise community, and the late Mrs. Josephine Pierce.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Alabama Polytechnic Institute, and is presently employed by the State Diagnostic Laboratory at Auburn. The groom-to-be is a student in engineering at A. P. I. in Auburn. The wedding will take place on April 3rd at the Billingsley Baptist Church.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Augustus Sheppard, of Montgomery and Hillcrest, Verbena, Ala., announce the engagement of their daughter, Julie Rhett, to Roy Wallace Harrell, Jr., of West Point, Ga., and Verbena.

The bride-elect is the grand daughter of Thomas Moore Jones and the late Mrs. Hannah Cottrell Jones, of Montgomery, and of Mrs. Lila Williamson Sheppard and the late Walter C. The groom-to-be is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wallace Harrell, Sr., of West Point, Ga., and the grandson of the late, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Colville, of McMinville, Tenn., and of Mrs. Lila Wallace Harrell and the late Thomas Gordon Harrell, of West Point, Ga. He is a graduate of South Georgia Junior College, Douglas, Ga., and received his BS degree from API and his MS degree from Florida State University. Clanton 'Tigers' Win A Close One Against Calera, 3 to 0

by Wayne Atcheson

Clay Carroll hurled a brilliant, two-hit shut out against Calera last Friday, by a score of 3 to 0.

Clanton swept the two game series from Calera this year by winning the victory. The Tigers took both games 4 to 3 and 3 to 0. This game was the first shut out for the Tigers this year. Clanton has won three games against two losses during the season.

Clanton got one run in the fourth and two runs in the seventh to win the victory. A double by Billy Miller and a single, by Charlie Turner accounted for the first run. An error, a base hit by Eliot Monroe followed by a triple off Wayne Little's bat registered the other runs.

Calera has a very young team consisting mostly of sophomores. Clanton knocked out nine hits but still made four errors. Wayne Little, playing his first game at first base, made two errors. Clay Carroll had a good day at the mound. Carroll struck out ten of twenty-four batters while giving up only one walk. Carroll struck out the side in the third and sixth inning. Carroll also struck out five batters in a row in the fifth and sixth inning.

Going in the seventh with the score 1 to 0 Warren Edwards was safe on first by a throwing error by the shortstop. Monroe singled through the middle. Then Wayne Little hit a triple in left field driving Edwards and Monroe in for the last runs.

Clay Carroll picked up his first win against one loss. Billy Miller and Eliot Monroe put on fine performances at the plate. Miller went three for three with two

NO matter how wide we build our highways it seems there will always be somebody travelling in the wrong direction on the other fellow's side of the road.

IT will pay you to remember that the cost of experience has gone up like everything else.

THEY say all things come to him who waits, but it isn't always what he was waiting for.

THE man who can think after he is down and out can always be counted on to make a comeback.

POPULAR PASTTIME --

Raymond's new carpet golf course in North Clanton has it's formal opening this week. We're speaking of Raymond Popwell, of course, who has just returned with his seeing-eye dog and is busy as a bee getting the last minute kinks worked out of his new business.

'Til now it looks like his new entertainment is what the younger set was waiting for. And it's not just confined to them either. Many of the oldesters are enjoying it. Read his story elsewhere in this issue.

GOODYEAR STORE GRAND OPENING --

Bill Bell, manager of the local Goodyear Service Store can well be proud of his fine new store which has it's Grand Opening this week. Many thousands of dollars have gone into giving Chilton County this modern roomy new store and the manager, the employees and the public in general are very proud of it.

If you haven't received an invitation to attend the formal opening, you will and the manager and crew are awaiting a chance to serve you. Make your plans to attend and inspect this large, convenient and economical shopping place.

LIGHTS ABOUT READY

The poles are at the park and the lights are about ready to go up at the City Park Little League ball diamond and also at the colored park. The baseball diamond is in good shape and only lacks setting the bases. All will be in readiness for the new season which will begin soon. The boys are practicing everyday and a good bunch will be ready for the try-outs.

The City Council and many local citizens have given of their time, talents and money to make this possible for the kids this year. We congratulate them on their good work for a good cause.

NEW INDUSTRY TO OPEN --

Our new industry, the Newport Forms Company, is ready to make it's opening about the first of the month. Mr. Davis, local manager, says that all is just about in readiness to open.

Many of the employees of the various departments are already in training on their new jobs.

This industry will be a great boon to the community and we welcome them and their personnel to our midst.

GOOD EXAMPLE

We believe it worthy of notice that eight businessmen of Pomeroy, Washington, recently sent their state and federal legislators a pledge stating:

"We, the undersigned citizens, knowing that the power to tax is the power to destroy, and believing that man is best governed who is least governed and that government should be held to the same financial responsibility as to that to which we are held--namely, to live within its means--do hereby pledge that we shall not require more services of our government that such as are already being rendered.

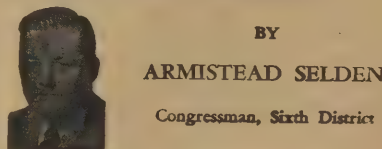

"We, therefore, demand that no increased taxes be enacted and that government, both state and federal, confine their expenditures to existing sources and limits of revenue.

"We further declare that any elected representative of the people who does not subscribe to these views is not worthy of our support at the polls."

IN HOMETOWN AMERICA

Report from Washington

BY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN
Congressman, Sixth District

In the President's Cabinet, the position of Secretary of State is not only tremendously important but extremely difficult. Last week the resignation of John Foster Dulles as Secretary of State and the appointment of Christian A. Herter as his successor focused both national and world attention on this important Cabinet post.

John Foster Dulles The resignation of Dulles brought expressions of regret here in Washington from both supporters and critics alike. As a member of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, it has been my privilege to know the Secretary of State and to hear him testify on many occasions. I have admired and respected Mr. Dulles as an able, honest, and devoted public servant. His inability for reasons of health to continue as Secretary of State is, I believe, a loss not only to the United States but to the entire free world.

Christian A. Herter Mr. Dulles' successor, Christian Herter, is a former member of the House of Representatives who has also served on the Committee of Foreign Affairs. Later he was a two-term governor of the State of Massachusetts. In 1957 Mr. Herter was appointed Under Secretary of State and he has held that position for the past two years.

Secretary Herter faces many difficult problems in the months ahead, and the decisions that he will be required to make and his associates may affect the lives of millions and every one of us. We trust those decisions will be wise ones.

REA Bill Passes A bill to deprive the Secretary of Agriculture of the power to veto rural electrification loans was passed by the House last Wednesday and sent to the President. The measure had been passed previously by the Senate on a 60 to 20 vote. Although the House vote of 254 to 131 was also strongly affirmative, the Democratic-supported legislation faces a possible Presidential veto.

The REA bill restores to the Rural Electrification Administrator the sole authority to approve or deny rural power and telephone loans. This authority was removed from the Administrator after President Eisenhower recommended and Congress approved a reorganization bill in 1953. Although the new bill restores such authority, it also directs that the REA continue under the Agriculture Department for general administrative purposes.

Pan-American Observance As chairman of the Subcommittee on Inter-American Affairs, it was my privilege to conduct the annual Pan-American Day observance in the House of Representatives last week. At that time, I offered a resolution, subsequently adopted by the House, which extended the greetings of the House of Representatives to each of twenty other American Republics on the occasion of Pan-American Day.

This observance marked the 69th anniversary of the Pan American Union which had its beginning at the first International Conference of American States in Washington, D. C. in 1889-90.

CAN RIGHT THINGS ALWAYS HAPPEN?

Clinton Davidson heads a company on Wall Street. His firm advises individuals having wealth in excess of three billion dollars. One of his basic beliefs is that God is interested in everything that touches a person's life, the big, important events, and also the small, insignificant ones, which he can always expect the right things to happen for him. The Lord told the evangelist Philip to take a walk of about 80 miles down a desert road that ran from Jerusalem to Gaza. It was lonely and not much traveled, but it just happened that Philip and the treasurer of Ethiopia reached the same spot on the same day at the same time. Philip was invited to ride in this government official's car and the way he led the man to Christ. It is so easy for God to work things out that they seem almost accidental. But these accidents are incidents that happen on purpose--God's purpose. David never lacked for anything because he was confident that God was his Shepherd. Today we are just as important to God in our time as David, or any other person, was in his time. Why shouldn't we expect God to work the right things happen in our lives?

No Union Contract With the Consumer

But on whom were these rises forced? Not just on the companies involved. Because the wage rises could not be absorbed without price rises, the demands in effect were forced upon the people.

However--as the recession of 1957-58 proved--the unions cannot always dictate terms to the American consumer. If prices are forced too high by rising costs, people can simply refuse to buy. In the end, the welfare and security of employees depend not on the union but on the ability of the company they work for to sell its products.

Parent-Teachers Association Is Vital Part of Cooper Junior High

Cooper Junior High School is located approximately seven miles south of Clanton. The present building was built during the administration of Mr. Luther E. Little. The building is one of the more permanent types in the county and its campus is one of the most beautiful to be found in Chilton County.

Cooper has been served by many principals and teachers. Its principals have been: Mr. H. A. Harms, Mrs. Mary Ann Yeargen, and Mr. Lloyd D. Mims. The present faculty consists of Mrs. Lloyd D. Mims, principal, Mrs. Lois R. Maddox, Mrs. Martha M. Mims, Mrs. Mary Ann Yeargen, and Mrs. Zebie R. Vinson. Three of these teachers are doing graduate work at the present.

The facilities consist of four classrooms and an auditorium which serves as a gymnasium and classroom. The building is heated by gas heaters and there is a water cooler which furnished plenty of cool water. One of the main handicaps of this school is the lack of improved toilet facilities. At the present the children are exposed to unsanitary outdoor toilets. The school has been promised improvements in the form of indoor restrooms by the Chilton County Board of Education.

The present enrollment of Cooper is 131 pupils. The pupils are from Oak Grove, Cooper, Bethel and Eastview communities. The school is served by two buses, which are driven by Mrs. Audie Brown and Mrs. Mammie Baker. Cooper Jr. High School, as well as the community, is very proud of its lunch program. The lunchroom consists of two rooms and it has one cook, Mrs. Nina Jones. Mrs. Jones serves an average of 100 type A meals per day. The lunchroom is operated on the idea that to have a successful lunch program, you must serve what the children like besides meeting the requirements. The effort is made each day to make sure that the children have plenty to eat and each one is given an opportunity to go back for more food.

Cooper is very proud of its total school program. The school realizes that a good program can only be carried on whenever the teaching staff is united.

FULL OF CHILTON'S MOST SUCCESSFUL REFRESHMENTS ADVERTISE IN CHILTON COUNTY NEWS

ers, students, and the parents are aware of what the objectives are. The school endeavors to remain a community school and its daily tasks are centered around keeping good relations with its parents and trying to help them through helping their children. The school is constantly striving to put across a program of work designed more and more to meet the many individual needs of its pupils. The program work is set up to always be on the alert for helping boys and girls become aware of their responsibilities in a democratic society. It can be said that the total school program is certainly built around helping meet every need that child might have.

The school provides an opportunity for boys and girls to play basketball as well as 4-H Club work. Every opportunity is used through these activities to aid the growth and development of the parents.

GOODYEAR PROGRESSES IN CLANTON

significance than Nehemiah probably realized at the time. The king had given "the commandment to restore and build Jerusalem," as foretold at Daniel 9:25. Hence this twentieth year of Artaxerxes III (from 455 B.C. into 454 B.C.) marked the beginning of the seventy weeks, or, 490 years, that the angel Gabriel had foretold would elapse from the appearance of the Messiah to the time 455 B.C. became epoch in Bible chronology—2:1-8. Upon his arrival in Jerusalem, Nehemiah made a night-time tour of inspection around the city walls and found them in ruins. His declaration of purpose to rebuild the wall, and his account of God's blessing on the project, stirred the zeal of the Jews and strengthened their hands to the work. About the third day of his arrival, the king's messengers came to him with the wall-building began to experience the fulfillment of Daniel 9:25, concerning Jerusalem, that "the street shall be built again, and the wall, even in troublous times"—2:12-18.

The demonized Samaritans rose up to disrupt the work, under leadership of Sanballat the Moabite, Tobiah the Ammonite and Meshem the Arabian. First they scorned and mocked, and labeled the Jews as "half-breeds," the small remnant of Jews. But the wall began to rise, nonetheless. Spurred to more drastic action, the combined enemies conspired to be carnal warfare against the Jews. Nehemiah met the situation on his scheme and met the situation in no pacific way. Half the workers labored at their tasks the other half stood by armed for battle. Those bearing burdens and those on the wall applied one hand to the work and the other to a weapon. Nehemiah was everywhere on the watch; constantly at his side was a trumpeter. A blast would bring all the workers to any trouble spot to beat off attack. Governor Nehemiah's plan was to win the minds. He was not yet afraid of them: remember the Lord, which is great and terrible, and fight for your brethren, your sons, and your daughters, your wives, and your houses. —4:1-23.

Chap. 5:1-32. The account of the building work long enough to narrate internal difficulties of how some of the richer Jews were oppressing their poorer brethren, and tells how Nehemiah righted matters. The sixteenth chapter begins with the account of the rebuilding the wall "in troublous times."

The cowardly enemies had after Ezra read short portions it was necessary for them to be translated orally into Aramaic for the people to understand. On Nehemiah 8.8 the Jewish Talmud says that "the book" meant the original text; "distinctly" meant explaining it by giving the Chaldean paraphrase; "gave the sense" meant the division of words etc. according to the sense; and "caused them to understand the reading" meant to give the traditional pronunciation of the words (there being at that time no vowel points).

The two closing chapters deal with matters pertaining to the Levites, and priesthood, the dedication of the wall, and cleansing of the people. On the last point, it seems that after twelve years of governorship Nehemiah returned to Shushan the palace for a time. During his absence Israel backslided: the sabbath was profaned and mixed marriages with the heathen were practiced. "After certain days," the specific time length being undisclosed, Nehemiah returned. His cleanup to restore the Theocratic way was thorough and vigorous. Outstanding was the ouster of Tobiah the Ammonite from chambers prepared for him in the temple buildings by the priest Eliashib. The latter had illegally converted storehouses designed to hold the tithings into quarters for wicked Tobiah. Nehemiah promptly recovered by literally throwing out all Tobiah's household goods. Nehemiah's purge

The Lord bless thee, and keep thee; the Lord make his face shine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee; the Lord lift up His countenance upon thee, and give thee peace.—(Numbers 6:24-26.)

Surely the three most beautiful, most wonderful words in the world must be these—"God Bless You!"—when we say them sincerely, devotedly and prayerfully to one another.

HOW ESTER HELPS...

the same as a driver at the wheel of his auto. If you grab his arm or her harness it is much the same as grabbing the wheel of an automobile and you realize what that means.

Training Period. Our suggestion is to admire them from a distance. It is truly a fascinating and heartwarming spectacle to see dog and master learning together to be independent as a team. Raymond says it will take about 6 months for them to really get their "sea legs". Ester has only been trained 4 months and one of these was with Raymond.

It's Hurts Her. "It hurts her something awful to run me into something," says Raymond. "She'd rather get hurt herself. She makes a wide passage around anything she has bumped into and it will take a while to learn all the hazards in town. We're learning though, and me and Ester are getting along fine."

High Calling. The brisk pace set, indicates to us Raymonds faith in her. She in turn gives him her undivided attention, thus missing some of the common dogs "hunts". Her's is a much higher calling however, and she understands she need and rallies to the call. Her pleasure in life is going everywhere with "Master" and showing him the way.

In our opinion, she truly has an admirable position in a world of humand supremacy and she and Raymond, have a mutual understanding which makes them the smoothest functioning team in Chilton County.

That shirt you're wearing; that dress or that pair of shoes. . . did you shop local merchants and find what you wanted? If you didn't you missed a great deal and you added to the price of your privileges of living in your community.

Why is this?

Because, to stay in business and to keep up with the trends and have what you want in stock the Local Merchant must make quite an investment and he depends solely on you and your family trading with him.

The merchants sponsoring this page, for instance; this is a public service on their part trying to better acquaint you with the stores and the clerks and their merchandise. If you ignore your Local Merchants it is increasingly more difficult for them to have what you want. Sometimes they don't have what you want, but many times they do and chances are good that they will make a sincere effort to please you if you request them to find it for you.

Trading at home put's dollars back into your own purse of pocketbook. Saying it that way, it sure does make sense to trade locally with the merchants who have the best interests of THIS community at heart.

THE TORNADO SEASON --

The tornado season is usually ushered in with April in the United States. There are, occasionally, tornadoes earlier than April, and tornadoes which occur after the end of the tornado season in the summer, but the majority of these storms occur between April and mid-summer.

There are several new theories about tornadoes, theories which have been developed in the last year, or two, and no editor can probably inform the reader just what causes a tornado. One of the theories is that the jet streams, which generally occur three to four hundred miles behind fronts, paralleling the front, are diverted downward and help increase the possibility of a tornado.

Other theories involve inverted air masses, the meeting of fronts, etc. And, the certain thing which can be said about tornadoes is that they are very small storms, usually occurring in daylight, but sometimes occurring in the night, which are, really, beyond the limits of present-day weather forecasters.

It will be interesting to see the results of tornado warning stations set up in the middle states in 1959. It is true that weather observers can sometimes predict conditions which are conducive to tornado formation. On the other hand, there has been little success in predicting specific tornadoes or in guessing their course.

Therefore, the average citizen should remember that tornadoes usually occur in unstable weather conditions, are usually associated with rain, and can usually be detected by the simple expedient of one's hearing. Survivors of many a tornado have described their approach as sounding somewhat like an approaching freight train, with the volume multiplied several times.

One can practically always avoid a tornado in an automobile, can often run away from them if he sees the funnel -- in an open field, for example -- and in case this is impossible. The best course of action is to take cover in a ditch, or depression. Windows and houses should be thrown open, and occupants should seek shelter in the basement. Tornadoes usually travel across the countryside at twenty or thirty miles an hour, and dip down only occasionally, in their trek across the surface of the earth.

DRINKING AND DRIVING --

Just about everyone is convinced that drinking and driving is not conducive to long life, morality, or even financial security. It is good, nevertheless, to hammer home this point every so often.

The role of the drinking driver in accidents is probably greater than statistics indicate. On the average something around twenty-two percent of the drivers involved in fatal accidents are established as having been drinking. Detailed studies, however, which have been made in certain places, indicate that more than fifty percent of those involved in fatal accidents have been drinking.

Another point, which is often not appreciated, is the fact that the slightly-gay driver is also a dangerous one.

Unlike the obviously drunken driver, who is given a wide berth, the driver who has had a few drinks, but not enough to affect his appearance or actions, is deceptively dangerous. All of us should remember this and use our influence to constantly stress the dangers and temptations which frequently affect both young and old in our modern-day society.

We see and hear

by BOB

THIS goofy weather not only has the peaches fuzzled it has the baseball players and the girls in shorts pretty much mixed up too. We never have been too clear on that old saying about "peaches and girls talking about the weather but nobody never did anything about it." That's understandable; what ya' gonna do?

LOOKS like the Citizens Council in Montgomery almost got too high and mighty. Bad part of it is the intentions were good, they really lacked the diplomacy to do anything constructive about it. Too much of a good thing is sometimes hard to swallow and can even be dangerous. Same goes for folks who spend time defeating their own purpose!

TODAY is April 16 -- have you by any chance forgotten anything? Whassamatter; isn't paying it back without having to include a penalty for being late? Better luck next year, buddy!

SOMETIMES we leave the welfare of our children up to others, when they had nothing whatsoever to do with bringing them into this world and therefore should not have to shoulder the responsibility

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

Facing a heavy legislative schedule in the months ahead, Congress reconvened last week after its annual Easter recess. Prior to the ten-day recess, however, Congress had already passed a number of major bills.

Bills Approved

In February the House adopted legislation extending the military draft until July 1, 1963, a period of four years. The Senate followed suit shortly thereafter, and the bill was signed by the President on March 23. An attempt to reduce the extension to two years was defeated in both the House and the Senate.

Probably the most newsworthy congressional action to date was the approval of statehood for the Territory of Hawaii. President Eisenhower signed the Hawaiian bill on March 18 just six days after final passage by Congress.

To further combat the unemployment problem, the Temporary Unemployment Compensation Act of 1958 was extended by Congress until July 1 of this year. The program had been scheduled to expire on April 1. The law permits persons who were eligible for benefits before the first of April to receive special payments.

Also, Congress increased the maximum appropriation for financing the 1959 special school milk program from $75 million to $78 million.

Dr. Eiland Recalls Days at Confederate Soldiers Home, Mt. C.

On April 1, 1915, I was appointed superintendent and physician of the Alabama Confederate Soldiers Home at Mt. Creek, Alabama. The appointment was for only three months at first, to prove my ability of handling and supervising the home. Since it has always been my aim to be a conscientious effort to do my best at any attempt to do a job, I was determined to make good. If it possible, this matter turned out to be one of the biggest responsibilities I have ever undertaken to accomplish.

My principal orders were to literally "clean up" and put the place in better condition. It was indeed a place that had been badly neglected. As the days passed, I found that to be a most "tasky" responsibility.

I at once began to try to be congenial and co-operative with each inmate. This, too, I found to be an essential thing.

There were more than one hundred inmates in the place at the time; the greatest variation of individuals, I guess, to be possible. Some had been very wealthy during the Civil War; some of the highest type of educated people; some were the lowliest of the low. I found that I had owned a very large interest in a huge railroad system in Florida; one who had owned half-interest in the Russell County, Georgia, oil engine; one who had helped survey the L & N railroad from Birmingham to Montgomery. Another experience was that one who told of the famous steamboat on the Alabama River from Montgomery to Mobile; of his excursion he had during his time of being captain. His boat was the fastest one on the river.

A locomotive engineer, who ran a Rebel engine from Chattanooga to Atlanta. At the present time this engine is still in Chattanooga. The engineer stated that he and his crew left the engine one Sunday morning to go for breakfast, and they were not back until the engine had been confiscated. The engine which was carrying a load of war materials. Another train was secured in which they went after the stolen one, overtook the engine with the right Yankee soldiers, captured and reclaimed the engine. It being a wood burner, it ran out of wood. The engineer and crew with the captured soldiers had to make the return trip by foot.

One of the most exciting experiences was when a Yankee soldier was brought into the home very sick, left partly with out my consent. I was instructed by the governor of the State of Alabama to loose no time in getting him out before another was broke out. After the three months were up, my work was approved of and I began to get ready to go out on July 1, 1915. My wife, Jettie Boone Eiland was appointed manager of the hospital which consisted of thirty beds for the crippled and blind. Everything went along very smoothly with her help and I know I couldn't have made it without her. She indeed was a great help. When World War I broke out, prices went sky high and I had the original supplies that had been appropriated, but I found it very hard trying to just get by on bare essentials.

During the 1918 period, our first boy, John Jr., was born. Realizing that this was no place to bring up a child we began looking for means of getting another place. Finally in 1920, two years later, we left the Soldiers Home.

One of the most interesting people was the son of the territorial governor, a lawyer and the legal aid of the old people in the home. He always kept me informed on all matters concerning everyone in the home. His work made my work even more fascinating.

Of the very few experiences I have mentioned, with many fights and even one committing suicide by hanging himself, and along with the Armistead celebration of November 11, 1918, those years in which I took not one day off for anything was away for one night. Those years will always remain in my memory as some of the hardest year of my life, but yet also a fulfilling and an outstanding accomplishment. You could get a fight without an argument any time day or night you chose with some of the old men.

One other instance of home regulations. The party was put out for the violation, defending the old man. He was an extreme, rough character, he had been in a mine explosion, and had been very much disfigured and scared. But that didn't disable him. From fighting I gave him 3 or 4 days leave for the violation. He had no objection, but asked for a blank check and he went to stay out for the period and go without eats. I gave him a few hours to think over same. He at once told me that orders were orders. But he never returned. He said it was poor business on my part to give orders and not see them carried out.

Spiritual, Moral, Democratic Values Most Important Teachings at Canton Elementary

At the Grammar School here in Canton, with its six grades and an enrollment of 784 children, there are twenty-two teachers and a principal, and with the special teacher, who is Mrs. Madge Mullins, and whose salary comes from a special educational fund. The total number of teaching personnel is twenty-four with an enrollment of 800 children of elementary school age. We do our teaching and learning here in twenty regulation size classrooms, and in three classrooms too small to be called classrooms, which restricts the size of these classes to number that make them smaller than

A Layman Looks

(A WEEKLY VIEW OF A CHRISTIAN'S DUTY)

We write this view, not as one with authority on any particular subject or group of subjects, but as a Layman in the Church who believes that stewardship for Christ is fellowship with the Church itself.

Our church is now embarked on an Every Member Canvass campaign which is so designed that it will renew interest in the Church home in those who have lost interest and will instill greater enthusiasm in those who are faithful workers in the Church.

To be a Christian we cannot all be alike, think alike. We truly must be a diversified lot in order to fulfill the mission which Christ intended for us. That being one of stewardship, or bringing others closer to the word of God.

It has been over emphasized, if nowhere but in our own minds that to be a Christian we do not have to attend church regularly. We are convinced that the only way to win others to the Church is to set an example that will be clear to follow.

It is of us can say we are the perfect saints for Christ. Rather we try to become more and more like Him in order to win others to His way of everyday faith and happiness.

There is absolutely no greater way in which you can serve God than to support it actively and attend its services regularly. We, in our church, have miserably short in this fundamental approach to Christianity. We wish there were no such word as "apathy." Or better still, we wish that there were no meaning or usefulness for the word.

"Am I my brother's keeper?" It is definite we are and it is therefore fitting that we make renewed effort to attend church services, not forgetting that we should also make efforts to arouse some other one to the need for same. No crowd of men without action. Actively begins with you. Will you be in church next Sunday? Twice?

FERTILIZER PECAN TREES FOR GOOD FALL NUT CROP

Like any other crop, pecan trees will produce better crops with proper fertilizer.

"It is important that fertilizer be applied at the right time and in adequate amounts," says Extension Horticulturist John Bagby. Pecan trees need ready available plant food during two periods. One of these is in the early spring when the tree must produce new leaves and twig growth. It also develop bloom and set the crop of nuts. The second is in late August and early fall when the kernels are developing and the nuts are becoming fully sized."

A spring application of fertilizer can supply the pecan tree for the entire year. On most soils the trees particularly need nitrogen early in the spring. Phosphate and potash can also be applied at the same time if needed. If you haven't fertilized your trees by now, do so as soon as possible, advises Bagby.

The best means for determining fertilizer needs is by a soil test. However, if a soil test has not been made, Bagby recommends a general rate of application of 8-8-8 or 15-15-15 of 13-13-13 for each year of the tree's age. For example, a 30-year-old tree would need 60 pounds of 8-8-8 or 45 pounds of 13-13-13.

If pecan trees are adequately fertilized in the spring, the foliage will remain in good condition during the fall out crop unless it is damaged by disease or insects. The action of the leaves in the fall determines the quality of the nuts, says Bagby.

The average farm accident costs 10 days work loss and $105 in medical expenses.

the other classes. Our twenty-three classes are housed in three separate buildings -- a large brick structure and two smaller frame ones. There are six classes in these smaller buildings. The large building is steam-heated, and the other classrooms are heated with a single gas heaters. There is a lavatory and drinking fountain in every classroom.

Of the twenty-four teachers, three have Masters Degrees, eight have Bachelors Degrees, while three have no degrees. Four of our teachers are either taking extension courses in education or attending summer school or are doing both.

There are fifteen school buses, which come to the school daily bringing 440 children from several nearby communities.

We operate a government subsidized lunchroom here at the grammar school, and about seven hundred children take their noonday meal at the school daily. The child pays 20c for lunch at one time making. The actual cost is about 30c. The government gives us, 05c per lunch and serving amounts of different foods. Seven workers prepare and serve this food. Our lunchroom seats only 160 children at one time. It is necessary for five different groups which extends our serving too long. This handicap can be overcome by enlarging the seating capacity.

The system of beliefs, ideas and convictions that guide people in establishing schools, how they should be taught and how it should be taught is called Educational Philosophy. Ours may be stated briefly and simply --

1. They should be established and supported by the public for all children.
 2. The type of education must be taught, that is the three R's.
 3. The most important parts of our historical heritage must be taught and learned.
 4. Our heritage must not be neglected.
 5. Spiritual and moral values must be emphasized.
 6. Democratic values must not only be taught, but also must serve as guides in all our educational processes.
 7. Schools must teach knowledge of and love for our country.
- Each teacher in the grammar school has her own classroom library. The titles of these library books throughout the school is 2700.
- Our most pressing needs at the present time are an enlarged lunchroom -- space, additional classrooms and the renovation of parts of our main building.

BETTER SPEECH CLUB MAKES ANNUAL TOUR TO STATE PARK AT MOUNDVILLE

THE BETTER SPEECH CLUB'S TRIP TO MOUNDVILLE

When the Indians had come to this land, they could think of no reason to fight off hand.

help in that puzzle, we decided one day to visit their burials, not too far away.

we organized plans to go up all straight, soon were off to Mound State Park gate.

Early as eight, we were on our way. The really beautiful, spring-like day.

arrived at Moundville about on time. All were happy, our spirits sublime.

Twas a very intriguing place to me.

With many interesting things to see.

There were films on ancient Moundvillian life. And we learned that these people avoided strife.

A shrunken head in one case was seen.

Before we were called in to Watch the screen.

There was lots of potters with varying designs. That helped tell the story of those ancient times.

Then off we went, with a quake and a shiver.

To the picnic site, down by Black Warrior River.

Away then we went to high Mound B.

Where we ran to the top as fast as could be.

There were hundreds of stones—every shape and hue.

I examined them all, not just a few.

On up to the topmost floor we went.

Up there we saw fish hooks, made of flint.

There, too, was a grizzly, some cougars, and a deer.

They almost frightened us when we drew near.

Why this was a thrilling experience for me!

I wouldn't have missed it, no sir ree!

Faye Williams

CONCERNING MOUND STATE MONUMENT AND ALABAMA'S MUSEUM OF NAUTICAL HISTORY.

We were destined for Mound State Park one day.

With surprises we'd solve as we sped on our way.

We'd planned many weeks for our trip to the Mounds;

4-h Speech - Essay Winners

4-H SPEECH-ESSAY CONTEST--Taking part in the annual 4-H Public Speaking and Essay Contest on cooperatives in Chilton County were, left to right, Billie Gore, first place, Collins Chapel; Martha Jo Adams, second, Maplesville; Roger, Littleton, second, Collins Chapel and Jackie Hale, first Maplesville.

We'd heard interesting tales of those dedicated grounds.

Each time we heard facts of that Indian lore, 't caused us to want to visit it more.

March 27 was the bright sunny day.

That we hopped in our cars and were off on our way.

Of ruins of an ancient metropolis of old.

And facts regarding it, we'd often been told;

Of historic remains of the strange Indian graves.

Of heroic chiefs and peace-loving braves;

Of huge Mound B, where a temple was made.

With the help of some baskets, an axe, and a spade.

Yes, we'd heard of the mound where the Indian praise.

Went up to the sun-god, who sent down his rays.

We stopped to have lunch, also a good rest.

Our refreshments were good, the very best.

After leaving the park, we drove to Smith Hall.

Where we viewed mineral displays, wall to wall.

We marveled at the sight of the Alaskan brown bear.

The ferocious tan cougar really gave us a scare.

After seeing the animals, we prepared to depart.

We were all tired of course, but happy of heart.

AN EDUCATIONAL EXCURSION!

How did Indians come to our hemisphere?

Why, I never had thought much about it.

There're theories I've heard, but there's one, I admit, I have no reason to doubt it.

This year I have pondered it ever so much;

It's bothered me more each day.

For surely somehow a beginning they had.

There just had to be some way.

Now over in Hale there's a place, Mount State Park.

Vith interesting facts galore! A trip over there.

We longed to go more and more!

One bright spring-like morning, we all started out.

There wasn't a cloud in the sky.

All Better Speech members were happy and gay.

With the very best reasons why.

At last we arrived at those strange-looking mounds.

Each one of us happy and gay-grew, and grew.

And our interest grew and As we wended on our way!

There were burials, pottery, beads, and tools.

How thrilling to me, indeed!

It carried me back to long eras past.

As do books that I often

Then on we went to outstanding Smith Hall.

There were wonderful sights to see.

There were animals, minerals, ores, and rock.

And even a petrified tree.

At last, as we cruised on the highway home.

On the picnic events and the kind of day.

Are You Thinking of Adopting A Child

Adopting parents, would be adopting parents and other couples who are giving consideration to adoption of a child receive a wide range of services from the Department of Pensions and Security, Commissioner Alvin T. Prestwood revealed today. He pointed out that while the purpose of the adoption program is to serve the child, the agency also serves the couples concerned.

First, the couple is served when their home is selected for a particular child, Prestwood explained, stating that 246 placements were made by his Department last year. Parents are served not only in receiving the child, but also during the interval between the time of application and the time the baby is placed.

"The agency is sometimes criticized because prospective parents have to go through a waiting period of several months," the Commissioner said, "but a very great danger would arise if excessive haste were employed in these matters. The waiting period gives the department sufficient time to know what kind of child will fit best into the home--the child they can feel closest to. Their ideas of the child they are seeking are important if a child is to be best served by placement in their home," he concluded.

Another kind of service may be received during the waiting period, according to the Commissioner, when it develops that both parents find they really don't want to adopt a child after all. "When a wife thinks a child may save a shaky marriage, or perhaps there is a desire to replace a child who has died," Prestwood explained, "it often develops that neither the home nor a child will be served by adoption. Then, a couple is helped to withdraw their application."

A third service to prospective parents is offered by the agency when couples are trying to adopt foreign children. Workers, Prestwood added, explain the dangers of proxy adoptions and guide these couples to such recognized social agencies as International Social Service or the Catholic Committee for Refugees.

"Our staff has been instrumental in forestalling a number of adoptions that could only have brought problems," The Commissioner said. He cited a case where a child was found to be severely retarded mentally, another where the racial background differed from that of the prospective adopting parents. "In both instances," Prestwood said, "the Department was able to give service that prevented what would have been inevitable heartbreaks."

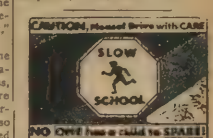

Another area of service to prospective parents is offered during the period between placement and final adoption. "Adjustments of child and family, especially in the case of older children, often require help from the Department," Prestwood said.

Pointing out further that the agency has specific legal obligations in the area of all adoptions, Prestwood said that not only were 246 adoption placements made during the last fiscal year, but also that 2, 579 adoption petitions filed in probate courts were known to the agency. For each petition, it was explained, the Department made a social investigation and reported to the probate court on the matter.

In addition the Department of Pensions and Security, besides being the state-wide child-placing agency, also has authority to license other agencies to make adoption placements. Licensed last year for this service were the Bureau of Catholic Charities in the State of Alabama and the Children's Aid Society of Jefferson County in Birmingham. Also currently licensed is the Family Counseling Center in Mobile, Prestwood added.

In conclusion, the Commissioner advised all persons interested in adoption to seek help through a recognized social agency listed above or through the Department of Pension and Security. "Social services may spell the difference between success and failure in adoptions," he declared.

We still have several in our community sick. We hope everyone will soon be well and will come to Sunday School each Sunday at 10 o'clock.

Our community was sad last week by the death of Mr. Clem Billingsley, but we know that he has paid a debt that we all will have to pay.

FALL EGG PRODUCTION

DEPENDS ON NO

Second year layers are the way profitable, says Extension Poultry Specialist S. L. Davis. This season's low egg prices may influence some producers to carry old hens another year instead of starting a new crop. Eggs normally move up one year down the next. Since prices are lower now than last year, it is reasonable to expect a decrease in replacement pullets. Therefore, decrease in the number of hens and higher egg prices, probable this fall.

Replacement pullets start in the fall will be laying large eggs in fall when egg prices are the highest, reports Davis. Although it is usually not profitable to hens a second year, it may be profitable to carry them over if fall if housing is available. It recommends moving the old out of the laying house in the house the replacement pullets. Old hens usually lay from 30 percent fewer eggs during their second year than pullets. Also eat about one-third more for each dozen eggs produced. Hens are often carriers of pox disease and are more susceptible to diseases during their production year.

In comparing the cost of carrying old hens through a year with the cost of a replacement pullet, about the only difference is the chick cost of the pullet. This is easily offset by the increased production of the pullet. For actual profit, it says you will usually find that pullets will make the most money.

Little League Season Opens; New Diamond

E. Easterling is a character. One day an old man went to the cafe and ordered some chicken. After about five minutes he became impatient and asked to know where his chicken was. E. told him, "Ch! I thought you wanted it cooked. I'll go get it for you." He started to the kitchen and the old fellow followed him up and followed him to the kitchen saying, "No, wait and let me cook it. I don't want it cooked yet."

JOHNNY Vines says there will be a East-West baseball game at Clanton on May 17th. It is sponsored by the Clanton Chamber of Commerce. Several games will be played. Clanton is the winner of the finals. According to Johnny Vines, the paper next week to get details of the biggest East-West game yet.

W. Barron was out the other day on his anniversary. Brother Barron picked up a bouquet of violets. This was without getting out of his house. He was telling us about it when he came to the part about her a bouquet Mrs. Barron picked up. It was only one that he picked her. Mrs. Barron was out of the hospital on the first time in a year and we sincerely hope she will be healthy for many years to come. Brother Barron picked this. He'll quit about picking flowers until his wife is out of ear-

CLANTON Elementary's record in their baseball game with the team was turned over to the Little League. Professor Abrams was out of credit for this year with the boys and for the use that is made of the Little League. He has a vote of thanks. The team raised this year. Oh, yes, Clanton's team is it matters not who won but it's how you play the game. It out to Reddie Taylor's the other day and watched him harvest some red clover and saw him preparing it for the boys and like most modern boys they had to do was to play it the rest. It's an interesting machine, and with his enthusiasm it makes it more interesting.

JOHNNY thing. All our summer has shrunk while hanging in the street during the winter. They look about two inches gone from our middle.

L. Smith says after 37 years a drug store he had to ambulance for the first time in his life. A fellow came in and asked for some help. He didn't know what he needed so he told him to go out to the ambulance. Well, he said he was just had to have a look and had no way to get to the hospital he was going to. Then it when the ambulance called and Pewee Martin took out to the hospital. Turned out he was drunk. Later on we heard that the hospital didn't like him. Pewee Martin surely had him in his ambulance. The City Police took over. Guess he needed him.

AM Patterson took off this morning on a tour of one of the big factories at Brunswick, Ga. He then went to Fort Pierce, Fla. a batch of fishing-deep that is, then back to the dream life of making a living. He won the trip as being the leading distributor of this good and he's back in town now and he's point in his district. We heard that if he is able to be around yet. We ain't him.

Over 100 boys and their adult leaders are enthusiastically preparing for the launching of Little League Baseball Season on Tuesday, May 19.

At a recent meeting of interested adults the following persons were elected to serve as the officers of the Clanton Little League: George Smith, President; Ralph Norman, Vice-President; Mrs. Mutt Ray, Treasurer.

The managers and the assistant managers for the Little League teams this year will be as follows: for the Junior Chamber of Commerce team, Erskine Powell assisted by Byron Biddle; the Kiwanis team, G. D. Jones assisted by Percy Crew; the Lions team, Claude Blackwell assisted by Ralph Tapscott; and the Methodist Braves, Eddie Edwards assisted by Raybonn Crew.

The final try-outs are being conducted this week as scores of boys have been practicing and playing under the direction of Coach V. L. Bulger. A large number of boys who played Little League ball last year are still eligible to continue on the same teams during this year. Early next week there will be a drawing of players from among those trying-out, in order to select the 17 players needed to complete the Little League roster this year.

For the approximately 60 boys who will not be able to play on one of the Little League teams, plans are underway for the organizing of four Minor League teams. T. C. Davis and S. A. Jones are the members of a committee seeking to complete the plans whereby these boys will be able to play Minor League baseball according to a regular schedule.

The new Little League ballfield, located in the City Park just north of the tennis court, is being put into more interesting.

Pictures and story appeared in the Alabama Journal, also on the WSAF Television News Cast.

County Oil Men Call For Economy; No More Taxes!

Strong opposition to any more taxes on gasoline was voiced at a meeting of the Chilton County Oil Men's Association in Clanton on Tuesday morning, April 26.

Local oil marketers called attention to the proposed 1% cent increase in the federal gasoline tax. This would be a 50 percent increase from the present three cents to 4 1/2 cents. The last gas tax increase by the federal government was enacted in 1935.

It was pointed out that federal, State and local gasoline taxes already amount to a 50 percent levy. More than $100 million in gas taxes are collected annually from motorists in Alabama by these governments, the oil men reported.

Economies and proper planning in road programs were called for instead of more tax burden on the public.

The oil men also planned local information activities in connection with the petroleum industry's centennial being celebrated in 1939.

B. N. Studdard was elected County Chairman. J. A. Hester was named School Chairman, and R. C. Williams, Community Chairman in charge of films, speakers, and press news.

YOUNG LADIES WIN IN FAT STOCK SHOW

Margaret Glascock, a 4-H Club member from the Clanton School, placed Grand Champion with an Angus calf in the Chilton County Fat Stock Show, April 21st. John Wayne Veazey, also with an Angus, won Reserve Champion. John Wayne is a F. F. A. member from the Isabella High School.

In the Hereford division, Nancy Daniel walked away with the first place winning calf. Frank Daniel won second place with his Hereford calf. Nancy is a member of the children of Professor and Mrs. J. E. Daniel of Maplesville. Those 4-H members have done an outstanding job with their beef animals for a number of years.

Twenty-seven (27) Hereford and 18 Angus calves were entered in the County Show, April 21st at the Clanton Airport.

Showmanship award went to Nancy Daniel for doing the best job of showing her calf in the show.

Margaret Glascock won the Best Fitted Calf award by doing the best job of fitting her animal for the show. Charles Farquhar, from the State Beef Cattle Ranch, Greensboro, Ala. and "Buck" Clark, Assistant County Agent, Shelby County, were judges for the show.

Yes, We Do Want Peach Festival, But We Must All Lend It Support

IT HAS BEEN reported that the Chilton County Peach Festival will not be held this year because of lack of interest of the peach producers.

Reports are current that the Festival could be held at much lower cost if an effort was made by the Committee and those interested in this important boost to the peach industry in the County.

For instance it has been stated that if local bands and local talent were used there would be a great savings to the overall cost of the Festival.

Also why make the parade so long and tiresome to those who must ride the floats? This question has been asked. Create home-made floats as the mothers did in the recent Christmas parade and the last Shool Queen parade. From a reliable source it was said that only fifteen dollars was put in one of these floats, and the float was outstanding.

Cause me to hear Thy loving kindness in the morning; for in Thee do I trust: cause me to know the way wherein I should walk, for I lift up my soul unto Thee. — (Psalm 143:8).

Those who begin each day by thanking God for His love and His blessings and for a new opportunity to serve Him by loving and helping others, will find joy and strength abundant; obedient to His will, they are guided into righteousness.

18,000 ACCIDENTS --

There have been 18,000 U. S. military aircraft accidents in the last five years, according to the latest study in Washington. These accidents have cost the United States $3,000,000,000 and 5,000 fatalities.

While military aviation cannot be compared to commercial aviation, for various reasons, a comparison between commercial airlines and MATS, the military air transport service, is interesting.

These figures show that the record of MATS reveals about twice as many fatalities as that of the average commercial airline. We would think, tentatively and claiming to be no expert, that this is excessively high.

We wonder whether military transportation ground vehicles also show a similar disparity with commercial counterparts. In any event, it seems that added attention to the problem of military air accidents is indicated. Happily, the 1958 record was the best in some years, and it is hoped that this trend will continue.

$26,000,000 BLUNDER --

The new Senate Office Building, which cost $26,000,000, will be remembered as an example of government waste and bungling, rather than a building which adds efficiency and needed office space for senatorial work.

Even though the building is new, the elevators are the slowest in any of the House or Senate office buildings on Capitol Hill. Some of the new rooms in the new office buildings are monstrosities.

One is a theatre-auditorium which was designed for important hearings but looks more like it should be the setting for amateur talent contests.

The working press, for which we speak, is certainly aware of what seemed to be architectural mistakes, bad design and bad taste in many cases. The fault, of course, is with those members of the Senate who are responsible, as well as those who built the building.

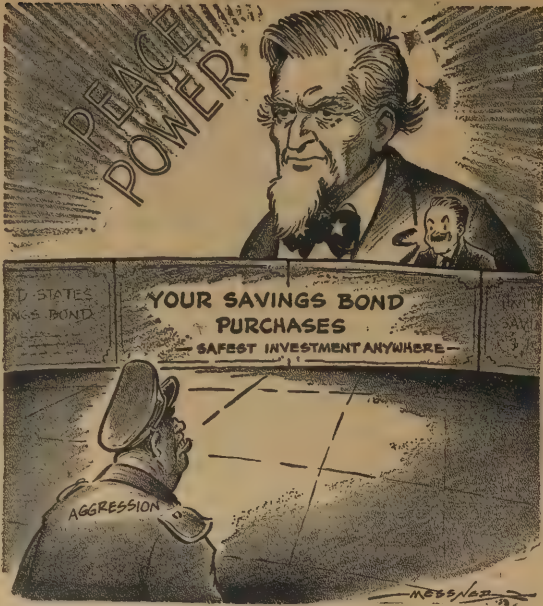

It is, however, a tragic mistake, for until this new building was opened, Senators of the United States had only one office building available to them, and their quarters were cramped and they needed additional room, and an efficient annex office building. They do not have it, and the taxpayers have paid $26,000,000 for a monstrosity.

When a famn is hungry, he's not fussy about where he eats. This tiny chap picked the busy freight marshalling yards of the Canadian National Railways in Jasper, Alberta, as his private dining room as hunger overtook him. A LAYMAN LOOKS

Excuses From A Foolish Flock

The first thing a person does when you ask him a question like "why don't you come to church next Sunday?" is ask in return, "how long have you been going?" or "I was there three weeks ago Sunday and you weren't!"

If it weren't for the choir (all young folks) in our church some Sunday night the minister would be preaching to himself. Can you imagine how you would feel getting up to present a sermon you had pondered and worked over for hours -- getting up and presenting it to a handful of the "faithful flock" when you know you should be reaching 20 to 30 times that number?

No, you wouldn't understand how the preacher feels because you weren't there, so you must not care, particularly. Oh, you had to go out of town; somebody deathly ill no doubt? You went to the Drive-In? That was a jam up good movie and you couldn't have gone Monday night -- no, guess you couldn't.

Oh, you were too tired after a long day? You say you went on a picnic -- went fishing, huh? All these things were fine and dandy, but --

Is any one of the million excuses you can "cook" up worth the effort? Moreover, is it worth neglecting your church for? You took an oath to the church if you are a member -- do you completely forget that you said you would support it with your tithes, your offerings and your presence?

These are little things, aren't they? Yes, mountains out of mole hills. Nevertheless, your soul is not a mole hill, properly constructed, but it can closely resemble one if it is left to an amateur.

Do you think you can handle your own soul, Destiny? Then why don't you come on to church?

As a matter of fact, a few years ago we went to church because we knew we needed it. After a period of regular attendance we found we hated to miss a service. Are you afraid it might happen to you? Afraid you might get to liking it? See you in church!

Report from Washington

BY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN
Congressman, Sixth District

Last Thursday I appeared before the Civil Rights Subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee to testify in opposition to several pending bills described by their proponents as "civil rights measures."

In addition to pointing out in some detail specific objections to the legislation under consideration by the subcommittee, I emphasized to the members the progress that has been made by the negro race in the South with the help of Southern white people. At the same time, I presented statistics to substantiate my remarks, and warned the committee that the progress of Southern negroes would be greatly impeded if efforts to force integration are continued. Also, I emphasized that forced integration of Alabama schools would stork, in my opinion, the end of the public school system in our state.

Governor Testifies

A similar warning had been voiced to the subcommittee the day prior to my appearance by Governor John Patterson who told subcommittee members that the citizens of Alabama will scrap their public school system rather than submit to integration of the races.

In an excellent statement, Gov. Patterson pointed out what he described as the "reprehensible" conduct of the Civil Rights Commission during its investigation in Alabama last year. As a result of his testimony, the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee has called for a report of the Commission's activities in our state.

The day following my appearance, Attorney General MacDonald Gallion of Alabama also gave strong testimony before the Judiciary group in opposition to the various so-called civil rights proposals.

Committee Stacked

Although the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives has 11 Southerners among its total membership of 32, not one of the nine members of this Civil Rights Subcommittee hails from south of the Mason-Dixon line. Three of the members are from New York, Ohio, Massachusetts, Michigan, Colorado, and Pennsylvania. Yet, the South is the section of the United States primarily affected by the measures under consideration.

While Southerners recognize the hopelessness of convincing the present membership of the subcommittee that no civil rights legislation should be reported, our appearance before the subcommittee not only gives us an opportunity to present our views to the rest of the country, but, at the same time, delays a final vote.

Each day we are able to hold so-called "civil rights" measures in committee, we improve our chances of barring the passage this year of such legislation.

It was a pleasure to see the members of Chilton County High Schools senior class last week during their visit in Washington.

SHARES IN AMERICA

United States Savings Bonds are sometimes called "shares in America." Now, as the Treasury Department intensifies its Savings Bonds campaign, let us see why.

To begin with, the bonds represent the citizen's faith in his country's integrity. He is accepting its word when he buys them so he accepts it every time he earns or spends a dollar bill. More than that, by buying Savings Bonds he is making sure that the dollar will remain sound to support the growth of the United States.

Second, these bonds are one of the easiest and safest ways to save. Saving can be as important a spending in our economy, because without saving there can be no individual capital purchasing. The interest and principal of the bonds are guaranteed; they are indestructible assets -- lost or destroyed, they will be replaced; they can be owned jointly and redeemed easily and quickly at any time. These are some of their attractions, and the fact that money in the average E bond is left there for seven years is testimony that the public responds to them.

Nearly $43 billion in E and H bonds are outstanding, which represents 15 per cent of the national debt. This broad base of the debt is very important to a healthy economy. Savings Bonds sales in 1958 were $4,689 million, and the Treasury's goal for this year is $5 billion. "Savings, and the incentive to save, built this country," President Eisenhower said the other day in this respect. "It is a point well made and worth remembering."

THORSBY TOLL GATE SUCCESSFUL

Toll Gate Success

Mr. E. R. Yeargan founder of the Toll Gate for Chilton County really had another successful day Sunday, when he gathered his group together and went to work. At the end of the day he reported a sum of $465.00. We feel that Mr. E. R. Yeargan needs a hand, a leader, willing and ready to lend a helping hand to all who need him. Let's all join him and Thorsby would be a better place to stay if we had several Mr. Yeargans.

We see
and hear
by BOB

Strangely enough, the thing a man does best is not always the thing he likes best to do.

Wonderful Nature

We went on a picnic Sunday and believe you me it's a wonderful way of touching nature and feeling the greatness of our Creator as His magic world unfolds before us. Nature is all around us and nature truly sings to the melodious song of the rivers, the birds, the wind in the trees the flowers raising their graceful heads to the warm sun which beams down on us. You simply don't understand violence, once you get close to this awesome grandeur. It's wonderful!

Advertising on the line

Advertising on the line is a gimmick. Just as your community newspaper is no gimmick! Your newspaper is founded on principles and based on truth of ideals and it has a strong sense of duty, ethically and economically to the people it supports and who support it. Advertising contained in its pages should also include these basic facts. Community newspaper advertising should not be used solely to promote a "once a year" sale. Certainly it is top-knotch for that purpose, but you should first have proven yourself to the public and through continued honest advertising to the people it supports and who support it. Your product openly and clearly. It doesn't have to be the best, the biggest or clean up the most dirt. -- as long as you are honest in your dealings and straightforward and consistent in your approach to advertising you cannot fail to reach our readers. You might consider these facts, Mr. Merham.

From my front porch
By CARL HELM

The other day I was trying to recall something interesting I heard on a TV news program, and for the life of me I couldn't. It was an interesting fact that I wanted to state away for future use, and I wished I could have a "play-back" of it. But that you can't have -- except for a lot of dough and technicalities: once a fact or anything else goes out on the air it vanishes into the ether unless you've locked it up in your brain cells.

That's what I like about newspapers, and I don't throw them out until they begin to get yellowed by the ears. You can go back and look up something you've semi-forgotten, and it's yours all over again. You can clip out the item and file it away. If you have the kind of a "forgettery" memory that I have!

And that's why newspapers will be here and thriving long after (improbable as it seems now) something said stranger and never has displaced radio and TV.

"There is a loftier ambition than merely to stand high in world," wrote Henry Van Dyke. "It is to stoop down and lift mankind a little higher!"

Caldwell - Pate

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Caldwell announce the engagement of their daughter, Tommy Orleans, to Samuel Ralph Pate, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pate of Childersburg.

Grandparents of the bride-elect are the late Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Scruggs of Jasper and the late Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Caldwell.

Miss Caldwell is a senior student major at Howard College where she was a member of Phi Mu fraternity.

Mr. Pate is the grandson of Mrs. Posey Marcus of Chilton, the late Mr. Marcus and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Pate of Thorsby.

The prospective bridegroom is a major in aeronautical engineering at Alabama Polytechnic Institute where he serves Phi Kappa Phi Fraternity as president.

The Ralph Pates were residents of Thorsby before moving to Childersburg.

WE CANNOT SHIELD THE MERCHANT FROM SOLICITORS; BUT WE CAN ORGANIZE THE CHARITIES

THERE has been much discussion of late concerning the feasibility and the credibility of a move to halt so much "charity" soliciting in Chilton County.

A suggestion has been made concerning a United Fund organization for Chilton County.

Others have suggested the civic organizations teaming up with the drives and thereby working out a systematic approach to the never ending headache of drive for worthy causes.

Still others have even suggested that we cut down on some of the "driving".

Speaking of the latter idea, it seems unlikely that we can very successfully choose which drive merits the most attention from us since 99 out of 100 of them legitimately require our support.

We cannot "shield" the merchant or the individual from the "hazards" of being called on to make contribution to a worthy cause. We can however, organize our efforts into one IDEA and create an atmosphere of systematic collecting which would, we think, ease the pain.

CONFUSION RESULTS

Conservatively speaking, there has been a drive or some sort going on continuously since the first of the year. Efforts of individuals to support these drives are spontaneous and, with all due respects, do not follow any particular pattern. Confusion in the mind of the public is the result.

20-20 VISION

In other words: Figuratively speaking; if there were 20 civic groups in Chilton County and 20 worthies all needing funds why it is not possible for a Committee, made up of interested parties within the County, to make a survey to find out if a possibility exists for the individual clubs to take on a "private" project and each one support a drive. This, of course, is as opposed to everybody working spasmodically on one drive after another.

If this could be done, it would not only create smoother running solicitation, it would knit the organization and the drive closer together so that more would be understood within the group and each year additional information gathered would further the knowledge of the drive as well as boost the prestige of the organization.

NOT CUT DOWN--ORGANIZE

It is not intended to indicate that this would cut down on drives. It would, however, organize the drive into such a pattern that would educate donors to just what a particular drive meant and he or she could draw her own conclusions about what to give and to whom.

We strongly feel that the hubbaloos that usually accompanies a drive for funds, even though well intended, serves to create a resistance to drives. People are getting to where they can say "no" more easily because they do not know what they are giving (literally) or where their money is going (literally).

FOLKS WANT TO KNOW

An effort to organize clubs and drives would serve to educate the people more easily to the need of the individual drive. They would understand the need better and be able to more intelligently choose which warranted their support or which they chose to donate the most to.

JAYCESS FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

A case in point: the Clanton Jaycees are in the process of taking on the responsibility of supporting the Crippled Children of Alabama. They believe in it and will support it. It is evident to us, that if they were to start right now with the idea of doing this project for say five years, at the end of the 2nd or 3rd year the two organizations would be thought of as a unit and Mr. John Q. Public would appreciate knowing who was supporting what and how he would be approached. Not only that, but the Jaycees could have benefited year long if necessary with a portion of the proceeds going to their "pet charity". This would work providing every charity could have a supporter and it would alleviate the situation of individual citizens beating their brains out on one drive after another.

If the Jaycees took the reins then Mrs. or Mr. private citizen would have to be called on every other month to back another drive. The drive would not have to be organized each and every year and the Jaycees could handle the job single handed; providing course they did not try to branch out into the other charities. The other charities would have their own "club supporter" in this County.

PLAN OF ACTION COULD BE FUN

If this were done, every drive, every year would already be organized; could carry out its collection practically unnoticed and unidentified as a charity and we think it would anchor a civic club to a purpose and thereby help to cement the foundation of the organization. One function could help the other and bring about a system of collection and donation that would even be considered fun in some instances (such as bag games, suppers, plays).

APPEAL TO PUBLIC

Of this we are certain; it would take less effort, expense and time on the part of the individual than would a United Fund or anything else and would also serve a twofold purpose. It would create an atmosphere of unity which we sorely lack and would give the donor something in return for his money other than the satisfaction of giving. He would soon learn where his money went and why it went there and would be much happier about the giving.

Something needs doing... what's your opinion on the matter?

CLANTON SHUTS OUT MARBURY IN 17-0 WALK AWAY

By WAYNE ATCHESON

The Clanton Tigers slaughtered the Marbury Bulldogs by a score of 17 to 0 at the City Park last Friday. Rookie southpaw Tommy Shelton, making his first appearance on the mound, hurled a two hit shut out.
This was the first game between Clanton and Marbury this season. The teams met again at Marbury last Monday. Clanton played with the absence of Wayne Little, Billy Miller, Charlie Turner, and Larry Culpepper who went on the Senior trip to New York.

The Tigers knocked the bottom out of the contest by scoring eight runs in the fourth after scoring three in the second. The Tigers got the three in the second on three hits, a sacrifice, and an error. Twelve batters went up to the plate in the fourth to collect five hits. Clarke Hutchinson got two of those hits and he brought across three runs. Clanton scored two runs in the fifth and four more in the sixth.

The Marbury team just couldn't hit that ball and they made five costly errors. Donald Driver who started on the mound for Marbury ran out of gas in the fourth and the Tigers hit the ball all over the place. Bill Parson came in to relieve Driver. Clanton used several players who hadn't played this year and they looked real good.

and eighth runs. The score after four was 11 to 0 Clanton.
In the fifth David Cobb, pinch an infield hit and Carroll drew a walk. Both boys advanced on a walk pitch. Jones and Wyatt to bring in Cobb and Carroll.

Rosy Strawberries Say "Make Jam"

To every homemaker rosy strawberries say "homemade strawberry jam!" And who wants to resist when delicious jam is so quickly made with powdered fruit pectin. Here's the easy recipe.

STRAWBERRY JAM

Yield: about 11 medium glasses (5 1/4 lbs. jam)
4 1/2 cups prepared fruit (about 7 cups (3 lbs.) sugar
2 qts. ripe strawberry 1 box (1 1/2 oz.) powdered fruit pectin

First, prepare the fruit. Wash completely, one layer at a time, about 2 quarts fully ripe strawberries. Measure 4 1/2 cups into a very large saucepan.

Then make the jam. Measure sugar and set aside. Add powdered fruit pectin to fruit in saucepan and well. Place over high heat and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent foaming fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover jam at once with 1/2 inch hot paraffin. If jars are used, seal.

What To Do In Big Cities

By Martha Johnson Dodge Consultants

NEW YORK - City driving can be fun.

If you are not used to driving in congested city traffic and are contemplating a trip to New York or another big city during your summer vacation, these hints should be welcome.

Stephen P. Kennedy, police commissioner of New York, one of the most traffic-congested cities in the world with more than two million cars using its crowded streets daily, feels city driving requires greater intelligence and perception than any other type of driving.

Commissioner Kennedy, whose traffic division is manned by 2,254 safety specialists, offers these three broad hints for city driving:

KNOW YOUR REGULATION. Since 90 per cent of all accidents involve a breach of regulation. In New York, the speed limit is 25 miles per hour considered ideal for car and driver control in heavy vehicle and pedestrian traffic.

• Obey all traffic laws, including the speed limit.

• Check your car for safety, regular intervals.

• Obey at a safe distance.

• Slow down and signal before turning or stopping.

• Slow down at intersections.

CHECK YOUR ATTITUDE AND BEHAVIOR and follow the three C's of safe driving. Care, Courtesy and Common Sense.

• Don't drink and drive.

• Don't "flirt" for the right of way.

• Don't "weave" in traffic.

• Don't make sudden stops.

LEARN DEFENSIVE DRIVING to develop perception and quick reaction.

Extensive Study of Chilton's Fire Ants Made by Northerner

Herman E. Belbeck

We had a long cold spell in Michigan and my wife, Ellen, and I wanted to take a couple of weeks. The first we had read about Imported Fire Ants was "The Great Fire Ant Invasion" September, 1957. Readers Digest which was condensed from Farm and Ranch.

Several articles appeared in other national magazines showing how terribly these ants both bite and sting and how rapidly they are spreading, so we started forth to study them and try to come up with some suggestions to help speed up their complete eradication without endangering the health of the people nor destroying other life.

In reply to our inquiry, Farm and Ranch had sent us a map showing the infested areas and Monday morning, January 19th, 1959, I called on the County Agricultural Agent in the court house in Chattanooga. He said that the Imported Fire Ants have not gotten into Tennessee yet, but that they are watching for them carefully. He advised that I call the entomologist at Auburn, Alabama, which I did. This entomologist advised us to come nearly to Montgomery. If we wanted to see Imported Fire Ants without losing time hunting for them.

We got to Clanton, Alabama (about 45 miles north of Montgomery) before dark Monday evening and the owner of the motel where we stayed, Roscoe Williams, showed us Imported Fire Ants in his lawn. He had poured gasoline and kerosene on the mounds and then set fire to them so there were not so many ants but when he kicked the ground (he had deviled off the mounds to mow the lawn), enough ants came out for us to see them. Some were black or nearly black and others a lighter brown or red. I learned next morning from the assistant county agricultural agent of Chilton County, that the black ants are males and the lighter colored ones are females. The females are slightly larger. Also the color of the ants depends somewhat upon the color of the soil they are in. Productive males and females both have wings. Those without wings are workers.

Mr. Williams told me how terribly he had been stung when hanging up her clothes. The yard man had leveled off an ant mound under the clothes line and there did not see the ants until they got on her legs. I asked Williams if it will be safe to let Richard, who will be two in March, play out this summer. Mrs. Williams told him Richard had already been stung and how the spots festered and blistered. I asked how they knew Richard was in the ants and got him away quickly enough so that he got only a few stings. She said that they were watching him at the time and when he cried out they grabbed him. They do not stung to let Richard be out by himself until they get the fire ants killed off.

We walked over the hay field behind the motel and found the mounds which distinguished the Imported Fire Ants from our native ants. Then we went to a store and asked the druggist what he had to kill the fire ants. He sold us a 1 pound can of 10% Chlordane. Mr. Wright, the druggist, said that he had killed Imported Fire Ants in his strawberry patch by using Chlordane on each mound but he had also applied about one ounce of carbon disulfide to each mound and got a complete kill with one time over. He said that carbon disulfide is expensive when purchased in small quantities and warned against getting near a fire with it. I told him of the prairie dog town on the half section of land my father bought east of Columbus, Nebraska, in 1928. We used carbon disulfide to kill off the prairie dogs. We broke up corn cobs and put them in a wide mouthed glass jug of carbon disulfide. We had to be careful to keep the jug closed and not breathe the fumes and not get them in our eyes or nose or mouth. We would put a piece of corn cob soaked in carbon disulfide (also called carbonsulfide) in a prairie dog hole, cover the hole up with dirt and go to the next hole. We never again saw another prairie dog in that prairie dog town. If there happened to be any rattlesnakes in this area we got them too because they lived in the holes with the prairie dogs.

We took our Chlordane Tuesday and stopped at a 100 acre farm in Chilton County, owned by Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Cox. Mrs. Cox came out on her back porch and pointed to two or three Imported Fire Ant mounds in their back yard and said that there are some all over the farm except in the areas where she said I could get out and kick a mound and see the ants but not to stand around after the ants come out and not to let any crawl up my pants legs as the sting is terribly painful. The farm adjoining theirs belongs to their son, Arnold Cox. We noticed some nice Pecan trees on this place but no one was home so later in the day we came to a place where we had to take some. Arnold was home this time and said some seed and feed companies in town might have some pecan nuts left over from the Christmas sales.

It was raining pretty hard so we went back into town and stopped at Chilton County Feed and Seed Co. and asked about pecans and also for something for fire ants. The manager showed me a can of Chlordane. He said to knock the top off of the ant mound and sprinkle the Chlordane around and he was certain it would kill all of the ants in that mound. He did not have any pecans and sent us across the street to Jones Seed and Feed Co. The clerk there John W. Owens sold us what pecans they had left and roasted 10 pounds of pecans for us to take home. Also he sold us a 4 pound bag of 10% Chlordane for $1.00. He said that Mr. Jones had killed the Imported Fire Ants on his farm one mound at a time, and recommended sprinkling a ring around each mound using about a tablespoonful, then open up the top of the mound and sprinkle about a tablespoonful of Chlordane on the open part of the mound. While he thinks they killed all of the ants on the farm he recommends going over the farm again in about six months to make sure that all of the ants

4-H CLUBS TRAIN FUTURE LEADERS

Four-H work in Alabama continues to give excellent training for community leadership and for citizenship in the home, community, country, and the world.

This is the statement of State 4-H Leader Hanchey Logue. He says that approximately 18,000 4-H boys and girls in Alabama have developed poise, confidence, and more pleasing personalities as a result of demonstration experience in their 4-H Clubs.

"Visitors and judges who watch 4-H demonstrations at the district and state project awards programs are impressed with the skill of the boys and girls who stand at ease before a group and demonstrate their abilities," says Logue. "These qualities will prove invaluable in any occupation as well as in social life."

The opportunity to hold office, serve as junior leaders, and help younger people with project work creates a sense of responsibility and develops poise, self-confidence, and the ability to work with others. By participating in community activities—an important phase of club work, young people are impressed with the part they can play in the community and in national and international affairs.

According to Logue, Alabama offers 36 different projects in which 4-H Club members can participate. Included in these are the cooperative essay and public speaking program, safety essay program, and 4-H talent program. Others are grouped under the subjects of livestock, crops, home economics, and general projects. The latter class includes such projects as leadership, soil conservation and home grounds beautification.

Sound management, based on record-keeping, has been cited as the key to profitable dairying.

CULL COWS TO INCREASE PRODUCTION

Right now is the best time to cull unprofitable dairy cows.

Sam Jones, API Extension dairyman, says that a low-producing dairy cow is usually in better condition than any other cow in the herd. "This is because most of her feed goes to her back and not in the milk pail. This type of cow is bringing good prices on the market, he adds.

"This is the highest milk production season of the year," points out Jones, "and the cull cow is only a burden. The little milk that she produces is always at a loss. If she is cull, the better cow can take the feed she is consuming and increase their production."

According to Jones, high per-cow production is the key to success in the dairy farm business.

This means more milk per acre, more milk per dollar invested, more milk per man hour. For example, if the production was 350,000 pounds of milk per year, it's better to produce it with 10 cows producing 10,000 pounds each than 50 cows producing 7,000 pounds each.

The goal for every dairy farmer in Alabama is to increase cow production from 6,518 pounds of milk per year in Dairy Improvement Association herds, 9,900 pounds per year, says Jones.

"To make a high per-cow production average, a system of records is necessary. All dairyman have two people available to them through county agents—DHIA and WCA. A Day-A-Month—Good breeding, culling, and efficient management will help us reach the goal of 9,900 pounds of milk per cow per year," says Jones.

The name of Edison® gives special significance to the award.

It was against a background of private enterprise that the genius of Edison was projected and brought to fruition for the great benefit of the world. And we should add, that we of the investor-owned electric utility represent in the highest sense the principle of private enterprise projected on the business scene by the great Edison.

The policies and practices of Alabama Power Company in "Helping Develop Alabama" — which have brought it the coveted Edison Award — will continue.

Alabama Power Company

WALTER BOULDIN President

THOMAS W. MARTIN Chairman

* Mr. Martin is a trustee of the Thomas Alva Edison Foundation, Inc., formed to perpetuate the genius and methods of Mr. Edison who came to be known as the "Wizard of Menlo Park."

DURING this Alabama Industries Week perhaps you will not consider it immodest if your attention is invited to an event early this month. At New Orleans, on April 8, at the annual meeting of the Edison Electric Institute, Alabama Power Company was given the highest honor that can be given by the electric light and power industry to one of its members. The Edison Award is given each year to an electric company for "distinguished contribution to the development of electric light and power for the convenience of the public and the benefit of the industry."

Naturally we are proud to have been selected from 29 candidates in various parts of the country, all with a high standard of excellence. Particularly pleasing is the fact that the selection of an electric power company from the South for this honor is evidence of the increasing importance of southern states in the nation.

Since its beginning, Alabama Power Company has looked forward. Although the award was given for accomplishments in recent years, we look upon them as a result of many years of effort and foresight, beginning early in the century with construction of our first hydro-electric plant (Lay Dam on the Coosa River), followed a few years later by other hydro and steam plants and the inception of our rural electrification, industrial development and scientific research programs. Alabama Power Company has faith in the future then as it has now. It will continue to do its part to prove that "The Last Half of the Twentieth Century Belongs to the South."

THE EDISON AWARD

ALABAMA POWER COMPANY

As a member of the Edison Electric Institute, the Alabama Power Company is proud to have been selected to receive the Edison Award for distinguished contribution to the development of electric light and power for the convenience of the public and the benefit of the industry.

PHYSICIAN, MUSICIAN, AUTHOR

Physicians have found tension and responsibility in their profession in writing the names of physicians include Anton Chekhov, Rabelais, John Keats, Goldsmith, A. Conan Doyle, Wendell Holmes, and W. J. Maugham.

There is an art to medical men and in part of this country there are groups comprised of physicians. The most intimate friend of John Keats and often made music with him, and Dr. Albert Schuman composed many compositions for the organ.

The more modern school of Dr. Edmond Souchen, Jr., of Orleans, surgeon by profession and a dedicated surgeon, has produced a New Orleans hospital, and a group of surgeons at Tulane University, New Orleans. Dr. Souchen has carried on the tradition by becoming chief of staff at Hotel Dieu, a New Orleans hospital, and a group of surgeons at Tulane University, New Orleans. Dr. Souchen is one of the founders of the Louisiana Association and a life member of both American College of Surgeons. He succeeded his father as chief of staff at Hotel Dieu, among the first to have a surgical department. Dr. Souchen has found his life in the New Orleans Club, he plays with a group, and lectures on

Stanton Ladies Tour Fish Cultural Center

Ruth Hicks

On the morning of May 15th, a group composed of the following ladies, Mrs. Nettie Golden, Mrs. Ella Sample, Mrs. C. C. Gay, Sr., Mrs. Essie Herrod, Mrs. Oliver Bearden, Mrs. Gladys Barnes, Mrs. Evie Carroll, Mrs. Bettye Martin and two daughters, Melissa and Martha, and Mrs. Stella Martin, motored to the United States Fish Cultural Station, Marion, Alabama arriving early at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Snow (Evelyn Martin). Promptly at ten Mr. and Mrs. Snow carried this group to the office and Mrs. Snow discussed fully the hatchery. Then the group was carried on a tour. This was a much enjoyed and instructive tour. The group returned to the Snow home where a picnic lunch was spread. Such a treat. This is the largest warmwater fish cultural station presently being operated by the Federal Government. The station is on a 600 acre plot of land in the Cahaba River Valley, 1950, in the town of Marion, Alabama. Work has begun on the station in 1932. Construction activity continued for several years until the last ponds being built about 1938. Since 1950, an intensive rehabilitation program has been followed and efforts are being made to improve and modernize production and service facilities.

Largemouth black bass, bluegills, redear sunfish and speckled blueheads are grown here in 58 ponds covering more than 107 surface acres. These fishes are given free to pond owners in Alabama, Florida and Georgia to promote sell, water and fish conservation in these areas.

Anyone who has a suitable body of water that needs stocking can obtain the necessary fish by applying either to the Marion Station or to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Peachtree - Seventh Bldg., Atlanta 23, Georgia.

During 1956, more than 5,000,000 bass, bluegills and redear fingerlings were distributed by the Marion Station to Agencies stocking ponds in this area. This amount of fish would adequately stock almost 5,000 acres of new fishing waters.

Fingerlings fish are a seasonal crop and are available at definite times each year. Bluegills are stocked in ponds first and are available in the fall and winter.

Bass are grown in the spring and are stocked following bluegills in ponds during the late spring or early summer.

You will not be able to see many fish in the ponds during most of the year because of water plants called plankton, which are present in many of the ponds. These small green plants form the basis for the food supply of their fish crop. They also shade the pond bottom and keep unwanted kinds of water plants.

A visit to their fish holding house during the fish harvesting season would enable you to see the kinds of fish grown and distributed to the ponds.

The Marion Station is the location for an intensive training program for selected fish culturists employed by the branch of fish hatcheries. Each year five trainees are selected from all over the United States come to Marion to receive instruction in the latest training given stresses both the theoretical and practical approach to successful warm water fish management along with the role which the hatchery plays in providing improved sport fishing.

Another activity of importance at this station is applied research work. Here the results of basic research agencies are studied and tested to determine their value in warmwater fish culture. Experiments are being carried on to find improved ways to control water resources and methods which will enable the fish cultural station to better serve the cause of fish conservation.

A small project dealing with the propagation channel and yellow catfish was begun there recently. At the present time this is the only hatchery in the Southeast which is attempting this kind of fish culture. Both of these species of fishes have promise of being valuable additions to our group of sport and food fishes stocked in ponds and lakes provided that satisfactory production methods can be developed.

The water supply for the ponds on the station comes from the

CLANTON COMES BACK TO WALLOP SELMA RAMS 7 TO 3

by WAYNE ATCHESON

With Wayne Little winning his third game of the season, the Chilton County High Tigers rolled over the Selma Rams by a promising score of 7 to 3 at the City Park last Thursday.

This game gave Clanton a sweep of the two games with the Rams this year. Clanton is having a good season winning four of six games. Clanton's two losses are to the hands of Robert E. Lee.

The Tigers put on a rampage of scoring by scoring in every inning except the fifth. Clanton got their runs by stealing seven bases, three by Billy Miller, by getting eight hits, and taking advantage of six flowing wells varying in depth from 125 to 600 ft. The combined flow of these wells is about 920 gallons per minute. Size of the ponds on the station range from one-fourth acre to about seventeen acres. More than 40% of the total acreage is found in four of the largest ponds.

The Marion Station also serves as a game refuge. No hunting on the station grounds allowed. All forms of wildlife are protected and are stocked following bluegills in ponds during the late spring or early summer.

The water supply for the ponds on the station comes from the Ram errors. The pitching of Wayne Little contributed much to the victory. Little struck out eight batters and pitched himself out of several jams. Selma had to use three pitchers to calm the Tigers down. Snuffy Smith started off for the Rams and Sonny Ammonds and Dick Small came in to relieve.

Warren Edwards, who has been hitting that ball this year, hit two singles and a triple in four times at bat. Elliot Monroe, who has been hitting the ball lately got 2 for 2. Monroe hit two singles and drove in two runs. Larry Culpepper had his best day at the plate connecting with two singles in three turns at bat.

Both teams scored in the first. Travis Smitherman led off for Selma and reached first safely on Johnny Cathy's error. Chris Nichols grounded out and Smitherman stole second. Jimmy Bedgood singled Smitherman home and went to second on the throw into first. Wayne Little picked Bedgood off second and struck out Jerry Deramus to retire the side.

Clanton got its first run in the first on an error. Warren Edwards flew out and Clarke Hutchinson struck out. Elliot Monroe walked and Wayne Little hit a grounder to the third baseman. The third baseman made a bad throw at first. The first baseman in turn threw wide to third trying to nip Monroe. Monroe came in to tie the game after one inning.

Both teams again scored in the second. Johnie Mackin grounded out and Don Mackin and Dan Duke walked. Charlie Maples bunted and Clay Carroll the catcher, threw to Culpepper. Culpepper let the ball get by him while D. Mackin came in to score.

The Tigers put on a hitting spree in the bottom of the second by scoring two runs. Carroll popped out and Culpepper singled and stole second. Johnny Cathy got on by the third baseman's error. Warren Edwards singled Culpepper home. Hutchinson hit to the shortstop. The shortstop misapplied put Cathy out and Elliot Monroe singled to drive in Edwards.

Clanton added another run in the fourth as Edwards singled and Hutchinson walked. Edwards was thrown out at third trying to steal and Hutchinson moved down to second. Monroe singled to bring in Hutchinson. The score after four was 5 to 2.

Selma rallied in the fifth as Travis Smitherman beat out an infield hit and went to second on a wild pitch by Little. Bill Jones walked and Bedgood struck out. Deramus hit the passed Culpepper to drive in Smitherman. The inning ended in a double play.

Clanton still remained in the scoring mood in the sixth and scored two more runs. Cathy struck out and Edwards tripled. Three straight walks by Hutchinson, Monroe and Little brought Edwards in. Then Billy Miller hit to third and Hutchinson was thrown out at the plate. Tommy Shelton walked and Carroll hit a long fly to center to end the game. The game lasted two hours and 15 minutes.

The weather was perfect for baseball except for occasional winds which made a little cool weather in the last innings. A good crowd turned out for the game.

Peaches-- How we can put into practice what We should have learned last year

Thinning Brings Quality Peaches

Fruit thinning is an old horticultural practice dating back at least 191 years (1768). Here are some thinning comments.

1. Increase size of the remaining fruit.
 2. Increase color.
 3. Improve quality.
 4. Increase pounds of marketable fruit.
 5. Maintain tree vigor and possible lessen limb breakage.
 6. Remove diseased and insect-injured fruit.
 7. Reduce labor at harvest.
- B. Some Effects of Thinning:
1. Increased fruit size.
 2. Increased color.
 3. Improved quality.
 4. Increased marketable yield.
 5. Total yield is usually about the same as if not thinning was practiced.
 6. Less diseased and insect-injured fruit-removed by thinning.
 7. Less labor necessary for harvesting.
- C. Some factors that influence the Amount of Thinning Necessary:
1. Tree age - old trees tend to produce smaller fruit.
 2. Moisture supply-less thinning adequate moisture is available.
 3. The amount of pruning-heavy pruning reduces fruiting area and also invigorates the tree - more fruit can be left per leaf.
 4. Tree Vigor-More fruit can be left if trees are in a good state of vigor as a result of proper pruning, fertilization, cultural and insect and disease control practices.

The principle of the organ is the same as any large electric organ. The tone generator consists of an electronic tube, input transformer, and other electronic component where the large electric organ uses a separate tone generator. For each note John Robert took 23 notes off one tone generator by using a series string of resistors. The organ has four organ stops or tone changers, producing all the notes of the musical scale, from shrill flute-like tones down to a bass tuba.

The organ has a built-in amplifier, and with external speakers. It has auditorium volume. All this had to be built on a $35.00 budget. That is all the money that John Robert had to spend on his project. He robbed part from old junkie radios to keep the cost down.

One thing that impressed the judges was the way he used safety pins for key contacts. Regular key contacts cost 86 cents each. John Robert could not buy them and stay within his $35.00 budget so he fastened No. 2 Safety pins to the key in the open position.

When a key is pressed the point of the pin touches a contactor bar causing the note to be played. The keys were from an old piano cut down and ivory glued on them. The cabinet is made from scrap pieces of plywood.

John Robert and the organ will be featured on the 10:00 P.M. Television Show, WSPA, Channel 12, Montgomery, April 28. He plans to enter his organ in pruning, fertilization, cultural and insect and disease control practices.

5. Fruiting habits of the variety - some fruit heavier than others.

6. The amount of fruit set at thinning time. A given tree can produce only a certain number of fruits to 2 inches in diameter under a certain set of conditions.

7. Condition of leaves (insect, disease or spray injury).

D. When to Thin:

1. The earliest thinning possible is the best for early maturing varieties (ones that mature 5 to 7 weeks before Elberta).

2. Increased size can be obtained on late maturing varieties by thinning just prior to pit hardening. Peach fruits have white other years.

3. Increased size of growth - 1. Initial increase in size of the fruit; 2. Pit hardening stage when fruit size increases very slowly; Final swell.

F. Other Comments:

1. Generally 40 to 60 leaves are necessary to mature each peach to a marketable stage.
2. Become acquainted with your trees. Visit your orchard every day.
3. Dig up old records-figure the yield per tree-check the amount of culls produced-check weather records-review your fertilizer practices.
4. Keep records this year as to date of fall bloom, thinning, pit hardening, maturity, marketable and cull yields, temperature, rainfall, amount of cloudy weather and other. Compare with other years.

Thin early season peaches 3 inches or more. Thin mid-season peaches 6 to 7 inches. Thin late season peaches 5 to 6 inches.

Let's grow peaches 2 inches in diameter on early varieties and 2 1/2 inches on mid - season and late season varieties.

Mr. Sam Bentley, Bentley Farms, Thorby, Ala., has this comment to make about peach thinning: "It is time to begin thinning peaches to influence size and growth of the fruit. The set of fruit is not as heavy this year as compared with last year but practically all varieties need thinning now. We definitely have been competition from other states in the Southeast and we must do something to make it to show as good, if not better, fruit than those other states produce. There is no demand for small undersized fruit; so we must thin our peaches when necessary to produce better size and quality."

Experiments by the U. S. Department of Agriculture show that plastic tents over tomato plants provide excellent protection from cutworms. The use of these sheets gives best results on early growing varieties.

IN THE COUNTY COURT OF CHILTON COUNTY, ALABAMA. IN EQUITY. CASE NO. STATE OF ALABAMA, Complainant, vs. ONE 1948 CHEVROLET, FOUR DOOR, MOTOR NUMBER HAA 34709, TAG NUMBER 14-4771 Respondent.

HOYT REYNOLDS ASKS QUESTIONS

Dear Sir:

I was an independent candidate for Probate Judge of Chilton Co. in the general election, November 4, 1958. To this day, I have not been able to obtain or see a box by box tabulation the returns.

There is no record on this recorded in our Chilton County courthouse in the Probate Judge's office. And although I have requested to see these records on several occasions, that office has never produced them.

I think as an American citizen, a qualified voter and a candidate, I at least, should be able to see a record, box by box, of the election in which I was a duly qualified candidate!

OUT of the past comes a sign of old building behind Teel Hardware that is being torn down. The sign says: "Five years of Moderate Prices. Live Co. wholesale and it's hardware we have to have it, it's the best." It takes in a lot of territory, an octagoner we doubt will be around to dispute.

LOOK OUT FOR THAT POLE

IT'S no practical joke. Nor is it an illusion. The telephone pole really is right square dab in the middle of the railroad track. How come? As we understand it, an agreement with the Power Company had already been made before the track was laid so they wouldn't have to "straddle" it! We've heard of cross ties and crossed wires, but we have never seen the two mixed. Must be cross tie wires! (News Photo by Scott)

"Jaycees for Crippled Children" Take Action

This week-end merchants in Clanton will receive letters from "Jaycees For Crippled Children" explaining what the situation is as to funds for this County, and the need for response by citizens so that the Crippled Children Program in Chilton County can maintain its rehabilitating and sometimes life-saving work in this area.

Chairman Cooperating Mr. J. S. Levine, who is County Chairman for the Crippled Children Drive is giving every cooperation to the Jaycees in their effort to "do something constructive, not just talk about it." They have organized the project and plans are definite as to their procedure. Naturally it will require the cooperation of the businessmen and private citizens as well.

More Spent Locally It has been stated by an authority in the Crippled Children organization that it keeps more of its money in Chilton County for helping Chilton's Crippled Children which is its purpose than all the money combined. We realize this, not surprising, but as a fact which we think should at least set you to thinking about how much good it does here -- at home -- now!

Remember These Dates Look for the "Jaycees For Crippled Children" during the week of May 11 through the 15. They are trying to give you a chance to give a Chilton County boy or girl a chance. When you put it that way it means much, much more.

SIGNS OF UNITY --

THERE has been an idea making the circuits lately which would see several of Clanton's civic clubs joining together and advertising their 'existence' as one, on a big sign at the entrances to town. This, to our way of thinking, is an excellent way of indicating unity in the workings of our city as neighbors working with neighbors. The only thing we can see wrong with the idea at all is the cost, now and later (for upkeep) is prohibitive. If anyone comes up with an economy cut we're sure the clubs will be interested. As we said, it would have it over the single signs strewn up and down the roadway, a country mile and it would not only serve to indicate unity, we think it would serve also to promote it. We'd like to see it happen.

ORIGINALLY -- WHERE IS IT?

ORIGINALLY seems to be a lost feeling when it comes to things like newspaper advertising for instance. So many times, those who use the pages of the press to display and "sell" their wares are so conventional with their methods that they do a good job of selling against rather than selling "on". It is not essential for a merchant to be a stick in the mud in order to maintain respect from his clientele. A man with new ideas, new ingredients for making this life more enjoyable is the man who will interest the public and consequently "sell" whatever it is he sets out to sell. Most of us would do well to take an accounting of ourselves and just note whether or not we measure up to originality or are content to "run with the pack."

A WISE MAN OR A FOOL --

WHAT is it in a man that changes him so obviously after he has received a majority vote in a political election? Some men take this type of success with a grain of salt. Some, wiser than most, understand a trust and know how to appreciate it. Others simply waller in the glorification of the fact that "so many people want me so I must be good."

The price we pay for success sometimes to be the loss of our perspective. We no longer measure our worth by actuality, but by what we think others value. The wise men who wrote the books of the Bible would call such a man a "fool". We cannot, but we appreciate their logic.

There is no plainer show of stupidity than for a man to think that the winning of a political election sets him head and shoulders above what he was or what others now are. He has simply been entrusted with a public possession which requires that he prove himself worthy of the trust continually as he obviously proved himself worthy of the public's trust in the beginning. The winning of such a thing does not make a man. It doesn't always require a "man" to win (unfortunately), but it does require a wise man to adequately carry out the duties so as to gain the further respect of his fellows. Some of us, very apparently, do not realize this. There's a saying "if you're not for us, then you are against us" and another "if you are not going forward then you must be going backward".... these apply, don't you think?

HAD a very interesting talk with one Tommy Tate, who is the managing editor of the newly conceived Talladega Reporter. It's a newspaper founded by two most unlikely newspapermen. Neither of them has been a printer or journalist or anything you'd normally expect from someone embarking on the trials and tribulations of publishing their own newspaper. What Tom lacks in experience, he makes up in enthusiasm, optimism and confidence. He is a level-headed go-getter and his partner is anything near as ambitious to succeed we predict an up-and-coming new publication in the realm of the Fourth Estate. The paper by the way is printed by an offset process, something an "old-fashioned type" printer just won't refuse to understand. It's the only one in the area, and to believe that this is not a coming thing; it's simply has a conventional type (if there is such a thing) newspaperman has so much blood and sweat in his "love" that he cannot merely pass it off as a by-gone era. The offset process may some day take over the printing and newspaper trade, but not as long as we can use a type stick and put 'er to bed! Back to the subject -- we hope Tom will find time to drop by and see us on occasion. His parents and family live here in Clanton.

"JAYCEES For Crippled Children" week will be observed next week. It is a planned effort on the part of that organization to remedy the situation of "exhausted" funds for Chilton's best local charity. -- say now. There are many children in Chilton County who benefit each year through this most worthy organization and too much cannot be said concerning its value to our community. More about the details in this feature. You'll be hearing from the Jaycees -- for Crippled Children!

1,000 More Pension Applications Handled

County departments of Pensions and Security were able to complete nearly 1,000 more applications for aid during March than they disposed of 1 February, Commission-ers L. T. Prestwood and J. H. Gentry today in releasing his monthly statistical report.

In March 4,128 applications for aid or pensions were terminated with 5,611 still in process, at the end of the month. This figure compares with 3,132 disposed of 1 February, at the end of which 5,945 remained under investigation.

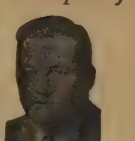

Not only was there an increase in the number of applications completed, but there was also a rise in the number received during the month, Prestwood reported. Despite this fact, he added, there was a drop in the number receiving aid.

"We attribute this decrease primarily to the increased Federal security benefits which were effective in February, as a result of 1958 amendments," Prestwood declared. "Previous to this figure, the number receiving old age pensions declined in February and dropped still lower in March. Agency records show, the Commissioner revealed, that during these two months 433 old age cases were closed due to receipt of old age, survivors, and disability insurance benefits in line with 1958 amendments to the Social Security Act. Under the categories of aid to dependent children, 108 aid to dependent children cases, 92 aid to permanently and totally disabled, five blind cases and one case of emergency aid, according to the Commissioner.

"Every effort is being made by county pensions and security departments," he continued, "to locate any applicant or recipient who might now be new eligible for old age and survivors or disability insurance under the new legislation." It was pointed out that this is particularly true of dependent recipients of wage earners who previously did not qualify for benefits.

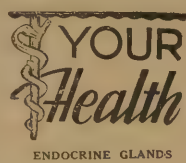

It should be noted that the March caseload data showed a rise in the number receiving aid under the categories of aid to dependent children, aid to children in foster care, an emergency aid. Total payments for March amounted to nearly $5.6 million, of which over $4.4 million went to the old age pensioners. Average payments were $43.56 to this group, $34.95 to the blind, $28.01 per family or $7.03 per recipient of aid to dependent children, $29.84 to children in county foster care, $38.36 to children in State foster care, $33.01 to the permanently and totally disabled, and $12.68 to emergency cases.

Report from Washington

BY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN
Congressman, Sixth District

President Eisenhower's veto of the REA Bill was sustained last Thursday when the House failed to adopt a motion to override it.

What do the pituitary thyroid, pancreas, gonads, thymus and parathyroid glands have in common? They are all glands of internal secretion. They are called endocrine glands and their secretions enter the blood and remain in the body. This distinguishes them from glands of external secretion which produce digestive juices and sweat. Each one of the endocrine glands produces its own type of secretion. These secretions circulate through the body acting on tissues and organs either to stimulate their action or restrain them in some way. As a group, the endocrine glands work in harmony, with each other and effect all the functions of the body. The action of each gland is dependent on the proper action of the others. The pituitary has been termed the master gland because its secretions act on other glands to stimulate them to secrete their own substance.

The thyroid gland is located in the neck and its secretions control the size and weight of the individual, and also it stimulates the general metabolism of the body. The pancreas secretes insulin without which the body cannot use sugar, and diabetes results. The gonads secrete sex hormones. The thymus gland is said to aid in skeletal growth and also to control sex maturity until growth is attained, and it also produces some of the white cells of the blood.

Parathyroid glands secrete a hormone associated with the metabolism of calcium and phosphorus in the body. There are other glands of internal secretion including the adrenal gland which, while not essential to life, secretes a substance that helps the nervous system to mobilize the body forces immediately in an emergency calling for fight or flight.

Cancer Workers Thank Donors

We are very grateful for the splendid response we had for the Cancer Drive in Clanton. We want to thank each and every one of you who had a part in helping put Clanton over the top with your gifts. Realizing there had been so many drives recently we wondered whether it could be done again, but you were so wonderful to help that it was done. Clanton's donations were $103.12. Mrs. Willie Bean, Chairman. Mrs. L. T. Swanner, Co-Chairman.

Payments were made to 140,644 cases, including 101,718 aged, 1,657 blind, 22,222 families of dependent children with 91,271 eligible recipients, 1,480 children in State and county foster care, 12,752 totally and permanently disabled, and 115 emergency cases.

The House vote adhered closely to party lines, with only four Democrats voting against the motion to override the veto, and only six Republicans voting in favor of it. The total vote was 280 to 146 -- just four votes short of the two-thirds majority needed to pass the motion.

As sent to the President by Congress, the REA legislation would have deprived the Secretary of Agriculture of the power to veto rural electrification loans and would have restored the jurisdiction to the REA Administrator who held such power until 1953.

The President vetoed the measure because he said it was a "major retreat from sound administrative policy and practice" to give a subcommittee (the REA Administrator) final authority on loans.

Prior to the House action, the Senate had voted (64 to 29) to override the veto. While the House has never overridden a veto of President Eisenhower, the Senate to date has so voted on two occasions.

Plea for River Funds

Members of the Alabama Congressional Delegation and officials of the Warrior-Tombigbee Development Association urged the House and Senate last week to approve funds for continuing construction of the Jackson Lock and Dam and for planning the proposed Holt Lock and Dam.

Appearing first before the Subcommittee on Public Works of the House Appropriations Committee and later before a similar Senate Subcommittee, we asked for an appropriation of slightly over eight million dollars for continuing construction of the Jackson Lock and Dam and $200,000 for planning the Holt facility. The appropriation requested for the Jackson installation is included in the federal budget for fiscal year 1960. There are no funds for the Holt project in the 1960 budget, however, as this structure was not authorized until December.

Jackson Lock and Dam is one of three new facilities on the Warrior-Tombigbee designed to provide a dependable water artery from Mobile to Tuscaloosa. The proposed Holt Lock and Dam will replace four out-moded structures along an 18-mile reach of the river north of Tuscaloosa.

Coosa River Project

Efforts are being made this week by your congressman and other members of the Alabama Congressional Delegation to obtain an initial federal appropriation for another important river system -- the Coosa-Alabama Waterway. This is the third consecutive year that we have appealed to the House and Senate Appropriations Committees for planning funds for the Millers Ferry Multiple Purpose Lock and Dam that will be located on the Alabama, River near Camden.

Although the budget requests have never included funds for this purpose, the Senate Appropriations Committee in 1957 and again in 1958 approved the sum of $150,000 for advance planning of the project. These funds were eliminated from the bills later by the House-Senate Conference Committees.

The acquisition of planning funds for the Millers Ferry Lock and Dam is a vital step in the full development of the Coosa-Alabama Waterway, and we are hopeful our efforts this year will prove successful.

Jemison Became Accredited In Alabama School System In 'Roaring '20's

The Jemison High School continues to grow in enrollment, standards, and achievement. It became accredited with the State in 1922. At that time, it was one of the smallest schools in the State. Today, it has an enrollment of 1,038 students. It serves the following communities: Collins, Chapel, Union Grove, Oak Hill, Center Hill, Moss Hill, Providence, Pleasant Grove, Macedonia, Freeman, Oak Grove, and Mineral Springs. Grades are transported to Jemison High School in fifteen buses. Eight lunchroom workers serve meals to an average of 625 children daily. The lunchroom serves an "A" type lunch at a price of 20 cents per meal. The following teachers make up the high school faculty: J. A. Peterson, Principal, Fred R. Donovan, Mrs. Martha Easterling, Mrs. Jessie M. Ekblad, J. R. Ekblad, Miss Miriam Harvey, Delton Lowery, Mrs. June Lowery, Mrs. Mildred Miller, Mrs. Martha Norwood, John H. Ott, Mrs. Edna M. Reynolds, L. C. Shields, Harold H. Smyer, Mrs. Rose Sudley, Miss Mary Ashworth and Mrs. Beulah Whaley.

Teachers in the elementary are Mrs. Emma Frank Bowers, Mrs. Nina Brasher, Mrs. Eva Broad-head, Miss Mary Clements, Hixie Mae Easterling, Mrs. Gentry, Mrs. Nellie Glass, Mrs. Bertie Mae Johnson, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Verta Mae Johnson, Mrs. Fraulien Lowery, Lola C. Miller, Mrs. Jewell, Mrs. Mary Jo Rasco, Ola Rogers, Mrs. Flora Mae, Mrs. Nell Walton is a state music teacher. Thirty-three of these teachers have Bachelor or Master Degrees. Thirteen of them are doing life study.

There are four buildings totaling 29 rooms to house pupils. Three of these are out-moded and need adequate space for the best to be accomplished. The school order to do its best work, needs Vocational Agriculture and Economics Building, an element building, a lunchroom, and high school classrooms.

The philosophy of the school is to give the best education possible in terms of a student's ability to prepare each student for a complete living by proper tests, qualified teachers, guidance program of study-taking, adequate facilities, his environment, his capacities, and his ambitions. In order to achieve this, the school offers the following curriculum: vocational, commercial, liberal, work, science, English, social studies, mathematics, and all elementary subjects.

Extra-curricular activities consist of clubs, athletics, and the Active clubs are FFA, F. Club, Science Club, and the J. Club. The school carries a full athletic program of major sports and physical education. Students who wish music, have the opportunity of taking piano, voice, choral group singing.

To Observe National Hospital Week 10-16

Senator Lister Hill (D., Ala.) today called on his colleagues in the United States Senate and on citizens throughout the nation to join in the observance of National Hospital Week, May 10-16, this year. The theme for this year's observance of National Hospital Week is More Roads to Recovery.

Senator Hill is widely recognized as the "Statesman for Health" and is author of the Hill-Burton Act of 1946 under which some 4,300 hospitals and other medical facilities have been constructed.

"We will have made a giant step toward enduring world peace when all men share the hope of health and physical well-being to at least the same degree as we today share fear and subservience to the specter of nuclear war," said Senator Hill in a statement prepared for delivery on the floor of the United States Senate.

The senior Alabama Senator paid tribute to the great strides made in recent years in hospital facilities and to the dedicated men and women who man these facilities.

Senator Hill concluded: "If our hospitals are to keep open the many 'Roads to Recovery' that they offer today they must have continued and increasing support from the public they serve. In an era of explosive growth our hospitals must depend as never before upon community understanding and support if comprehensive services of high quality are to be made available to all the people."

Citizens Urged To Take Polio Vaccination

In support of the U. S. Public Health Service's polio vaccination drive, member companies of the Health Insurance Association of America have stepped up their educational campaign urging vaccinations for those 90 million Americans who still lack full protection against polio.

The HIAA, along with other groups, instituted a public service campaign after Surgeon General Dr. Leroy Burney called for intensified vaccination drives on a community level, with emphasis on block-to-block and person-to-person promotion.

Dr. Burney warned that more than half the U. S. population had not received the minimum of three Salk vaccine shots required for protection against paralytic polio. On April 14, HIAA General Manager Robert R. Neal urged the Association's 274 member companies to join in and support community programs, and to encourage agents and other employees to take part in the promotional campaign by word-of-mouth in their daily contacts with the public.

Prior to the Association taking action, several HIAA member companies had entered the campaign with newspaper advertisements, radio and television announcements, posters, and the distribution of more than a million pamphlets urging polio vaccinations. Agents are working with members of churches, clubs and other community groups to speed up the vaccination drive.

The need for the drive was underlined by Dr. Burney's report that in 1958, for the first time since the Salk vaccine came into use, there was an increase in the number of cases of paralytic polio.

The total number of all polio cases in 1958, just under 6,000, was down sharply from the 1955 total of 29,000, when Salk vaccination programs were initiated.

Dr. Burney has stated that 25 million persons under the age of 20 are not fully protected. Of these, nearly 15 million have had not a single shot of polio vaccine.

Evidence of the Public Health Service shows that the vaccine is 85 to 90 percent effective, protecting almost nine out of every 10 persons who get the full three-shot course.

When the drive was launched, Arthur S. Flomming, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, emphasized that the campaign "cannot be fully successful unless local communities throughout the nation take on the job of organizing local vaccination drives."

Memorial Services at Mt. Creek Honor Confederate Dead

Confederate Memorial Day Services held at the Old Soldiers' Home at Mountain Creek, Alabama, drew a record crowd recently. Since the year 1956, when the United Daughters of the Confederacy adopted the plan to make a memorial cemetery of the two cemeteries at the old home, the custom of celebrating Memorial Day here has been revived. Confederate Memorial Day is a legal holiday in Alabama.

The Fighting Joe Wheeler Camp, No. 1, under the direction of Commander L. L. West, Jr., of Birmingham, was in charge of the program. The most impressive ceremony began with the Invocation by Rev. J. Mitchell of the Mountain Creek Baptist Church. Salutes to the American Flag, the Confederate Flag, and the Flag of Alabama followed. Mr. John R. Rives of Birmingham introduced the speaker. Mr. Erle Pettus, a paid beautiful and loving tribute to the Confederate Soldiers who gave for the convictions of the South to the one who died on the battle field and to those who lived on to face the conditions of a defeated and impoverished Southland. His short, but aggressive and earnest speech briefly on the conditions of the South and the War Between the States, contrasted the war position of the North and the South, and the Confederate officers and leaders who fought on the South and gloriously despite the odds, reviewed briefly the major battles and their efforts, concluded with a glowing Memorial to the Confederate Veterans. In his speech Mr. West pointed out that the South, growing in industry and despite the attempts of the North to grind them under the heel of the conqueror and that the South could stop them from attaining the power to use as strong a voice in the Government as any section in the North.

The Memorial Services ended with the placing of a wreath in honor of the dead who wore the Stars and Stripes. Victor Randolph, past president of the Alabama Division, and Com. L. L. West, Jr., presented the wreath during the Benediction given by Rev. Everett Madison of the Mountain Creek Church. Bobby Culpepper and Mrs. Martin young sons of the Fighting Joe Wheeler Camp in Birmingham dipped the colors in the wreath. Mr. DeLoach of the Sharpshooters, local Chilton County Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, presented the colors. Mr. DeLoach of the Sharpshooters, local Chilton County Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, presented the colors. Mr. DeLoach of the Sharpshooters, local Chilton County Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, presented the colors.

There were many highlights of the day. But among the most moving was the fact that there were four visitors present who had attended the Memorial Day services together at Mountain Creek fifty years ago. They were Mrs. J. J. Gowan, Mrs. Lee Gowan, and Mrs. S. S. Baker all of Clanton. Mrs. Gowan brought with her a picture of the four taken in front of the building left standing at the old Soldiers' Home which was the meeting room at that time. Among the visitors were Scoutmaster J. Baker and Troop 232 of Shady Grove. Also present were members of the Sharpshooters, local Chilton County Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Honor guests were introduced. Mrs. Charles Foshee, President of the Jefferson Manly Falkner Chapter of UDC. Among these were Dr. C. S. Strock of Verbena, the Old Soldiers' Home during the last years of its existence. Also present were Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Eland, last Staff Physician and Captain and Mr. G. C. Kieker, Adjutant at the home. Other guests were Rep. and Mrs. Francis Wicks; Senator and Mrs. Joe Graham; Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Danville; Judge J. C. White; Mrs. Chert Crawford, Vice-president of the Alabama Division UDC; Mrs. C. Cole, Division Historian; Mrs. C. Batson, Division Registrar. A picnic lunch was served, after which many visitors and guests enjoyed walking over the grounds and visiting the two cemetery plots.

Our attendance was off Sunday. We welcome everyone to come to our church and worship with us at each service that we have.

Next Sunday is Mother's Day. By God's wonderful Grace let's make this a great day. The pastor, Rev. C. E. Dean will have a gift for the oldest and the youngest mother that has not received a gift on a previous Mother's Day.

Mrs. Thelma Hathcock attended the Saturday night singing at Friendship Saturday night.

A Letter To Mother
Here is a copy of a letter I received from my daughter thought maybe it might help some child to be more thoughtful for their mother.

Dear Mother
Today is Mother's Day on paper, but everyday is Mother's Day for you from me. Time just slipped by and I didn't write this in time for you to get it for Mother's Day, but maybe you will understand.

All day today as we had Mother's day program at church I would think of you. I would thank God for my Christian Mother. Only God and I know what you have been to me all my life.

We are going to bring you a gift when we come, but no gift that I could bring would be great enough for you. I could never tell you in words how much I love you. I will always be grateful for a wonderful mother.

I love you, Marjorie
